"BRIGHT EYES," THE PARROT, AN ACCOMPLISHED BIRD

A Mexican parrot, all green but for a white spot on his head, can talk German, also can sing, changing his voice twice. He whistles also and will say "Crow!" and if any one laughs he will do the same thing. The parrot is owned by Al Burns and Mrs. Burns is his trainer. She can do anything with her pet, "Bright Eyes." It is the most clever parrot around, just like a person talking. Every word can be heard far away. When Mrs. Burns is getting dinner and making a stew, Bright Eyes will say, "What is that? an Irish stew?" That sure makes the lady laugh. She can take the parrot on her finger and he will do a hand spring and light on his feet. But if Mr. Burns sticks his finger in the cage he will get bit. The bird sings a German song and will sing "She's My Baby," like a lady over a radio.

The age of Bright Eyes is not known. The record was lost, as Mr. Burns uncle, Mike Crammer in Mexico gave the bird to him so many years ago that the papers were lost, once when the house got afire. He will whistle "My Wild Irish Rose," so funny that he makes the couple laugh. His master says it did not take long to train Bright Eyes, for he picks up everything easy as eating Easter eggs for dinner.

A kitten named Fritz lives in the same cage with Bright Eyes sleeping under him and is not afraid. Some kittens will try to eat a parrot but Fritz is his best pal. He will wash the kitten also talk to his pal and sure is a funny thing, to see a parrot and a kitten in the same cage. The cage door is open; out will walk Fritz for awhile, then will see if the parrot is all right. Several times during the day and night will go in the cage and lie down and Bright Eyes will say, "Good Night, Pal." The kitten will look up in his yellow eyes, meaning, "Same to you old top!"

The parrot sure likes chocolate cake—could eat a wagon load and he will drink tomato soup. It costs about $5 a week to feed Brigth Eyes and Mrs. Burns was offered $40 ofr him; but she would not sell for she wants to keep him for a pet.

One day his trainer was busy; it was Saturday, and baked bean day. The red beans were in the oven as the telephone rang and she was talking away and the beans were burning. Bright Eyes let out a yell, "Lady the red beans are all afire! come quick!" She had to say good bye to her party and sure enough the beans was all burned for Bright Eyes has a keen smell. A still alarm almost had to be sent for the smoke-eaters' squad. That parrot would make some money for his trainer if he was on the stage travelling all over the world. Thousands of show lovers would walk miles to hear him sing and talk; but it would break his owners' hearts to lose such a bird as Bright Eyes. They say, "He has been with us for 30 years, if anything ever happens to Bright Eyes he sure would be missed around the house! In the morning, about the hour of 5:30 he will start and sing, "Gee! I hate to get up in the morning! I would rather stay in bed!" That is our alarm clock."

Mr. Burns loves pets and animals. He has a Japanese robin almost like an American robin, but it is slim. There are canaries, a mud turtle, a leap frog and three dogs, as well as seven cats. He claims that he would not sell one. Many people have come from different places to see all of these curiosities and to hear Bright Eyes sing like a lady and with all the birds singing and the parrot talking it sounds good. The parrot's owner has a picture that came from Holland, made by hand, all done with a needle and thread; it took about ten months to make it. It shows a Holland windmill with a Dutch girl standing alongside it with her wooden shoes, smiling. He was offered $1,000 for it, but he would only shake his head, "No," for an answer.

ACADEMY STARTS AFTER STATE TITLE WITH EASY WIN OVER KILLINGLY HIGH

The Academy made a good start Wednesday afternoon at the campus in its drive to regain the state high school championship, when, led by Capt. Chubby Gibbs once again and behind the airtight twirling of Chuck Lavarge, the Wildcats annexed an easy 15 to 3 victory over Killingly high of Danielson. The game was called after seven innings.

Gibbs, who has won two of the three previous games on the schedule, continued to swing his bat with devastating force by finding two Killingly pitchers for four straight hits and then reaching first on an error in five tries while Lavarge limited the visitors to five singles, three of them coming in the fifth inning to score the two runs for the losers.

The Academy started right off with six big runs in the first inning and scored altogether in four of the six innings in which they batted, adding five in the third, three in the fourth and one in the sixth. They made ten hits and were helped greatly by seven errors and innumerable wild pitches, passes and hit batsmen. The Red and White played nice ball on the green, only one error being chalked up, and that an unexcusable one.

The runs came in the first on Arico's double, Gibbs' single, three passes, a couple of passed balls, a wild pitch and two infield errors. In the third the run-production was in the form of doubles by Gibbs and Weisgraber, and singles by Fontaine and Lavarge, terminated with a sacrifice fly by Flather, a hit batsman and two errors, while in the fourth Breen's double, a single by Gibbs and a couple of passes all combined to add them up. The last run in the sixth was on two errors and a stolen base.

Score:

Killingly	ab	h	po	a	e	N. F. A.	ab	h	po	a	e

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Small crowd, around 300 or 400.

Plenty of cheering and in two sections, girls' and boys'.

All of Gibbs' hits were real liners. He kind the boys like to call hits in the league.

Hank Morin and Charlie Lavarge did the umpiring honors.

The runs were scored as follows: N. F. A.—Arico, 2; Reardon, 2; Gibbs, 2; Fontaine, 1; Pepin, 1; Breen, 1; Weisgraber, 2; Lavarge, 1. Killingly—Kimball, 1; Dascoll, 1.

Now comes Deep River here Saturday. And the band's going to be there, too.

HOYT TAYLOR STARS FOR FRATERNITY AT WESLEYAN

Hoyt Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor of this city, proved to be one of the athletic stars of the Wesleyan inter-fraternity track meet held recently at the university. Taylor, who is a member of Alpha Chi Rho, aided his team by capturing nine points. He was first in the 100 yard dash, second in the javeline throw and third in the 220-yard event. His time in the 100 yard event was 10 and 4-5 seconds. Taylor while at the Academy was a member of the track team and was entered as a sprint man and also a member of the relay team that won the New England title.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, one of the last of the spitball masters, has a new hobby to add to his great loves—thoroughbred horses and the winning of baseball games. He wants to help Bill McKechnie build the Boston Braves into a pennant contender in the National league.

While rain pattered on the sidewalks outside, ruining activity on the ball fields for the day, Burleigh sat around a hotel lobby, puffing a big cigar, improving the acquaintance of his new Brave mates, and bemoaning the fact that he can't get ready yet to get out there and fatten his pitching average in these "soft" spring games where batting eyes are none too brilliant.

Grimes, an inveterate wanderer on the face of the baseball earth, has no regrets at the surprise trade that wafted him suddenly from the topmost contending Pirates to the tail end Braves. Already he has pitched for Brooklyn, New York, and the Pirates for two different periods during fourteen major league campaigns. Now if he can find a nice place to exercise his fine saddle horses in Boston he'll be perfectly content.

"I'm getting in shape slowly," he said. "I'll be ready to take my turn in about two weeks. My arm feels great, so good that I'm tempted to take chances that aren't worth while. When your arm feels bad you nurse it wisely. When it feels good you're liable to overdo it. Rebuilding the Braves is a three year job and I want to be at my best to help them out. I've been around a long time and can help our young pitchers a lot. But I sure would like to get in a few of these soft spring games. Once it gets hot every team in the league, contender or not, gets plenty tough.

"McKechnie is a great manager, the ideal man for the Braves, but it will take time to get anywhere. Good ball players cost a lot of money these days and they're hard to find, but McKechnie will get them if they are to be got. He tells me that he isn't going to trade me although he has been offered a lot of money that would help things. Naturally I'm going to work my head off to prove I'm worth that confidence.

I figure that I should win at least fifteen ball games this season for the Braves. They are hustlers and fighters and will give everything they've got. I had sixteen wins against two defeats when I hurt my hand with the Pirates last summer and I feel just as good now.

"You know a pitcher always figures his own ability on how many more games he wins than he loses. Last season I wound up with 17 and 7. That meant I won ten more than I lost. The year before with the Pirates I had an advantage of eleven with 25 and 14. It was the same proportion the year before with the Giants, 19 and 8.

"Now if the Braves play .500 ball and get out of the cellar, I have a good chance to keep up the same pace. Of course that doesn't take into account the games you finish and save for some other pitcher. That goes down in your private record book."

Neither the sudden shift from the topnotch Pirates to the bottom notch Braves or the lengthy salary controversy with Barney Dreyfuss that led to the trade have left any touch of bitterness on Grimes.

"My worst wish for Dreyfuss and the Pirates is that they go out and win that pennant. I hope Percy Jones, the pitcher they got for me, wins 25 games. In fact I wish there were eight pennants in each league so we could all win one. I'd like to see them win all those games, that is, every one except those I pitch against them."

ARMY WINS FROM WESLEYAN COLLEGE TEAM

WEST POINT, April 16—(AP)—By pounding three hurlers for 15 hits, the Army nine defeated Wesleyan today 11 to 2.

Coons, Nye and Sweet took their turn at attempting to stop the Cadets but all were hit freely. Beauchamp, who went the route for the Army, gave Wesleyan only seven hits and walked one man. The score:

Wesleyan .... 100 000 010— 2 7 3
Army .... 230 100 32x—11 15 0

Coons, Nye, Sweet and Tirrell, Fallon; Beauchamp and Hoy.

YALE BEATS N. Y. UNIV. 9 TO 2 BY HARD HITTING

NEW HAVEN, April 16—(AP)—Displaying a hard hitting attack, Yale today defeated New York university in baseball, by a score of 9 to 2. Walker, of Yale, hit a home run and a single. Snead and Booth collected triples and Linehan got two doubles. After a weak first inning, Taylor tightened up and gave a good exhibition of pitching. The score:

Yale .... 020 232 00x—9 11 1

ACADEMY FAVORITE TO TAKE SIXTH STRAIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP IN LEAGUE

Although they will probably have it tougher than has been the case for the last three years, it looks like the sixth straight Eastern Conn.-Western Rhode Island Interscholastic league title for the Academy in baseball this spring. Of the other five teams in the circuit, there does not seem to be anyone capable of topping the Wildcats this season.

Chapman Tech and Westerly have the best chance, with maybe Bulkeley as an outside possibility.

Figuring on the pre-season dope, the teams should finish about in this order: N. F. A., Chapman Tech, Westerly, Bulkeley, Stonington, Windham.

Won Ten Straight Last Year

The Academy has won the title every year without a break since 1925 and last season established a record by taking its ten games without a defeat. This was even the first time that it had been accomplished in any sport by the league where a majority of the members were competing.

The hitting is the bane of most all of the coaches' existence this year and especially so with N. F. A., Bulkeley and Windham. Most of the schools are not so bad off in the pitcher's box and a few of them have infields that are above the average.

Here's the way the teams shape up:

N. F. A.—Strong pitching staff with Butsy Weisgraber and Boots Greene as returning veterans and several promising newcomers; an infield on a par with those of past seasons and a good fielding but light-hitting (as far as the real workouts show) outfield. The Wildcats have strong reserve power, in fact, the seconds are pretty nearly on a par with the first team, save for a few positions. The Academy has the winning spirit, however, and that goes a long way.

Chapman Tech—A pitcher as good as any in the league in Capt. Fred Hewitt, a good second baseman in Joe Quinn and an outfield that won't be bad, but Coach Conway lost three-quarters of his infield by graduation and also his star catcher, Edgar Johns. Fortunately, however, Tech has a good receiver in Bucko, who saw much service last year. The Academy-Tech games are bound to be the highlights of the league season.

Westerly—The entire 1929 infield, fairly strong pitching with Capt. Pat Celestino heading the list, but no experienced catcher or outfielders. The other members of the hurling corps include Novak, Tucker and Mudge, who all saw action last spring. Mudge was first baseman most of last year but will probably be shifted to the mound.

Bulkeley—The Whalers have a few good ball-players, including the diminutive John (Goo-Goo) Brennan, second baseman. Haletkas, a southpaw, and Dayton, right-hander, are the leading candidates for pitch, while Buonano is in place behind the bat. Spud Murphy, an outfielder last year, will probably play short where Mel Campbell, the New York boy, held sway last year, and Joe Murphy is back at third. Barclay has been placed on first base to try and fill Jimmy Watterson's shoes. In the outfield, Delmore, Gigliotti and Beebe are the leading candidates.

Stonington—Stonington has Captain Godomsky as a pitcher and a veteran outfield, so that Coach Joe Smith is trying hard to round up infielders.

Windham—The Willimantic school is again handicapped by the absence of a capable flinger and this appears to be the chief concern on the part of Coach Callaghan. He also needs a catcher. Windham has, however, a fairly respectable list of players with which to build. These include Captain Brehn, Lester, Slowik, Meikle, Kaminski and Allboski.

Two of the teams this year will be piloted by new coaches. At Bulkeley Bill O'Brien is in place of Denny Shay, at Stonington Joe Smith, former Providence college all-round athlete, has replaced O'Brien.

Didja see where the barbers of Vienna urge that men grow beards and the women cut out having the hair bobbed?

They say that women will look more like women and men will look more like men. I'll give 'em about 50 per cent on that argument.

Perhaps the women will look more like women but the men will look like —well use your own imagination.

Can you folks imagine what a business catastrophe that would be for this country if the American man should follow the urge of the Vienna barber?

It would amount to no less than an industrial panic. A number of now flourishing businesses would soon be financial flops and hundreds of thousands would be thrown out of work.

How would the Gillette boys get along? The safety razor would be about as useful as a candle snuffer as a tonsorial accessory. They might however sell them to restaurants to cut ham for sandwiches with. I've often had my suspicions that they do now.

And what would become of the linen collar industry? Collars would be a drug on the market and the Chinese laundries would go into bankruptcy. The production of shirts would fall off by at least 50 per cent for the simple reason that a man could wear his shirt just twice as long without getting egg stains on it.

The woolen muffler business would take a licking for all a man would have to do would be to tuck his beard in his overcoat and he'd have as much protection from cold as though he wore a fur neckpiece.

But looking at it from another angle it would revive some lines of business. Now take the nearly defunct curry-comb industry. Since the advent of the automobile curry-combs are only seen in fish markets but there's nothing like a good stiff curry-comb to take the snarls out of a luxurious beard.

The chewing tobacco business would get a sudden impetus for there's nothing more annoying than to smoke a cigar or a cigarette and suddenly find that you've a nice brisk little brush fire in the whiskers on your manly bosom.

Pruning shears would become a necessary part of the toilet equipment of the well-groomed man. The mustache-cup and the bib would be brought into vogue again.

But how would it benefit the barber? Would he get more business or would it fall off. The Vienna tonsorial artists claim that it would give them more work because men would not try to trim their own beards the same as they shave themselves today.

Well, that's one argument but all the beards I ever saw looked like they had been trimmed by the village blacksmith.

TILDEN WINS FROM KOZELUH IN IMPROMTU MATCH

BEAULIEU, France, April 16—(AP)—In a friendly spirit and for what both later termed the greater glory of tennis, Bill Tilden and Karel Kozeluh met today in the long awaited test of topnotch amateur tennis against the professional variety. Tilden, the amateur, won by scores of 6-4, 6-4.

The little Czechoslovakian expert who holds the world's professional championship readily accepted the American champion's good-natured challenge to an impromptu match but found himself unable to cope with the brilliant play of Big Bill, who was at his best.

The match was made on the spur of the moment apparently without any pre-conceived idea of running afoul of the International Lawn Tennis Federation's ruling of a few weeks ago forbidding contests between amateurs and professionals.

It happened that the center court was empty, some of the amateur players entered against Tilden in the tournament here were late over their luncheon and Tilden was ready to go on. Kozeluh, who came as a spectator, was standing nearby in street clothes and the tennis crowd was yelling for action.

In such a setting the contest was conceived, history being vague as to who made the first proposal. There is a well defined impression, however, that Tilden said, "How about it, Karel?" to which the latter responded, "I am game."

Kozeluh threw off his coat, leaped onto the court and the match began.

NEW LONDON SWIMMERS BEAT PLAINFIELD MERMEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, April 16—The Plainfield Swimming team was defeated by New London Y at Plainfield by the score of 34 to 32 here tonight in one of the best swimming meets held at the Community House in some time.

TECH RALLIES IN 5TH TO BEAT WESTERLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Westerly, April 16—Chapman Tech staged a big fifth inning rally here today to defeat Westerly high, 8 to 4, in the opening game of the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island Interscholastic league, scoring five runs and thereafter having things easy as their star pitcher, Fred Hewitt, pitched great ball. He allowed the Westerly boys but four hits and struck out ten of them.

Tucker and Novak worked on the mound for the home towners and between them allowed ten hits while each struck out five. Mudge of Westerly connected for a triple. The score by innings:

Chapman Tech .. 200 050 001—8 10 2
Westerly .... 100 000 030—4 4 4

PETERSON USES MONEY MADE IN RING TO PAY FOR HIS EDUCATION

Ero Peterson, hard-hitting Worcester lad, who meets Joe Barre of New York in the semi-final to the Beauregard-Rose bout at the Shyma club show next Wednesday night, is literally fighting for an education. Peterson aspires to things higher than a professional pugilist, not that there isn't plenty of money for a top notch boxer. The earning power of the average boxer is only for a short span of years and then comes the long lean years of the down trail.

Peterson, knowing this, wants to prepare himself for something that will pay dividends for many years to come. He realizes that an education is necessary and he is fighting to get it. It is through his boxing that he intends to get money to pay his way through high school and college. All his money that he gets from his bouts goes toward paying for his education in high and at the completion of his high school course he intends to continue his studies in college.

He is not the first boy who has made his boxing ability pay for his education. Fidel LaBarba, Californian collegian, earned his college education within the ropes of the ring. Pat Shea, Brown university student, is another who is paying for his education with the padded mitts. Peterson does not have to fight to pay for his education as his family are able to send him through school but he does it to be self-supporting. In fact it is said that Peterson's father would rather not have Ero box and has never seen his boy in action in the ring.

Whether he has to earn his education or whether he is fighting for pin money makes no difference as he is one sweet little scrapper and puts up one nice bout. He can be depended upon to give Joe Barre a busy evening next Wednesday night. The boys seem mighty well matched. The only comparison is through Al Koziol whom both lads have fought and beaten.

The Barre-Peterson bout is only one of five bouts that will furnish plenty of action for the patrons of the Shyma club shows. The other bouts line up as real slugging matches which is what the fans thirst for.

THE HEATHEN WINS $10,000 HARFORD HANDICAP

BALTIMORE, Md., April 16—(AP)—The Heathen, a six year old sprinter from O. P. Pierce's stables, today won the $10,000 Harford handicap over the Havre De Grace track. The Sagamore stable's Balko, which was coupled with the Heathen, ran second with Glen Riddle's On Her Toes, third. Earl Sande, riding his second mount in his comeback campaign, was up on the latter. The entry paid $8.30 to win and $7.30 to place.

CARDS POUND OUT EASY VICTORY OVER THE CUBS

ST. LOUIS, April 16—(AP)—The Cardinals launched a 20 hit attack against three Chicago hurlers today and evened the series with the National league champions with a 13 to 3 victory.

The hitting of George Fisher, recently obtained by the Cardinals from the Giants, featured the Cardinal attack. In two games Fisher has obtained 8 hits out of 9 times at bat.

REDS PLAY BRILLIANT BALL TO TURN BACK PIRATES

CINCINNATI, April 16—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds evened their opening series with the Pittsburgh Pirates by winning the second game today, 3 to 1. The latter innings were played in a drizzle.

Pete Donohue pitched for the Reds and kept the ten hits well scattered. He received fine support, particularly from Critz, Ford and Kelly, who made three double plays. Walker's home run in the seventh was the hitting feature of the game. The score:

BLUEGE'S HOMER HELPS SENATORS TROUNCE RED SOX

BOSTON, April 16—(AP)—Ossie Bluege blasted a home run over left field fence here today with two of his fellow Senators on base in the second inning and brought in the runs that enabled Washington to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4.

In the first inning, West, the first Washington batter, hit the ball over the fence. It was fair only by inches. After the third inning, Gaston, the Sox hurler, held Washington to two hits and no runs. The score:

ANNUAL INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET AT ACADEMY TODAY

The annual inter-class track meet at the Academy will be staged this afternoon at the campus, starting at 2 o'clock. The four classes, junior, lower middle, upper middle and senior will be represented.

The following events are on the program: 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard dash, one mile run, one-half mile relay, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus throw, and javelin throw.

Coach Murphy hopes to uncover some likely talent from the many who will compete for their class today. It is in this manner that some boys who were backward about trying out for the team have become known and gone on to deeds of much renown on the varsity team.

Silver Bullets Win Again

The Silver Bullets took a game from the White Hawks by a score of 41 to 13 Wednesday afternoon. The lineup was: John Frontales, c; Capt. Malogrides, p; Fred Flour, 1b; Peter Ververis, 2b; Chester Pawlok, 3b; Nick Ververis, ss; Herbert Kiecolt, cf; Edward Kiecolt, lf; Joseph Romanowski, rf. The heavy hitting was done by Capt. Malogrides who made three home runs.

CONSTRUCTION OF LEVEES URGED FOR FLOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, April 16—(AP)—A story of ravaged farms, unrepaired roads and houses made untenable by flood-carried Mississippi river mud was told today before the house flood control committee as representatives from western Tennessee and Kentucky urged construction of levees in the area.

The testimony was the first given in hearings on the Cooper bill to provide equal protection for the east and west banks of the Mississippi in this section.

Meanwhile Representative Garber, republican, Oklahoma, introduced in the house a bill proposing expenditure of $175,000,000 by the federal government to construct reservoirs for storing water on navigable streams.

COMMISSION PLACES BLAME ON SECOND OF CHEVALIER AND NOT ON THE BOXERS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16—(AP)—The state athletic commission today delved more deeply into conditions surrounding Primo Carnera's six-round technical knockout victory in Oakland last Monday night over Leon Chevalier, San Francisco Negro.

Commissioner Charles F. Traung questioned those connected with the bout to find out why Bob Perry of Hollywood, Chevalier's third assistant second, threw in the towel when Chevalier was not in much distress at the time. Perry's explanation was that he thought the Negro was taking too much punishment.

Among those questioned were Leon See, Frenchman, who discovered Carnera in Europe and who is his manager; Frank Churchill, California representative of Carnera, and Roy Cummings, a San Francisco newspaper man.

Churchill, asked why he was in the vicinity of Chevalier's corner for a couple of rounds, said he was "trying to find a seat to watch the fight." Churchill said he had known Perry several years but did not talk to him or Chevalier's other two seconds while he was in the corner.

It was learned that Perry had seconded Neil Clisby, Negro, who was knocked out by Carnera recently in Los Angeles.

See told Commissioner Traung that he would be willing to have his boxer fight another bout, the proceeds to go to charity, but that he was not willing to have holders of ticket stubs on last Monday's fight to be admitted free. See said such action would be equivalent of an "admission of guilt" on the part of Carnera or his managers that the bout had been "fixed."

Cummings' testimony was that he saw Churchill appear in Chevalier's corner and converse with one of the Negro's seconds.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Commissioner Traung announced: "There is no question in my mind that the man who threw in the towel was acting under orders or was inspired in his act by others."

The three commissioners, Traung, William Hanlon of Sacramento and James Wood of San Francisco next Monday will make a decision in the case. Meanwhile Carnera's 50 per cent share of the $26,478 gate receipts and Chevalier's $1,500 were held by the commission.

It was brought again today that there was no discredit on either Carnera or Chevalier, the commission feeling that the fighters were doing their best.

GIRLS LIKE TO READ; BOYS PREFER MOVIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Farm girls read more than farm boys, a survey of Ohio 4-H club members shows.

Save for that and a more pronounced liking for music, the recreational likes are about the same. Two hundred and fifty-two girls and 148 boys were questioned. All were about 15 1-2 years of age.

One hundred and eleven of the boys played basketball. Ninety-nine pitched horseshoes. One hundred and sixty-seven girls played basketball. One played football.

Basketball, as an attraction, topped the movies among the girls, but more boys preferred the movies.

"I AM YOUR FATHER," SAID JUDGE McINGLENOOK

"No, no," cried Oleomargerine from the prisoner's dock. "I well remember the cracked tones of my father's voice as he drove poor mother and me out into the snow."

"But, dear, OLD GOLDS have put this clear, smooth tone in my voice."

They fell into each other's arms. The lawyer, the prosecutor, and the jury all smiled through their tears and reached for an OLD GOLD. Not a cough in a carload.

WOBBLY SESSION OF STOCK MARKET ATTRIBUTABLE TO PROFIT-TAKING

NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—The bull crowd fought a losing battle in a wobbly stock market today. Traders were anxious to take profits in advance of the three-day Easter closing, but vigorous bidding up of utilities and some of the more volatile specialties carried prices substantially higher for a time in the afternoon. A 10-point break in American Telephone late in the day, however, attributable to heavy profit-taking after the announcement of the offer of rights, was accompanied by heavy selling in pivotal shares in the last hour. The price index of 90 leading issues showed a gain of 1.1 points on the basis of 1 p. m. prices, and a loss of 1.4 as computed on closing prices. Sales aggregated 4,397,660 shares.

The day's corporate and trade news continued fairly favorable. Of absorbing interest to Wall street was the report of acquisition by Radio Corp. of General Electric's and Westinghouse Electric's radio manufacturing business, equipment, and licenses, in return for large blocks of radio common stock, which will place General Electric, now a dominant factor, in practical control of Radio, and give Wesinghouse a substantial minority interest. Wall street regards this move as bringing Radio common nearer to a dividend basis, as General Electric and Westinghouse will participate in radio earnings only to the extent that dividends may be declared on Radio stock. The plan appeared to have been fairly well discounted marketwise, as Radio stock closed up only 18.

The basis of the American Telephone offer, amounting to the cutting of a melon of more than $100,000,000 in rights, had been rather accurately forecast in Wall street for several weeks, and had already been fully reflected in the market action of the stock, as was evidenced by the 10-point break once the formal announcement was out of the way. The weekly steel trade reviews indicated a moderate quickening of activity in steel mill operations, attributable largely to the increasing activity of automobile manufacturers. Standard Statics Co. stated that demand for autos has been running ahead of production. President Wilkinson of Crucible Steel told stockholders that incoming orders are larger than at any previous time this year, and the outlook for the year was satisfactory. The car loadings figures for the latest week were considerably more favorable than they have been of late.

Among buoyant features, Allied Chemical rose 11 points, Case Threshing and Vanadium, about 9 but the late reaction whittled down these gains by about 4 points. Eastman Kodak rose more than 5 points to a new 1930 top, and closed up 6. Engineers Public Service, Coca Cola, and Standard of Kansas were also strong spots. On the other hand, American Locomotive, Eureka Vacuum, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, National Cash Register, and Southern Railway, dropped about 2 to 5 points to new lows for the year or longer. Pressure against the rails was heavy. New York Central, New Haven, Atchison, Norfolk and Western, and others lost from 2 to 3 points. American Can, American Water Works, Consolidated Gas, National Air Transport, Hupp Motor, and Columbian Carbon were among shares sagging about 2 points. General Electric and Westinghouse Electric lost about 4. Checker Cab dropped nearly 9.

Commodity markets gave a better account of themselves. Wheat closed about 1 to 2 cents higher, reflecting better export movement, and less favorable weather reports. Corn sold up substantially, and cotton rallied $1.35 to $1.95 a bale.

Credit conditions eased a little, with the passing of the mid-month demands. Call money sagged to 3 1-2 per cent, after renewing at 4. Foreign exchanges were generally firm, with the exception of sterling, cables sagging 1-16 to $4.86 1-4. The movement of sterling to New York is attributed in some quarters to the proposed increase in British taxes.

NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—Bankers acceptances outstanding on March 31, totaled $1,539,285,798, a decline of $84,613,420 during the month, according to the American Acceptance Council's monthly report. The March 31 total also shows a decline of $193,150,590 since Dec. 31, but is still $334,306,145 above the total for March 30, 1929. Citing business conditions, the decline in commodity prices and other special factors affecting the volume of acceptances, Robert H. Beans executive secretary of the council, in his report states that "the surprising thing is that the volume has not fallen away more rapidly than it has, particularly so as the market rates for acceptance financing in the London market are now in their favor."

T. G. Miller, general manager of the long lines department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., was elected a vice-president at today's meeting of the directors. He will continue in charge of the long lines department.

Directors of Powdrell & Alexander, Inc., of Boston, manufacturers of window curtains, today voted an extra dividend of 37 1-2 cents a share on the common stock, payable May 15, to stock of record May 1.

Production of bituminous coal in the United States during the week ending April 12 is estimated by the National Coal association at 8,375,000 net tons. The output of the corresponding period last year was 8,247,000 net tons.

Stockholders of the Union Bag & Paper Corp., have approved a plan of recapitalization providing for a reduction in the par value of the stock from $100 to $30 a share, and subsequently to a no-par basis.

Stockholders of the Fox Film Corp., and the Fox Theatres Corp, will meet April 28 to complete reorganization of the company under the new management. Harley L. Clarke, head of the General Theatres Equipment Co., who recently purchased the Fox Film Corp. "B," or voting stock from William Fox, said today that about $22,000,000 has been appropriated for first year's production.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—Uneven price movements again characterized today's curb market, but the main tendency continued upward. Final quotations, in many cases, showed moderate recessions from the day's high levels, due in part to pre-holiday profit-taking on the part of many traders who left early for extended week-end trips because of the Friday and Saturday holiday this week.

Chief speculative interest again centered in the public utilities. Electric Bond & Share crossed 117 to a new high and then receded to 115 3-8 for a small fractional net gain. American Light & Traction issues moved to new high ground on buying influenced by reports on important natural gas developments. International Utilities A, Lone Star Gas, North American Light & Power and United Light & Power A also topped their previous 1930 peak prices. Niagara & Hudson was heavily bought, rising about a point to within a fraction of the year's top.

American Telephone "rights" were admitted to trading privileges after the announcement of the additional stock issue and changed hands in large volume between 22 3-8 and 23 1-8, closing at 22 5-8. Stockholders of the Telephone company received rights to subscribe to one additional share of common at $100 for each six shares held.

Ford Motor of Canada A moved to a new high at 38 1-2 on rumors of an early inauguration of dividends but reacted later to 36 1-2, up 3-4 net. Other Ford shares showed little change. Cumberland Pipe Line, which had a large advance yesterday on the declaration of an extra dividend, soared 15 points to a new high at 65 and then reacted to 60. The stock had sold as low as 40 1-2 this year. Dow Chemical jumped 10 points to a new high at 86 and Firemen's Fund Insurance 9 1-2 points to a new top at 112, closing a point below the top.

With the exception of a point gain in Ohio Oil, the petroleum shares showed little change. Blue Ridge preferred and Ungerleider were the strong spots in the investment trust group.

The market value of Benson & Hudges was practically cut in half by a drop of 3 3-8 points in that stock to 3 1-2. Silica Gel and Electric Household Products also were heavy.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 16—(AP)—Unabated drought in much of the wheat belt southwest, especially western Kansas and western Oklahoma, hoisted wheat values today. There were also indications that export demand for wheat from North America had broadened out to a notable degree, and that shipments from Argentina were curtailed. Besides, domestic mill purchasing of wheat in Chicago today was the largest in some time.

Wheat closed nervous but at nearly the day's top level 1 1-2-2 5-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-1 5-8c up, oats 1 1-4-1 3-8c advanced, and provisions showing 5-1-7c gain.

Official advices from the southwest confirming earlier news that drought relief in a large part of Kansas and Oklahoma had proved inadequate, and that heavy rains still were needed, formed the outstanding feature in the wheat pit. The official reports gave special significance to dispatches saying that unless general soaking rains came before May 1 Kansas might not raise 100,000,000 bushels this season compared with 138,000,000 bushels last year. Under such circumstances, traders who had overreached themselves in selling on rain reports made haste to take a reverse market position. There was lively general buying too, on the ground that prices had gone 10c a bushel lower than last week, and that holidays ahead pointed to a widespread evening-up process as likely.

Toward the end of the day, definite estimates were circulated that new export business in North American wheat totaled far in excess of 1,000,000 bushels. Meanwhile definite forecasts were at hand that Argentina would ship only 1,727,000 bushels of wheat this week as against 4,085,000 bushels last week. Nebraska dispatches telling of fresh general rains failed to stimulate selling, and as did word of favorable progress of spring wheat seeding northwest. On the contrary, many buying orders from eastern sources absorbed all surplus offers, and the day ended with prospects that southwest drought would continue to dominate the market.

Corn values owed much of their strength to news that lake vessels were passing through the Straits of Mackinaw. It was reported that herefore the Chicago grain fleet would clear shortly for Buffalo, and that a decided reduction of Chicago stocks of corn would result. Oats followed corn upgrade.

Provisions advanced, responding to gains both in hog values and grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 1.06 1-4, 1.09 1-2-5-8; July 1.07 1-8-1-4, 1.10 3-4-7-8; Sept. 1.10 1-4-3-8, 1.14; Dec. 1.14 3-8, 1.18 1-5. Corn—May 83 1-2-5-8, 84 7-8; July 85 3-8, 86 3-5; Sept. 86 1-4-3-8, 87 3-8-1-2; Dec. (offers) 82 1-2.

WASHINGTON, April 16—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 14 were $6,410,698.84; expenditures $12,195,159.91; balance $262,994,152.10.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 16—(AP)—Standard investment bonds sagged again today in a market that had little vitality. Rails suffered most noticeably from the lack of buying interest and prices of numerous high grade carriers eased half a point or so. Utilities and industrials were extremely dull.

Approximately 45 per cent of the day's business in the entire list was done in the American Telephone convertible 4 1-2s. These debentures, in a turnover, of about $6,500,000 par value, lost 11 1-4 points on the selling of the stock following the announcement of share rights. Holders of the bonds will not receive these rights and it is expected that this provision will accelerate conversion. The debentures were issued a year ago to the amount of $210,000,000 and a substantial amount of the offering has already been exchanged.

United States government securities lost ground. The largest decline was in the Treasury 4 1-4s, off about half a point on moderately large offerings.

The softer rails included Boston & Maine 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1-2s, New Haven 4 1-2s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Northern Pacific 6s, St. Louis San Francisco 4 1-2s and Union Pacific 4s, all of which averaged half a point lower. There were larger losses in Union Pacific first 4s, Southern Pacific 4 1-2s, Pennsylvania general 4 1-2s, and Canadian National 5s. New Haven 6s of 1940, which may be called for redemption this year, were firm at 105 1-2. St. Paul issues eased on considerable liquidation, the adjustment 5s making a new low at 68, ten points below their high of last month.

Stock option bonds were almost uniformly lower. Atchison 4 1-2s, General Theatres 6s, International Telephone 4 1-2s, Loew's 6s, Reading Coal & Iron 6s and Shubert 6s sank from nearly one to 2 1-2 points.

Foreign obligations moved erratically and failed to develop much of a trend. Fiat 7s and Kreuger & Toll 5s, both carrying warrants were fairly active and higher, the former rallying more than a point. The Swedish Match company and the International Match Co., two of the Kreuger & Toll concerns, will get a profit of $7,500,000 through the French government's decision to redeem the $75,000,000 loan it obtained three years ago from the match trust. These bonds were sold at 93 1-2 and are to be retired at 103 1-2. The largest part of the issue was taken by International Match, whose debenture 5s are listed on this market. They rose 1-4 today.

POETRY

Loss

Just for a fragment of morning we two were together,
Trail joined trail in the hills, and we rode to the West.
Chance-met comrades in youth and the upland weather,
Wasting our priceless minutes in banter and jest.

Short was the way, but I learned life's song from her singing,
Learned from her slow, sweet smile,
and the gray of her eyes,
Saw with new vision the clustered yucca
bells swinging,
Thrilled to the beauty of white peaks meeting the skies.

How could I know that the hills would grow dark with her going?
Laughing, I watched her ride into the South, and away.
Mine was a living gleam of the high god's bestowing;
Lightly I tossed it aside in the spirit of play.
I should have put aside all things and made her road my road,
I should have followed her down to the ends of the earth.
Blind, I have followed the dim trails,
missing love's highroad;
She could have led me to honor, and glory, and worth.

Mine was the folly of wisdom, and mine
the transgressing.
Now I must keep through time's blurring,
and treasure for gain,
The grace of a white throat, formed for a man's caressing,
Brown hair, and a girl's wrist bent to the bridle rein.

—Elliott C. Lincoln, in Lyric West.

Spring

There's a beautiful time soon coming,
It's winging and singing its way,
Even now if you softly listen,
Faint voices far away
Blend with the winds of winter—
Out of skies cold and gray.
I hear the gurgle of laughter,
Of the brook fairies lithe and gay,
And in the tall trees' bare branches,
A robin perched today.
Out in the deep woods' gardens,
Where vines and grasses creep,
You hear soft, breathy whispers,
Like babies fast asleep,
And above the beds of violets,
Hidden under the snow,
Muffled voices are piping,
"We soon are going to grow
And bloom and laugh and scatter
Our fragrance to the air."
There's a perfectly glorious time coming
I can feel it everywhere.

—Betty B. Bowlsby, in The Pathfinder.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Orderly—Grapefruit juicy, sir?
Officer—Unless my eyes deceive me.
—Exchange.

"Mr. Tombson has a great deal of Scotch in his veins," said Mrs. Tippler, looking up from her sewing.
"Lucky man," groaned Mr. Tippler.
—Detroit News.

Spinster—Has the canary had his bath yet?
Maid—Yis, mum, ye can come in now.—Exchange.

Exodus—Chicken dumplings, hot biscuits and watermelon!—The Pathfinder.

An uplift worker, visiting a prison, was much impressed by the melancholy attitude of one man she found.
"My poor man," she sympathized, "what is the length of your term?"
"Depends on politics, lady," replied the melancholy one. "I'm the warden."
—Boston Transcript.

"Here is the son and heir, sir," said the nurse, smiling coyly.
The producer gave it a perfunctory glance. "Sorry," he said, absently, "not quite the type!"—Tatler.

Officer—Again, eh? Don't you realize when you've reached your capacity? After you've had so much whiskey you should order some soft drink, like sarsaparilla.
Gob—I tried that, Lt., but when I'd drunk tha' mush I couldn' (hic) shay shashprerra.—Army and Navy Journal.

Goodyear offers a new heavy duty Balloon

A BEAU BRUMMELL for Looks

A HUSKY for Wear!

Here's a new tire by Goodyear for the heavy car, the fast driver, the tough and rocky road—for any service that's arduous in the extreme!

It steps apart from other Heavy Duty balloons not only by its greater strength and improved construction, but also by its strikingly handsome appearance.

It's a big, stout, massively proportioned tire, armored with an extra-thick and extra-safe All-Weather Tread, and around its sleek black side-wall runs a single identifying stripe of silver.

New and original is the way in which the outer rows of All-Weather blocks are faceted down into the side-wall, a touch as smart as anything in modern sculpture.

You may be willing to pay a little more for a tire which gives you extra immunity against puncture, extra protection against blowout, extra mileage even in hard continuous service.

If you feel that way about it, go see the nearest Goodyear Dealer, and have him change over your car's tire equipment to these new Goodyear Heavy Duty balloons today!

GOODYEAR

THE GREATEST NAME IN RUBBER

Goodyear can give you greater tire values because Goodyear builds more than

of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty manufacturers. "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

NEW LONDON SHERIFF'S EDICT--- UNIFORMS, NOT CIVIES, FOR STAFF

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 16.—In the future sheriffs in New London county performing court duty will be required to wear regulation uniforms, this edict being announced by the newly appointed sheriff, George H. Bradford. In the past, sheriffs, during court attendance, have appeared in civilian attire. Hereafter uniforms of dark blue, very similar to police uniforms, will be worn. The uniforms will be of English cut collar with insignia on each lapel and one row of brass buttons on the front of the coat. The deputy sheriffs will display a badge on the left breast to designate their official rank. As a rule, two sheriffs are in court attendance during the civil term of the superior court and anywhere from four to six while the criminal term is in session.

TWO GROTON RAIDS WITH LITTLE RESULTS

State police from Groton barracks conducted two raids last night and in both instances the raiding force was unsuccessful. Not the slightest semblance of liquor was found but in spite of this fact, one arrest was made. The officers first visited the pool room owned by Pasquale Vitro on Eastern Point road, Groton. A search of the building did not reveal any liquor, but James Delmore, of 588 Bank street, this city, was taken into custody, charged with conducting a place of business reputed to be a place where liquor is sold. Delmore furnished a surety on his bond of $1,000 and will be in Groton town court next Monday. The raiders later visited the residence of Camillo Santacroce, 17 Eastern Point road and there they met with the same experience, but Santacroce was not arrested.

Miss Evelyn Hogan has returned to her home at West Hartford, having visited her aunt, Mrs. Anna Hogan, of 54 Cutler street.

During his absence from New London, Mr. Mercer was seized with a serious illness. He is recovering at his New London home, where his condition is reported as being vastly improved.

Mrs. G. Graham Chapin, Faire Harbour place, was summoned to Baltimore today by the death of her mother.

Miss Gladys Bishop resumed her duties as teacher at the Winthrop school today after having been a patient at a local hospital for a minor operation.

Robert A. Dean has purchased from Silas Maxson two building lots on Pataganset road, Niantic.

Joseph Zukowsky, of Mystic; Mrs. Charles Norcross, Groton and Mrs. Ralph Good, and infant son, 41 Learned street, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

BULKELEY INSTRUCTOR GOING TO LONG ISLAND

Thomas R. Cook of the English department of Bulkeley high school has tendered his resignation, which has been accepted. Mr. Cook has been engaged to teach at Great Neck high school, Great Neck, L. I. Mr. Cook, who has been an instructor at Bulkeley for seven years, will spend the summer in Maine.

Two automobiles driven by women collided at Bank street, corner of Truman street, this evening. Both cars were damaged, but none of the occupants sustained injury.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jones of Medway, Mass., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Thelma Jones to Jack M. Cherry of Boston. Mr. Cherry is well known in this city. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Haggerty of Ocean avenue. The wedding will take place Sunday, April 27, at St. Joseph's church, West Medway.

Henry Strait, of this city, was arrested in Groton last night by State Police Officer John Smith charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license. He will be tried in Groton town court Monday next.

MEMBERS OF STEAMER CREW STRICKLAND BEARERS

The funeral of Capt. Martin S. Strickland, former master of the Central Vermont railroad steamer New York, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his residence on South road, Poquonoc Bridge and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Albert E. Eyland, of Poquonoc Bridge and Rev. Edwin S. Holloway, of Groton. Members of the crew of the steamer acted as bearers. Burial was in Starr cemetery, Groton.

Mrs. William Hendel and infant son, of 331 Montauk avenue; Miss Elizabeth Foley, 142 Crystal avenue; Mrs. Retta Cross, 238 Crystal avenue; Donald Avery, Stonington; Mrs. William Moran, 113 Willets avenue; Joseph Pi-Jeaux, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. McCune Bratton and infant daughter, 136 Broad street; Mrs. Arthur Pressell and infant daughter, 2 Division street; Mrs. Charles Zof and infant daughter, 121 Hempstead street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Needless Alarm

The fire department was called out on a needless run this afternoon when some irresponsible person rang in an alarm for a brush fire outside the city limits. The burning brush was observed by a resident of Colman street and although being located in a woodland and in Waterford, the discoverer of the blaze rang in an alarm from Box 37, corner of Colman and Warren streets. Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and four pieces of apparatus responded, but when they arrived at the location of the box there was nothing for the firemen to do but to return to quarters.

Caught Violating Law

The state motor vehicle department today continued its drive in an endeavor to compel auto-drivers to adhere to the law and as a result of the renewed activity several arrests were made. Inspector L. O. Hewlitt came to New London this forenoon and accompanied by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin went to Truman street, one of the most heavily traveled highways of the city, where drivers were held up. Wherever an infraction was detected by the inspection the offending drivers were ordered to present themselves in the police court tomorrow morning. Harry Edwards, 20 Hempstead street and George M. Learmont, West Main street, Meriden, were charged with driving without a license in their possession. Charles Gordon, 10 Montauk avenue and Domino Jannanno, 51 Smith street, were charged with driving cars equipped with defective brakes.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Joseph Turcott, 61 Golden street; Joseph Phillips, 6 Golden street and Ora Phebus, former member of the U. S. Coast Guard. Phebus is serving a sentence at the county jail for automobile theft, having been arrested in New Jersey several weeks ago, having stolen an automobile in New London belonging to Mrs. Isabelle Murray, of 75 Howard street. The automobile was recovered.

Joseph Syracuse, public service operator, was in the police court this morning charged with soliciting fares on property of the New Haven railroad. The case was continued to Saturday next. Syracuse was arrested last night at the union station by Special Agent Harold Swanson. Syracuse is alleged to have entered upon the platform and solicited fares from passengers who alighted from the train that arrived from New York at 11:20. Syracuse is one of several independent drivers who make a stand at the depot and because of drivers of Yellow Cabs going to the platform seeking patrons, the former drivers follow that practice. The Yellow Cab drivers are given permission to go to the platform, but the other drivers are not allowed that privilege, being compelled to adhere to the provisions of a city ordinance, which prohibits the soliciting by the drivers when they are 10 feet or more from where their cars are parked. Since the railroad grants the competing drivers the privilege of entering upon the platform the other drivers entertain the opinion that they should have the same privilege. For two years there has been a conflict between city and railroad police because of the independent drivers pursuing the same procedure as the Yellow Cab drivers in soliciting patronage and numerous arrests have been made, but none of the drivers have been penalized.

The other cases presented were for intoxication. One man was sentenced to 20 days in jail, but execution of the sentence was suspended. The other two offenders were given suspension of judgment.

HANOVER STOLEN CAR FOUND ABANDONED

Two more automobiles were stolen in this city last night making 10 cars stolen within 72 hours. Only a few nights ago one of the police cars was given attention by a thief. While one of the patrol autos was parked in front of police headquarters the thief went to the car and was scared away, but before he disappeared the key to the switch was stolen. Last night Frederick W. LeBourveau, of Hanover, drove to New London, accompanied by three young ladies. While LeBourveau and his friends attended a theatre their auto was parked on Huntington street, near Church. When they went to where the Buick coupe had been left, LeBourveau and his friends discovered that the machine had been stolen. The owner reported his loss at police headquarters, but the auto was not recovered until 3 o'clock this morning when it was found abandoned on Lewis street. Philip Bush, 9 Division street, parked his car on State street last night and about 11 o'clock discovered that it had been stolen. The police did not find the car, but the owner did for it was found abandoned on Railroad avenue.

PATROLMAN JOHN FOLEY DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 16—Patrolman John Foley, 36, of 270 Huntington street, died this afternoon at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, death resulting from an illness of ten days with pneumonia. He is survived by his wife and three children, and by two brothers. Officer Foley had been on his vacation since April 1 and early last week contracted a severe cold. A day or two later pneumonia developed. Last Sunday when Officer Foley's condition became grave, he was taken to the hospital where he died at 3 o'clock today. Patrolman Foley was born in Ireland, but had resided in this city since young manhood. He was appointed a supernumerary officer April 1, 1918 and on June 1, of the same year was appointed to the regular force, continuing as a patrolman until his fatal illness. Patrolman Foley was held in high esteem by his associate officers for he possessed a kindly disposition and traits which endeared him to the entire department, and it was with profound regret that the news of his death was received. The officer was one of the youngest members of the department and had an excellent record. He was faithful and dependable in the performance of his duties and because of his excellent judgment and knowledge of police work he gained the high regard of both his associates and the general public.

Plans for an unemployment demonstration march of "workers" from Chicago to Washington, were announced in New York by William Z. Foster, communist leader who is in jail.

Broadway Theatre

Seldom do quality and quantity go hand in hand, but that does not apply to the Broadway, when the management steps out with two features on the same bill. Today and tomorrow, for instance, Buddy Rogers, with Paul Lukas and Jean Arthur and a big cast, are furnishing thrills galore in "Young Eagles," surpassing even the gigantic "Wings" in sheer excitement and fast action. A tale of the air service in war days, with the German spy service at work every moment, the picture is replete with "dog-fights" 17,000 feet up, ground battles and battles of wits that will stir the slowest blood to racing speed. In the companion picture, Hal Skelley has the chance of his life as the chin-wagging, boisterous "kid from West Philly," in "Men Are Like That," filmed from George Kelly's stage side-splitter, "The Show-Off." Working on a shoestring of brains, with constantly back-firing tonsils, and a mouth like the Bleachery gate, Skelley bluffs and brags his way through life, until by sheer luck, he makes a "killing" and redeems all his bluffs in one move. Just a plain riot of fun, with plain every-day folks in the cast. You all know "The Show-Off." He lives on every street, and belongs to every club—therefore, you'll doubly enjoy this picture of your pal. Fox Movietone news completes the program.

For Saturday, the ultimate in screen fare is in store for Broadwayites in the premiere popular price showing of the masterpiece of 1930, "The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King, Jeannette Macdonald, O. P. Heggie, Warner Oland and Lillian Roth, with a cast of 5,000, and filmed entirely in the most brilliant and gorgeous technicolor ever screened locally. Sumptuous scenic settings, coupled with the glorious singing and music, reproduced over the Broadway's acknowledged superior Western Electric sound system, is a guarantee of perfect screen entertainment, and the only opportunity to witness this vast production, except at vastly increased prices.

Palace Theatre

Today and Friday, the patrons of the Palace theatre have a great treat in store for them. The Palace is presenting one of the special double-feature bills which are so popular. "New York Nights," starring Norma Talmadge and Gilbert Roland, and "Troopers Three," are the two pictures now being shown.

"New York Nights" is the screen version of the well-known stage success, "Tin Pan Alley," and it is a fast-moving tale of life on the Great White Way. Norma Talmadge is seen as Jill Deverne, a chorus girl in a large show. She is the sole support of her husband, Fred, an irresponsible song writer who never worries about much of anything.

Jill gets tired of Fred's waywardness and decides to leave him. He changes her mind for her when he composes a song which is better than any he has written. The song is accepted by Joe Prividi, a racketeer producer, and things begin to look better for Jill and Fred. But it is not lasting and soon Fred becomes involved in a scandal with another woman and Jill quits him to live with Prividi.

Both are unhappy and how their affairs are straightened out at last is a story which will appeal to everyone. Norma Talmadge is excellent in her part as Jill and Gilbert Roland is well cast as Fred.

The plot of "Troopers Three," a comedy romance, is centered about army life and the activities of the regular troopers of the cavalry. This picture was produced with the sanction and approval of the government and many of the scenes were taken at cavalry posts in Monterey and San Diego, Cal., under the supervision of Arthur Guy Empey, the author of the scenario.

The story is about Eddie Haskins, smart aleck song and dance man of vaudeville, and his pals, Bugs and Sonny, who decide to join the Citizens' Training camp and rehearse a new act for 30 days at the expense of Uncle Sam.

Many jokes are played on the three rookies but the biggest joke of all doesn't seem so funny when they learn that they have enlisted in the cavalry for a period of three years. Eddie falls in love and wins the girl when he rescues her from a burning building. Among the stars in this picture are Rex Lease, Roscoe Karns, Slim Summerville and Dorothy Sebastian.

On Saturday, the Palace will present "Under a Texas Moon," Warner Brothers' and Vitaphone's first 100 per cent talking, singing, outdoor picture in technicolor. The cast is long and replete with stars, among some of whom are Frank Fay, Myrna Loy and Armida, the petite Mexican charmer.

NO CRIMINAL BLAME FOR AUTOMOBILE FATALITY

In a finding made public Tuesday, Coroner Edward G. McKay has exonerated Joseph Granada of New London of criminal responsibility in causing the death of Jacob Hester, 56, of Waterford on March 29th. Mr. Hester was hit and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Granada at Quaker Hill. In his finding the coroner says:

When he reached the point where the collision occurred, he suddenly saw a form, crossing the street in front of him. This form was the deceased, who was attempting to cross from the west side of the road to the east side. When the occupants of the Granada car saw the deceased he was probably 4 or 5 feet away from the car. According to the testimony of the occupants of the car, the deceased appeared to them to be running. Granada immediately applied his brakes and attempted to turn to the left out of the path of the man. However, he was unsuccessful and struck the man with the right front of his automobile.

After the man was struck, the automobile was brought to a stop, and the deceased lay on the ground near the right rear wheel of the automobile. Two of the occupants who were riding in the rumble seat jumped out of the car and went to the aid of the injured man. The driver drove his automobile off the road to his right, and then returned to the injured man. They found him lying near the easterly edge of the concrete unconscious. They hailed a passing car and attempted to put the injured man in that car to take him to New London. However, the injured man was large of stature and their attempt was unsuccessful. They called an ambulance and had him conveyed to a New London hospital.

The only witnesses to the actual collision were the occupants of the Granada car. Neighbors and other people in the vicinity arrived on the scene immediately after the collision and saw the position of the injured man and the position of the automobile. They also noted the accumulation of glass which came from the damaged headlight of the automobile and this glass was scattered near the west side of the highway.

In reaching a conclusion as to the degree of negligence in this case, I have taken into consideration the situation especially as to the distance the car went after the collision. This distance was not over eight or ten feet. I do not believe that the driver of the Granada car had an opportunity to see the deceased, either while he was on the west side of the road nor when he started to cross the road. The deceased was dressed in dark clothes and the highway approaching the scene of the collision was dark. This combination made the view of a pedestrian difficult to discern from any great distance.

I am satisfied and find that the death of Jacob Hester was not caused by the criminal negligence, carelessness or omission of any other person or persons.

BELATED RECOGNITION FOR NORWICH REVOLUTIONARY HERO

Not many Norwich people of today ever heard of Seth Harding, master mariner. Yet Seth Harding, 150 years ago, was considered perhaps the equal of John Paul Jones. His biography, written by James L. Howard of Hartford, published by the Yale University Press, will do much to restore his memory in the esteem of this part of Connecticut.

Born on Cape Cod, Seth Harding moved to Norwich. After the last of the colonial wars, he found himself with considerable property, some ships; and poor health. He felt unable longer to pursue his trade of shipmaster. He accepted a grant of land which had just been taken from the French of Acadia, Nova Scotia. When the Revolution broke out, Seth Harding found himself unpopular among the extreme royalists of the Maritime provinces, although he was a man of substance, a judge of common pleas and a member of the general assembly. But he also was a revolutionary—a rebel, his neighbors called him. He went back to Norwich. Hearing of the revolutionary ardor of the Jonathan Trumbull who was then governor, he went to Lebanon to meet the man. He was commissioned master of the brig Defense, nee the Lily Ann. He took her from New Haven to New London with a skeleton crew.

Here all was excitement. George Washington was in town, visiting with the Shaws in Bank street. (The house is now the headquarters of the New London County Historical society, and a fine house it is.) Harding recruited sailors, gunners and sailmakers. Presently he sailed away down the sound and made his first capture—a boatload of Tories, bound for Long Island.

There was no fight, but the capture was important. Shortly after Harding took his ship into Massachusetts bay. There, after entertaining Mrs. John Adams, he fought a brief engagement with a Britisher. It was brief, perhaps, but deadly. His enemy capitulated, turning over a lieutenant colonel and 210 Scotch soldiers to the Americans. A second British ship immediately after was captured by Harding. Then came a third.

Harding now had a reputation. He sailed the high seas for a while and made many more captures, some after considerable fighting. Then he fled a heavy British squadron and made port safely in New London.

Soon after that he got a new ship, the Oliver Cromwell. With this vessel he also took many prizes. His reputation so much enhanced, Harding was made captain of the finest ship in the continental navy, the frigate Confederacy. And then his luck changed.

In the first place, he had difficulty raising a crew. He took everybody he could get and many he legally couldn't get. He shanghaied and impressed his sailors, according to the hardy customs of that day. Most of the crew he "drafted" in New London. The Confederacy had been built in Norwich but local pride wasn't great. With a skeleton crew, Harding sailed to the Delaware, where he completed his roster by the simple device of taking sailors off passing merchantmen. War was simple, in those days.

For a while no particular bad luck overtook Harding. He made a few captures, but not many. Then he was commissioned to take John Jay to France. The masts, spars and rigging of the ship collapsed in mid-ocean. By masterly seamanship Harding made a French port in the Barbadoes. He returned to Philadelphia and was re-outfitted, cleverly avoiding capture on his return. He sailed again, was overtaken by superior force, surrendered.

This is the barest outline of Harding's career. He seems, from the book, to have been a masterly seaman, a splendid fighter. No one of his battles was so sensational as Jones' great fight between the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapis, but Harding, nevertheless, would appear from a reading of the history to have earned a better place in history than that given him by the mere naming of a war-built destroyer after him.

Following the revolution, he was poor, sick. He tried trading in the Danish (now American) West Indies, even took out a quasi-citizenship there. He returned to New York. He and Mrs. Harding ran a sort of boarding house, where the quality from Norwich and New London stopped when they visited in New York. In 1814 congress gave him a pension. Soon after Seth Harding, mariner, died.

The book about him bears a secondary title, A Naval Picture of the Revolution. It is rather more that than a biography. Facts about Harding are scarce. Nevertheless, the book is important in adding a chapter to what will be essentially local history to the people of New London county. Otherwise it is a splendid commentary on the American navy of the Revolution. It shows us in the depths, literally and figuratively. It shows a depleted navy. But it shows a gallant lot of men, too—fighters, patriots.

Seth Harding fought the Revolution at a tremendous personal sacrifice. He gave up a fortune in Nova Scotia to join his rebel compatriots of Connecticut. He gave up what might have been a fortune as a privateer owner personally to command a Continental frigate.

People who hear of Seth Harding for the first time through this new biography will wonder why history has not dealth more freely with him. In New London county many will wonder why Seth Harding, local hero, hasn't been better publicized down through the years.

LONG-TONGUED BEES BEST FOR GOOD CLOVER CROP

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Some farmers in the red clover regions may be keeping the wrong kind of honeybees, says W. J. Nolan of the department of agriculture.

The corolla tubes of the red clover blossom are too long for the shorter-tongued bees who find it difficult or impossible to gather honey from them.

City Employes Insured

NEW YORK—(AP)—Greeley, Colorado, is the first city in that state to take advantage of the law enacted last year enabling municipalities to help finance contributory life insurance policies for their employes.

THE TORTUROUS ROUTE

"This legislation is urgent. This new bill has been carefully considered by The American Legion, by the veterans' committee of the house of representatives, approved by that committee and approved by the Legion. It is a splendid piece of constructive legislation for the disabled, and its passage in congress should not be delayed by further debate. The Legion urges the passage of this legislation as a separate measure upon which all are agreed. Congress should let it be passed immediately because 84,000 of our disabled comrades need the relief it provides, and they need it now."

NORWICH ROTARY DIRECTORS ELECT LARRABEE PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the newly elected directors of the Norwich Rotary club held Wednesday morning prior to the weekly luncheon of the club Harold D. Larrabee was chosen president of the Rotary club to succeed Frank R. Murdy. The other officers named were: Vice president, Dr. R. R. Agnew; secretary, Emory H. Davis; treasurer, Benjamin H. Palmer, Jr.; sergeant at arms, Herbert M. Hitchon. The announcement of the officers was made by President Murdy and met with the entire approval of the club.

At the business session of the meeting a report on the ladies' night was made by Walter E. Turner. John E. Sellman and Ellis Thayer were the song leaders for the meeting.

The speaker of the luncheon who was introduced by Mr. Larrabee, chairman of the program committee for April, was Elliott F. Bronson, a member of the state commission of forests and parks. Mr. Bronson proved a very able speaker with a thorough knowledge of his subject. He told of the various plans of the state to increase its state forest holdings with an ultimate of 200,000 acres. He said that the state had already acquired 54,000 acres and that $30,000 had been given by the people of Connecticut for purchase of forest land for parks.

Part of his talk was devoted to Indian lore which proved extremely interesting. Mr. Bronson said that the Indian was highly intellectual, deeply religious and very artistic and that he had been led astray by the white man. He blamed the custom of scalping onto the Puritans who offered rewards for every scalp brought in of other tribes. The speaker told of the religious rites and the legends of the Indians.

At the conclusion of his talk he was given a hearty vote of appreciation.

JAIL SENTENCE AND FINES IN COMMON PLEAS CASES

In the session of the criminal common pleas court here Wednesday morning, with Judge C. B. Waller presiding, Nicholas Panatagus, proprietor of a grocery store on Thames street, pleaded guilty to a charge of violation of the liquor law by sale of a pint of liquor on Feb. 20 and was fined $200 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. He previously had filed a plea of not guilty and asked to be tried by jury.

After learning that investigator in liquor cases had received from another person the evidence presented against Lucien Macaurelle of Jewett City, charged with violation of the liquor law, Prosecutor Whittlesey recommended that the case be nolled, and the recommendation was sustained. The person who furnished the evidence is Arthur Chartier of Jewett City in whose testimony Mr. Whittlesey said he had no confidence.

A nolle on recommendation of Prosecutor Whittlesey was entered in the case against Rose Marshall, presented on an appeal from the Stonington town court on a penalty for violation of the motor vehicle law. The prosecutor in recommending the nolle, said that the violation was caused by inexperience, rather than through recklessness.

The case against Louis Duestch of Sprague, charged with violation of section 6251 of the public acts, was nolled on payment of costs of $10. The charge centered around interference in an attachment of cord wood by a deputy sheriff.

Mary Platek of Jewett City, who at a previous session of the court pleaded not guilty to a charge of violation of the liquor law and elected to be tried by jury, changed her plea to guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

On payment of costs of $10, a nolle was entered in the case against Anthony DeNino, of this city, charged with violation of the gambling laws.

MISS AGNES GREENMAN WINS NATIONAL C. A. R. PRIZE

Miss Agnes Lester Greenman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Greenman, of Laurel Hill avenue, received a telegram from Washington Wednesday evening that she had been awarded the Harriett M. Lothorpe prize at the national convention of the Children of the American Revolution, for the best write-up of a C. A. R. meeting this year. This contest was open to the members of the National society, C. A. R. in any state.

Miss Greenman, who is only 16, is in her third year at Norwich Free Academy. The honor which she has won will prove very gratifying to the officers and members of Gen. Ebenezer Huntington society, C. A. R. of Norwich, of which society Miss Greenman and her sisters are members.

TAFTVILLE

The members of the Ladies Benevolent society of the Taftville Congregational church held their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church vestry and parlors. At the business session, the president, Mrs. Richard B. Snow presided, and later the members worked on dressings for the William W. Backus hospital.

Miss Aurette Fournier, the president, was in charge of the regular business meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, held Wednesday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah community building. A number of routine business matters were transacted.

With the president, Miss Helen Breault presiding, the weekly business meeting of the members of St. Veronica's society was held Wednesday evening in the society's rooms on Providence street.

There will be a special meeting of Court Wequonnoc No. 88, Foresters of America, this evening at 8 o'clock in their rooms at Parish hall, to take action upon the death of Brother August Krodel. Per order, P. J. Fogarty (Chief Ranger).—adv.

Beginning the solemn ceremonies which mark the end of Holy Week and the approach of Easter, the blessed sacrament is to be carried in procession from the main altar to the repository on the altar of the blessed virgin, following the 7:30 mass today (Thursday) at Sacred Heart church. In the evening there is to be a holy hour at 7:00, during which there will be prayers and meditations. The altar will be stripped of its hangings during the day and the tabernacle door left open for Good Friday. On Friday, there is to be mass of the pre-sanctified at 7:30, followed by veneration of the cross. In the afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, there will be stations of the cross. Mass will be said at 7:30 Saturday morning when there will also be the blessing of the Easter water, the Paschal candle and the new fire.

WEST END COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION IS TOLD ABOUT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Unanimous endorsement of the junior high school proposition was signified by a rising vote by a gathering of about 100 persons at the conclusion of five brief talks on the question by members of the town school board at a mass meeting held Wednesday evening at the Elizabeth street school under the auspices of the West End Community association, George R. Gifford, president. The speakers were Superintendent E. J. Graham of the town schools, and Mrs. A. H. Chase, Robert McNeeley, Edward G. McKay and Walter F. Lester, members of the town school board.

In his talk, Superintendent Graham said in part:

In order to understand just why this new junior high school organization is needed, we must consider the whole education system. Why change the elementary period of education from eight to six years? Why is it considered that six years in the elementary grades is long enough to acquire an elementary education? The answer given by most educational authorities is this: The fundamental aim is to teach the tools of learning, to prepare the pupil for further school work, and to inculcate attitudes and habits of mind that will enable the individual to secure further knowledge and live a better life. Six years is long enough to teach the use of the tools of learning. Our present course of study is uniform for all children and somewhat narrow in its scope. The studies emphasized are those which the masses must have, even to start life with the smallest amount of preparation. The pupils learn to read and write fairly well, and learn how to use their language, both in oral and written form, to perform accurately and with some degree of rapidity the fundamental operations in arithmetic. They also get a little historical information and some knowledge of their city, town, state and national government. They also learn the elementary principles of health and sanitation which all individuals of society should know.

Beginning with the sixth grade a very large number of pupils drop out of school. At this time they are about 12 or 13 years of age. This period is recognized by distinguished psychologists as the beginning of adolescence, and the beginning of adolescence, many authorities maintain, should be the beginning of secondary education.

The majority of children enter the junior high school at the beginning of the period of adolescence, when by nature they naturally crave an opportunity to dip into a wide range of subjects and activities, which is nature's way of insuring freedom of choice in determining occupation. The work of the junior high school is arranged in such a way as to make more easy transition from the work of the elementary grades to the work of the high school proper.

A writer who has made a study of the mortality of pupils in the eighth and ninth years of school life says: "The explanation for the break in attendance between the eighth and tenth years, which experience shows to be a very heavy one, lies largely in the fact, the pupil, coming into the high school from the grades, fails to make proper adjustment. In consequence, he begins to fail in his work, becomes disheartened and discouraged, and drops out because he has failed.

"The new organization aims to correct this difficulty by making the transition period from the elementary school to the high school more easy. The pupil in the junior high school becomes acquainted gradually with the new methods of teaching and environment and atmosphere of the high school because the work of the eighth and ninth years of the junior high school work is carried on very much like the high school work."

To state briefly the advantages of the new plan of organization as united upon by most educational authorities, they are as follows: 1. To provide a suitable educational environment for pupils of the early adolescent age. 2. To provide for individual difference in needs, interests and abilities. 3. To prevent elimination in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth years. 4. To provide for vocational and educational guidance. 5. To provide methods of teaching which will train pupils to rely upon themselves in acquiring new knowledge. 6. To provide a curriculum organization which will enable pupils to pass gradually from elementary to secondary subject matter.

One of our foremost authorities adds: "To provide a course of study which will enable those who follow it to do better the work in the school or out that lies just ahead, and which will have as one of its chief aims training its pupils to find their own aptitudes, talents, and preferences for further work and study."

The superintendent also alluded to the courses of study that are to be taught at the school, the rapid growth of the system throughout the United States and the dire need of such an organization locally, in view of the over-crowded conditions in certain sections here.

Cost About $500,000

The other members of the board touched upon the congested conditions, the advantages of such a system and the cost of erecting new buildings and additions that will be needed to relieve the present crowded conditions, if the junior high school project is voted down. It was brought out that this expense would be in the neighborhood of $500,000. The opinion was voiced by the speakers that the proposed system, as recommended and endorsed by them after years of study, was the best plan to take care of the local situation.

Superintendent Graham stated after the meeting that at a meeting in Greeneville recently, the school committee was asked whether or not provision had been made to accommodate pupils from the parochial schools in case they wished to attend the junior high school. The committee, he said, wishes to announce to all interested citizens that ample provision will be made in the proposed buildings to accommodate all pupils who wish to enter.

Entertainment By Pupils

Preceding the meeting an entertaining one-act playlet was staged by the eighth grade pupils of the Elizabeth street school under the direction of Miss Nina E. Perry. The numbers included: The Dance of the Tin Soldier and the Rag Doll, Helen Taft and Edith Blackburn; violin solo, Schubert Seven A, Michael Kudravetz; solo, The Sweetest Story Ever Told, Regina Jaskiewicz; recitation, When the Minister Comes to Tea, Daniel Barry; dance number, The Angels' Dream, Phylis Oat; dialogue, Maw and Paw and Honeysuckle; Amos and Andy, James Smith and Elvin Schlin; dance number, Tarantulla, eight members of the class; the Parker House singing school.

ACQUIT FRECHETTE ON LIQUOR SELLING CHARGE

A jury in the criminal common pleas court here Wednesday afternoon, before Judge C. B. Waller, found Camille Frechette of Taftville, not guilty of the charge of selling a pint of liquor on the night of Oct. 31, 1929 to Herbert Gray and William Forrest of a detective agency in Bridgeport.

The jury was out 55 minutes when it returned with the verdict of not guilty, which was reported by Foreman Frank K. Noyes of Lebanon.

Gray testified that he was the one who bought a bottle of liquor from Frechette, paying $2 for it, at the place at 6 Hunter's avenue. Forrest corroborated this testimony and said the bottle was subsequently turned over to County Detective William Lewis. The bottle which it was alleged was obtained from Frechette was put in as an exhibit.

In his own defense Frechette admitted working in the Hunter's avenue place, which he said was owned by Albert Labarre, but said he was not at the place after noon on Oct. 31. He went to church at 7 in the evening, came home at 8:15 and was home all the rest of the evening. Napoleon Labarre tended the bar at the place, Frechette testified. Shortly after the raid, Napoleon disappeared and his whereabouts at the present time is unknown, the witness said.

Two daughters of Frechette, Terera and Frances, corroborated their father's testimony about going to church and being at home afterwards on the evening of Oct. 31.

Eugene Raymond of Taftville, testified that he went to the Labarre place on the evening of Oct. 31, looking for Frechette, but Frechette was not there.

The jury was as follows: Charles W. Dow, Martin E. Jensen, Norwich; Charles C. Zabriskie, Preston; Alvin D. Douglas, Michael Fogarty, Andrew Chesbro, Griswold; George F. Brown, Colchester; Frederick C. Winchester, Salem; Frank K. Noyes, Frank B. Nye, Lebanon; Henry J. Kendall and Frank A. Mell, Lisbon.

TAFTVILLE MAN ON TRIAL ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Henry J. Pepin of Taftville, where he is proprietor of a store at 146 Norwich avenue, was on trial Wednesday afternoon in the criminal common pleas court here before Judge C. B. Waller and a jury on the charge of selling a pint of liquor at the store on the night of Feb. 18, 1930. The sale was made, it is alleged, to Ernest J. Brochu, an Occum youth aged 20 years, who was working with the state police as a spotter.

Pepin is defended by Attorney Thomas H. Shields and the case for the state is presented by Prosecuting Attorney C. B. Whittlesey, who is assisted by Attorney Charles W. Cassidy, prosecuting attorney for the Norwich city court, from which Pepin took an appeal.

State Policeman Frederick O. Johnson, who is attached to the Groton barracks, was first called to the stand by Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey. He testified that he came from the barracks with Brochu on the night of Feb. 18, coming to Norwich police hadquarters. From there he went with Brochu, Philip Leclair and Serg. Matthew Delaney to several places in Norwich and then to Taftville. Ehere they met two strangers who talked to Brochu and then went to 146 Norwich avenue where Brochu and the two strangers went into the store kept by "Shorty" Pepin. The witness, Brochu, was searched before he went in and was given a two dollar bill and two one dollar bills. When Brochu and the strangers came out after being in the place ten minutes, Brochu handed a pint bottle of liquor to Sergt. Delaney. Brochu, the witness said, had no bottle when he went in.

The bottle which it is claimed came from the Pepin place was put in evidence.

The witness said Brochu had $1.40 when they searched him later.

On cross examination by Attorney Shields, the state policeman said Brochu and Leclair were from Occum, and were working as spotters, having volunteered their services. They were to be paid $10 a place. The witness told of Brochu securing a pint at the Chioda place on North Main street before they went to Taftville.

Attorney Shields had two men named Nolan and Tellier stand up in court, but the state policeman said he could not identify these as the two strangers whom Brochu met.

Ernest J. Brochu, 20, the spotter in the case, testified that he had one drink in the Chioda place, his first the evening of his work with the police, and he corroborated Officer Johnson as to meeting the two strangers in Taftville, who got him into the Pepin place. He said about 15 men were in there drinking and he paid 60 cents for the beer he drank there and $2 for the pint of liquor.

When Attorney Shields asked the witness on cross examination how he got into the spotting business, Brochu said he was out of work and that Philip Leclair told him this was a way to get some money and introduced him at the Groton barracks.

He admitted that he said to Tellier, one of the strangers, "Can you show me where I can get a drink. I've tried two or three places and can't get any." Brochu denied that there was something in his back pocket which Tellier could feel when Brochu was sitting on Tellier's lap in the automobile. He denied that he was sitting in Tellier's lap, and said that he bought the pint in Pepin's place after paying for four drinks of beer. He denied that he went to the toilet while there or spoke to a man named O'Brien.

Sergeant Matthew H. Delaney gave corroborative evidence as to the trip to Taftville, which was taken in the sergeant's Graham Paige sedan, and as to the way Brochu was searched each time before he went into a place. The sergeant said that the two strangers were very much under the influence of liquor when Brochu met them. When the two came out of the Pepin place, they said, "We can get all we want in there," according to the witness.

Attorney Shields gave Sergeant Delaney a brief cross examination, after which the state rested.

Henry J. Pepin, 31, the accused, was the first witness called in his own defense. He said he runs a candy store at Taftville and had known Brochu for two or three years. Tellier and Nolan were with Brochu when they came into the store. They wanted three beers, and he gave them near-beer, of which they drank only part of it, and then Brochu said he wanted no more because he had been drinking all day. Brochu spoke to a man named O'Brien and then went to the toilet. When he came out he asked for "hard stuff," but the witness said he told Brochu he didn't have it. Pepin said there were only three or four persons in the place and not fifteen, as Brochu had testified.

On cross examination Pepin said he had been running the store seven or eight months. A man known as "Fat" Parr ran it before. Pepin said he had been told Parr sold liquor there, but he didn't know it. The witness said he couldn't tell how Brochu got any liquor in his place.

The court session adjourned till the next day just as Attorney Shields brought to the stand Arthur Tellier, one of the two men alleged to have been the strangers who took Brochu into the Pepin place.

Seeks Divorce For Desertion

Divorce from George Martin, alias George Martorino, formerly of this city, now of parts unknown, who deserted her in October, 1925, is sought in a suit brought in the superior court here by Hazel Fairclough Martin, alias Hazel Martorino, of this city. She also asks for change of name and custody of two minor children. The petitioner and the defendant were married Nov. 26, 1921.

NORWICH CITIZENS GIVING SUPPORT TO AVIATION COMPANY DEVELOPMENT

Preliminary support for the formation of the Triumvirate Super Safety Air Craft Inc. in this city has been given by a number of Norwich business men who have affixed their signatures to the following:

To whom it may concern:—

Be it known, that we, whose signatures are appended hereto have individually encouraged a plan to establish an air craft manufacturing industry in Norwich. We are now grouped together for the purpose of incorporating and organizing in this city the Triumvirate Super Safety Air Craft Inc.

Before proceeding further, we feel that an expression of approval and interest in our efforts by Norwich citizens would be appropriate to this end and a tentative survey will be made by Mr. Cooley acting for us in this matter. We await his report, which if it shows a general interest and support of our measures sufficient to indicate a co-operative spirit, we shall proceed at once.

Chas. W. Taggart, Edward A. Rich, A. VanWagenen, H. S. Lyon, James L. Case, E. LaRue Bliven, Chas V. James, R. C. Jones, John D. McWilliams, Thos. H. Savard, M. Hanover, J. F. Lyston, W. H. Cruickshank, Frank Hempstead, John Smith, Melvin H. Worth, Andrew B. Davies, John B. O'Brien, George M. Charbonneau, T. E. Eggleton, Frank J. Aubrey, J. F. Cooley.

Norwich needs industries and she now has the opportunity of possessing them, hundreds of technical men, skilled experts, engineers, managers, superintendents, foremen, and thousands of workmen, all identified with the greatest, most active, and far-reaching field of industrial enterprise in the world today, aviation.

Norwich can take a preferential position in the procession of aviation advancement and may well place herself in the lead and become an aviation center of national importance, by seeing to it that the controlling central organization is established here, for around this controlling center must be advantageously placed, its most important industrial branches.

This organization is composed of some of your most respected citizens, each of unusual ability and experience in their several specialties. They are sane, level-headed and competent to manage, finance and protect any enterprise that they elect to carry through. They are Norwich men and have its interests at heart. They possess an extremely valuable invention. Norwich need participate in the home organization only to the extent of taking up $15,000 of its securities and the organization will attend to the millions required to establish the industrial branches.

J. F. COOLEY, Aviation Engineer.

Mr. Cooley is the well known inventor of a safety device for airplanes, which it is claimed makes a tailspin impossible and contributes to the safety element in the use of airplanes.

SETTLEMENT IN SUIT OVER PELATIAH MABREY ESTATE

A settlement was effected Wednesday in the legal contest for the $30,000 estate of Pelatiah Ladd Mabrey, late of Franklin, in which Mrs. Addie P. Barber of this city appealed to the superior court in a suit against Lloyd P. Ayer, administrator of the estate.

The settlement was agreed on after four witnesses had been heard, in trial of the case before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at New London. The four were Addie R. Barber, the plaintiff; Fred Mabrey of Englewood, N. J., Curtis L. Hazen of Franklin and Cora A. Parker of Norwich.

The case was an appeal from the Norwich probate court, which had declared William H. Mabrey and Mrs. Margaret M. Semple, both of Norwich, to be the legal heirs.

These two heirs based their claim to the estate that they are the children of Stephen J. Mabrey, a son of William H. Mabrey by his first wife, Amelia Fuller, the said William H. Mabrey also being the father of Pelatiah Mabrey by his second wife, Caroline Ladd, of Franklin.

The appeal of Mrs. Barber, a niece of Caroline Ladd Mabrey, was on the ground that Pelatiah Ladd Mabrey was not of Mabrey blood at all, but was the illegitimate son of Caroline Ladd Mabrey and that his father was a Baltic man. She claims that this was well known in the Franklin family and that when William H. Mabrey died in Pennsylvania, where he lived for many years separated from his wife, there was a clause in his will which said, "not one cent to Pelatiah Mabrey, so-named, as I do not claim any relation to him as he is not my son."

WILL BE SPEAKER ON MISSIONS IN CHINA

Rev. Arthur S. Adams, a long-time missionary in China, is to speak here at the Central Baptist church, at the men's class, Easter Sunday morning at 10, and at the evening service. He will also speak at the Third church on Easter day, at the service at 6:30. Mr. Adams will tell of the present-day conditions in China and will suggest imperative reasons why established missionary work in China should not be abandoned.

Mr. Adams' 25 years' work among the natives of central and southern China have given him an intimate knowledge of the situation.

The monthly reports of the Clinics of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene in Bridgeport, Norwich, New Haven and Waterbury show approximately 600 patients under treatment during the month, 70 per cent of whom were children.

JUVENILE THIEF IS PLACED ON PROBATION

After a hearing in the juvenile court Wednesday morning, a 14 year old boy, who stole a cash box from the apartment at No. 28 Hobart avenue, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Tellier, was placed on probation. A nine year old boy who was implicated in the robbery was discharged as it was found that he had no part in the actual break at the house.

The boys were summoned as the result of an investigation made by Officer Patrick Murphy. Last Sunday the Tellier apartment was broken into, during the absence of the family, and the cash box containing $50 in cash and bank books, was taken. The older boy gave some of the money to his small companion and they bought shoes and other articles and tickets for Providence.

The cash box with about $35 and the bank books was found in a chimney in the rear of a Franklin street gasoline station, where the boys had thrown it.

PEOPLE OF U. S. 3 TO 1 WET AND CONGRESS 3 TO 1 DRY

Reasons Given By Henry H. Curran. President of the Association Against the 18th Amendment, Why It Would Do No Good to "Lobby" In Washington—Letters Read At Hearing Gave Methods of Soliciting Subscriptions, From Democrats and Republicans, For Drive Against Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee, was represented today in a letter read before the senate lobby committee as having scanned the list of contributors to the democratic campaign fund and then in the capacity of a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment seeking to get funds from these people for the association's drive against the dry law.

The letter, purporting to have been written last November by W. P. Smith, of Philadelphia, a vice president of the Anti-Prohibition association, to Joseph R. Hamlen, of Boston, said, letters were being sent to "some large contributors to the democratic and republican campaign funds last year" and that Raskob was signing "for the democrats."

"We are writing to some of our directors at the present time," the letter said, "in an effort to secure the balance of our budget by the end of the year, and also to some large contributors to the democratic and republican campaign funds last year.

"The latter letters are being signed by Mr. Lammot DuPont for the republicans and Mr. John J. Raskob for the democrats. I enclose copies of both letters for your information—these letters being slightly different for the republican and democratic parties."

Raskob testified recently before the lobby committee that he had contributed $65,000 to the organization and that one of its purposes was the election of congressmen favoring the repeal or modification of prohibition laws.

It was read while the committee was questioning Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, on the second day concerning the activities of the organization in advocating repeal of the dry laws.

Curran, who was directed to re-appear tomorrow for further questioning, said he did not know the letter had been written. It was read by Senator Robinson, republican Indiana, just before adjournment and the witness was questioned only briefly.

Questioned concerning finances of the organization, Curran told the committee that more than $1,000,000 would be needed this year to carry on its work. It expended $427,213 last year.

A letter he had written to Percy S. Straus, of New York, last January, which was placed in the record, said the chief plan is impressing upon congress that the country was "mostly wet" would consist of holding statewide referenda similar to those conducted last year in Wisconsin, and previously in Montana, Nevada, and New York.

Curran asserted that these states, and also Maryland, already were in "revolt" against prohibition and that this year's campaign would begin in Massachusetts and extend to other states "as fast as we can reach them."

Reiterating that the people of the United States were three to one against prohibition, Curran said that the present congress was three to one for prohibition and it would do no good to "lobby" in Washington.

HARVARD GRADUATE HANGED HIMSELF IN Y. M. C. A. ROOM

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—With a letter from his fiancee, breaking off their engagement, before him, John N. Douglas, 24, Yale graduate, hanged himself today in his room in the West Side branch of the Young Men's Christian association.

Douglas was a step-son of Dr. J. H. Rindaub, surgeon of the Pasadena General hospital, Pasadena, Calif. He was graduated from Yale last year.

He had been dead several hours when his body was found suspended from a steam pipe by a length of electric wiring stripped from a reading lamp. On a table was a letter addressed to Douglas and signed, "Dana," which declared, "the only thing I can do, John, is to break our engagement." "I don't seem to be your main interest," it added.

Police said the writer of the letter was Marjorie Dana Frame, formerly of New York. The letter was postmarked at Fargo, N. D., where police said Miss Frame is living with her parents.

A bundle of letters, tied with pink ribbon, and all signed "Dana," were found in a drawer of the table.

Douglas had been living at the Association building for several weeks. A few days ago he obtained employment with a real estate office.

OLGA EIDE EDWARDS WAS FOUND GUILTY OF EXTORTION

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Olga Eide Edwards, who came out of the west 13 years ago a young girl with glittering dreams of theatrical stardom, but who only acquired luxurious tastes that were eventually to lead her into trouble, today was convicted of attempted extortion, on the complaint of the wealthy, middle-aged business man who gave her her first glimpse of the material satisfactions that money could buy.

With a slight smile playing about her lips, she heard each of 12 jurors solemnly say he believed her guilty of having threatened to "expose" Nathan L. Amster as the father of her little son, Lee, unless he acceded to her demands for money—money that would buy trips to Europe, suites in expensive hotels, dainty food, costly wardrobes for herself and her child.

Then very quietly, a little dazed, she followed courtroom attendants away, to be fingerprinted and jailed awaiting her sentence, which is to be passed April 25. The penalty is from two and one-half to five years in prison. The jury recommended clemency.

TWO GIRL ROOMMATES OF SLAIN MARY BAKER ARRESTED

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., April 17—(AP)—Olga Skinner and Mildred Sperry, roommates of Mary Baker, Washington navy department employe whose body was found wedged in a culvert on the military road near Arlington cemetery last Saturday, were arrested today by Commonwealth's Attorney William G. Gloth and Lieutenant Edward J. Kelly, chief of the Washington homicide squad.

The arrests were made at the home of Mrs. George W. Blackwell, a relative of Miss Skinner's in New Castle, Va., where they said they had gone to escape "hounding reporters."

Both were taken back to Arlington county where Gloth said they would be held pending investigation.

SENTENCING FOLLOWERS OF MAHATMA GANDHI

BOMBAY, April 17.—(AP)—The government bore down heavily today upon the leaders of the civil disobedience campaign in India.

Government magistrates all over the country spent the day in sentencing followers of Mahatma Gandhi, charged with violating the salt laws. A total of 27 prominent nationalists were sentenced to varying terms, 12 at New Delhi including Davi Das Gandhi, son of the mahatma; three at Allahabad; 10 at Karachi and two at Surat. Gandhi's son was sentenced to three months simple imprisonment. Doctor Choithram, president of the provincial congress committee, at Surat, received the longest sentence—two years of rigorous imprisonment.

EIGHT VICE-PRESIDENTS-GENERAL ELECTED BY D. A. R.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Theodore Jesse Hoover, of Palo Alto, Calif., sister-in-law of President Hoover, failed of election tonight as one of eight vice-presidents-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution by the 39th Continental congress.

Mrs. Hoover's total was 36 votes below that of Mrs. Ralph Everist Bristol, of Ogden, Utah, who was eighth on the list of those elected.

Others elected were; Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Hart, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. James Charles Peabody, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Matthew Brewster, New Orleans, La.; Mrs. Francis Cushman Wilson, Santa Fe, N. M.; Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon, Monticello, Ark.; Mrs. Charles Herbert Carroll, Concord, N. H.

TO ASK JUDGE PARKER TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, April 17.— (AP) —After a conference of senate republicans today, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the party leader, asked that Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, be called before the senate judiciary committee to answer complaints against his nomination as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Confronted with restlessness in the republican ranks which forebodes serious opposition to the nominee, Senator Watson stated after the party meeting that he would ask that Parker be called.

The protest of the Association for the Advancement of the Colored People that Judge Parker showed prejudice against Negroes in a speech attributed to him when he was running for governor in 1920 is the chief concern of the republican regulars.

20 DEATHS AND $2,500,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE

MANILA, April 17.—(AP) —Constabulary reports from Cadiz, Province of Occidental Negroes, tonight stated that twenty persons lost their lives in the burning there of a huge saw mill and the homes of 5,000 inhabitants. The fire was said to be under control after raging two days. The loss had reached approximately $2,500,000 with flames unextinguished.

The Philippine Red Cross has offered to send workers to Cadiz to reinforce doctors and nurses now ministering to the many injured. Search of the ruins is continuing for the bodies of possible victims in addition to the twenty known dead. Nearby towns have sent food to Cadiz, a city of about 25,000 thrown into confusion by the long fight.

MAN SOUGHT FOR WAS IN JAIL IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, April 17.—(AP)—For 48 hours Connecticut police sought Thomas Sentkowsky, 52, and today he was found right here in jail.

He was arrested in West Haven, Monday night after a drinking bout, and locked up under the name of Swinsky. He was unable to get bail.

Meanwhile, his frantic wife, Mary, reported him missing to police, and his description was broadcast over the state. A detective today went to the jail as a last resort and found him ready to appear in court. His sentence was suspended.

SACRED MUSIC ON THE RADIO PROGRAMS TODAY

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Sacred music in observance of Good Friday will be the general theme of tomorrow's radio programs. Numerous features have been arranged, including a three-hour broadcast from the Washington cathedral by the CBS network and "Parsifal" by the NBC chain.

Brahms' Requiem, with Reinald Werrenrath directing the vocal ensemble, will be presented at 7:30 p. m. by WJZ and stations. "The Seven Last Words of Christ," a cantata for solo, chorus and orchestra, will be heard on the WJZ chain at 9:30 p. m.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

ROME, April 17.—(AP)—A welcome of typically Italian enthusiasm was given to Dino Grandi, foreign minister, and Admiral Sirianni when they returned from the London naval conference.

LONDON, April 17.—(AP)—The text of a temporary trade agreement between Great Britain and soviet Russia was published, following its signature by Arthur Henderson, foreign minister, and G. I. Sokolnikov, Russian ambassador. It probably will be discussed in the house of commons.

BERLIN, April 17.—(AP)—Following the lead of the reicherat, which amended the budget estimates by inserting an item of $725,000 as the first installment for armored cruiser "B," the cabinet approved the project. This action definitely puts up to the reichstag the question of whether there is to be immediate further naval construction by Germany.

CAPONE STILL REMAINS A MENACE TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 17.—(AP)—Unheard from since he came back from prison a month ago, Scarface Al Capone, the gang chief, was blamed by city councilmen today for a baneful gesture toward forcing the establishment of a city bureau of plumbing which he and labor leaders would control.

The report of Scarface Al's attempt to "muscle in" on city hall patronage came in the wake of the purported peace agreement said to have been reached last night between Capone and other gang leaders by which they were to pool their interests and split the jackpot that would result from monopolized control of liquor, vice and gambling in Chicago.

However, almost at the time the supposed peace parley was in session, a gangster was slain by a machine gun detail in customary gangland fashion. The victim was Joseph Blue (or Blew), a reputed mail robber, safe blower and more recently bootlegger, who was pierced by six machine gun bullets as he raced his automobile in a vain attempt to outspeed the assassins.

SLAYING OF TWO NEGROES WAS PLOTTED BY WHITE MEN

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 17.—(AP)—The district attorney's office today announced that A. P. Boyt, a barber, had confessed that the slaying of two Negroes who attempted to rob the First State Bank of Polytechnic, a suburb last Thursday, was framed by four white men in a plot to collect a reward.

The plan was to have the Negroes hold up the bank and slay them on the scene for a reward of $5,000 offered by the Texas Bankers association for each slain bank robber. The association, however, announced it would not pay the amount for the slayings here as the Polytechnic bank did not contribute to the reward fund.

Boyt made his confession after charges of murder were filed against him and John Alsup, former policeman. The Negroes, Will Tate and George Terrell, were slain by Alsup, who told officers he had an advance tip on the robbery. The assistant cashier of the bank was wounded seriously in the exchange of shots as the robbers fled.

NEW EVIDENCE IN MURDER OF MISS MARY BAKER

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—Discovery of new evidence in the murder of Miss Mary Baker was announced today by detectives seeking the man who assaulted and shot the 28-year-old navy department employe last Friday, but there was little optimism over prospects of an arrest.

Shortly before the announcement was made there was every evidence that the investigation had reached a standstill. Clues that had been followed one by one all appeared to have led to nothing, while only one lead which took investigators outside Washington to an unnamed destination was still being followed. Whether these detectives had located a suspect or any evidence was withheld by the authorities today.

Inspector William S. Shelby, chief of District of Columbia detectives, announced the uncovering of new evidence which he said "may be of much value" following a conference with department of justice agents and other officers.

SALESMAN FOR R. WALLACE & SON COMMITTED SUICIDE

CLEVELAND, April 17.—(AP)—William B. Granfield, 54, of Sandusky, Ohio, a salesman traveling for R. Wallace and Son Manufacturing company, of Wallingford, Conn., tonight jumped from the window of his room on the ninth floor of a hotel and killed himself.

Before leaping to his death, Granfield asked a friend to telephone his son Bradford. He registered at the hotel Monday. Friends say he was in ill health and had worried a great deal over other matters.

FLOOD THREATENED ALONG WESTERN SHORE OF LAKE ERIE

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 17.—(AP)— The flood threat along the western shore of Lake Erie and Maumee bay had passed tonight as lake and river levels fell back toward normal after waves had battered homes and highways near the shores.

The water subsided as the northeast wind which pushed the waves over the breakwaters lost its force. Late yesterday the wind had reached almost gale proportions.

The receding waters left extensive damage along piers and at summer resorts.

"KNOCKOUT DROPS" IN ORGANS OF DEAD UNDER-COVER AGENT

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—(AP) —County Chemist R. J. Abernathy reported today that "knockout drops" had been found in the vital organs of Robert Bursian, dead under-cover agent of the district attorney in the investigation of the Julian Petroleum stock swindle. Abernathy and the county autopsy surgeon jointly reported earlier today that Bursian had died from "indigestion of an undetermined poison."

SEVERAL TOWNS WERE DAMAGED BY EARTHQUAKE

ATHENS, April 17.—(AP)—A violent earthquake tonight damaged several towns in the Pelponnesis, but only minor casualties have so far been reported

To Be No Increase Of Narrow Laces Tariff

Conferees Eliminate Proposed Duties Which Aroused [illegible] dignation In France.

WASHINGTON, April [illegible] —Senate increases in duties [illegible]row laces, against which popu[illegible] monstrations were staged [illegible] in France, were eliminated fro[illegible] tariff bill today by the senate and [illegible]se conferees, who all but completed the settlement of differences between the two legislative branches over the rate sections.

After concluding work on the sundries schedule and reaching agreements on half of the free list, the conferees returned to the sugar schedule and accepted the senate increases in levies on maple sugar and syrup.

These provide for a rate of 8 cents a pound on maple sugar, now dutiable at 4 cents; and 5 1-2 cents a pound on maple syrup, also now taxed at 4 cents.

By rejecting the senate rates on narrow laces, the conferees restored the existing levy of 90 per cent on all laces. The senate increase, sponsored by Senator Hebert, republican, Rhode Island, would have raised the average ad valorem protection for the lace paragraph to more than 125 per cent.

Contending the "threat of higher lace duties made France very angry" and induced the French parliament to enact in retaliation yesterday higher levies on American automobiles, Representative Clancy, republican, Michigan, in a statement, said the conferees should be congratulated by the American automobile industry for their action in killing the senate amendment.

Clancy asserted the new French auto tariff would "kill the sale of American low-priced and medium-priced automobiles and trucks in France."

"This would be a great blow to Detroit," he said, "and in itself would be disastrous to about 20 per cent of automobile manufacturing in this country if other countries followed the example of France in reprisal for American duties levied against their industries."

The Michigan member said he had found that a majority of the conferees "listened sympathetically" to the pleas of the automobile industry in the lace controversy.

The auto manufacturers, he added, also were "emphatically requesting the conferees to retain the flexible tariff provision" which the senate changed to restore to congress the power now vested in the president to change customs duties.

That the conferees will finish their task in a week or ten days was predicted today by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader.

Rumors Of Merger Of Giant Mail Houses

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Rumors of plans for a merger of Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears Roebuck & Co. were revived in Wall street today, although such rumors have been discouraged in the past by officials of the two companies.

Another rumor, in which Wall street was keenly interested, was to the effect that a merger of Montgomery Ward and the J. C. Penney Co. is being discussed, but this, too, was discouraged at the Penney offices. A merger of J. C. Penney Co. with Sears Roebuck was considered a few months ago, but it was finally announced that after a thorough study of the situation, it had been determined that such a combination would be uneconomical.

Julius Rosenwald, chairman of Sears Roebuck, was reported to be on his way to New York from Chicago, where the offices of the company are located. Both R. E. Wood and George B. Everitt, president of Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, were reported away from the offices of the company in Chicago today.

Leading banking interests represented on the board of Montgomery Ward are J. P. Morgan & Co., and Goldman Sachs & Co. are bankers for Sears Roebuck, both New York investment banking houses. No authoritative comment regarding the merger rumors was available in Wall street banking circles. The gossip generally was to the effect that the matter had only been discussed informally by important interests in both companies, and that it had not been formally brought before the directors of either company.

The Dreamers

Oh little gods of earthly guise, who drowse by sea and sun—
Souls so divine, so deathless, by whose grace the worlds are won!
How all must hearken when you pipe, and none can choose but go—
So silently, so silkenly, you pull the puppet Show!
A careless carol on the road; a vision on the hill—
Lo, toiling folk, and royal folk, must follow as you will.

Oh happy, heedless hearts! for you the heavens such gifts shall bring!
The thrush across the waste of dark his hymn of rapture fling—
The blessed lilacs spill anew the dear, dear thrill of Spring!

Shackled and captive-bound, behind your chariots are we led;
Spoils of your lovesome wizardries! when all is writ and said—
Yours is the splendor of the spheres; the ermine, and the bay—
When bustling folk, and kingly folk, have spent their futile day.

ROBBERS GOT FIVE SACKS OF REGISTERED AIR MAIL

CHICAGO, April 17.—(AP)—Robbers tonight held up a mail truck en route from an air field to the postoffice and escaped with five sacks of registered air mail.

The mail had just arrived by plane from Green Bay. Two automobile loads of robbers participated in the holdup. The value of the loot was not determined.

Police received notification of the holdup from the driver, who telephoned the news. They did not have his name. He said the robbers drove his truck to the western limits of the city and there released him. He found a telephone and gave the alarm.

TO INQUIRE INTO CONDUCT OF FORMER DRY OFFICER

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—An investigation has been ordered by Prohibition Commissioner Doran into the conduct of Palmer Canfield, former prohibition administrator for northern New York and now a special supervisor in the prohibition service.

EIGHT MEMBERS OF A HOLIDAY PARTY KILLED

VALENCIA, Spain, April 17—(AP)—Eight members of a holiday party were killed today, and 15 injured, in a collision between their auto-bus and a freight train near the village of Samagrell, between Sagurto and Valencia.

Four of those injured were in a serious condition. Aid has been rushed from Valencia, and the authorities have begun an investigation of the collision, which occurred at a grade crossing.

The crossing guard, apparently holding himself responsible for the disaster, committed suicide late in the afternoon.

Witnesses said the driver of the bus apparently did not see the oncoming freight train until it was too late to avoid a collision. The train was partly hidden by a curve in the tracks and by rising ground.

MEX. BANDITS RELEASED LEONARD B. CASSIDY

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—(AP)—In a state of nervous exhaustion, Leonard B. Cassidy, today was reported on the way back to Tuxtepec, state of Oaxaca, from a wild section along the Popoloapan river, following a harrowing thirty hour kidnaping adventure in the hands of four bandits.

One bandit is now held by the authorities, but because of the meagre details available here it is not known if Cassidy, who is an American citizen from Peabody, Mass., is unbarmed. It is known, however, that he is in bad physical condition because he asked for a conveyance to take him from the Sebastapol banana farm to the nearest rail point.

103 YEAR OLD NEGRO IS TEMPORARILY OUT OF WORK

CONVICTED OF HARSH TREATMENT, SOLDIERS' HOME OFFICIAL RESIGNS

HARTFORD, April 17.—(AP)—Captain Arthur J. Bennett, adjutant at the Fitch home for soldiers, at Noroton, was relieved of duty as of tonight, and his resignation was accepted, effective May 1, by unanimous vote of the soldiers' home commission, following a hearing in the senate chamber here today. Captain Bennett, whose home is in Bridgeport, was convicted of "unnecessarily harsh and cruel treatment" of inmates of the home.

The inquiry was begun after William FitzPatrick, an inmate, had appealed to the commission against alleged ill treatment of him by Captain Arthur J. Bennett, executive officer in the home, during resistance on FitzPatrick's part to being placed in the guard house for drunkenness. The commission heard FitzPatrick's charges and during this session heard that liquor had been taken into the home and distributed among the inmates. The session today was on this phase as the FitzPatrick incident had to do with the discipline in the institution.

Evidence was submitted that some inmates of the home when out on leave would not only indulge freely in intoxicants but would contrive to carry liquor into the home and by this means other veterans would get it and the "drunken parties" were a result.

Chairman Holden said that men get drunk on various kinds of fluids, including "jake," and the effects have been of the worst, as the imbibers would go to the hospital or the guard house for long periods. He said that enforcement of discipline has been increasingly difficult because of increased number of World war veterans, most of them young men, who misuse their leaves of absence on passes by getting drunk and returning in crazed condition from effects of the fluids.

The home was founded privately for Civil war veterans, later was supported by the state, and eventually became a home also for Spanish war veterans. In the past two years there have been increased number of admissions of World war veterans who were indigents

SENATE LEADERS CAUTIOUS IN NAVAL PACT OPINIONS

Many of the Solons Were Non-Committal After a Series of White House Conferences — Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee Announced That He Believed the Agreement Would "Help the Cause of Disarmament"—Definite Line-Up On the Treaty Question Awaits the Formal Publication of the Complete Text.

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—In a series of conferences designed to pave the way for consideration of the London naval limitations treaty in the senate President Hoover found senate leaders in a cautious mood today which indicated a division of opinion on the pact.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, announced after a talk with the president that he believed it "helps the cause of disarmament."

But a few hours later, Chairman Hale emerged from the white house, announcing that he intended to have hearings by his committee of America's naval experts to determine the change in policy on cruisers which he believes is emboded in the pact.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, who listened to some of the high points of the treaty at a white house breakfast withheld his opinion on the treaty until it takes final form and Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the foreign relations and naval committees took the same position in a talk last night with Mr. Hoover.

No decision was reached at the conferences on whether the treaty will be sent to the senate for ratification at this session and the president indicated he would await talks with the returning American delegation before deciding that point.

In his first statement on the treaty Senator Borah said:

"I am entierly sympathetic to a treaty free from any political obligations and which has a tendency, whether great or small, to advance the cause of disarmament.

"From what I have been told of this treaty there are no political conditions in it and I do think it helps the cause of disarmament. But I cannot pass finally upon a treaty until I see it."

This reserved endorsement of the pact was regarded in the senate as giving the London pact considerable force. As chairman of the foreign relations committee Senator Borah occupies a strategic position in the senate consideration of the treaty. Three of the American delegation—Senators Robinson, democrat, Arkansas; Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, and Dwight Morrow, of New Jersey—will be in the senate when the treaty contest comes up.

But the determination of Senator Hale to have hearings on the pact likewise was indicated as assuring the most careful scrutiny of the proposal by the senate if not a contest Senator Hale believes the agreement forces a change of policy by the American navy in favor of light cruisers rather than the 10,000 ton cruisers which congress ordered a year ago.

Joseph P. Cotton, acting secretary of state, attended the conferences with the president and Senators Borah and Hale. He had some of the contents of the treaty to show the senators. Senator Borah emphasized that if President Hoovert does send the treaty to the senate at this session he will insist upon the senate remaining in session until it disposes of it. He was not insistent that it be sent up at this session, however, and left this question up to Mr. Hoover.

Senator Watson wished to see a clear path ahead for the treaty before planning to take it up this session. He has the tariff problem still to settle. However, he took no position on this point, and he, too, left the question of procedure up to Mr. Hoover.

Meanwhile, a definite line up in the senate on the treaty question awaits the formal publication of the complete text. Until that time Senators Hale and Swanson indicated they would have nothing to say.

Senator Borah's declaration today was hailed by friends of the pact. Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, a member of the foreign relations commitee is the only other member of the senate to express himself and he has endorsed it.

The white house this afternoon said the president has been urged to withhold submission of the compact for senate ratification until the tariff bill is disposed of.

NAVAL LIMITATION PACT PLACED IN TREATY FORM

LONDON, April 17— (AP) —Three months ago today, Secretary Henry L. Stimson and his coleagues of the American delegation landed in Plymouth en route to the naval conference in London.

Tonight the result of their labors for naval limitation, completed in treaty form, was in the hands of the governments of the five great sea powers, awaiting approval by those home governments so the London treaty may be signed at the scheduled time Tuesday. The salient points of that pact, which will rule the seas until the next disarmament conference, scheduled for 1936, is called into session, are under scrutiny in Washington, Paris, Rome and Tokyo.

But the most important development today from the American viewpoint was the formal statement by Senator Robinson whereby the United States senate, which holds America's final word in treaty-making, was assured that the "safeguarding clause" of the three power pact among the United States, Great Britain and Japan has been moulded in accordance with the traditions of American foreign policy.

MOUNTAIN NIGHT SCHOOL PUPILS AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—Reclining on a couch in her upstairs sitting room Mrs Herbert Hoover gave the last touch of satisfaction to the 150 visiting mountaineers of the Buncombe county night schools by granting them an impromptu reception today following their visit with the president.

Part of the delegation had gotten away from the white house when word came that the first lady wanted to see them. It had previously been announced that because of indisposition resulting from a sprained back and a cold Mrs. Hoover would be unable to meet the group.

Touched by sight of them in the rain and by word of the homespun gifts they had brought her Mrs. Hoover hurriedly sent down her invitation. She laid aside her knitting as the mountaineers came in. She talked to them about the value of education and expressed hope the progress they had made would benefit all their future lives. She impressed upon them the fact that the white house was theirs, too.

A little earlier the group had reached the climax of their visit when they shook hands with the president.

Part of their plans had to be eliminated because of the rain and press of other business which made the president late for the reception, but it was a great occasion for the men and women who had saved money for months with this object in view.

With cheeks glowing 24-year-old Lizzie Smith of Asheville presented the president with a picture primer made by the pupils. Lizzie is an artist and she had decorated the cover with green and brown pine cones of her native mountains. The book contained pictures of the pupils and their children.

The president smiled as he took it and said: "I think this is very nice."

FIVE PERSONS KILLED IN WIRELESS TOWER COLLAPSE

BUENOS AIRES, April 17—(AP)—Five persons were killed and one seriously injured today in the collapse of a metal wireless tower, 120 feet high, under construction.

The tower had been shaken during the day by a severe windstorm, which increased in velocity during the afternoon. When the tower began to sway dangerously, a group of workmen on the top became panicstricken. In their disorderly rush to get down, they further shook the structure, and before all of them had escaped it crashed to the ground.

DEATH OF REPRESENTATIVE LEE ONLY MATTER OF HOURS

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—It was announced at the Emergency hospital tonight that the death of Representative R. Q. Lee, democrat, Texas, "was only a matter of a few hours, probably before morning."

Mr. Lee was stricken with paralysis five weeks ago today. He appeared to be recovering until he suffered a relapse last night and his physicians announced today they had given up all hope of his recovery

ARREST OF EIGHT ALLEGED CARD SHARPERS IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—In a drive against card sharpers who police said had victimized more than a score of business men, in a "rigged" card game with marked decks, detectives tonight arrested eight men in a hotel in the Broadway district, recently raided by prohibition officers.

They were held specifically on charges made by Gustav Rothenbach of Brooklyn, who said he lost $5,600 last May in a card game in the hotel.

He told police he met two men in the hotel who said they were hotel owners in Peekskill, N. Y. After conversation they invited him into a game, and a few hours later Rothenbach had been relieved of the last of his money. He mentioned his experience to friends who told him he had been "framed." He complained to police, as did others, and the arrests followed tonight.

The prisoners, all of whom protested their innocence, identified themselves as Joseph Keating, 65, of Ashland, Wisconsin; Karl Mahon, Edward Thompson, Karl Wilson, Harry Harris, John Boyd, Joseph Wellesson, and John Burke, all of New York.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF PART IN BANK ROBBERY

DETROIT, April 17—(AP)—Barbara Dalton, 26, was convicted in circuit court here today of taking part in a $17,600 bank robbery at New Boston, Mich., in October 1926.

The trial was her second on the charge, a previous jury having failed to reach a verdict.

The principal witness against Miss Dalton was Floyd Drennan, who pleaded guilty to the robbery charge and brought about the woman's arrest in Miami, Fla., as his accomplice.

While admitting that she had been living with Drennan and that she had driven the automobile which carried him to the bank, Miss Dalton denied that she knew anything about the robbery until after it was committed. She sat at the wheel of the car while Drennan held up the bank and drove him away with the stolen money. Drennan asserted that she had known of the robbery plans and that she had helped spend the money.

E. E. FRINK GIVEN DECREE ON DESERTION GROUNDS

WILLIMANTIC, April 17—The only uncontested divorce case on the short calendar was taken up at the session of the Windham county superior court held here today with Judge Newell Jennings on the bench. In this case Ernest E. Frink of Sterling received a decree of divorce from Mabel Salisbury Frink on the grounds of desertion and he was awarded the custody of their four children, whose ages range from six to 15 years. Attorney Harry E. Back of Danielson represented the plaintiff in the action.

Deloyd Duffy, alias John Duffy of Vermont, who was bound over in police court here on a charge of passing fraudulent checks and has been awaiting trial in the county jail at Brooklyn, was brought before the court this morning on a bench warrant. On motion of State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford, Duffy was turned over to the custody of Sheriff George E. Harris of St. Alban's Vt., where he will face four counts of forgery in the Franklin county court. The checks involved in the local violation, were for small amounts, it being stated that his offenses in Vermont were of much more serious nature as to the amounts involved.

In the case of Anthony Krupowicz vs. Franciszka Jororzka, Josefa Bakzbanska and Joseph Pigel et al, Attorney Arthur T. Kelley appeared for the plaintiff. Judge Jennings awarded judgment in favor of the plaintiff by foreclosure for $305.26 with limitation fixed as April 29. The property to be foreclosed is located in Ashford.

In the action of Everett E. Beckwith of Windham against Joseph F. Collins of Hartford, the outcome of an automobile accident, judgment by default was previously awarded the plaintiff. The proceedings today comprised a hearing in damages and the amount awarded by the court was $106.60, covernig the expenses of repairs to the Beckwith car and costs.

Edith B. Corttis, guardian of Elizabeth Corttis, Florence B. Chausse and Frederick Chausse, seeking judgment against Thomas Tabor, et al, were granted tentative judgment by foreclosure for $2,577.30 and the case was automatically continued for three months. The court fixed the limitation at April 29. The suit involves property in North Grosvenordale. During the session Lafayette Forcier of Goodyear, a student at Boston university, was named a commissioner of the superior court. Court recessed indefinitely to convene again early in May.

Overcome by Smoke

In a fire about 3 oclock this morning in a room which he occupied in the Windham House, at the corner of Main and Church streets, George Cahoon, local painter, was partially overcome by smoke. The man was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where he was revived and discharged within a short time. The blaze, believed to have started from a cigarette was extinguished with chemicals and the use of one line of hose laid by Engine company No. 1 which had been brought out by a bell alarm from Box 43. The damage was slight owing to the efficient work of the firemen.

All of the retail stores conducted by members of the Merchants' bureau of the chamber of commerce will close at noon Good Friday and nearly all of the manufacturing plants of the city and town will suspend operations for the entire day. The banks, town and city offices will also be closed. All the local plants with the exception of the R. A. Harris company in North Windham, the Uncas Silk company and the Willimantic Silk, Inc., will remain closed until Monday morning. The Willimantic Silk, Inc., will operate all day Saturday until midnight in compliance with its day and night schedule.

Masses of the pre-sanctified will be celebrated at St. Joseph's and St. Mary's churches in the morning and the services of the way of the cross will be held at 3 o'clock. The union services will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church from 12 o'clock noon until 3 o'clock.

FRANKLIN

Tuesday evening a 4-H club program was presented before the Woman's City club of Norwich by local club members and members from Ledyard, Preston and Norwich Town. Randolph H. Whaples and Miss Elizabeth Grover, county club agents were in charge of the program. Paul Holdridge of Ledyard, who has been chosen to attend National 4-H club camp at Washington, D. C., spoke on 4-H work. Winifred Burdick of Preston spoke very interestingly on the Du-Well Cooking club of Preston and recited an original poem. Nathaniel Manning told about 4-H dairy clubs and what he had gained from them. The members of the Better Bodies Health club of Smith school then put on a regular business meeting. Miss Althea Davis, president and Henrietta Szepanieck, song leader. Mr. Whaples introduced Mrs. Mabel B. Capshaw, local leader of this club. This was followed by talks on the requirements of 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th year club girls. Vebe Burgess of Stonington presenting first year clothing club work, Mary Manning, second year, Ruth Robinson, third year, and Edna Lamb 4th and 5th year work. Each of these girls exhibited the different articles made during each year. The program was concluded with talks by William Wilcox, of Norwich Town and Harold Gray of Stonington. Cookies and ice cream were served by the city club.

A supper and dance is planned for the latter part of this month for the benefit of the grange and the Worthy Cooking club.

The Worthy Cooking club held its last meeting Saturday evening, the members having completed their cooking project. After the business session, Mrs. Mabel Capshaw, leader told the girls about her recent trip to Washington, D. C. Cookies and ice cream were served.

Palm Sunday the morning sermon by Rev. Howard Bushnell the pastor was marked by deep and interesting thought on the triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

On a recent day, seven husky geese were seen flying in a circle. After a time of playing fox and geese they were joined by 14 more geese and they then formed the figure of a capital A and headed for the cold northland.

Miss Clara Hyde, of Lisbon, is a guest of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rardall and Miss Clara Hyde spent Tuesday with friends in Meriden.

A curious incident at Maple Hill farm recalls Mr. Phiney's turnip that Longfellow wrote of in his first poem when he went to school so many years ago. Last June a Boston Marrow squash seed, self-sowed, grew behind the barn. The vine run out for 40 feet; on this vine 3 handsome squashes grew to maturity in October. Just before the first hard frost they were picked and were exhibited at the Stafford fair and won a cash premium. They were brought home and stored in a cool dry place and have kept all winter with no signs of decay. Wonderful were the pies one of them made April 18, 1930!

Miss Alice Faulkner led the C. E. meeting Sunday evening.

SOMERS

The Sunday evening service consisted of an illustrated drama-lecture entitled "The Man Who Played God."

Monday evening Rev. George S. Brooks of the Congregational church, Rockville, was the speaker. The junior choir, under direction of Miss Helene Percival, the organist, assisted in the music.

Tuesday evening Rev. Chas. J. Kepnar, Jr., of Stafford Springs, gave the address. This (Thursday) evening Rev. Robert Heuston, South Willington is to be the speaker and Friday evening Rev. T. Arthur Mosley of Stafford Springs will be heard.

The community supper served by the Ladies' Aid society with Mrs. Chester W. Pomeroy, Mrs. Charles W. Loomis and Mrs. Charles Geger hostesses, last Friday evening was very largely attended. Following the supper pupils of Mrs. Forest Avery gave a piano recital. Miss Priscilla Comstock also gave a humorous reading.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weirs have moved to East Granby, where Mr. Weirs has employment.

Last week Tuesday an evening session of school was held at the Kibbe Fuller school from 7.30 to 8.45, the public being invited. There was a large attendance of parents and friends who enjoyed seeing the pupils at work.

Funeral of Mrs. Stephen B. Moore.

Mrs. Mae H. Moore, 67 wife of Stephen B. Moore, died at her home Saturday morning after an illness of some duration. The funeral was held at her home Sunday, the body was taken to Claremont, N. H., for burial. Mrs. Moore's only child, Mrs. Ellen Mae Johnson, died about a fortnight previous.

HEBRON

Every chair in Hebron town hall was taken Friday evening, April 11th, when the audience had assembled to hear the Sunshine club of Yantic. Twenty-one from Yantic were present. The minstrel show given by the Sunshine club was directed by Lester Smith, who received many compliments for the parts so well acted in the show and for the attractive color effects. The minstrel opened with a chorus, How Do You Do Everybody. The following songs were appreciated by all: I'll always Be in Love with You, by Miss Lila Smith; Little by Little, George Carden; School Days, Miss Marjorie Harvey; Happiness, Miss Marion Gibbs; It's Nobody's Business, Johnnie Gibbs; If I Had a Talking Picture of You, Miss Mary Southouse; Happy Days, Louis Carden; Well, You Can't Blame Me for It, Walter Hitchon. After the jokes by the blackface comedians, Walter Hitchon, Louis Carden, George Carden, Henry Rogers, Lester Smith and Johnnie Gibbs, Mr. Jackson, ventriloquist, entertained the audience most pleasingly. Clap dance by Arlene Frieze; reading by Miss Marion Gibbs; imitation of a dog, by Mr. Jackson. A total of $43.05 was taken in at the door. The Sunshine club came to Hebron to help the Christian Endeavor society of the First Congregational church. Members of the society extended hearty thanks and appreciation to the club from Yantic. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served in the tea room, to the club by members of the C. E. society after the show.

The daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Gray has been named Mary Estelle.

DANIELSON

POLICE FIND SORDID STATE AT MITCHELL HOME

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 17.—A deplorable state of affairs was uncovered by the state police of the Danielson barracks today, and as a result of the investigation Mrs. Lottie Mitchell of East Killingly was committed to the state hospital at Norwich for observation, her daughter, Miss Carrie Mitchell, 16, was ordered committed to the State Farm for Women, and Silas Adams, a married man, and Sidney Warren, both of East Killingly, were placed under arrest on charges having to do with their alleged relations with the girl, who is about to become a mother and who is their accuser.

Mrs. Mitchell and her daughter have been living on what is known as the old Mitchell place in the East Killingly district. The woman's husband has been resident in Rhode Island for several years, it is understood by the state officers.

It appears that Mrs. Mitchell's mind has been something less than normal for some time past and that things about the home have gone from bad to worse until the situation had become wretched. An inkling of this came to the state officers, who promptly started an inquiry that resulted in today's action.

In the town court this afternoon probable cause was found for holding Adams and he was bound over to the superior court under bonds of $1,000. The case against Adams, an older man, was continued until August 2, his bond being fixed at $500, but he was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

The Mitchell girl presented a pitiful sight in court today. She was unkempt to the last degree and in the opinion of an official of the court, mentally deficient in a very considerable degree. Prosecuting Attorney Arthur G. Bill said after the adjournment of court that her case was one of the saddest to come before the local court in a long time. Her child is expected to be born in about a month.

It develops that Louise Crawford, who was choked to death by her wealthy husband, Frank D. Crawford, at their finely apponted home in East Orange, N. J., early last Sunday morning, spent several summers in this town on a farm on a highway leading from a point just north of Attawaugan to Putnam Heights. Mrs. Crawford, who was 43 years of age, is remembered by numbers of people residing here and in the section of Killingly mentioned.

The sensational case has attracted widespread attention. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Crawford have quarreled frequently of late and that one of these instances was at dinner last Saturday night.

Crawford told the police after he had calmly telephoned them to come and get him, that following dinner he had walked the street for several hours, returning to his home some time after midnight. His wife had retired and was asleep when he entered their room, he said. As he was retiring she awakened and made some angry remarks, and the quarrel was resumed. Eventually he seized her by the throat and choked her until she was dead, the body being on the floor of the room after the struggle was ended.

A son, Frank, Jr., 15, in an adjoining room, was awakened by the argument going on between his father and mother, called to them to cease and then fell asleep. A daughter, Kathryn, 18, in still another room, knew nothing of the affair until awakened and told of it.

It appears that Crawford, wealthy real estate operator and theatre owner, had become furiously jealous of his wife on the strength of stories that had been told to him of her going about with a group of women who interested themselves in men other than those to whom they were married. This Mrs. Crawford always denied. After his arrest Crawford is quoted as having admitted to the police that he had no actual evidence of his wife having done anything wrong and that his jealousy was based on gossip and rumor that had come to his ears.

Mrs. Crawford was described as a slender woman of unusual grace, with auburn hair and still very pretty in spite of her age. She has a number of acquaintances in this town and nearby territory.

Mrs. Susie G. Williams, Brooklyn, is giving notice to the members that there is to be a special evening meeting of Quinebaug Pomona grange, No. 3, with Ashford grange at Knowlton Memorial hall in Warrenville on Saturday evening, April 26. Supper is to be served by Ashford grange from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. At 7:30 the degree will be conferred in full form. The lecturer's program will provide selections by a musical trio from the Killingly high school orchestra, a reading by Otis Remington of Ekonk grange, an address on Roadside Development by Luther M. Keith, Putnam, representing the state highway department, and a sketch presented by members of Natchaug grange.

On recommendation of Chief John McFarland the warden and court of burgesses at their meeting last evening approved the appointment of the following citizens as members of the borough police force: Laird Winchell, who is regularly on night duty; Hosea Greene, Vernon H. Wetherell, Harry Young, Alphonse Fraser, Charles Burdick, Walter I. Chase, Thomas Bradford and Adelard Barbeau.

The value of cable fences such as the state highway department is now erecting along state highways, as opposed to the old style wooden fences, was again demonstrated this afternoon when a car owned by James A. Barnes of Providence crashed into one on Westcott road. One post was thrown out of line, but the cables held. Mr. Barnes had driven the car through Danielson and had reached Westcott road, leading out to Providence, when his mother, riding with him, expressed a desire to drive. She had guided the machine less than 25 feet when the car struck the post, damaging the machine slightly.

State officers were seeking Edmond Lyons today, following his disappearance after the car of one of his friends that Lyons was driving was in collision with another machine owned and operated by Joseph Depot of Dayville. Lyons did not halt when the accident occurred, but drove the machine to the home of the owner and abandoned it.

Beautiful line of nice dresses for Easter, also beautiful new hosiery, leather bags, silk and rayon underwear, jewelry, and foundation garments for the new silhouette models. Many other handsome things for the Easter period. The Alice-Eleanor Shop, Danielson.—adv.

The fourth Holy Week service conducted by the Tri-Y and Hi-Y was held this morning at the Baptist church, beginning at 7:45. The leaders for this meeting were Miss Isabella Abbott and Francis Hammett. Rev. A. E. Gallup, pastor of the Nazarene church, was the speaker. The meetings have grown throughout the week from day to day, the service this morning attracting a larger attendance than any of the previous ones.

Irma Watson, "charming singer of songs," gave a recital before the members of the Killingly Woman's club yesterday afternoon. Her singing was in costume and with action. She was assisted by Dr. William Levin, violinist, and Beatrice Levin, accompanist. I've Been Roaming, Gavotte, O Dear! What Can the Matter Be?, An Old Romance, and the Second Minuet constituted the first group of songs—songs of old London. Violin solos by Dr. Levin during the recital included Spanish Dance (Granados-Kreslier), Orientale (Amani-Elman), Estrellita (Ponce-Heifets), Schon Rosmarin (Kreisler). Another song group were from songs of the Chinese and still another were songs of the south, all making a delightful program.

Next Tuesday evening at the Community house in South Killingly a meeting inspired by grange organizations, including Killingly grange, with headquarters here, and Highland range, which assembles at South Killingly, will be held with a view to forming a permanent organization with the objective of getting better rural highways. The meeting will be open to everyone interested in the worthy project.

NO. GROSVENORDALE

TIRES AND CIGARETTES STOLEN AT PLOUFFE STATION

The Grosvenordale Filling Station, owned by Arthur Plouffe, situated near the main highway, was burglarized Wednesday evening. The back window of the station was broke as the thieves entered through the window and opened the cellar door. The burglars got away with thirty-five tires and twenty cartons of cigaretes. Other articles stolen were wrenches and tools. Mr. Plouffe discovered the theft when he opened the door. He noticed the broken window and immediately notified the barracks at Danielson. State Officer Royal Scranton investigated. Footprints and tire prints were measured by Officer Scranton, as there were no other clues. This is the second break in the station in four months. Mr. Plouffe's loss is estimated at about $500.

The Grosvenordale Community house is to open next week with a dance. "The Ambassadors" of Worcester will furnish music. This will be the first function of the year and will be sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary. It will also be inspection night.

The junior class of Tourtellotte is to present their play next week under direction of Miss Grace Hussey. The cast includes: Minty, Gladys Evans; Fanny, Doris Bousquet; Grace, Mary Brew; Peter, George Tefft; Miss Tillington, Sara Rhodes; Mr. Kent, Peter Demeter; Mrs. Dean, Sylvia Dartt.

A fire near the home of Mr. Leo Demeter Wednesday morning proved of little consequence. A pile of wood in the back yard which had been laying there for the past year, and had been dried by the sun, was ignited and burned. All the firemen could do was to stop it from spreading to the house.

Anannias Tefft, who has been ill with measles, has returned to his studies at Tourtellotte.

The first to go trout fishing in town this season were Merill Seney, Frederic Seney and George Carlson. Thirty-three were caught, ranging in size from ten to fourteen inches.

The Tourtellotte baseball team defeated the North Grosvenordale Tigers, 15-3. Coach Colley is well satisfied with the first showing of his newly organized team.

Misses Marjorie Crandall and Margaret Casselis students at Bay Path Institute will spend the remainder of the week at their homes.

PUTNAM

DR. PHILLIPS NAMED HEAD OF COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 17—Physicians from every town in Windham county gathered this afternoon at the Putnam Inn on the occasion of the 128th annual session of the Windham County Medical society. Following a luncheon held in the main dining room of the hotel, the doctors went into executive session and elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: Dr. Karl T. Phillips, of this city, president; Dr. E. J. Ottenheimer of Willimantic, vice president; Dr. J. A. LaPalme, No. Grosvenordale, secretary; Dr. Seldon B. Overlock, surgeon-general at the Day-Kimball hospital was re-elected counsellor; delegates named to represent the society at the state medical convention, Dr. LaPalme and Dr. George Burroughs, of Danielson.

Two interesting papers were read during the meeting, one by Dr. James McCann, of Worcester, the subject being "Peptic Ulcer," and the other on "Hodgkin's Disease," read by Dr. K. T. Phillips. One new member, Dr. Robert F. Souther, of Danielson, was enrolled in the society today.

Dr. Robert C. Paine, of Thompson, read an obituary on the death of the late Capt. Edward F. Perry, M. C., of this city, a member of the society, whose death occurred on Dec. 19, last year.

OFFICES OF COUNTY OBSERVER DAMAGED BY FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 17—The editorial and business offices of the Windham County Observer were damaged by smoke and water at noon today when a fire of undetermined origin started in a pool parlor on the first floor of the Labby block on Canal street and seeped through the partitions into the newspaper sanctums, creating a fire loss estimated between $600 and $800.

The blaze was discovered at 12:35 by a passer-by. An alarm from box 41 a few moments later brought out all the available apparatus in the city. The fire at first appeared to be a trivial matter, but before firemen had cut away partitions in the pool parlor and forced open the locked doors of the publishing plant, flames had gained considerable headway and necessitated the laying of two hose lines to bring the blaze under control.

The business and editorial offices were damaged and papers and other records, including "Observer" files were scorched and damaged from heat and water. So intense was the heat that paint and other wall decorations in the offices and foyer leading to the printing establishment from the street were blistered.

It being during the noon hour, the offices and composing rooms of the weekly newspaper were closed and the exact cause for the fire could not be given to Fire Chief Ralph E. Thurston who investigated. Chief Thurston said this afternoon that it was quite evident from appearances in the pool parlor, that a cigarette, carelessly dropped on the floor, set fire to dust near the mop-board and the draft carried the fire into the partition. A bundle of baled paper waste stored in a room in the Observer entrance aided the flames, Chief Thurston learned.

The fire was extinguished about three-quarters of an hour later and a re-call sounded on the fire alarm circuit at 1:03.

At 9:05 o'clock this morning, Chief Thurston and apparatus from the Central station in Union Sq., responded to a four call alarm for a chimney fire in a tenement at 26 Centennial street, owned by Mrs. Hattie Miller of Woodstock avenue. The blaze was extinguished with little fire loss. The call was the 39th alarm of the year, the fire chief stated.

Rev. English Tenders Resignation

Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Congregational church in this city for the past five years tendered his resignation to the church committee yesterday, advising the members that he would terminate his pastorate at the local church in June to accept a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church in Manchester, N. H.

Since coming to Putnam, Mr. English has taken an active interest in community projects as well as in ecclesiastical activities. A man in his early thirties, Mr. English has attracted young people to the church and instilled a new life in the church societies. He fostered many plans that brought about improvement of the picturesque church on Main street and provided for the remodeling of the interior of the building. He is an active member of county and state religious societies and is chairman of the Putnam Council of Protestant churches.

In the field of sports, Mr. English has taken an enthusiastic part. He devoted time and effort to the organizing and development of three successful Putnam high school track teams.

Rev. Mr. English is a native of East Windsor, Conn., born there in 1897, the youngest son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William F. English. He attended the East Windsor grammar school and was graduated from Enfield high school. He received his preparatory training at Monson academy in Monson, Mass., graduating from there in 1912 and from Trinity college in 1916. Following his graduation from the Hartford Theological seminary in 1920, Mr. English was ordained to the ministry of the Congregational church in 1921 and soon afterwards was appointed to his first pastorate at the Elmwood Community church in West Hartford. He preached his first sermon in the Putnam church on March 22, 1925 as successor to Rev. Simeon E. Cozad, now pastor of a church in Mansfield, Mass.

During the World war, Mr. English served with the medical corps and saw service in France as a member of the Fifth Artillery corps. At present he holds a commission of first lieutenant in the O. R. C., and is a chaplain in that body. Besides his religious affiliations Mr. English is active in Masonic fraternal circles, being associate grand chaplain of the grand lodge of Masons.

Mr. English was married September 1, 1921 to Miss Alice B. Welles of Hartford. They have two children. Mrs. English is a graduate of Smith college.

Sergt. A. J. Sponcey questioned a North Grosvenordale youth last evening, who was suspected of having some knowledge of the series of burglaries which were committed in this city during the latter part of February and in March. After a grilling of several minutes Sergt. Sponcey released the youth, whose frank admissions led the officer to believe that he was telling the truth.

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, commanding officer of the state police barracks at Danielson reported this afternoon that no clues have been unearthed by officers investigating the break and robbery at the service station and store of Arthur Plouffe in North Grosvernordale. The burglary was committed sometime during the night, Tuesday. About $500 worth of tires and tubes and automobile accessories were stolen, the proprietor reported.

The Salvation Army post in this city has launched its annual drive for maintainence funds. The district quota this year has been set at $3,000 and the prospects are that the amount will be obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Wilcox of Farrows street have announced the engagement of their daughter Marion Agnes to Austin Douglas Lathrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lathrop of Pine Loft farm, Montville, Conn. Miss Wilcox is a graduate of Putnam high school and both are graduates of the Connecticut Agricultural college.

Teams Join League

A six-team circuit, to be known as the Southern New England baseball league, was formed Wednesday night at a meeting held in Webster. Four teams from Connecticut and two in the Bay State fill up the card. The representatives stated that games would start some time the middle of next month. The teams to be included in the circuit are: North Grosvenordale, Quinebaug A. C., Putnam, Danielson, Webster and Dudley. Francis Murphy was spokesman for the Putnam Silk Sox and the North Grosvenordale company nine at the meeting, Charles Donahue of Quinebaug represented Quinebaug A. C., while Frank Hewett and Harry Brown represented the Slater company of Webster. John Szcepaniak was the representative of the Dudley A. C.

The six teams are among the strongest available in the northern part of Connecticut and on the border line of Massachusetts. The Slater company team has ample material to choose from in the employes of the East Webster and North Webster mills. The same can be said of the Connecticut teams which also represent manufacturing concerns. St. Joseph's team, Grosvenordale, will be made up of members of the St. Joseph's Y. M. A. of St. Joseph's parish.

The North Grosvenordale company team will be ready to start the season when the first whistle blows. Every member who has reported for the squad has shown excellent work, both on the field and at the bat. Manager Bernard has organized one of the best pitching staffs, having for hurlers this season Hebert and Rivers, also Coderre, one of the best pitchers in this part of the state.

Erminigile Beauregard, who has been in the hardware business for the past forty years, is making his residence in Southbridge. Mr. Beauregard is one of the oldest citizens of this town. He is succeeded here by his son Zoel, who, up to the time of his father's retirement had been in the latter's employ. Mr. Beauregard at present is living with his son Rene in Southbridge.

OUR ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS EQUIPMENT

When appeal is made for increased attention to the problem of providing for the tubercular cases in the state, it cannot be said that there is any disposition to disregard it or that favorable results are not obtained. There is a state-wide interest in the efforts being made to check the white plague and it is recognized that highly efficient work is being done in the institutions which the state has established.

It is because these institutions are not able to take care of all the applicants for treatment that there is renewed demand for increased facilities. At most every session of the general assembly, provision is made for increasing the facilities of the sanatoria in one way or another. Each year sees more patients being cared for, even though there may continue to be a waiting list.

What the next legislature will do cannot be told in advance. That it will be made fully aware of the need of more beds for the afflicted and that the earlier the treatment can be received the better the chance for arresting the disease is a foregone conclusion. In various ways organizations are even now stressing the need for greater effort and setting forth the situation as to facilities and the waiting list in a manner which may well be calculated to result in prompt and effective action. Through the steady attack upon this problem the proper solution is sure to come.

What the next legislature ought to do is being indicated by the disclosure as to the conditions. Enlargement of institutions or the establishment of new ones will help to give needed relief. For several years determined efforts have been made to secure needed land for the extension of the sanatorium at Niantic, the hospital where the cases of bone tuberculosis in children are treated. Inability to find another site that will compare with it has led to unusual measures to secure possession of the McCook property, against the wishes of the owners, but the legal contest is such that there appears to be no immediate solution in sight. In the meantime, facilities there are cramped and inadequate and a vital service is being seriously handicapped. Thus the various phases of the state's fight against tuberculosis call for the increased interest which is being awakened.

AGAINST GOVERNMENT OPERATION

However much Senator Norris was able to influence a favorable vote in the senate upon his bill for the government operation of Muscle Shoals, it is quite evident that it failed to convince the house committee that such a method of disposing of that important development is the proper one.

It is the purpose of the house committee to draft a new bill, one that will come more nearly to meeting the demands of this country, which are believed to be against government operation. Just what the house committee has in mind will be revealed in time but it doesn't fall for the idea of indulging in the government manufacture of fertilizer by an out-of-date and uneconomic method such as would be done at Muscle Shoals and it doesn't favor the costly government operation of a plant which should be placed in the hands of private enterprise.

Through the course that has been taken by the house committee, it seems probable that final action on Muscle Shoals will not be accomplished at this session of congress, but it is preferable that it should be disposed of in a proper manner than that it should be rushed through under the scheme that is proposed in the Norris resolution.

It is most unfortunate that Muscle Shoals has been hanging fire so long. It represents a huge outlay on the part of the government and there should be as large benefits as possible obtained from it in the way of revenue, power reduction or other means of utilizing its facilities. The failure of congress to meet the situation has been responsible for much of the delay, while the disposition to indulge in a lot of fanciful experiments with it accounts for the rest. If the house committee can succeed in speeding the disposition of the plant it will be welcomed action.

THE CROSS ROAD RESIDENTS

Connecticut is not the only state where more attention is being sought for the country roads. More and more is it being realized that it is time to let up a bit on the trunk lines and give heed to the requirements of those who live on the cross roads, those who have been putting in their share of the highway money but getting no attention so far as the highways on which they live and depend in getting to market are concerned.

Out in Michigan this summer a more intensive and complete traffic survey than ever made is projected. There is to be a careful count and tabulation made in 100 townships in order to determine the use of county and township roads. According to the Detroit News' authority, more than 95 per cent of the farmers still live on dirt roads, and this "situation retards progress and is a menace to agricultural prosperity."

In the state of New York there has been a checkup on the dirt road farmers with the result that it has been found that the farmer on a dirt road uses his truck 20 per cent, or 725 miles, less each year than the farmer who lives on a hard-surfaced road, and his automobile 1,100 miles less. He makes less use of them because road conditions are against it.

The Detroit News is much impressed by the plan to give more attention to the dirt roads of that state. Much value should be gained from the survey and it believes it "should indicate the needs of future improvements and construction; suggest changes in the interests of safety; enable a wiser expenditure of the highway funds and help to a solution of the vexing problem as to the apportionment of tax money." Further than that, it regards the decision to learn something of the needs of the country roads apart from the trunk lines as timely and it maintains that "the tremendous program of trunk line construction has progressed sufficiently to justify heeding the demand of the great majority of rural residents for an extended 'farm to market' road development."

What is true of Michigan is likewise true of Connecticut. The states are not comparable as to size but as to the need of giving more attention to the country roads they are in a like position. It is time to give the dirt road residents a chance to get to market, a chance to see some benefit from their gas tax and a chance to know what road improvement really is.

DANGEROUS STOREHOUSES

Right in the footsteps of a blast in a fireworks factory in Philadelphia which caused several deaths, came the blowing up of a mixing plant in Northford, this state, where fireworks were also being manufactured. Blown to bits is the way in which the deaths of the two men who were in the building were described. It was a terrific explosion that destroyed the building and did much damage to other property in the neighborhood.

In this particular instance care had been taken to see that this mixing plant was separated from other buildings of a similar character. The men were more or less isolated so that whatever chance they might be taking in their dangerous work would not involve others. It is not to be supposed that they expected to be blown up but they understood the hazard surrounding their work, they knew what havoc a spark might cause and they took the precaution to see that they did not endanger others.

That precaution was taken as far as the mixing plant was concerned, but the story of the explosion revealed that within five yards in one case and 75 yards in another two storehouses of flimsy wooden construction crammed with high explosives and dynamite were located. Through good fortune, if nothing else, the contents of these buildings were not disturbed. What would have been the result had they been included in the explosion or caught from the fire which followed the blowing up of the mixing plant needs only to be left to imagination.

Where explosives are dealt in and especially where they are in the process of manufacture, there cannot be too much care observed for the protection of life and property. If the hazard for those involved is reduced by having a few work together in isolated places, the need of safeguarding other property and lives by establishing the storehouses at scattered points, and then in structures which are more than flimsy wooden buildings, ought to be apparent. Such distribution has been shown to be wise in cases where previous explosions have occurred and it is unfortunate if such groupings are permitted to serve as a sort of an invitation for a real disaster.

KEEPING DOWN THE FIRES

According to the study of the fire losses by the national board of fire underwriters, 60 per cent of the total fire loss is caused by 1 per cent of the fires. This means that it is in the big fires rather than in the large number of small fires that the bulk of the loss occurs, and it is borne out by the figures which are gathered in Great Britain and Ireland as well as in this country.

With the board admitting that this situation will be surprising to underwriters as well as the general public, it undertakes to answer the question as to what will alter the situation, knowing, apparently, that such a question is bound to be asked. It sets forth that with improved fire protection devices, extinguishing equipment, means of quick notification of fire and better building construction it is possible to control fires until the fire department can arrive and maintains that it is a mistaken idea of economy that permits the erection of buildings without providing essential safeguards against spreading fires and points tellingly to the fact that open stairways or elevator shafts, frail wooden partitions and other forms of obsolete construction allow flames to spread rapidly, endangering human lives and causing enormous losses.

It is quite obvious that the fire losses of the country are such as to lay emphasis upon the need of more extensive fireproof construction and upon overcoming those hazardous conditions which are revealed day in and day out in the small as well as in the large fires. The need of prevention is obvious. There are many preventive measures which can be adopted, and any or all of them mean far less in the way of outlay than is certain to be involved in a serious fire.

TAKING STOCK

If you haven't any money, at least you're spared the trouble of wondering what to do with it. Jean and Allan had $1,000 in the old savings account and the only problem in their serene young lives was how best to invest it.

"I've a whooping big idea," said Allan one night at dinner. "The boss had me order twenty shares of Consolidated Sidewalk for him today. Let's us go into it with our $1,000."

"What," inquired Jean innocently, "would we ever do with so many sidewalks?"

"Why," Allan explained patiently, "we wouldn't actually buy the sidewalks. That is, we'd own 'em, but we'd never see 'em. We'd just get the stock."

"Stock!" There was a word Jean had heard before. "Oh, no, Allan. We mustn't buy stocks. My daddy says"—Allan gritted his teeth and resigned himself to hearing what daddy thought about it. "Daddy says," went on Jean sweetly, "Never risk your money in stocks. Always play safe by investing in solid, first-class 4 1-2 per cent bonds.'"

"Your father," ventured Allan bravely, "is a fine business man—but his ideas about investments are old-fashioned. We're living in a new age. Today every one has a right to participate in the general prosperity of business through buying industrial stocks." Jean pouted.

"All right," she said, "go ahead and buy your old sidewalks if you want to risk your savings—but—"

"No." Allan spoke with an air of injury. "They're your savings as well as mine. We'll buy bonds, as long as you feel that way."

The next day as she did her housework Jean turned over in her mind the conversation of the previous evening. From somewhere out of her memory came the chilling words: "The unwise wife interferes with her husband's ego." Something like that. She remembered reading an article about a young wife who thwarted her husband's wishes so much that he deserted her. Jean shuddered. Allan's birthday was scarcely two weeks away. She decided to surprise him and, calling up her best girl friend, she inquired the method whereby one invested one's money in stocks. The girl friend recommended her lawyer. The lawyer referred her to his broker And the broker took Jean's check for $1,000, plus his commission, and her order for that amount of stock in Consolidated Sidewalks.

After parting with so much money Jean felt sick at heart. What if, after all, it were the wrong thing to do? She remembered the little sacrifices they had made—things both she and Allan had wanted but renounced in order to swell their savings account. So much might happen. There might be a panic—or a war—the stock market might crash. She had been crazy to forget her father's sound advice for a whim of Allan's.

The days came and flickered away and the dreadful secret drobe Jean near distraction. She couldn't eat. She lay awake nights.On the morning of Allan's birthday she felt near a nervous collapse. She would confess the whole tragic story that night, tell Allan how silly she'd been and have him try to get their money back somehow. Four o'clock came. Five, six—at 6.20 Allan burst into the house waving a newspaper.

"Look here," he cried. "The directors of Consolidated Sidewalks met today and voted a $2 extra dividend. The stock went bouncing up 40 points. Think of it!" He paced madly up and down the room. "We could have made $1,000 on our original investment."

"What!" queried Jean, tremulously. "Do you mean our Sidewalk stock went up?"

"Ours!" scoffed Allan. "No, not ours! The people who had the sense to buy it. It was the best stock on the market." Jean went swiftly to her desk.

"Here," she said, clutching a long envelope. "It's our certificate for $1,000 worth of that stock. I've kept it a secret, as your birthday present." Allan was overcome with joy.

"You little angel," he cried. "How I've wronged you! I believed you didn't know a thing about investing money." Then, as an afterthought, he added: "We'd better play safe, though, and buy bonds next time, dear. This kind of luck never strikes twice in one family!"—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 17—When the house sent the tariff bill and its 1200 senate amendments to conference on a single vote, disagreeing with all senate changes, the Republican National Committee saw fit to fire a salute.

It came in the form of a statement by Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, party leader, calling the roll of democratic senators who had voted for increased rates or against decreases in rates during the senate's wrangle with the bill. They voted up 1,010 all told.

"And yet the democrats—or a large majority of them—now apparently seek to screen their own actions behind a curtain of propaganda smoke," declared the Indiana senator.

Counter Barrage

The Watson statement was especially interesting because it was hailed by Washington news writers as a sort of counter barrage to the months of similar outgivings dished up by Democratic National Committee marchinery in Washington.

That began when Jouatt Shouse came down to take charge, and a high pressure publicity expert was added to the democratic set up. Smoot used to reply to these volleys of criticism but his finance committee work soon got too arduous to keep that up.

Gossip then had it that the republican old guardsmen were sufficiently vexed at this constant democratic sniping to urge a counter publicity organization by the republican national committee set up.

For whatever reason, a noted political writer finally was selected and installed but not until the Watson blast was unloosed did anything emerge from republican committee sources that looked on its face like a definite counter publicity move in the tariff row.

"Scoop"

The new republican set-up, if such it is, will have to go some to equal the record of Mr. Shouse and his lieutenants. Way back in early days of the long-drawn tariff wrangle, no less an authority than Borah of Idaho was quoted in an interview given out by the Democratic National Committee and assailing the flexible tariff provision put on in the house and knocked out later in the senate.

That was almost the beginning of the democratic, insurgent-republican tariff coalition in the senate. It was a fine "scoop" for the Shouse publicity machine.

Asked how the democratic agency happened to be putting it out, Borah said his views were well known and if the rival national committee desired to distribute them, "that is its business." In fact, however, he had granted an interview to a democratic newsgetter.

Watson's democratic tariff vote roll call singled out Connally of Texas, with 21 increase and 12 anti-decrease votes, Sheppard, 32 and 12, Dill of Washington, 17 and 22, Wagner of New York, 10 and 23. What he ignored was Broussard of Louisiana, 59 and 64, Ransdell of the same state, 24 and 44, Kendrick of Wyoming, 62 and 10, Trammel of Florida, 21 and 23. Why was that?

YOUR HEALTH

What Are Vitamines?

By Max C. Starkloff, M. D., St. Louis.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

It has long been recognized that when certain food products are omitted from the diet, special diseases develop. Such diseases are cured when those food products are again included in the diet. These unknown but necessary substances in food are called Vitamines.

It was learned, for example, that sailors, when they were sailing on the high seas for months at a time, developed bleeding from their gums and other symptoms recognized as Scurvy, which could be prevented by the use of lemons on these voyages. Furthermore as example, people living on a diet consisting principally of polished rice developed a malady characterized by selling of the body, and pain along nerve trunks, which disappeared when the hulls of the rice were included in the diet. This disease is known as Beriberi.

Vitamines aparently do not furnish heat or energy to the body, but are necessary because they enable us properly to utilize other foods. Some are more especially involved with normal growth and development of the body than others. Fresh fruit and uncooked vegetables contain Vitamines. Lettuce, tomatoes and cabbage are rich in different kinds of Vitamines. Cooking destroys Vitamines in proportion to the duration of the cooking and degree of heat used in the cooking.

A brief synopsis of what we now know about the presence and action of Vitamines is as follows:

Vitamine A is especially present in a great variety of green vegetables, in milk, egg yolk, and in Cod Liver oil. Vitamine A deficiency leads to suspension of growth and to a dry and burning condition of the eyes known as Xerophthalmia.

Vitamine B is especially present in green vegetables, the bran layers of cereals, and in yeast. Vitamine B deficiency leads to a condition known as Beriberi.

Vitamine C is especially present in the juice of citrus fruit, i. e., lemons, oranges and grapefruit, and in tomatoes. Vitamine C deficiency leads to a condition known as Scurvy.

Vitamine D is found in sunshine, in Cod liver oil, and in green vegetables grown in sunshine. The green leaves of lettuce are therefore superior to the pale centers in regard to Vitamine D. content. Vitamine D can be created artificially by the so-called ultra-violet light or artificial sunshine. It assures the normal development of bones in the growing child, and its deficiency leads to a condition known as Rickets. Rats and mules in coal mines to not suffer from its deficiency even though they remain in darkness for years or all their lives, because they eat substances grown in sunshine.

Vitamine E is especially found in cereal grains, as well as leafy vegetables such as lettuce, which is rich in this vitamine. Vitamine E deficiency leads to sterility or failure to reproduce.

Vitamines F, G, and H are less definitely defined, but are apparently included in the Vitamine B group. Their deficiency may lead to different manifestations of Beriberi, or to another malady known as Pellagra.

In conclusion, then, a diet rich in vegetables and natural foods is imperative. One must be cautious in the use of artificial substitutes for natural sources of Vitamine supply in nutrition.

"Overcoming the World"

Read: John 16:25-33.

MEDITATION: These words sound strange in their setting. It looked as if the world had overcome Jesus. The existing authorities had denied his teaching and now they were about to deprive Him of life. But one thing they had not done—they had not overcome His love of God and His belief in God's love for men. For love and faith He was willing to die. His death so vindicated God's love that it has made this day one of joyous solemnity. The cross illumines our hope, shames our doubts and renews our courage. Jesus' living faith and faithful life have made the cross a sign by which men have conquered and have overcome the world.

PRAYER: Lord, teach us to overcome. Make us steadfast and immovable servants of Him whom we this day commenorate. May His faith reside in us and the spirit which led Him to the cross descend upon us and fill our hearts with love of God and men. Amen.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Unc' Billy Follows Mr. Quack

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

In judgment he is far from sound
Who counts his eggs before they're found.
—Old Mother Nature.

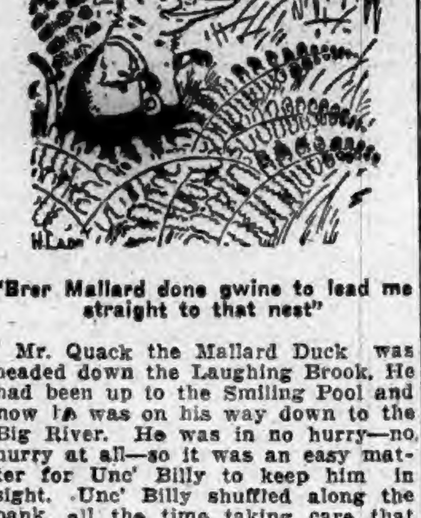
Unc' Billy had chosen an old hollow log wherein to take a nap. All night long he had hunted for the nest of Mrs. Quack. He had hunted in vain. Now he was tired. So within two minutes after he had curled up in that hollow log he was fast asleep. He slept a long time. There was nothing to disturb him. That hollow log was in the little swamp between the Smiling Pool and the Big River. It was near the bank of the Laughing Brook. Once Billy Mink left the bank along which he had been running and peered into that hollow log. He wrinkled his nose.

"Huh!" said Billy to himself. "What is Unc' Billy Possum doing down here? The old rascal ought to be up in the Green Forest. Well, I won't bother him."

So Billy Mink went his way and Unc' Billy Possum continued to sleep. When at last he awoke he couldn't think for a moment where he was. He yawned two or three times and then crawled out and stretched. Then he remembered how he happened to be there. He also realized that he was very hungry. He had been so intant on finding Mrs. Quack and her nest of eggs the night before that he hadn't taken time to catch anything to eat.

"Ah reckon Ah'll catch me a frog or two and then Ah'll have another look for Sis' Mallard's nest," said he, and straightway headed for a little marshy opening along the Laughing Brook. He found his frogs there. He caught two and then he felt better. Then he began to think of those eggs. He was sitting half hidden by a clump of ferns, trying to make up his mind what to do next, when he caught a glimpse of a green head. From where he sat the head was all he could see. He knew it for Mr. Quack's head and he knew that Mr. Quack was swimming in the Laughing Brook.

A look of great cunning crept into Unc' Billy's eyes. Very cautiously he stole forward to a point where he could see better. "Brer Mallard done gwine to lead me straight to that nest. All Ah done got to do is to keep him in sight."



"Brer Mallard done gwine to lead me straight to that nest"

Mr. Quack the Mallard Duck was headed down the Laughing Brook. He had been up to the Smiling Pool and now he was on his way down to the Big River. He was in no hurry—no, hurry at all—so it was an easy matter for Unc' Billy to keep him in sight. Unc' Billy shuffled along the bank, all the time taking care that Mr. Quack shouldn't see him. Now and then Mr. Quack would disappear around a bend. Unc' Billy would hurry a little then. He would very cautiously peep around the bend and there, sure enough, would be Mr. Quack.

All the time Unc' Billy was chuckling. He was sure that if he kept Mr. Quack in sight that sooner or later Mr. Quack would lead him straight to that nest. It seemed to him that the finding of that nest now would be the easiest thing in all the Great World. He was almost as sure of those fine big eggs as if he had had them right in front of him. Meanwhile, Mr. Quack leisurely made his way down the Laughing Brook. Sometimes he would stop in a little pool near the bank and rest, for he had nothing in particular to do. He had found some nice yellow corn up at the Smiling Pool, left there by Farmer Brown's Boy, and so he wasn't hungry. He was just lazy and comfortable.

Two or three times Unc' Billy grew impatient. It seemed to him that Mr. Quack never would move on. But there was nothing he could do about it. Not a single thing. So he possessed himself with patience until Mr. Quack did move on again. And so at last they came down to the Big River.

A YANKEE ABROAD

Window Glass Monocles

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

LONDON—Monocles, long the trade mark of the stage Englishman, are rapidly disappearing in their very homeland.

One sees very few single glasses in Britain these days. They are worn mostly by college lads who use plain window glass, and by old timers who acquired the habit back in the good old Victorian days and can't cast off now.

Ask the monocled one why he fosters this peculiar vanity and he will tell you that he has one bad eye. If you know him well, and press further, he'll admit it is pure swank.

On The Wing

During the war there was a story going the rounds about Field Marshal Sir William Birdwood and his monocle. I can't vouch for the tale, but here it is.

He commanded the Australians who were a pretty hard boiled lot and had little use for such niceties as monocles.

The general reviewed a new contingent one day and when he went on parade, with his glass screwed in his eye, he found every mother's son of the Australians wearing a big English penny in his left eye.

The general looked the outfit over for a moment, then removed his monocle, tossed it into the air and caught it in his eye as it came down.

"Do that, you blankety blanks!" he roared.

Tight Little Island

England has some weird ideas about America because nine out of ten people over here know little about the United States.

But the British press likes stories on big sporting events, Chicago gunmen, violations of the prohibition law, hijackers, lynchings and scandals.

Many people over here think our police and our courts corrupt. And they know only four datelines in the while, United State—New York, Washington, Chicago and Hollywood!

Little Talks on Thrift

True Thrift Means The Scientific Management of One's Affairs

"If there is any term that could be used as a substitute for the word 'thrift' I would say it is 'personal management.'"

This is an extract from a letter recently received by the writer and is of value because it brings out an important aspect of true thrift. Too many persons think of thrift only in terms of saving money. It would be well if more of us became imbued with the thought that thrift is really a matter of personal management.

The writer's attention recently was called to the incident of a family which is operated exactly as a business even to the point of annual reports by the husband and father in which he sums up the various points of progress made by the family during the year.

The American Society for Thrift has worked out a plan which should prove helpful in personal or household management. On a printed sheet are horizontal lines for the different days of the month. Across these horizontal lines or vertical columns representing the various items of expense such as food, clothing, rent, insurance, recreation, sundries, savings, etc. Each of these columns is divided into two parts, one called "anticipated" and the other "actual."

In the "anticipated" columns there is to be written down the amount of contemplated expense for each day of the month for the various items. In the "actual" column are spaces in which are to be set down the sums actually spent each day for each different item. In this way, a person can budget his entire month's outlay, setting down for each day the actual or pro rata amount of expense. In following out this plan every reasonable effort should be made, of course, to keep the "actual" expenses below, or at least not above, the "anticipated." These sheets, incidentally, may be obtained without cost by any of the readers of this paper who will write to the American Society for Thrift, 9 East 46th Street, New York city.

But whether you adopt some such plan as this or proceed along some other line, it should be borne in mind always that to be thrifty is simply to manage one's affairs in such a manner that one continually is moving forward on the path of progress.—By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Stories That Recall Others

Reason Enough

In order to impress the value of numbers on her class, the primary teacher asked: "Which would you rather have, six apples or two apples?"

All answered six apples except Alice, the smallest and most serious member. When asked why she would rather have two, Alice replied: "I don't want to get sick."

Keen Observer

Four-year-old Johnny was listening with much interest to an explanation of the phonograph in a neighbor's house. He didn't understand where the music came from.

"Johnny, the music comes through the needle and out the horn," said the mother.

"But what does the music come from?" asked puzzled Johnny.

"Oh, that's why you see so many of them broken up in the alley."

The easiest way to care for a child's hair properly, is with Danderine. Put a little on the brush each time the hair is arranged. Then as you draw it through the strands, it supplies the natural oils removed from hair and scalp by washing with soap and water.

"Train" a child's hair with Danderine. See how this keeps it orderly, lustrous, clean. The natural curl is accentuated. A girl's waves "set" with it stay in longer; look more natural. And Danderine isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show.

When the use of Danderine becomes a daily habit in your home, longer, thicker, more abundant hair is sure to follow—for every member.

Danderine helps stop falling hair; dissolves every particle of dandruff crust; keeps the hair and scalp clean and healthy; changes dull, brittle, lifeless hair into hair that is sparkling, vigorous, easy to manage. Five million bottles used a year proves Danderine's effectiveness.

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Gas—Indigestion

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is ideal for this purpose. Just a little after meals neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents souring, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion is easy and painless. It will do all this for you or money back. Reliable druggists everywhere sell Bisurated Magnesia with this guarantee.

Pleasant Relief From Constipation

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c 30c and 60c. All druggists.

New Way To Improve Skin

A wonderful discovery is the new French process which gives MELLO-GLO Face Powder its unparalleled smoothness and makes it stay on longer. The purest powder made—its color is tested. Never gives a pasty or flaky look. Will not smart the skin or enlarge the pores! Gives a youthful bloom. Remember the name—MELLO-GLO. Porteous & Mitchell Co.

Tortured with Sleeplessness

"Impossible to sleep at night, misery when I walked, my back ached so that I could neither sit nor lie down in comfort."—So, D. McMillen, of Hudson, N. Y., describes his plight. "I tried Foley Pills diuretic, and now I feel so good over my recovery that I want to recommend them to others." Foley Pills diuretic are a reliable, valuable medicine constantly in use over 25 years, and guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for Foley Pills diuretic and accept no other. This is the second continuance of the case, as it was continued last week, when originally called, in order to give Huber time in which to secure counsel. No reason for the second continuance was advanced. Huber is charged with setting fire to the plant of the Turner-Stanton Co., on Broad street, last January, causing damage estimated at $30,000.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Albert W. Avery

Mrs. Emma Chapman Avery, wife of Albert W. Avery of Uncasville, and a well known member of clubs and social organizations in Montville, died suddenly Thursday morning about 12:45 o'clock at her home. She had been ill for a short time but her illness was not considered serious until heart complications set in.

Mrs. Avery was a native of Salem, the daughter of Benjamin and Mary Gates Chapman, and she spent her lifetime in Salem and in Montville following her marriage to Mr. Avery in 1878. She leaves, besides her husband, one daughter, Alda, the wife of Clarence W. Avery of South Windham, a sister, Mrs. William H. Sweet of this city, and two grandchildren, Helen and Florence Avery of South Windham.

The deceased was a member of the Uncasville Methodist Episcopal church and active in the work of its Ladies' Aid and other societies. She was chairman of the church's pastoral committee, president of the Montville League of Women Voters, a member of the Women's club of New London and of Trumbull commandery, United Order of the Golden Cross, of New London. She was greatly beloved by all her friends and associates in these organizations and in other circles of her town.

FUNERAL

Mrs. William Laroux

Funeral services for Mary Simoneau, wife of William Laroux, were held at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Vincent Demauro, of No. 330 Franklin street, followed by services at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and the floral tributes were beautiful. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery and the committal service was conducted by Msgr. May. The bearers were Dona, Philip, George and Harry Simoneau and Vincent Demauro and Philip Thiverge. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George G. Grant of Taftville.

Mrs. Laroux was born in Canada 50 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simoneau, but had resided for many years in Norwich, where she has many friends to mourn her loss. Besides her husband she is survived by two brothers, Philip and George Simoneau of Taftville and a sister, Mrs. Vincent Demauro of this city.

FINDS SPOTTY IMPROVEMENT IN CONNECTICUT CONDITIONS

Continued uncertainty with improvement in some business lines was the keynote in Connecticut during March, according to the monthly business survey of the Connecticut chamber of commerce conducted in cooperation with leading local chambers of commerce. An outstanding indication of improvement was a gain in the number of building permits issued in leading construction centers, encouraging in view of the decline in building operations since January. In March, 1929, there were 1,175 permits issued valued at $11,104,921. Noting that a permit for $6,000,000 for an insurance building in Hartford was included in this total, the March, 1930, figure of 1,213 permits valued at $4,854,551 compared favorably and also was a substantial increase over the February total of 629 permits with a valuation of $1,977,208.

Good Friday at Christ Church

The services at Christ church on Good Friday are to be stations of the cross at 6 a. m., three hours devotions from noon to 3 p. m., and preparation service for Easter communion at 7 p. m.

On Easter even there will be holy baptism at 4 p. m.

NORWICH BROADCAST BEGINS TONIGHT FOR HALF HOUR OVER STATION WTIC

Norwich tonight makes its bow to an uncounted radio audience. Over the Hartford station WTIC, from 10 to 10:30 the first of a series of ten Friday night broadcasts will be given to introduce the Rose of New London to those who will be tuning in at countless sets over a territory the limits of which are hard to define.

Governor John H. Trumbull is to make a brief introduction of the Norwich half hour, after which John Richardson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Louis J. Petrucelli of the Hartford station will proceed with the broadcast which is to be given in the form of a conversation between the "Schoolmaster" and the "Doctor," interspersed with music that brings in a theme song and other appropriate selections.

Secretary Richardson will be the "Schoolmaster" and Mr. Petrucelli the "Doctor." Norwich historical, geographical, topographical, genealogical, industrial, commercial, financial, agricultural, ethical, in its 270 years of history will furnish the field which they will explore in a sprightly and interesting way that promises to make the Norwich radio period an anticipated feature for the next ten Friday nights.

The plan has the backing and support of Norwich merchants and is carried out under the auspices of the Merchants bureau of the chamber of commerce. Secretary Richardson will go to Hartford early this (Friday) afternoon for a rehearsal of the speaking part and this will be followed by a rehearsal with the orchestra.

A number of Norwich people are planning to be at the studio when the initial broadcast is put on and many radio parties are being planned for in the city tonight to listen in on what the "Schoolmaster" and the "Doctor" will put on the air.

Dealers in radios and radio supplies have seen a noticeable stimulation of the radio business since the plan was announced and there has been special activity this week in getting radio sets into perfect condition so that nothing may interfere with reception of the Norwich programme. One Norwich business house is announcing that it will have a radio broadcast in the street for the benefit of the public who want to gather to hear it.

The hour is one that accommodates itself well to the evening as it will be after the conclusion of any church services for Good Friday.

Readers of The Bulletin will be able to obtain the text of the broadcast hour in the Saturday issue of the paper.

CHARGED WITH OBTAINING MONEY IN GROTON

On a complaint alleging obtaining money under false pretenses, Richard A. Dunham, alias Charles Allen, of New Haven, Meriden and elsewhere, was arrested here Thursday afternoon by State Policeman William E. McKenzie. Later he was taken to the state police barracks at Groton.

It is alleged that Dunham represented himself in Groton as a salesman for the Connecticut State Building Trades council of New Hven and solicited advertisements from Groton merchants for insertion ina publication which he said the council was preparing to put out. He accepted deposits from several merchants and, according to the state police, kept the money. Upon investigation it was learned that he was not a representative of the New Haven organization and a search was immediately instituted for him. The Groton police learned that he had come to this city and passed the information on to the state police with the result that he was taken into custody.

CONNECTICUT HAS REAL DAUGHTER OF REVOLUTION

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—Nine daughters of Revolutionary war soldiers still live in this year 1930.

That's four less than last year.

But some of them are very hale and hearty, Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, chairman of the "Real Daughters" committee, today told the 39th Continental congress, in her annual report.

"One dear old soul sent me an account of her Thanksgiving dinner which not only made me hungry, but also made me envious of her marvelous powers of digestion, despite her 90-odd years," she said.

The nine are: Annie K. Gregory, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Adalia C. Hatch, Massachusetts; Mrs. Frances W. B. Holbrook, New York; Mrs. Caroline P. Randall, New Hampshire; Mrs. Angelina Avery, Connecticut; Mrs. Mary Pool Newson and her sister, Miss Sara Pool, Georgia; Mrs. Maria S. Allen, Ohio, and Mrs. Helen M. Barrett, Michigan.

MRS. FRANK BLINDERMAN WAS BRIDGE AFTERNOON HOSTESS

Mrs. Frank Blinderman entertained at bridge, Wednesday afternoon, at her home, No. 65 Grant court. There were two tables and the prizes were won by Mrs. B. Safon of Chelsea, Mass., and Mrs. S. Sobol of Brooklyn, N. Y. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Blinderman, assisted by Mrs. B. Bragman and Mrs. Murray Segal. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. B. Safon of Chelsea, Mass.; Mrs. S. Sobol of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. C. Friedberg of Brighton Beach, L. I.; Mrs. A. Stearn of Jackson Heights, N. Y., and Mrs. D. Gurfein of Brooklyn, N. Y. Other guests were Mrs. Murray Segal, Mrs. A. Arenberg and Mrs. H. Libby of this city.

HOLY THURSDAY MASS WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The Holy Thursday mass at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock was offered by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, a very large congregation attending. Nearly all in the church were given communion by Father Galvin, following which there was the procession of the Blessed Sacrament from the main altar to the blessed virgin altar where it was exposed during the day and evening. The cross bearer was Thomas Foley and the little girl leading was Peggy Crochon. Henry McGill, Paul McGill and Elsie Hegan, Natalie Nagle and Anna Drew led the boys and girls. Following the guards of honor were John Gleason and John McGill. Preceding the Blessed Sacrament were Francis Sullivan and Paul Hinckley as censer-bearers. The canopy over the host was borne by Alexander Kilroy, Charles McGibney, Francis Caulfield and Wilfred D. Gionet. Rev. Father Galvin bore the Sacred Host.

Court House Office Holiday

Good Friday will be a general holiday for the offices at the court house. But police headquarters and the police force will be functioning as usual.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Miss Alice Hope Richardson, a student at Fine Arts college of Syracuse university, is spending her Easter vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, of 2 Julian terrace.

Mrs. Leonard O. Smith and Miss Hannah M. Crowell, of Oldelms, returned from Atlantic City Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Oat, who have been in Havana, will reach Port Limon, their next port of call, this week end.

Paul Driscoll, a senior, and Cassidy Driscoll, a member of the sophomore class at Georgetown university, are at their home on Washington street for the Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Ely, Miss Larned Ely and Miss Frances Dana Coit, who returned the past week to their home at Norwich Town, after five months' tour principally by motor up the California coast to San Francisco, had some unusual experiences during their absence. On the way out they spent five weeks in Arizona and on their return they were for four or five days in Santa Fe, New Mexico. In this interesting city, Mr. Ely's cousin, Witter Bynner, author, traveler, translator of the poetry of China, a former Norwich resident, has established his home, in the literary and art colony. A delightful stay there was followed by a most interesting visit to the Grand Canyon

CONNECTICUT D. A. R. HAS MET ALL ITS QUOTAS

Activities of the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution from March 1, 1929, to March 1, 1930, were described at the 39th Continental congress of the D. A. R. by Katherine A. Nettleton of Derby, Connecticut state regent, in her annual report, given Wednesday night at the meeting in Washington.

Miss Nettleton's report on the general state work of the Daughters in Connecticut was as follows:

"Once again I can say that we have met in full the quotas for the manual, national defense and Ellis Island. While we cannot report a large gain in membership, we are happy that we can still report a small one, and our total membership on March 1st was 6,794.

"We have raised and expended in cash, exclusive of state dues, $48,253.03, which is quite a bit more than last year. We are glad to say that our one real daughter, Mrs. Angelina Loring Avery of Willimantic, is well and has been able to attend a meeting and enjoy it, and her 90 years seem to rest very lightly upon her.

Pledges Fulfilled

"Our quotas for the manual, national defense and Ellis Island amount to $2,031, and we pledged at congress and at our fall meeting gifts to Constitution hall amounting to $17,925, and it is a proud moment for me to be able to say again this year that every pledge made by Connecticut has been paid for in full, totaling $61,569.15.

"The state regent has attended the five regular meetings of the national board of management.

"We still number 53 chapters. In February we paid to the Connecticut college our check for $6,000 and put into action our scholarship at that college in honor of our honorary president-general, Mrs. Minor. We have had during the year four regional luncheons and meetings for national defense and at each of them we were honored in having our national chairman, Mrs. William Sherman Walker, as our guest and speaker.

Work in Americanism

"Under the state chairman of Americanism, our chapters have put in a very active year, and we have increased the interest of our members in the work among the foreigners, especially foreign women. This year we gave a larger amount of money and have also sent more boxes of useful articles to the American International college at Springfield, Mass., which does so much in teaching foreign men and women, and then sends them out to teach in their own groups.

"We have continued the prizes in the night schools in the form of pins given to the members for perfect attendance (75 nights); last year we gave 361. This year we are offering an additional reward of $2.50 gold piece to any member who has a record of three years' perfect attendance.

"Patriotic education has grown in interest and activity under the leadership of our state chairman, and she has done much to educate the members in our state in the varied work that can be done for the schools on our accredited list.

"Under the head of radio committee work, it is thanks to our state chairman that we have been on the air from the largest station in our state, WTIC of Hartford, on alternate Tuesday afternoons since Jan. 21, and these programs are to continue until June.

"We voted last year to purchase a $5,000 tract of land in the People's Forest, and this has been done, and was given to the state of Connecticut last June. This year we hope to mark it with a boulder upon which will be placed a tablet.

"The 1929 state conference was held in Windsor with the Abigail Wolcott Ellsworth chapter as our hostess. Two very delightful days were spent and again it is my pleasure to report that these conferences are gaining in numbers and interest.

"Our state fall meeting at Norwich was another red-letter day in our history, and we were honored by having with us our president-general, Mrs. Hobart; secretary-general, Mrs. Bissell; librarian-general, Mrs. Magna; curator-general, Mrs. Kramer, and the state regents of Maine, New Jersey and Kentucky; and Connecticut's two very own honorary presidents-general, Mrs. Minor and Mrs. Brosseau. All brought us most inspiring messages and gave us a wonderful send-off for the then D. A. R. year ahead of us."

AUTHORITY IS GIVEN TO RENT FAIR GROUNDS

Authority was granted by Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court short session at New London, Thursday, to Gilbert S. Raymond, receiver of the New London County Agricultural society to rent the fair grounds at East Great Plain for one day to the National Amateur Athletic association for $35.

The report of the receiver was approved in motions made in the case of Jensen vs. the Agricultural society.

Judgment by foreclosure was awarded the Mohegan Finance company against Margaret F. Williams, administratrix and others. The date of sale was set for May 26 at 2 o'clock and Arthur H. Shurtz was named as the committee on sale. The debt claimed by the plaintiff is $721.28 plus interest. The appraisers named are Matthew Graham, Attorney J. James Floyd and James R. May. The property in question is located in Fifth avenue, New London, and consists of a house and lot valued at about $5,000.

Foreclosure was ordered in the case of Peter Fournier against the Commodore Realty company and others and the fourth Monday in April set as the law date. The debt is $12,507.63. The property is located at Ocean Beach.

Davis against Russo and others, statutory continuances as to Russo, if living, or if dead as to his heirs, representatives and creditors and order of notice to Russo.

Charles W. Northrop, petition for change of name.

W. R. Perry Ice corporation and others, against Russell E. Beckwith, Inc., judgment by foreclosure.

Raymond & Alexander Lumber company against DeFranks and others, termination of continuance as to Cosmus De Franks, disclosure of defense and judgment of foreclosure.

NO CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE AGAINST STANLEY ZAREMBA

Coroner Edward G. McKay, in a finding announced Thursday, finds that Stanley Zaremba of No. 30 Yerrington avenue, is free from criminal negligence in causing the death of Dennis Sullivan, 64, of No. 20 Geer avenue on the night of April 11th. Mr. Sullivan was hit by a machine driven by Zaremba on West Thames street, and died in the hospital about six hours later. In his finding Coroner McKay says:

Between 7.30 and 7.45 on April 10th, 1930, Stanley Zaremba was driving his Ford coupe northerly on West Thames street. He was accompanied by his wife and they were on the way to the home of Mr. Zaremba's sister. They had passed another motor vehicle going in the same direction a short distance southerly of Brown street. After they had passed Brown street and the school house they were riding along on the easterly section of the concrete. Suddenly a form appeared in front of them coming from the east sidewalk. This form was a man and proved to be Mr. Sullivan who was attempting to cross the street. When he had left the sidewalk, he apparently was not aware of the approaching car, and continued to cross the street at a relatively fast gait. Zaremba at this time was probably 12 to 15 feet from him.

As soon as Zaremba saw the man he applied his brakes and turned his car to the left in order to avoid the man. However, the distance between them was so short that Zaremba was unable either to stop his car or to guide it away from the man. The automobile struck the man and knocked him to the ground. The impact took place near the back of the left front fender and in such a way that the head of the man struck the windshield of the automobile. The front of the automobile was not damaged.

After striking the man, the automobile continued across the trolley tracks and came to a stop about 30 feet away from the point of the impact, on the west side of the road. The marks on the righway clearly showed the course of the automobile. There was a point indicated on the highway between the tracks, that determined where the injured man lay after he was struck. This point was about in the center of the trolley tracks and about 8 or 10 feet from the rear of the automobile.

After the injured man was picked up form the road unconscious, he was placed upon a nearby lawn. Medical assistance was called, and the man eventually was taken to the hospital. However, there was considerable delay in rendering assistance to the injured man. There is a general impression held by many that in automobile accidents, where there are injuries sustained, nothing should be done about the injured person until the investigation authorities are notified and arrive. However, the first duty is to take care of the injured person and see that he is given the proper attention at once. Disinterested parties, who arrive at a scene of an accident where there are injured persons incapacitated, may render valuable assistance by conveying theme to the nearest doctor's office or hospital.

In this case there does not seem to be any element of gross recklessness on the part of the driver of the Ford car such as would be sufficient to hold his under the statute.

I am satisfied and find that the death of Dennis Sullivan was not caused by the criminal act, omission or carelessness of any other person or persons.

SPRING FESTIVAL LOBBY DECORATIONS AT PALACE

Patrons at the Palace theatre are congratulating Manager R. B. Hamilton for the beatuiful an dartistic lobby decorations he has carried out for the Warner's spring carnival week. Over a latticed background in which are set two curtained windows, clusters of wisteria are hung in profusion, with two five-foot vases at either end containing four dozen American Beauty roses, and a flower bed with poppies, tulips and hollyhocks. Steel blue and amber lights playing on silver cloth which is draped behind the trellis give a lovely moonlight effect and a touch of realism is added by the sign, "Keep Off The Grass," on the grass along the flower bed.

Council and Troops News Of Norwich Boy Scouts

This (Friday) afternoon at the new Jewish synagogue, formerly the Community house, a group of boys will meet to form a cub den. Lester Libby, well known as a Boy Scout, will be leader of the den and will have as his sponsor A. W. Silverberg of local council cub committee.

According to the local headquarters, this den is the first step made towards the organization of a Jewish cub pack and a Jewish Boy Scout troop. All boys between the age of 9 and 12 who are interested in joining the den should get in touch with Lester Libby or Mr. Silverberg.

Patrol Leaders' Inspection

Patrol leaders were high in their praise of the thorough inspection Gunner Charles N. Bentley of the naval reserve gave the 36 boy leaders Wednesday night in the armory. Mr. Bentley has always been in scouting and according to the local headquarters it is hoped that he will take the initial steps to start another Scout troop in Norwich Town or Yantic.

Scoutmaster Walter Weldman gave an interesting discussion and Howard Ludlow led in games. The patrol leaders had a very fine evening. Those in attendance were: James Coughlin, Raymond Hotchkiss, George D. Ichenstein, James Pina, Ralph Sinay, Woodrow Sholes, Henry Brinkman, Harold Budzek, Walter Goring, Charles White, Harry Turner, Walter Chapman, J. Mahoney, James Chester, Charles Romanouski, John Schwarman, Wesley Sholes, William Galligan, Herbert Chapman, James Oliver Armstrong, Gordon Johnson, John Riley, Jerome McGee, Joseph Maruzo, John Cox, Ned Packer, Donald Olson, Adle LePage, Francis Sullivan.

Troop Seven

For the past two troop meetings the Duwell Athletic club Troop 7 has been rehearsing for their coming play to be given at the Bishop school auditorium. Every Scout in Norwich will want to see the show.

Hikes

Troop 1 and Troop 8 are both taking hikes today (Friday). Both troops are going south, one to Fort Shantock and the other to a famous rock.

Numbering Houses

Frank Aubrey, Raymond Hotchkiss, Bogus Jawislinski, Stanley Michalak, Edgar Ravenal, Lewis Sussman and John Friswell are some of the Scouts who have recently volunteered to place numbers on houses. According to the local office a great many houses still remain unnumbered and Mayor Robbins is anxious to see the work done.

Fire by Friction

Woodrow Sebastian holds the record in Norwich for fire by friction having made it in 45 seconds. Louis Kirstein has made fire in 50 seconds, Russell Yerrington 3 minutes, Elvin Scheline 75 seconds, Wayne Rathbun three minutes and Donald Olson 60 seconds. Donald Olson made the best time at the patrol leaders training course.

Jamboree

According to reports received from troops every troop in Norwich is working on the Jamboree. The Scouts are determined to show the citizens of Norwich a real demonstration.

GAS AND ELECTRIC USE INCREASES IN NORWICH

As compared with March of last year gas and electricity consumption in Norwich increased in the past month according to the report for March made to the state chamber of commerce.

Secretary Richardson of the Norwich chamber reported as follows: Building permits issued during the month numbering 30 had a total valuation of $34,710, a loss of 25 per cent in values when compared with the total of $46,795 for the 30 permits issued in March a year ago. Bank debits amounting to $17,284,640, showed a loss of 7.1 per cent from the figure of $18,611,781 for March, 1929. In March, 1928, the total amount of savings deposits was $43,122,950; in March, 1929, the total was $44,807,823, a gain of 3.9 per cent; in March, 1930, the total was $54,772,564, a gain of 2.1 per cent. Gas consumption last March amounted to 14,117M compared with the total of 17,059M last month, or an increase this year over last of 20.8 per cent. Electricity consumption amounting to 1,035,020 kwh. increased .8 per cent over the total of 1,026,650 kwh. used in March, 1929. There were 98 telephones installed and 67 removed during the month compared with 76 installations and 27 removals in March a year ago.

MARCH POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN IN NEW LONDON

A good increase in postal receipts in New London last month over March of a year ago was shown in the monthly report made to the state chamber of commerce.

Secretary Gariepy of the New London chamber of commerce reported as follows: Postal receipts for March, 1930, showed an increase of nearly $2,000 over March a year ago. Real estate sales during March showed a marked increase, especially the last two weeks in the month when a number of sales were reported at good prices. Employment stands at about 80 per cent of normal. Local factories have not increased any since last month but outside work permitted by good weather has been stimulated to a great extent. Both electric and gas consumption during the month showed a marked increase, there being 211 electric meters and 182 gas meters more than the number in service a year ago for the same period. Building permits were a little less than March of last year. In general conditions for March were considerably better than the same month in 1929. The increase reflected itself in additional retail sales of considerable volume. Credit sales continued at about the same rate with a good report on collections.

NATIONAL 10-MILE CHAMPIONSHIP WILL BE HELD AT FAIRGROUNDS

The National 10-Mile Championship run, which is to be held here on the afternoon of Memorial day, May 30, will be conducted at the Norwich fairgrounds. Judge Allyn L. Brown at the short calendar session of the superior court, held at New London Friday, granted a court order allowing the Duwells permission to use the grounds for the title event.

With the securing of the fairgrounds the Duwells are now in a position to put on a real race, inasmuch as the time made by the winning athlete will be recognized by the A. A. U. The track at the fairgrounds is of a half-mile distance, which means that the competing athletes will have to make 20 circles to complete the 10-mile distance. The fact that the race is to be held on a track will not only permit official time records but will also add interest to the race itself. In years past the Duwell races have always been held on the streets of the city and the spectators really never had an opportunity to follow them. At the fairgrounds the spectators will be able to follow the competing athletes from the time that they start to the finish of the race. They will be permitted to watch the runners pass each other, watch the men drop out and follow every detail from start to finish.

Entry blanks for the title event are to be mailed out either Monday or Tuesday. The Duwells are having 1,500 forms printed and they will be sent to the various sections of the country, to A. A. U. associations, clubs and individuals. While no official entries have been received as yet, the race committee has been in touch with nearly 100 prospective starters during the past few weeks and there is every indication at this early date that the field for the championship run will number well over 150 men. Requests for entry blanks have been received from practically all of the clubs in the east and several in the mid-west.

Local interest is gradually mounting to a high pitch, organizations as well as individuals in the city, having come forward with offers of assistance. At this early date the trophy committee has promises of at least 12 prizes and several in the city have already made donations of cash to help defray the expense of the run.

Church League Finals

The final standing in Norwich Church league for season 1929-'30 is as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Gamma	10	2	.833
B. O. J.	8	4	.666
Trinity	7	4	.636
Baltic	6	6	.500
Central	5	6	.454
Phi Delta	5	7	.416
Stronghearts	0	12	.000

Due to the warm weather and the late season, the last game between the Central Baptist and the Trinity Methodist was called off.

WOMEN TO HAVE TRYOUT ROUNDS NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Miss Glenna Collett, national champion and captain of the team of American women golfers who will meet a squad of British women niblick swingers at Sunningdale, England, May 1, announced today the pairings for a set of tryout foursomes to be held at the Knollwood club, White Plains, N. Y., next Monday. The American team, numbering 16 players, will sail for England the next day on the Berengaria.

Although several members of the squad are not due in New York until the day of sailing, Miss Collett paired off the entire team for Scotch foursomes. Five of these foursomes and ten singles matches also are on the card for the contest abroad. The Knollwood club was chosen for the tryouts because of its resemblance to the famous English course.

The foursomes were arranged as follows: Miss Collett and Marian Bennett, of New Britain, Conn., with Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., and Fritzi Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, and Louis Fordyce, Youngstown, O., with Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, and Mrs. Leo Mida, Chicago.

Helen Hicks, New York, and Mrs. Hazel Martell, Hartford, Conn., with Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, N. Y., and Rosalie Knapp, New York.

SENIORS WIN ANNUAL N. F. A. TRACK MEET

The seniors won the annual interclass track meet at the Academy held Thursday after school at the campus. Led by Capt. Berkman of the varsity team the boys who will graduate in June made an impressive showing. Berkman won the 100 yard dash in 10 4-5, good time considering the condition of the track. In the broad jump he leaped 18 feet 7 inches. Wood won the mile run while the senior relay team took that event. The only one to score any points for the junior, or first-year class, was Edmund Burke, who tied Lenkiewicz for first place in the high jump, doing 4 feet 11 inches.

The varsity track team is almost in top condition for the first meet to be held net week. Entry for the Wildcat relay team has also been fied for the Penn, relays at Philadelphia next Friday and Saturday.

WOLGAST AGREES TO DEFEND TITLE AGAINST GENARO

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia youngster recognized in New York state as the flyweight champion, agreed today to defend his title against Frankie Genaro. New York boxer hailed as champion in this class by the National Boxing association, in a 15-round match, May 28, in Madison Square Garden.

Wolgast whipped Black Bill, of Cuba, in the Garden recently in the final bout of a tournament designed to name a new 112-pound champion. The class has had no generally recognized leader since the abdication of Fidel La-Barba several years ago.

Genaro agreed to terms for the match in a cable from Paris and sailed immediately for New York. He has been fighting for the past year in foreign rings. He is due here April 25.

THREE NORWICH PLAYERS IN W.-M. FROSH OUTFIELD

An Academy fan would have been right at home were one of the spectators at a ball game down in Roanoke, Va., when the freshmen teams of the William and Mary college and Virginia U. played the other day.

The entire outfield of the W. and M. nine was composed of Norwich boys, Johnny Greene, in left; Buck LaCroix and Jack Marks, in right field. Greene graduated in 1928 and the other two last spring. All contributed hits to a 9 to 2 W.-M. victory.

Black Hawks Accept Challenge

The Black Hawks, a team averaging 15 years of age, accept the challenge of the Riverside Jrs. for a game at Hollyhock Island any Sunday. If challenge is accepted, please answer through this paper or write Mgr. F. DeBarros, 50 Spring street, Norwich, Conn., for particulars.

Attention B. S. A. C. Jrs.

The Jewett City All Stars will play the B. S. A. C. Jrs. Sunday at Slater's park at 2:30 o'clock.

LOCAL BOYS IN FINE SHAPE FOR BOUTS

The local boys who appear on the boxing card at Parish hall next Wednesday night are working hard to get into shape as each one faces a tough opponent. There is not one boy on the card that is taking his bout lightly and each is determined to win and win decisively.

Al Beauregard, who meets Willie Rose, of New York, in the main ten round bout, is well down into the bantam weight class and needs but very little work to taper off into his correct fighting weight. Beauregard is expected to come close to 117 pounds, about a pound over the weight he was when he won decisively over Mickey Durano, at Mitchel field.

Young Guoin of Taftville is right down to shape and his layoff for the past month has put him into wonderful condition. He has recovered from the infected tooth that prevented his appearance on the last card and fans are anxious to see him perform again. He will meet Jackie Maher, a Fall River lad in the four-round opener.

The local boys will hold their final public workout this evening at Hickey's gym on Main street. There will be fast workouts and a number of three round boouts between the boys. Those who will go through their paces tonight are Al Beauregard, Johnny Kop, Young Guoin, Jimmy Quinn and Tommy McCarthy. It is expected that quite a crowd will be on hand for the exhibition tonight.

Moonlight and evening fair,
One clear call from 'TIC,
And may there be no static in the air
When Norwich speaks to me.

May all my silver tubes be not asleep,
Too dull for sound and tone,
When that which comes from out the azure deep
Enters my humble home.

Antenna and loud speaker,
All in perfect trim,
And may the broadcast get no weaker
When I tune in.

For tho' the interference brings me pain,
And sharp crashes are no fun,
I'll listen with all my might and main
Until the broadcast's done.

DO YOU REMEMBER THIS ONE?

Regarding a game 41 years ago recently recalled in this column in which the strong Norwich Stars team was ingloriously subjected to a 23 to 4 beating at the hands of the Mystic nine at Mystic, the following clipping, written by Fred G. Eliss of this city, to The Bulletin about ten years ago, may explain in part for the sudden fall from fame of the pride of Norwich that day.

The gist of the missive is that the umpires had a hand in deciding the final score. Here it is:

"Under the heading of 'Old Timers Recall Game Stars Lost to Mystic' of Sept. 3d issue, as catcher for the Stars 31 years ago, when this memorable game was played and we were so decisively beaten, I wish to say John Morrill, a Boston man, umpired the game. Being catcher, I was in a position to know whether strikes and balls were fairly called and as the game progressed I was well aware of the outcome.

"Callahan (Danny), Moore (Billy) and myself protested, but to no avail, and the game went on. Both Callahan and Moore pitched great ball, both having fine speed, also fine control, and were cutting the plate continually, but got no credit.

"My version of the contest was that day, and has been ever since, that no club could have won from Mystic, and I think the members of the old club that are still living are in accord with me regarding this game."

WHITEHILL HOLDS BROWNS TO THREE SINGLES

DETROIT, April 17.—(AP)—Earl Whitehill held the St. Louis Browns to three singles and the Tigers won their second straight victory of the opening series, 6 to 1, between showers here today. The game was called after five and one-half innings because of a heavy rain which flooded the playing field.

Alvin Crowder started on the mound for St. Louis and was relieved by Coffman after allowing seven hits and four runs in four innings. Coffman struck out three batsmen in the dark, but after he had walked Gehringer and allowed Alexander to hit his home run into the bleachers.

WHITE SOX NOSE OUT INDIANS IN TENTH

CHICAGO, April 17.—(AP) — Donie Bush's White Sox staged a raly in the sixth inning of today's opener with Cleveland to score six runs and finally won out in the tenth, 8 to 7.

Willis Hudlin, Indian mound ace, and Harder were both pounded for eight lusty wallops in the healthy sixth, which netted six runs.

GREAT FIELD FOR BOSTON MARATHON

BOSTON, April 17.—(AP)— Though stripped of its national championship honors, already won by Karl Koski, of New York, this year's Boston marathon race, the 34th running of which will start at Hopkinton on Saturday noon, has attracted the greatest field of long distance runners in its famous history.

There were 216 entries on hand today when the list was closed. Among them were three former winners and nine of last year's first ten finishers.

Koski, who finished second behind Johnny Miles, of Hamilton, Ont., last year an d winner of the recent Staten Island championship grind, appeared to be the outstanding favorite, despite the presence of his 1929 conqueror and Clarence DeMar, who has won the race six times.

Fred Ward, of the Millrose A. A. of New York, who finished 10th last season, was the only member of that select group to pass up this year's race. The others, including Willie Kryonen, Whitey Michelson, of New York; Jack Lamb, of Boston; Billy Taylor, of Sydney Mines, N. S.; Gabriel Ruotsalainen, of Montreal, and Ronald O'Ttoole, of St. John's, N. F., have returned for another try at the rugged and hilly course.

HORTON SMITH RETURNS TO THE OLD HOME TOWN A HERO TO ONE AND ALL

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 17.—(AP)—Those solemn advisers who admonish youth to seek fame and fortune far from the old home town can find an example in Horton Smith, who went away from here and made good on the famous fairways of the world.

The great golf stylist, who tracts on the niblick, etc., now are accepted by the "ten million" as midweek gospel to be converted next week end into beautifully envisioned parabolic flights dead to the pin, is back home, a hero to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith, and to his fellow townsmen.

The modest youth who was a caddie at the country club a few years ago at first tried to find success here but he met a kindly rebuff and to that perhaps he can attribute part of his golfing glory.

There is a story among the golf minded—and they have become legion hereabouts since Horton first popped the ball far and accurately to win innumerable tournaments and championships and much cash—that young Horton, assistant "pro" then at the country club, wanted to be a full-fledged instructor right at home.

He confided his ambitions to John T. Woodruff, a widely known business man and pioneer golf course builder in the Ozarks. Woodruff deliberated and finally decided Horton, at 19, although a capable youth with possibilities, was not old enough to shoulder the professional duties at his new golf course.

Then Horton became a nomad, serving as professional at Sedalia, Mo., at Jefferson City for a short time and in Joplin at the Oak Hill club. Representing Joplin, he became a roving tournament pro and his name is a by-word to the international clan of mashie wielders and is known even to many who never exploded out of a sand trap.

So, while Horton is resting from the golfing wars and preparing by relaxation for his second European fray for gold and glory, the old home town is idolizing him, the companion and business partner of Walter Hager and at present pro at Cragston, N. Y.

He will stop at Joplin to visit Ren Smith, his brother, and successor as professional at ak Hill, and plans to sail on the Europa April 26 to defend his French open championship and to try for a few British titles—just a boy who was too young and inexperienced to make good at home.

MALONE BLANKS CARDS IN ABBREVIATED GAME

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—(AP)—Pat Malone had his fast ball working to perfection today and the Chicago Cubs won from the Cardinals, 3 to 0, in a game halted after the sixth inning because of a heavy shower.

The Cubs scored another run in their half of the seventh, but the score reverted to that at the end of the sixth.

While Malone was holding the Cardinals to three hits, the Cubs were finding Herman Bell for seven, including a home run by Riggs Stephenson in the fourth inning, Stephenson also hit two doubles for a perfect day at bat.

Rogers Hornsby and Charlie Grimm were out of the Cubs' lineup, Manager McCarthy decided a rest would do his stars good. Hornsby has been limping slightly from a sore heel and Grimm has a sore rib.

FRENCH HAS EASY TIME HOLDING REDS HELPLESS

CINCINNATI, April 17.—(AP)—Larry French, Pittsburgh, almost entered baseball's hall of fame today as he pitched the Pirates to a 7 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

French held the Reds hitless until the seventh inning when Bob Meusel broke the spell with a single. But Cincinnati did not score until the ninth when Ethan N. Allen, the first batter, drove the ball over the left field fence for a home run. Previously no Red player had reached second base although French gave five walks.

The Pirates fell on Eppa Rixey, who was starting his 18th major league season, for five hits and four runs in the third inning and drove him from the mound. Johnson, Ash and Frey succeeded him, granting six more hits and three runs.

ACADEMY BAND MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE SATURDAY

The Academy will make its first serious bid for the state high school title tomorrow afternoon at the campus in tackling the small but mighty Deep River high nine. Boots Greene, right-hander, has been nominated by Coach Brigham for the pitching assignment.

Deep River, although a school that should be ranked in the class of Stonington, Plainfield, Killingly, etc., has always made it extra hot for the Academy; in fact, the games during the past few years have been among the toughest on the schedule for the Wildcats.

The game tomorrow, while providing the first real test for the Red and White, also furnishes the opportunity for the first appearance at a school athletic contest, in uniform, of the new school band of 35 pieces. These boys have made rapid progress under the direction of Leader John M. Swahn since formation back in October and will no doubt please the large crowd with their inaugural. They wear snappy uniforms of white pants, red sweater with white lyre on the breast and overseas caps. The band was formed from money that was part of the surplus of the last baseball season and nothing more fitting could be than to have the first showing at this initial major game.

The team had an off day Thursday, its first in some time, because of the inclement weather. Coach Brigham, however, thinks his team is far enough advanced in its practice work to be able to cope with anything the Deep River outfit can offer.

Coach Tourville of the visitors has practically the entire 1929 team, with the exception of Walter Linder, available. As for the pitching line, he is grooming two or three boys who, although not Linders, have looked good enough to give much faith to Deep River supporters.

With Greene pitching tomorrow, the rest of the Academy team will in all probability include Bud Fontaine behind the bat, Alec Arico at first, Speed Reardon at second, Capt. Chubby Gibbs at short, Mickey Breen at third and Butsy Weisgraber or Chet Berghinzo in left, Hack Pepin in center and Ed Flather in right field.

THINKS COLLEGE BASEBALL IS ON WAY TO RECOVERY

PRINCETON, N. J., April 17.—(AP)—College baseball, suffering for years from a decline brought about by lack of interest, is now convalescent and soon may be restored to its former health and vigor, thinks Charles W. Kennedy, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Dr. Kennedy is sponsor of a plan to have coaches sit in the stands during college baseball games while their teams carry on without benefit of their counsel on the bench. Much ot the renewed interest in the college sport is caused by this innovation in the opinion of the Princeton board chairman.

"It am sure it will work out satisfactorily," said Dr. Kennedy. "I have not yet seen a game played under the new conditions for Princeton does not open its league schedule until May but the scheme has worked well in the few games in which it has had a trial.

"The plan of having the coach absent himself from the bench is a good thing for both undergraduates and coaches. It makes self directed play by the students imperative, will teach them initiative and add to their ability to make decisions promptly.

"Any one can decided a course if he can think it over but action in baseball games must follow instantly on the heels of the decision. Confronted with a baseball problem there will be no chance to take it home and sleep on the question. That is as it should be and college baseball players who go through games without a word of suggestion from their coaches must of necessity think for themselves.

Black Hawks Win

The Black Hawks baseball team won a one-sided game from the Bowen Newsboys Sunday to the tune of 14 to 5. Sadusky, hefty southpaw ace of the Black Hawks, struck out 13 men. Horelick of the Black Hawks led the hitters with six bingles in as many times to the plate.

SOCIAL LINES LEVELED BY ILLITERACY CRUSADE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Ambitious to have all citizens able to write their own names by the time the census taking starts is leveling race and social barriers in many parts of the country, in the opinion of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, director of the National Illiteracy Crusade.

Society women are teaching their maids, and bankers their chauffeurs in many states. South Carolina, determined to escape the stigma of again being second in illiteracy in the next census, reports 20,000 men and women who can now read and write as a result of a three-day "Write Your Name" campaign.

Citizens took part, each promising to teach some individual to write his or her name in three days. Physicians taught patients. Ministers coached members of their flock. The 20,000 adult pupils were then induced to continue in night school.

One kind of curiosity is a small boy with two grandmothers who isn't spoiled.

TEXTILE CO. RUSHING ITS OUTPUT TO NEW YORK

The present night-and-day operation at the Textile Novelty company's plant, East Main street, is calling for a system of night auto freight service from Jewett City to the Norwich line boat at New London. Thursday evening the textile company was packing the big cases of cretonne up to as late as eleven o'clock. These hurry orders to New York are taken by express truck to the boat and Friday morning they will be railroaded at Pier 40, and by 8:30 will be in the Worth street warehouses. This local industry has orders already at the plant for two and one half million yards of fancy cretonne prints. The Glasgo Finishing company, also on a day-and-night shift schedule, is rushing late requisitions to New York every night by boat, made possible by independent trucking service to New London.

Austin Harris apparently knew where they "lay" Wednesday, for he returned at nightfall with a baker's dozen of handsome trout. The thirteenth one weighed a pound and six ounces. Many stopped during the day Thursday to admire the string in J. B. LeClaire's window.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Asher B. Popple

Mrs. Asher B. Popple, 74, died at her home in Voluntown Wednesday as the result of acute illness following nearly five years of poor health. Mrs. Popple was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Green, and was born in North Stonington. During early girlhood she lived in Norwich where she attended Broadway school and the Methodist church that stood on East Main street in 1862. At 19, Lydia Sisson Green married Asher B. Popple and they made their home in Voluntown, living in this town over a half century, most of the time in the house where Mrs. Popple died. Relatives, friends and neighbors tell the one story—a good Christian woman, social and hospitable and a home-maker, with interests in that home undivided. The welfare of her family, and her desire for things worth while were her well known characteristics. Until failing health prevented she was a regular church attendant, always ready with kindly acts, wherever help was needed. Her father was a soldier in the Revolutionary war. There are only two survivors, the husband and an only child, Miss Ethel Popple.

Candidate From Vermont

Walter L. Benjamin, senior warden of Mt. Vernon lodge, No. 75, conferred the Fellowcraft degree on three of a class of five candidates, at a stated communication of the Masonic order Tuesday evening. Members of the craft present were pleasingly impressed with the gilt-edged work of the second officer. Norman McFall, one of the candidates, made the trip by automobile from Rutland, Vermont, to receive the degree and when the lodge was closed, started back on the return journey in order to be on his job the next day. To take his entered apprentice degree Mr. McFall motored from western New York state. On the date when he is slated to be made a Master Mason he will hail by auto from northern New Hampshire, which lays over any of the many emergency records of the local order.

To Erect Big Garage

After plans drawn by Chandler and Palmer of Norwich, George Boucher, also of Norwich, is building a 100x75 foot garage on East Main street, just over the borough line in the textile section, for E. J. Dufresne. The new building will contain no posts, the roof being supported by 75-foot steel trusses. When completed it will house Mr. Dufresne's fleet of 14 new freight trucks, with a large repair shop at one side of the main floor. The owner has an established daily freight service to Fall River, Providence, Woonsocket and New York city. The land upon which this monster garage is to be erected was deeded from the Textile company Thursday.

Blood-root is out beside a partly tumbled down wall on the old backwoods road to Newent. Once to be found by early flower hunters in some little profusion, few see it now. Under a wall near John Fitzgerald's home on Main street, a small patch, transplanted there thirty years ago, is in full bloom. Surely no flowers of the year can vie with its spotless beauty. The snowy petals fall almost before one has found it. One or two warm days earlier in the week hastened it to maturity, and a few more hours of wind and rain will shatter its loveliness. Care should be taken in picking a few of the wild specimens, as the red liquid which oozes blood-like from the wounded steam makes a lasting stain. Tradition says that this crimson juice was prized by the Indians as a decoration for their faces and tomahawks.

Mrs. E. H. Hiscox entertained the Ladies' society of the Congregational church in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Abraham Zegeer, presided at the business meeting. A baked bean supper with apple and celery, salad, brown bread, rolls, pickles, cake and coffee was served, the tables being decorated with pansies. Mrs. T. E. Robinson, Mrs. Edith Soule, Miss M. A. Burdick and Mrs. C. D. Wolf were the committee who assisted.

The Baptist Ladies' society was entertained at the home of Mrs. J. B. Palmer in Lisbon Thursday afternoon. During the business meeting at which Mrs. G. H. Prior presided, it was voted to hold a food sale, the committee being Miss Alice Brown, Mrs. Earle Gilbert and Mrs. E. E. Scates. The nominating committee appointed was Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Ruth Hewlitt and Mrs. A. D. Tripp. Mrs. Palmer served a delicious supper of baked beans, escallopsed oysters, hot cross buns, biscuit, cake, rice pudding and coffee.

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

George Green has gone to his farm for a few days. Mrs. Charles Phillips and daughter took him down. He came from Plainfield. Mrs. Charles Phillips and daughter called on Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood.

Albert Dawley and son, Albert, are working at a sawmill in Canterbury.

Mrs. Mason Gray and one of her children of Campbell Mills, have the mumps. Clifford Gray has got so he can work a little.

Harry Leonard and wife of Providence called on Mr. and Mrs. Lee Remington of Oneco last Sunday.

Otis Remington picked a large mess of cowslips Sunday for Mrs. Kenyon (Annie Bitgood). It was Mrs. Kenyon's birthday Sunday. She was 90 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pember and children of Moosup, Ethel Burdick and children, Mr. Brown of Providence and Mrs. Lee Remington and daughter of Oneco went to see her. Mrs. Remington's family took her an Easter lily. The other party took her fruit.

The fishermen struck in fishing Tuesday morning. Some did not have very good luck and one fellow said it was too cold to fish. He got up about 5 o'clock and went but did not stay very long. He said it was too cold.

Mrs. Elmer Fenner of Baileys pond had bad luck with her chicks. Her brooder got afire and burned up 90 chicks. She hatched 150. She has 50 left. She has her incubator setting again. It holds 200 eggs.

William Bitgood has planted peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barber of Jewett City and Clifford Bugbee of Lisbon visited with Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood, Friday, April 11. Mrs. Barber hasn't been home before in 12 weeks and Mr. Barber quite a few weeks longer.

Clifford and Freddie Congdon went fishing April 15 and Clifford got 20. Freddie got 14. They had enough for supper and breakfast and some left over.

About one year ago or a little more, George Green put a jug of milk in his bucket in the well. Some one tipped it out of the bucket and April 15 he went to the well to get a pail of water and there was no bucket. So he took a pail to get his water. On the first draw he got his jug of milk. It was sour. He hasn't been on the place this winter as he is alone.

Mrs. Clifford Congdon has a bad cold.

Atoms Become Numbers

PASADENA, Cal. (AP)—Using numbers to identify the atomic elements composing the world is becoming increasingly important, says Dr. Arthur A. Noyes of the California Institute of Technology. The numbers come from counting electrical charges believed to form the nucleus of an atom.

Your STAR HAM for Easter

will have a finer taste

Armour brings you Fixed* Flavor by the amazing "double-f" process

BRING your briskest appetite to breakfast on Easter morning. For Armour and Company, by the "double-f" process, has perfected a new and wonderful ham. Every melting mouthful is uniformly flavored—no matter what size the ham.

"Double-f" means Fixed* Flavor, a new process of flavor-control that revises all your notions of how good, how truly excellent, ham can be. The results of the new cure and the new time and temperature in the "double-f" process thrill the most finicky person.

Get a Star Ham! Notice how plump it is. Slice it. Notice its fine pink color . . . and just the right proportion of fat to lean. Speak right out for a new Star Ham by name. Say "Star"—and mean it! Armour and Company, Chicago.

A brand-new ham—delivered to you in a bright, new wrapper.

BUS DRIVER RECOVERING FROM SERIOUS INJURIES

Melvin Gilleny, the bus driver who was injured so seriously in the three-car accident over a month ago, and has since been a patient in Lawrence-Memorial hospital, New London, is able to sit up and has had the cast removed from his leg. Many friends in the village are glad to hear of his improvement, even though it is slow. It was not thought for many days in the beginning that he would live.

The Missionary society of the Baptist church met this week with Mrs. John K. Bucklyn of East Main street. Mrs. Louis J. Shepler had charge of the devotional program and Miss Harriet Fish was in charge of the business session, in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. P. Allyn. Miss Emeline Fish was in charge of the program, "Missionary Work in the Congo, Africa." A number of the members present read articles on the work being done. As next meeting is the annual one, a nominating committee was chosen, Miss Emily A. Gates, chairman; Mrs. Ella Buddington, and Mrs. A. Palmer Bindloss.

Able to Leave Hospital

Donald Avery, who is employed by S. S. Lamb of Quiambaug, who was injured in an accident when the car he was driving crashed into a tree in front of Sidney Siswick's residence in the small hours of the morning of April 7, and who has been a patient in the Lawrence-Memorial hospital, New London, was dismissed from that institution Wednesday morning.

Tonight (Friday), at 8 o'clock at the Congregational church, there is to be an interesting program, an illustrated lecture on Cathedrals of Europe, delivered by Rev. William G. Fagan, pastor of the church, and a pageant, "The City of God." This latter part of the entertainment is given by members of the Methodist and Congregational churches.

The annual convocation of Benevolence chapter, R. A. M., was held in Masonic temple this week. Following the reading of the reports of the secretary and treasurer, the following officers were elected: Most excellent high priest, John H. Paton; excellent king, Warren T. Chapman; excellent scribe, Joseph Tyler; treasurer, Percy H. Morgan; secretary, Charles C. Dodd; captain of the host, John A. Parfitt; principal sojourner, George H. Griswold; royal arch captain, John McNally; trustee for three years, Edward E. Bucklin; sentinel, George D. Johnson. These officers were installed by the retiring most excellent high priest, George H. Griswold, assisted by Ex-Companions E. E. Bucklin and C. G. Cushman.

Mrs. Alice Chapman of Center Groton, Mrs. Kate Burrows and Mrs. Harmon Bradley of Mystic, Mrs. John Allyn, Sr., of Mason's Island and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Desley of Old Mystic were New London visitors Wednesday.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church, Old Mystic, met with Mrs. Perry H. Eldredge Wednesday afternoon. Piecing a quilt was the work.

When the Friendly League of the Union Baptist church meets in the vestry Monday evening, it is expected that Miss Marguerite Eldredge of New Haven, missionary to the Congo, Africa, for three years, will give a short talk on her work. Miss Eldredge is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frink and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Q. Eldredge of Old Mystic, and has visited there many times. She is a very pleasant speaker and is much interested in her work.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pierson, their two sons, John and Gilbert, and Wainwright Bentley of Hartford visited relatives in the village recently.

Mrs. Augusta E. Cutler, who spent the winter with her son, Ralph Cutler, of Flushing, L. I., has returned to her home on West Mystic avenue. Mr. Cutler brought her home, stayed a short time and on Wednesday returned to Flushing.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Thomas Cummings

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Donahoe, widow of Thomas Cummings, were held from her home on High street at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Requiem high mass at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's church was sung by Rev. John P. Kennedy, the pastor. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery.

More entries have come in for the elimination bridge tournament, to be held next week by the men of St. Mark's Episcopal church, bringing the entries up to 58 now. The new entries are: H. P. Earnshaw and Mrs. Alfred O. Colby, C. A. Lamphere and Mrs. Newton Rowley, W. H. Burns and Miss Helen Fitzpatrick, Oscar A. Foote and partner, Mr. and Mrs. John Tedford, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDougal, Mrs. G. S. B. Leonard and Carl Lawless, S. S. Brown MacKenzie and Mrs. Paul Lamphere, C. M. Gremley and Mrs. Hattie Dean.

Sunday afternoon, April 27, at 3:30 (daylight saving time), an Easter cantata, Victory Divine, by J. Christopher Marks, will be presented in the local Methodist church, under direction of Willard W. Keigwin. It has been a long time since anything of this kind has been attempted in the village.

The Boy Scouts of Old Mystic held their weekly meeting in the M. E. parish house, Tuesday evening.

The Mystic Woolen company's mill at Old Mystic is on a three-day schedule.

The schools closed yesterday afternoon for the short Easter vacation.

The scarlet fever quarantine has been lifted from the homes of Robert Young and Lawrence Williams, Old Mystic, where children in the family have been ill with the fever. No more new cases have developed in the village yet.

Mrs. J. H. Williams and Mrs. C. H. Burdick spent Thursday in New London.

Charles H. Burdick of Old Mystic was a business caller in New Haven Thursday.

ROAD SOCIETY

Boy scouts who were on a hike in this vicinity recently stopped and assisted in putting out a brush fire.

Mrs. A. G. Wheeler returned Monday after a few days' stay in New York.

Recent callers at Maple Lawn were Misses Linda Wheeler, Phyllis Hanks of Old Mystic, Mrs. Fred Denison and Miss Louise Noyes of Mystic.

Mrs. Irving Dawley and children were in Plainfield Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Avery of North Stonington who recently returned from spending the winter in the south, attended the turkey supper held in the church parlors, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ricker and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Billings of Mystic spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Billings.

Perry Eldredge of Old Mystic is at work at Maple Lawn.

Miss Gladys Sebastian spent the week end in Old Mystic.

Mrs. Lawrence Williams, who has been a patient in Lawrence hospital, New London, is at her home on Quaquataug Hill.

Mrs. Ralph C. Wheeler, Jr., spent Sunday with her parents at Noank.

William Burdick of Norwich Town is passing this week at the home of his brother, Edmond Burdick.

Charles and Miss Flora White of Providence, Miss Sarah White of the Fitch school and Stanley White of Dunn's Corners, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel White.

LEDYARD

Gilbert Hagen, Oliver Nylen, J. McKenna, William Yakulowski, Kenneth Brown and Irving Lewis, with their teacher, Prof. Russell Waldo, visited the strawberry farm of T. E. Holdridge, Jr. in Ledyard Wednesday. They saw plants taken up and set out and learned of different varieties, saw them trimmed by the trimmers and had a chance to see them inspected by Federal Inspector Keough, of Willimantic. These young men are members of the Fruit growing class and all attend Norwich Free Academy. They seemed to be interested in seeing the different phases of work on this busy strawberry farm. Prof. Waldo expects to bring the remainder of his class to this strawberry farm to visit and observe at an early date.

SALEM

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Euwin and Mrs. Carrie Granger of New London spent Sunday at John Rathbun's.

Mr. and Mrs. James Maynard of Lyme called at Julia Spencer's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rix and daughter were visitors Sunday at Charles Malona's.

Louis Chapman and family were in Columbia and at Chestnut Hill Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred King and daughter, Susan, of Saybrook, were recent callers at Mrs. Harriet Rathbun's.

Among old buildings to be torn down in Dale street, Liverpool, is the house in which was born Robert Morris, financial genius of the American revolution and senator from Pennsylvania 1789-95.

Mr. Oldsmith—On the contrary, I'm thinking of getting married again.—Detroit News.

Rufus—I presume he cals it a "Scrap" book.—Exchange.

Reformer (to prostrated man)—And so this is the work of rum, is it?

Prostrated Man—No, sir; this is the work of a banana skin, sir.—New Bedford Standard.

Mother (to boy sliding down banisters)—What are you doing there, Cyril?

Cyril—Making trousers for poor orphan boys, Mummy.—Bulletin, Sydney.

"This lunch room is under new management."

"Why, I see the same proprietor around here."

"Yes, but he got married yesterday."—The Pathfinder.

A parrot in a certain family was usually kept in the sun room, but during the winter was removed to the kitchen for greater warmth.

When the winter was past it again made its appearance among the family, whom it amused with the new remarks it had picked up in the kitchen.

On one occasion, when the bell had been rung for something, the parrot was heard remarking from his cage: "Let 'em ring again!"—Exchange.

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

The National Pipe Bending Company, New Haven

The National Pipe Bending company was incorporated in 1883 by Simeon J. Fox and a few of his friends. At first the company made only coils and bends of iron, brass, and copper tubing. After being in business a few years the company developed the first feed water heater, utilizing waste exhaust steam, and its basic principles are so sound it is still recognized after 40 years as the standard of the industrial field. A further development in connection with feed water heaters was the national oil separator which clarifies exhaust steam from oil practically 100 per cent. Engineering experience gained in connection with feed water installations resulted in a gradual development of a complete line of heat exchange apparatus. The line today includes storage water heaters of steel, cast iron or copper, instantaneous water heaters of various types, oil heaters, and other special apparatus. National apparatus is designed for utilization of waste heat resulting in low fuel costs.

In coil work the National is today, one of the largest fabricators of coils and bent tubular products in the country. This work includes coils for commercial refrigeration, and special coil apparatus for chemical and process industries fabricated from copper, steel, and non-corrosive alloys.

The company is represented in leading cities of the United States and Canada.

Its present officers are: Raymond O. Abbott, president and treasurer; Willis M. Wright, vice president; and Wade G. Marks, secretary.

SHELL

CERTAINLY WE'RE PROUD OF IT...

You will notice that SHELL advertising draws your attention to the users of SHELL Gasoline rather than to the gasoline itself. This may seem unusual. But there's the soundest of reasons for it : : : We're advertising the most priceless feature of SHELL Gasoline when we point to the fast-growing number of SHELL Service Stations and the steady increase in the number of SHELL users : : : The goodness of the gasoline you may well take for granted—if it keeps swelling the ranks of its users day after day . . . at a rate that would astonish anyone who hadn't tried SHELL : : :

SHELL SHELL

SHELL Gasoline is made from crude oil produced from SHELL'S own wells—refined, tested and sold under SHELL control, every inch of the way. SHELL is a vast company. If we couldn't make a superior gasoline, we ask with all respect to everyone. who could? : : : Of course we're proud of SHELL. But that means nothing to you. Who uses it—and why? That's the question you should ask : : : Every day more motorists become confirmed SHELL users. Your friends, your neighbors—all around you they are changing to SHELL. THE MERCILESS GRIP OF THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

You've doubtless all heard of the printer's devil. Originally an unlucky apprentice, half-grown, often homeless, always with an exceedingly dirty face and ink blackened hands, he was at once slave and confidant and "whipping-boy" for all the adult printers. He ran the errands they were too lazy to go on themselves; he did the jobs they found too dirty; he took the cuffs when their "morning-after" tempers cracked. In return for which he was allowed to sleep on the waste papers in the press-room and pick up such knowledge of type-setting as he could.

That, however, was in the old times. Nowadays apprentices are fewer, and those who still remain are often accounted as human beings and treated in some measure as such.

The modern printer's devil is not a flesh and blood being but an imp of the perverse, by some regarded as an invention of the imagination, by others as a fetish of the unco' superstitious, but accepted by all as a something absolutely necessary to explain the contrarinesses and kussednesses which get into types, sooner or later and without apparent human intervention. He is never seen. He hides under imposing stones, only jumping out when the make-up man's back is turned to transfer a paragraph from the report of a baseball game to the end of an obituary of some prominent citizen, much to the mystification of the casual reader and the horror of the prominent citizen's surviving family. Or he lurks in the roller of the proofpress and sneaks a whole line from one article on the tariff out of its order and inserts it in a report on the condition of the highways in North Stonington. Or he puts an "us" instead of a "no" in the funeral notice which asked "Please send no flowers." Or he sticks a "d" in place of a "t" in telling how Casey went to the "bat." And so on and so on.

Whatever he is or is not, he's a versatile imp. He can make more different kinds of trouble with a fistfull of innocent and helpless type than seven editors and foremen and advertising managers can explain or even themselves understand in a month of Sundays. Sometimes his pranks are amusing; oftener they are maddening.

He seems to have a special spite against the poor pencil-pushers and typewriter pounders who sweat blood trying to keep the linotypes supplied with "copy." Every so often, if not oftener, he gets hold of some carefully balanced paragraph and twists it into a gob of unparsable and incomprehensible "pi." Or he drops into the "hell-box" a couple of lines on which the whole structure of a column argument is built. Or he takes a "not" out of the line where it is most needed, and makes the horrified writer say "Lying is a highly moral practice," instead of just the opposite, i. e., "Lying is not a highly moral practice." Exasperated editors and reporters and correspondents and special writers have been known to contemplate suicide as the only thing possible after reading over what the printer's devil has made them seem to say in print.

In the main, and taking things by and large, the little scamp has been pretty good to Old John Farmer. He used to take it out on various local correspondents, on the telegraph editor's headings, sometimes even on the leaded editorial columns. But, with only an occasional and sporadic foray, he has ignored me, leaving me to be foolish in my own way and my own words without any assistance from him.

Last week, however, he took me in hand. And what he did to me was a plenty. I don't know how many misguided Bulletin readers ever wade through this column. But those who do must have wondered, last week Friday, what-on-earth I was trying to say in the first two paragraphs of my Talk.

What I intended to report was that Prof. Merrill had made a survey of herd conditions among dairies of Hartford and Windham counties, and had found, among other things, that Hartford county dairymen bought nearly all their cows and raised but a few, while Windham county dairymen, on the other hand, raised nearly all their cows and bought very few. Whereupon the question arose what effect did these divergent practices have on the health, etc., of the two counties' herds.

That's what Prof. Merrill reported and what he undertook to investigate. That's what I honestly meant to tell you. But that printer's devil had different plans. To begin with, he made the headline read "Home grown is imported," instead of "Home grown vs. imported." That was merely the start-off. He then so twisted up the statement about the practice of the dairymen as to make it read that "Hartford county dairymen have raised nearly all their cattle and bought very few,"—exactly the opposite of the intended statement,—and left out every word about the Windham county dairymen's habit. He not only made nonsense out of my well-meant attempt, but turned the resulting drivel into a more or less absurd misstatement.

Now, I want to assure such Windham county readers as I may have left that, however senile and addle-pated I may be, I'm not yet such an utter nincompoop as that printer's devil made me out last week.

The point I wanted to bring out, because it seemed to be one worth thinking over, was that Windham county dairymen were in the habit of raising most of their own heifers, and that this practice was shown to be preferable in a large way to the opposite Hartford county habit of buying heifers from outside. It was a feather for Windham county's cap and I felt a little local pride in sticking it into that cap and giving it a somewhat challenging, not to say perky, tip forward. For Windham county is our nearest and best neighbor. When it "put one over" on bigger and richer Hartford county, and gave the dairymen of that county the dust of its better hearts, I wanted everybody within sound of my voice to sit up and take notice.

I'm not going to apologize for the printer's devil's goings-on. He's just that contrary and mischievous that there's no use in making excuses for him. All that can be said is that, like his senior and sire, "Auld Clootie" himself, he's always with us and always waiting, if not for somebody to devour, at least for somebody whose ears to nibble.

He's a puzzle to readers and a pest to scribblers. He's "a injy-rubber idjit on a spree" to quote Kipling. But so long as the world is what it is and things are what they are, so long he's going to reside among us and stir pepper into our pudding and put salt into our tea.

Josh Billings once remarked that a few fleas were good things on a dog; they kept him busy and interested in something more than just being a dog.

If there weren't any mistakes made in the world, the old globe would lose in excitement perhaps more than it would gain in comfort. We aren't any of us so perfect as to feel thoroughly at home in a Land of Perfection.

I earnestly hope that this belated attempt at an explanation will get by without attracting that printer's devil's special notice.

If he decides to muddle it up, too, there'll be nothing for poor old John Farmer to do but retire to the seclusion of the wood-shed and send out a hurry call for a bolt of sackcloth and a load of ashes.

Do you happen to know anyone who deals in those articles in wholesale lots?

If so, his address might come in handy.

WARNING AT NEW LONDON AGAINST ALLEGED THEATRICAL IMPOSTOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 17. — The management of the Garde theatre this afternoon requested the New London police to be on the lookout for a fellow, alleged to be an impostor, who is representing himself to be an agent of Warner Bros., sponsors of the pictures being produced at the theatre. The stranger, it was stated, had represented that he was to promote a picture called "Paul Jones, Jr.," and that the picture would be taken in New London and later reproduced on the screen. To perfect the picture, it was represented, sailors from the United States Coast Guard and girls from the Connecticut College for Women would appear in it. He also represented that many prominent stars in filmdom would portray the various characters. It was also represented that a ball would be sponsored at the college for the students who were to take part in the picture. The Garde theatre management stamped the solicitor as an impostor and requested his arrest.

The Transport II arrived in port last night from Kearney, N. J., with a cargo of Ford automobiles for distribution among various dealers in New London and vicinity. The freighter was moored at the pier of the New England Steamship company and today the cars, about 35 in number, were unloaded and headed to their destination.

Watch Out For Car Thieves

As a result of the thieving of automobiles in New London since Saturday night with not a single arrest made, two officers in plain clothes were assigned to duty last night in the vicinity of Huntington street. No arrests were made, neither were any cars stolen.

The A. M. E. Zion church, which sold its property on Bank street to the Beacon Oil company recently, where a gasoline filling station will be erected shortly, has acquired property at the corner of Cedar Grove avenue and Ledyard street, formerly owned by the Andrew J. Bentley estate and will have a new house of worship erected on the site. Work on the erection of the church will be started shortly and it is planned to have the building completed before the summer is far advanced.

All offices in the municipal building will be closed tomorrow in observance with Good Friday.

The schools throughout the city suspended sessions at noon today and will remain closed for the next ten days.

MISSING NEW HAVEN GIRL MAY HAVE COME THIS WAY

The New London police tonight were requested by the New Haven police to be on the lookout for Mary Lewchuk, 15, who is missing from her home. She is believed to have gone away in an automobile and the New Haven authorities were informed that she was going to New London. When the girl left home she had a black cloak with white collar and cuffs, and wore white shoes. She is about five feet in height and has light bobbed hair.

The only arrests made today were for intoxication. There are three such cases. All will be tried in the police court tomorrow morning.

BABCOCK PLANT SHUT-DOWN THROWS 200 OUT OF WORK

The Babcock Printing Press Manufacturing company, with plant on Pequot avenue, has suspended business operations for at least two weeks. Last night the employes were informed that the plant would be closed at least for a fortnight and maybe for a longer period. The reason for the shut-down was stated to be the result of a lack of orders and when work was resumed it could not be promised. Over 200 men are affected by the curtailment.

FUNERALS

Charles E. Wilcox

The funeral of Charles E. Wilcox, of 60 Golden street, was held this morning at 10:30 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Members of the church acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Mrs. Justus A. Southard

The funeral of Agnes M., widow of Justus A. Southard, late of Granite street, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parish house of the Second Congregational church and was attended by many mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, pastor of the church. The bearers were E. J. Guthrie, Edward D. Murray, Richard Curran, Edward Raub and Arthur H. and Harry T. Shurts. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

William Francis McNeil, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McNeil, 591 Main street, died last night at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, from pneumonia.

Carlton A. Case, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Case, 4 Sherman court, died last night at the residence of his parents, death being caused by diphtheria. The child had been ill but a few days.

OBITUARY

Orlando S. Hedden

Orlando S. Hadden, 72, died late yesterday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. M. F. Chartier, at Waterford. Besides Mrs. Chartier, Mr. Hedden is survived by three other sisters, Mrs. Skinner, New Britain; Mrs. Frank Danesi, of Norwich and Mrs. Bolton, of Waterford. Mr. Hedden, who was a gardener, was born in Ledyard in 1858, the son of John P. and Mary Hedden.

Mrs. James F. Hardin

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Hardin, 52, wife of James F. Hardin, died last night at her residence, 50 Monument street, Groton. She was born in Groton Feb. 4, 1878, the daughter of Simon and Anna Morgan Chapman and had always resided in that borough.

Otto Aimetti has sold to the Eastern Connecticut Bond & Mortgage company a building lot on Cedar Grove avenue.

Carrie M. Hewitt has sold a house and lot on Granite street to Luella M. Senay.

Leroy and Ella M. B. Getchell have sold to Elizabeth Sisk a building lot on Vauxhall street.

Three suits were brought today and attachments have been filed for record at the office of the city clerk. Two of the actions are against the Maple Avenue corporation. One is brought by H. F. & A. J. Dawley, Norwich, for $100, it being claimed that plaintiffs furnished defendants with building material for which payment has not been made. The other is brought by Robert Rome, this city, and is for $250 for labor furnished defendants. The third suit is brought by Francis DeGange, architect, against Francesca Perrigio and wife and is for damages of $90, that amount being claimed for services rendered.

S. Victor Prince, trustee of the bankrupt estate of Samuel Belgrade, former proprietor of Henry's Cut Rate Drug store, 28 Bank street, has sold the entire stock and fixtures to Benjamin Smithline for $1,600.

Harry Schuman, proprietor of a fruit and vegetable business, corner of Bank street and Lane A., has sold the business to Abraham Shapiro for $190. The business was started by Shuman three months ago.

Patrick J. Clifford has leased the store, 3 Stuart avenue, Ocean Beach, to First National stores. The lease is for one year, dating from June 1 and the rent will be $700. The lessees occupied the premises last year.

H. E. MARQUARDT, GROTON, ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

NEW LONDON, April 17.— Henry E. Marquardt, 40 Spicer avenue, proprietor of a grocery store, 240 Thames street, Groton, is under arrest, charged with embezzlement of over $16,000 of the borough's funds. He will be given a hearing in Groton town court Monday next. Marquardt, former tax collector, was arrested quietly by borough police last night and a short time later was released when his wife qualified as surety on her husband's bond of $16,000. The arrest of Marquardt created expressions of much surprise for the former tax collector has always had the respect and confidence of the townspeople during his long term as a town official. Marquardt has admitted the misappropriating of $13,046 of the borough's funds.

Marquardt, who was tax collector over 20 years, vacated the office several months ago following legislative action making it mandatory that the tax collector of the borough collect all property tax instead of having a collector for each district, as had been the case for many years. At the annual election for the office, Carlow W. Allyn defeated Marquardt.

Following Marquardt's vacating of the office it developed that there was a shortage in his accounts and recently the selectmen authorized G. Lawrence Nye to audit Marquardt's books. The audit was started and continued many weeks. It was completed early this week and when the report of the auditor revealed a shortage of $16,000 the selectmen made complaint to Prosecuting Attorney Harry Broagan and Marquardt's arrest resulted.

The funeral of Patrolman John P. Foley, of 260 Huntington street, is to be held Saturday at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. At the request of the patrolman's widow the following members of the police department will act as bearers: Lieut. James C. Sullivan, Detective Sergeant Nelson S. Smith, Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolmen Walter O'Neill, Braxton Hill and John Clifford. The members of two of the police details will act as an escort for the funeral cortege.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the return of the driver's license of Nostralio Facchini, 87 Willetts avenue. Facchini was recently convicted in the Stonington court of driving without a license.

SCHOONER ALAMAC HAD SECOND DECK TO HIDE BOOZE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 17—The crew of another rum-laden schooner was arrested and the schooner seized late yesterday in Long Island sound, by the crew of a United States Coast Guard patrol boat. The schooner, cargo and crew have been brought into port. The schooner, the Alamac, haling from New York, was sighted when off Gull Island and she was suspected of carrying a cargo of liquor. The Alamac, which was headed westerly, was signaled to stop and the order being obeyed, members of the crew of the patrol boat boarded the schooner. An investigation revealed that the schooner was provided with a false deck, very similar to that of the Marianne, seized a week ago. On the second deck being opened a cargo of several hundreds of bottles of liquor and champagne was found. It is believed that the Alamac was headed from a New England port where the cargo had been received and was destined for New York.

Five cases, all for violation of the state motor vehicle law, came up in the police court today. Domino Bannanno, 51 Smith street, was the only driver penalized. He was charged with driving with defective brakes and was fined $10 and costs. Charles Gordon, 10 Montauk avenue, also charged with driving with defective brakes, was given suspension of judgment. George M. Dearmond, West Main street, Meriden, charged with driving without a license, failed to appear. The Meriden police were requested to order the driver to present himself in court next Saturday. If Dearmond continues to ignore the summons he will be arrested on a warrant. Charles Edwards, 20 Hempstead street, charged with driving without a license, was given suspension of judgment. All of the drivers were arrested yesterday by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin, who assisted State Motor Vehicle Inspector L. O. Howlett in checking up on automobile drivers and auto equipment. The investigations occurred on Truman street, one of the most thickly traveled highways in the city. The only other case presented was that of a man and an old offender, who was charged with intoxication. The accused was sentenced to 30 days in jail, but the execution of the sentence was suspended.

MONTVILLE

This (Friday) evening and Saturday, Baby Ruth Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks, formerly of Uncasville, now of Hartford, is supporting in this week's vaudeville bill at a theatre in New London.

Good Friday will be observed as a complete holiday at the majority of the factories in Montville.

Rev. Otis Lee Monson, of Washington, R. I., who was appointed pastor of Uncasville Methodist church at the recent New England Southern conference at New London, has moved to the newly re-decorated parsonage at Uncasville.

Thousands of chicks have been coming into the postoffices at Uncasville and Palmertown for nearby farmers.

The friends of Mrs. Elmer Henneford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of Palmertown are encouraged to learn that she is doing well after undergoing a surgical operation at Home-Memorial hospital, New London.

The men in the employ of the state are tarring the main road in the town of Montville.

Today (Good Friday) the local postoffice will be opened as usual and regular deliveries will be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rheaume, Cora Rheaume and Benjamin Bonville, of Uncasville, were business callers in Waterbury Thursday.

JUDGE CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF DRY LAW

SELMA, N. C., April 17.— (AP) — Charged with violating the federal prohibition laws, Judge N. A. Sinclair of the North Carolina superior court has been summoned to appear before United States Commissioner I. W. Massey here Saturday for a preliminary hearing.

Commissioner Massey said today a warrant for Judge Sinclair's arrest was sworn out by C. S. Coats, a federal prohibition agent, who found a pint flask of whiskey when he searched the jurist's baggage on March 30.

Prohibition Agent Coats, acting on information which he said he received from Williamston, where Judge Sinclair had just adjourned a term of Martin county court, stopped the automobile in which the judge was riding from Williamston to Sanford on Sunday afternoon, March 30.

A search of Judge Sinclair's baggage revealed a pint bottle containing a quantity of liquor. The judge was not arrested, but proceeded on to Sanford, where he professed ignorance of the whiskey and charged a "frame up."

Later, William H. Everett of Williamston declared he "planted the whiskey in Judge Sinclair's luggage as a practical joke."

Coats, however, reported the matter to District Attorney Fischer's office and later swore out the warrant. Judge Sinclair was then summoned to Saturday's hearing.

TWO OVER-ZEALOUS DRY AGENTS FIRED ON IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, April 17—(AP)—Two prohibition sleuths who mistook a bundle of papers for a bottle of whiskey were fired on tonight and one was wounded by a bill collector who mistook them for bandits.

M. L. Clinton, the bill collector, was alighting from his automobile when R. R. Davis and C. E. McCrary, of the police dry squad, drove up in an automobile and Officer Davis mounted the running board of Clinton's car. One of Clinton's clients, A. Auerbach, store operator, in the car, shouted for help and Clinton drew his pistol and opened fire. Davis was wounded in the hip and in the back. The officers returned the fire and Clinton fled, telephoning police at the first opportunity that he had been pursued by hold-up men.

McCrary took Davis and Auerbach to the police station and then took Davis to the hospital where his wounds were adjudged not serious. Later Clinton was taken to the police station and he and Auerbach were held on a charge of "suspicion." Police said Clinton admitted he had no license to carry a gun.

Davis said he thought Clinton's bundle of papers were being used to conceal illicit liquor.

ELECTROCUTED FOR MURDER OF MRS. MILDRED MOWRY

TRENTON, N. J., April 17.—(AP) — Henry Campbell Close, was electrocuted tonight at state's prison here for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Mowry, who he had bigamously married.

Maintaining the complacency he showed in the death house, Close walked calmly and slowly into the death chamber, a guard on each side of him. He faltered slightly, principally because his eyes were closed.

At 8:06, Close was pronounced dead.

SUICIDE OF PERCIVAL L. HARDEN, FORMER PUBLISHER

NEW YORK, April 17.— (AP)—Percival L. Harden, former publisher of the Club Fellow and Washington Mirror, society publications, was found dead in a room at the George Washington hotel today with a bullet through his heart. Police said he had committed suicide, adding that he had been in poor health. He was 60 years old.

Mr. Harden, who was born in Wheeling, W. Va., separated from his third wife last October. His first two marriages ended in divorce. He lived in Chicago many years before he came to New York and purchased the two publications. They recently were taken over by the Statler.

If pearls are to be kept in prime condition they should be cleaned and restrung twice a year. They are particularly susceptible to cosmetics and perspiration—also perfume, which will discolor them almost immediately. The better grade of imitation pearls have a fragile skin or coating that will crack and rub off unless great care is exercised in handling them.

TO GIVE LENTEN CANTATA AT CHRIST CHURCH TONIGHT

This (Good Friday) evening, the choir of Christ church will sing the Lenten cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," by Sir John Stainer. This work was first performed in 1878 at the closing service of the Worcester Triennial Musical Festival, for which it was expresely composed. The narrative is from the Holy Gospels, of Sts. Matthew, Mark and Luke. The following are the parts of the cantata: Introduction, orchestra; choral recitative, In That Day; tenor recitative, Behold, There Cometh Unto Jesus; bass, My Little Daughter Is Dead; tenor, Fear Not, Believe, and She Shall Be Made Whole; soprano, My Hope Is in the Everlasting; soprano recitative, Then Cometh Jesus; semi-chorus, The Wailing; recitative, soprano, Her Spirit Came Again, and She Arose and Walked; chorus, Awake, Thou That Sleepest; duet, soprano and tenor, Love Divine, All Love Excelling; trio and chorus, Be Everlasting Praise, Amen.

The order of service for the evening will be as follows: Prelude, trio, organ and two violins, Cavatina, Raff; processional hymn, Through the Night of Doubt and Sorrow; sentences, Lord's Prayer and Vericles; hymn, choir and congregation, In the Cross of Christ I Glory; cantata, Daughter of Jairus, Stainer; offertory anthem, Saviour Again, to Thy Dear Name, Ambrose, doxology; kneeling hymn, O I Will Follow Thee; recessional hymn, The Son of God Goes Forth; postlude, Gavotte, Mignor, trio, organ and two violins.

At the three-hour service Good Friday, from 12 to 3, the music will be sung by the women of the church, a special choir assembled each year for this service.

FORMER OPERA SOLOIST FOR CATHOLIC SERVICE

The program of special services at the Church of the Immaculate Conception was announced by the pastor, Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M. The music will be under the direction of the organist, Mrs. Frank G. STEPPED ON A DOG AND FELL— MRS. W. S. EATON INJURED

Mrs. W. Sherman Eaton was returned Wednesday from the Westerly hospital, to her home, 36 Grove avenue, where Tuesday she sustained bruises to her hip and ankle and broke her right arm, as the result of a fall. The injuries resulted when she stepped from her piazza on a dog, following which she pitched headlong down the steps to the front walk. Following the use of x-rays at the hospital, the fracture was reduced, after Drs. C. Grant Savage and Michael H. Scanlon had been called to attend the patient.

Gets Road Contract

John Bristow, Narragansett, road contractor, was awarded the bid Wednesday by the state of Rhode Island for the re-building of Granite street. Exclusive of the cost of the tar, the contract bid was awarded for $12,709.78. Now that the preliminary work of surveying and relocating this section of state highway in the town of Westerly has been completed, it is expected that actual construction work will be started at once.

For the sum of $11,304 Contractor Bristow was awarded the bid for the construction of a section of new state highway leading from the top of Kingston hill easterly, to the Tower Hill road in the town of South Kingstown.

A federal inspector for the U. S. bureau of entomology was stationed at the Connecticut end of the Pawcatuck river bridge, Broad street, Thursday. Requirements of the federal laws relative to the transportation of shrubbery and trees for the protection from insect pests were rigidly enforced, even to the extent that plants taken from Rhode Island to Connecticut even if only momentarily could not be returned.

MILLION YEAR OLD CAVE ONCE ON OCEAN BOTTOM

COBLESKILL, N. Y.—(AP)—The old cave men were not very busy house-hunters judging by appearances of the Howe caverns here. While it has not been settled how long back in North America the stone age men date, the caverns were here awaiting occupancy any time in the last million years.

So far as no trace of prehistoric men has been found in them. Dr. D. H. Newland, New York state geologist, estimates the age at about a million years by the size of limestone icicles made by water drip at the rate of a cubic foot a hundred years.

Shells in the walls indicate that the Atlantic ocean once reached into this region, probably through an arm or gulf extending to the Great Lakes. Before the glacial period, Dr. Newland says, this portion of the ocean floor was lifted to its present foothill position.

Subtraction Errors

IOWA CITY, Iowa—(AP)—The error in subtracting figures that pupils make most is due to "borrowing," says a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Ross H. Beall of the University of Iowa. This causes nearly a quarter of all their errors. Mr. Beall finds that some arithmetics do not give a sufficient number of drills in various kinds of subtraction.

Brass Widely Used

SOUTH GROWS TERRAPIN FOR DELICACY MARKET

WASHINGTON—(AP)—That epicurean delicacy, the diamond-back terrapin, is being successfully grown at the bureau of fisheries, Beaufort, N. C., station.

Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner, says in a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science that "with the completion of present plans we expect to be able to release from 10,000 to 20,000 yearly terrapin annually in the waters of that state."

'COCK-EYED BOBS' BRING RED RAINS TO AUSTRALIA

They are newly discovered causes of occasional red rains in this section, which even coat streets with red mud.

The "cock-eyed bobs" are fierce, desert whirlwinds that suck fine red sand into upper altitudes. Under certain conditions this sand floats for hundreds of miles into rain belts, where the water drops carry it back to earth again.

To Improve Brick-Making

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A series of tests designed to improve the efficiency of utilization of fuels in ceramic kilns is being conducted at the new paving brick plant of the Ohio penitentiary.

For smothered beef steak, spead a well seasoned dressing on top the steak and bake it for 30 minutes or until very tender.

Held as Bandit

Miss Ruth Jones, a nurse, above, is one of five men and two women under arrest in Detroit as the gang which is said to have robbed two Detroit banks and another in Toledo. Police say she has confessed participating in the $5,000 payroll robbery of Providence hospital, Detroit.

Is Your Daughter Well and Strong?

There are three trying periods in a woman's life, when the girl matures to womanhood; when a woman gives birth to her first child; when a woman reaches middle age. At these times Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to restore normal health and vigor. Thousands testify to its worth.

Daughter of Mrs. F. Butcher, R. No. 2, Gridley, Kansas

"My thirteen year old daughter Maxine was troubled with backache and pain when she came into womanhood. I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help her because I used to take it myself at her age. Now she does not have to stay home from school, and her color is good, she eats well and does not complain of being tired." —Mrs. Floyd Butcher.

Daughter of Mrs. J. Bartholdi, Thompson's Addition, The Dalles, Oregon

"My daughter Magdalen did not seem to develop as she should. At times she had no pep at all and couldn't get her school work very easily. For four years we doctored her, off and on. Then a friend told us about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I got a bottle for Magdalen. Her nerves are quieting, her general health is better and she is now as normal as other girls. I really think the Compound helped her more than all the other medicine I gave her."—Mrs. J. Bartholdi.

Daughter of Mrs. M. Milano, 1408 Park Ave., New York, New York

"My seventeen year old daughter Fannie was rundown, weak and nervous. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound she has gained in weight and strength, She eats and sleeps well. She is a packer and she is able to go to work every day. We recommend the medicine to other mothers and daughters." —Mrs. M. Milano.

MARKET CLOSED FAIRLY STRONG AFTER IRREGULAR EARLY SESSION

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—With operations held in check by the three day Easter closing, trading dwindled to the lowest levels in a month in today's stock market, and while price trends were confusingly irregular during most of the day, short covering and rapid bidding up of several pool favorites gave the market a fairly strong appearance in the closing transactions. Total sales aggregated 2,940,560 shares, the smallest for a full session since March 17.

Much of the day's trading represented adjustment of accounts, in preparation for the three-day closing beginning tomorrow. Profit-taking and lightening of long accounts sent the market lower in spots, particularly during the morning, but selling was fairly well absorbed, and bullish operations caused rather hurried retirement of short contracts in the last hour.

The price index of 90 leading shares showed a net gain of 1 1-2 points, cancelling yesterday's losses.

The weekly brokerage loan statement disclosed an unexpectedly large gain of $131,000,000.

Merger rumors continued to absorb Wall street. Rumors of discussions looking to a merger of Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, were revived, and there was also talk of a combination of Montgomery Ward and J. C. Penney, although this was discouraged at the Penney offices.

American Machine and Foundry, normally a wide mover, shot up 21 points to a new top at 274 1-2. Ingersoll Rand mounted 16 and Vanadium 11 points. Fox Film sold up 5 1-2 to 48, only 2 points from the year's high, and Radio, which was bought in large blocks, was sent up more than 3 points to within a fraction of the year's top. Allied Chemical, Best, Corn Products, Electric Power and Light, Kraft Phenix, National Dairy, Loew's, Raybestos, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and Western Union were among shares rising 2 to 7. U. S. Steel closed up about a point.

Coppers were generally under pressure, reflecting talk that a further reduction in the red metal price may ensue. Several of the rails also sagged. Issues losing about 2 to 5 points included Anaconda, Boston and Maine, Brooklyn Union Gas, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Goodyear, Granby, Johns Manville, National Lead and St. Joseph Lead. Continental Baking A declined 2 points to a new 1930 low.

Commodity markets were somewhat reactionary. Further bearish crop reports sent wheat and corn off about 1-2 to 1 cent, and cotton sagged a little in profit taking on yesterday's advance.

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—W. S. Rugg, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company, has been designated vice president in charge of engineering and sales, replacing Edward D. Kilburn who has resigned. S. M. Kintner, director of the company's research laboratories, becomes assistant vice president of engineering.

Gold imports at the port of New York during the week ended April 16 totaled $110,000, all from Latin America. Exports comprised a $30,000 shipment to England.

The New York Stock exchange, Curb exchange and many other leading security and commodity exchanges will be closed tomorrow in observance of Good Friday. They also will be closed on Saturday. Banks, however, will be open for business as usual tomorrow and on Saturday forenoon.

Orders for approximately $3,400,000 of equipment have been placed by the American Refrigeration Transit company, of St. Louis, owned jointly by the Missouri Pacific and the Wabash railroads. The new equipment is needed, it was said, to meet the demand of increased shipments of vegetables and fruits from south Texas. The new equipment ordered includes 1,000 refrigerator cars.

The National Association of Flat Rolled Manufacturers, reports that the production of steel sheets in March amounted to 259,658 tons, or 78.7 per cent of the rated capacity of the reporting makers, and which compares with 275,852 tons, or 83.9 per cent in the preceding month. Unfilled orders on April 1, totalled 524,280 tons, as against 517,215 tons on March 1.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—Trading on the New York Curb exchange dwindled to the usual pre-holiday proportions today, with the price movement irregular but generally upward. Flurries of selling swept through the market at intervals but offerings were well absorbed, and most of the leaders closed around the day's high prices.

In the public utility group, American Light & Traction issues, Brazilian Light & Traction, Electric Power & Light optional warrants, Sierra Pacific Electric, Southwest Gas Utilities and United Light & Power "A" moved into new high ground on gains that ran from 1 to nearly 4 points. Electric Bond and Share closed more than a point higher at 116 1-2 and Niagara Hudson advanced to within a small fraction of the year's top.

Oils displayed a firm undertone, Cosden preferred jumping 5 points while Vacuum and Ohio Oil preferred showed net gains of 1 3-4 and 1 point, respectively. Cumberland Pipe Line showed a net gain of 5 points at 65 after touching a new high slightly above that figure.

Morrison Electric touched a new high at 48 on reports that March sales showed a gain of 43.6 per cent above the same month last year. Fox Theatres moved into new high ground on reports that the Loews stock held by it would be sold to General Theatres Equipment at a price substantially above current market quotations. International Cigar Machinery soared 14 1-4 points to a new high at 130 in response to reports of expanding earnings.

New York Investors and Mayflower Associates were the strong spots in the investment trust group.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—The bond market ended the abbreviated trading week with prices still sagging. Trading was dull, however, and price movements consisted largely of the backing and filling which has characterized the listed market during the reaction from the March highs.

The averages showed a uniform decline and the composite figure for thirty bonds drooped three-tenths of a point to 99.4, just about midway between the high and low for the year. Sales were bolstered considerably by the activity of half a dozen issues, mostly of the stock feature type.

Money eased. Call loans dropped to 3 1-2 per cent after renewing at 4, while 90 day accommodations were quoted slightly lower.

Some of the amusement bonds staged a rally in the late trading on the strength of their companies stocks. General Theatres 6s rallied 2 1-2 and Loew's 6s, with warrants, rose 3 1-2. Pathe 7s sank 1 7-8 and Warner Brothers Pictures 6s, on the other hand, lost 1 to 2 points.

American Telephone convertible 4 1-2s were held within a comparatively narrow range by the fluctuations in the stock, closing a point higher on a large turnover. Alleghany Corp. 5s of 1950 and Reading Coal & Iron 6s traded briskly, the latter rising 1 3-4 net.

Investment rails were rather mixed, although small declines outnumbered the gains. Santa Fe general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio (southwestern) 5s, Rock Island 4s, Pennsylvania gold 5s and Southern Railway general 4s eased 1-4 to 1-2. St. Louis Southwestern first 4s, Union Pacific first 4s, Pennsylvania 4 3-4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Erie general 4s and Boston & Maine 5s improved somewhat. The decline in St. Paul adjustment 5s, which had been touching successive new lows, halted and the bonds showed a net gain of 3-4. Hudson & Manhattan adjustment 5s rose 1.

Utilities were easy. International Telephone 5s, Kansas City Power & Light 5s, New York Telephone 4 1-2s, Pacific Gas & Electric 5s, suffered losses that more than offset moderate firmness in Columbia Gas 5s, Detroit Edison 5s and a few others.

Bonds of the industrial description were quiet. International Mercantile Marine 6s, trading in unusual volume, closed half a point higher. Skelly Oil 5 1-2s were strong, equaling their year's high of 96.

Obligations of foreign governments and corporations failed to maintain the lively pace set during the forenoon hours, but held firm. British 5 1-2s rose a full point. German Republic 7s yielded 1-2. The market learned that the Kingdom of Denmark 6s and 5 1-2s, both external loans, are likely to be replaced by 4 1-2 per cent issues.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 17—(AP)—Prices of all grains were lower today, despite strong rallies at times because of pre-holiday evening-up of accounts. The chief dominating factor was authoritative announcement of complete drought relief in northwest Kansas, where thousands of acres of wheat have been without rain for months. A forecast of heavy frost in parts of Kansas tonight had but little market effect, crop experts asserting that no damage to wheat was likely to result.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1-8-3-4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-4-7-8c down, oats [illegible]c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

Word of new rainfalls in northwest Kansas and other drought districts disheartened wheat bulls. Notwithstanding that one broker started the day with a million-bushel purchase, and the market tilted upward in consequence for a brief interval, general selling promptly set in, and a lack of aggressive support became evident whenever prices showed a tendency to bulge. Estimates that there were yet 2,000,000 acres of wheat in Kansas which have not had any rain received a good deal of attention, but failed to exert a lasting influence.

Liverpool dispatches telling of heavy selling there on orders from this side of the Atlantic counted to a noticeable extent in favor of wheat bears here, especially as the Liverpool market today made little response to yesterday's upturns on this side of the Atlantic. Besides, today's export business in North American wheat was relatively small, totaling only 600,000 bushels compared with 2,000,000 bushels the

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

PINE WILL REPLACE BLIGHTED CHESTNUT

That planting of pine followed by systematic weeding will speed up the return to productivity of blight-killed chestnut lands is indicated by studies made by the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station of the United States department of agriculture.

Since 1924 the northeastern station has maintained three experimental plots on typical blight-killed chestnut lands in Massachusetts. Two of the plots are located in a plantation of northern white pine which was established when the dead chestnut was removed. The blight-killed chestnut trees have not been removed from the third plot, and natural replacement has resulted in a stand less than 50 per cent of which now has any commercial value. In the case of the planted plots, however, the stands are composed entirely of the one valuable species—northern white pine.

Periodical weedings of competing hardwood sprouts were made on one of the planted plots and resulted in more rapid diameter and height growth and a larger percentage of trees in the dominant classes. Where such weedings are undertaken, the Northeastern Experiment Station recommends that the first one be of a broadcast nature (all hardwood sprouts cut back) and that subsequent weedings be confined to releasing individual pines.

HIDES INJURED BY CARELESS HANDLING

Hides and skins of high quality often bring a higher price per pound than the carcasses of the animals from which they are taken, but farmers seldom get such prices, says R. W. Frey, of the United States department of agriculture, partly because most of the country hides and skins are handled carelessly.

It is true that many farmers are small producers of hides and skins and can not afford special facilities for producing well flayed and cured hides, adds Mr. Frey, but many small-town butchers do business on a scale large enough to justify much more attention to producing first-class hides.

"Part of this indifference is the result of the fact that producers in general have little appreciation of the tanner's hide and skin requirements. Many people think that four or five cuts in a hide make no difference or that first quality leather can be made from a half-rotted skin. One cut or hole, or a hair slip from poor curing may render the whole hide unfit for making into some kinds of leather.

"Another cause for indifferent handling is the prevailing practice of trading in country hides and skins on a flat basis, paying the same price for all hides in the lot regardless of their quality. Such prices are usually based on the value of the poorest hides in the lot.

"The large meat-packing establishments consider that in the case of cattle an average of about 7 per cent of the live weight and about 11 per cent of the value of the live animal is in the hide. This is recognized, within practical limits, by buyers of beef on the hoof and should always be borne in mind by raisers of cattle."

"The milk production of dairy cows can not be increased above normal by the feeding of any drug or combination of drugs known to modern veterinary science," says Dr. H. E. Moskey, veterinarian of the food, drug and insecticide administration, U. S. department of agriculture.

It is well known to veterinarians, he says, that a decrease in milk production is the result of many factors, such as chronic and acute infections diseases, external and internal parasitic diseases, digestive disturbances and lack of a proper balanced ration. If there is a mineral deficiency in the ordinary diet, certain mineral elements when added to the feed may make up for the mineral deficiency. Products of this character can not, however, be represented as increasing milk production above normal. Certain bitter stomachics may temporarily act as stimulants to the appetite. This does not mean, however, that the continued use of appetizers will increase milk production.

A judgment, the notice of which was recently published by the department, was secured against a product known as "Cow Tone, A Milk Producer," found misbranded under the Federal food and drugs act, says the veterinarian. The false and misleading statements appearing on the label and in the literature sent wit hthe preparation claimed that the product, when fed to cows, "increases the milk," and that, "Nothing has been so consistently popular as Cow Tone in making milk because there is nothing else so consistently good. Takes the place of green pastures in making milk and making it pay." The preparation was lauded as "The Secret of Success in the Science of Milk Making." The manufacturers advised the consumer to "feed it to the average producing cow for the EXTRA milk it will produce." They promised, "Give a tablespoonful twice a day to each cow and you will get returns in added milk production."

The court upheld the department's allegation that these claims were false and misleading in that the article contained no ingredient or combination of ingredients capable of producing the results promised.

Analysis of the product by government chemists showed it to consist of sodium chloride, magnesium sulphate, sodium thiosulphate, potassium nitrate, and small amounts of nux vomica and fenugreek.

One of the dangers, Doctor Moskey points out, is the use of preparations of this sort in cases of decreased milk production due to chronic infections or parasitic diseases. Use of a nostrum instead of proper treatment of the causative factor may prove exceedingly costly to the owner of a dairy herd.

The food, drug and insecticide administration will be vigilant to prevent interstate trade in such misbranded products. All such claims appearing on labels, in circulars or any other advertising material accompanying the products constitute misbranding within the meaning of the Federal food and drugs act.

SHADE TREES NEED FOOD

Trees which have been transplanted or those which are not in vigorous growing condition will usually show a decided response to an application of fertilizer, says the United States department of agriculture. Fertilizers which give immediate effect include nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia, applied broadcast in the spring or early summer at the rate of 2 to 5 pounds for a medium-sized tree.

The direct effect of such an application usually lasts for only a year, but the indirect effect may be apparent the following year, as it usually stimulates the healing of wounds made by pruning or cavity work. An excess amount of fertilizer or an application late in the season may cause injury by stimulating excessive development of foliage and failure to properly mature the new wood before winter sets in.

CONTROL THE CORN BORER IN CONNECTICUT

Probably the two-generation European corn borer will cause some injury to corn in Connecticut in 1930. It is reasonably certain that serious injury will be caused by this pest within the next three years unless the growers take measures to hold it in check as provided by the General Assembly in Chapter 171, Public Acts of 1929. This act grants authority for the issuance of orders that all corn stalks within the quarantined area be disposed of by April 10, and such orders have been issued. If any stalks now remain in the field they should be either burned or plowed under cleanly at once. Inspectors will soon examine the quarantined towns to see that this has been done; and if not done, they must know the reason why.

Growers must help to control this pest. If they will plant early maturing corn, harvest it as soon as possible and dispose of the stalks in the fall, the borers will be killed. Where the stalks are cut close to the ground and put in the silo, there will be no chance for the borers to live in the stubble. Attachments to cutting machinery may now be purchased which will cut close to the ground on smooth level land free from stones. In case the grower does not have a silo but wishes to feed the stalks, he should cut them in half-inch pieces or run them through a shredder to kill the borers. If not cut, the stalks should be plowed under cleanly in the fall, and demonstrations of such plowing will be held this season. Where not feasible to plow under the stalks, they can be burned in the field together with the larger weeds in and around the field, which may also harbor the borer.

If all growers practice one or more of these methods, it will still be possible to grow corn at a profit.

It is a violation of federal and state regulations to transport corn on the ear or stalks from the quarantined area to points outside. Such violations are punishable by a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed one year or both fine and imprisonment under the federal law.

Our state law provides for a fine not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars. The main highways leading out of the quarantined areas will soon be patrolled in the enforcement of the regulations, but transporting ears of corn or stalks out of the quarantined area is a violation just the same. If no patrolmen are present and prosecutions can be made if sufficient evidence is obtained.—W. E. Britton.

PARROT POPULATION OF COUNTRY VERY LARGE

Polly wants a friend!

The sociable parrot, cherished companion of man, has suddenly become suspected as a dangerous carrier of disease.

"Although hunters are believed to have completely exterminated the only member of the parrot family native to the United States, the parrot population of the country is very large," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"How large no one knows. But it is estimated that there are 30,000 parrots in the city of New York alone.

"More than a half million live birds are imported into the United States annually. Most of these feathered immigrants are canaries, of course, with members of the Psittaci family, which includes parrots, parakeets, macaws, cockatoos, love birds, and lories, probably second in numbers.

"Parrots are chiefly tropical birds. Some species, however, range deeply into temperate regions. The Carolina parrot, which like the passenger pigeon, has been wiped out, used to be reported as far north as Albany, N. Y., and Wisconsin. Regions of New Zealand penetrated by some hardy parrots lie as far south of the equator as Labrador is north of it.

"Charges of transmitting communicable disease have been laid against the Amazon, a green parrot, and one of the best talkers among approximately 500 species of parrots. The Amazon and the African gray parrot, a large gray-feathered bird with a red tail, are the most noted conversationalists of their voluble order.

"A few parrots are quiet, retiring birds dressed in modest Quaker colors. As a class, however, they are the clever, sideshow performers of the ballyhoo barkers of birdom, the noisy, tropical forest, blatant, bizarre in dress, comedians in motleys trooping on to the silent, tragic jungle stage.

"Arrival of a flock of screeching cockatoos will turn a Malayan forest glade into a bedlam beside which 'radio row' under the Manhattan elevated is a peaceful retreat.

"Scientists believe that it was the ring parrot of India which Alexander the Great introduced to the western world. Parrots in cages of tortoise shell and ivory with silver wires were among Nero's extravagances and they were certainly among the first importations from the New World after its discovery by Columbus.

"Neil M. Judd, leader of the National Geographic society expedition to Pueblo Bonito, found in the 1,000-year-old New Mexico ruins perches and 30 skeletons of great macaws, which were totems of certain Indian clans.

"Parrots vary in size from small birds, scarcely larger than sparrows, to huge macaws that measure three feet from bill to tip of tail. All members of the Psittaci family are distinguished by the short stout bill, the upper half of which extends beyond and turns down over the lower half, and by the fact that two toes of each foot are directed forward and two backward. Although they flock together parrots are notably monogamous.

"Birds in their little nests do not generally agree, nursery precepts to the contrary, yet one specie of parrots is a model of marital bliss. Newlyweds could be no more affectionate than a pair of green love birds forever snuggling on their favorite perch. If one dies the mate often pines away. The noisy cockatoos are distinguished by their topknots of feathers which they raise when angry or excited. The prevailing color of the lorics is red, while certain members of the parakeet family attract notice by their curious custom of hanging by one foot, head downward, when asleep. Macaws of Central and South America are the largest of parrots and confound the claim that all color combinations of nature are beautiful by decking themselves in clashing blues, reds, greens and yellows.

"The ability of parrots to adapt their 'speech' seems also to extend to their diet. No wild 'polly' wants a cracker. Honey, seeds, fruit, buds, roots and insects are their natural food. Crackers and live sheep are an acquired taste among parrots. The kea parrot of New Zealand was strictly a vegetarian before the coming of the white man. The kea started on its downward path, according to some scientists, by pecking at sheep hides hung out to dry. From that the kea went on to attacks on live sheep, horses and dogs. The kea will light on the rump of a sheep, sink its claws in the fur, and proceed to peck the animal to death. A bounty put on its head by the New Zealand government has made extinction the price of its acquired appetite for fresh meat."

Trapped by Chinese

Here is Bishop J. A. O'Shea, of Deep River, Conn., leader of the band of 11 American Catholic missionaries who have been surrounded by Chinese "Red" troops at Kanchow, 210 miles northeast of Canton. Apparently only the loyal military forces of the Nanking government can save the Americans.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

day previous. Adding to discomfiture of friends of higher prices was news that in some places in the recent drought region southwest the moisture supply to date now overtopped the record for last season. Norton, Kansas, today reported 3.88 inches of rain since Jan. 1 against 2.66 inches during the same period in 1929.

Departure from Chicago of the first lake vessels laden with corn helped give some strength to the corn market, but in the end was more than counterbalanced by wheat weakness and by progress of corn planting, with Iowa the earliest in years. Rains favorable for the new oats crop tended to ease oats values.

Provisions acted firmer, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

BOOSTER CONTEST PASSES THREE MILLION ARROWS

The sixth Red Arrow booster count was taken this morning and by the booster certificates deposited in the treasure chest at the Palace theatre it is evident that the boosters are working energenetically to win one of the $1,800 valuable Red Arrow prizes. This is manifested by the fact that the highest number of arrows to the credit of the booster leading the contest is 3,357,600.

The standing of the boosters who are active in the contest is as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Drew 3,357,600; Mrs. Iola Bjurstrom 2,957,795; Mrs. Maud Moody 2,414,860; Mrs. Delia Chartier 2,401,950; Mrs. Edward Brennan 2,305,120; Mrs. LeRroy Hubbard 2,189,400; Mrs. Goldie Freeman 1,912,315; George Gifford 1,804,575; George Babbitt 1,741,000; Paul LaBlanche 1,132,245; E. V. Hough 1,059,880; Charles Kotecki 403,120; Miss Margaret Leone 97,175.

There is still six weeks intervening between the award of the booster prizes and with the new Red Arrow trade books recently issued by the Red Arrow club the boosters have a new medium whereby to build up their credit standing. This new interesting addition to the booster game is attracting new Red Arrow patrons to enter the contest. It is also contributing new enthusiasm to all who have been in the booster game since the beginning of the present competitive effort.

Until the prizes of the booster contest are awarded at the May auction the count announcing the standing of the boosters will be taken every Tuesday morning and given in The Evening Record.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

Spend "Happy Days" among the stars!

Frank Albertson, Warner Baxter, El Brendel, Walter Catlett, William Collier, Sr., James J. Corbett, Charles Farrell, Janet Gaynor, Richard Keene, Dixie Lee, Edmund Lowe, Sharon Lynn, George MacFarland, Victor McLaglen, J. Harold Murray, George Olsen, Paul Page, Tom Patricola, Ann Pennington, Frank Richardson, Will Rogers, David Rollins, "Whispering" Jack Smith and Marjorie White.

How's that for a billion dollar cast of personalities! These stars and four score other entertainers appear in the happy-go-lucky minstrelsy melody drama, "Happy Days," which will be the attraction at the Breed theatre next week, beginning on Sunday.

Into the production is woven a dramatic story of an old minstrel, portrayed by Charles E. Evans, whose friends did not forget him in his hour of need. The romantic element is provided by Marjorie White and Richard Keene.

Benjamin Stoloff directed "Happy Days," which has a choral ensemble of mixed voices and 50 beautiful dancing girls. Sidney Lanfield and Edwin Burke collaborated on the story and dialog.

The entire music staff at Fox Movietone City was employed in writing the music and songs, embracing such well known composers as B. Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer, Conrad, Mitchell & Gottler, Joseph McCarthy, James F. Hanley, Marcy Klauber, Harry Stoddard and James Brockman.

Broadway Theatre

Once in a blue moon there comes to the talking screen one production that actually, not theoretically or on paper, surpasses anything previously made. When that happens, up go the prices. But here, starting tomorrow at the Broadway, is the greatest photoplay of this or any other year, "The Vagabond King," and shown to the loyal theatregoers of Norwich and vicinity for positively the first time in New England at no price advance—just ankle up to the box office, pay your regular admission fee, and settle down in a comfortable chair to enjoy the greatest treat your eyes and ears have ever had. Justin Huntley McCarthy, years ago, wrote of Francois Villon, beggar, vagabond, thief—and poet— whose mind rose from the gutter to heights undreamed of save by him, whose mad poetry, brimming with life, has endured through the ages, and today, in this erudite age is still a classic. Villon, poet that he was, was still a man—very much a man—braggart, fighter, brawler, swordsman—and his very force of character, voicing audibly the thought "If I were King," intrigued the silly mind of doddering Louis XI who changed places with the tatterdemalion scarecrow for a brief week, with the gallows at the end of the week for Villon. Unflinching he played his part—king for an hour, a day, a week—but lover incarnate forever—and thereby lies the basis of the most exciting action-romance that has ever come to us from France. Dennis King, creator of the stage role, is again Villon, his marvelous voice, startling in its realism as wafted to you over the Broadway's perfected sound system, thrilling you to the core. There is Jeannette Macdonald, (Chevalier's "Louise") as the Princess, Lillian Roth, dirty but lovely as the gutter-love of Villon; O. P. Heggie, crafty, snaky but majestic as Louis XI, Warner Oland as the Court Astrologer, and a gigantic cast of 5,000. The entire film is in natural technicolor of a brilliancy never seen before. Marvelous music, stirring romance and martial songs, blood stirring mob scenes, the palaces of the king, the vagabonds' resorts, the gay clubs of the rich, a masquerade ball by the nobility, are in sharp contrast to the grim gallows, where Villon slowly mounts the steps to pay for his week's fling as king. A picture that can be seen again and again — that's "The Vagabond King." On the same program, Eddie Cantor presents his latest comedy scream "Getting a Ticket," which every autoist must see and appreciate. The latest Paramount Sound news is also screened. Today, for the last times, Buddy Rogers in "Young Eagles," and Hal Skelly in "Men Are Like That," the first a roaring story of the war-birds, and the second a howling farce comedy of modern life, will be shown.

Palace Theatre

Frank Fay, who will be remembered as the master of ceremonies in "The Show of Shows," is the leading man in "Under a Texas Moon," Warner Brothers first 100 per cent talking, singing, outdoor technicolor picture. He is supported by a fine cast which includes Raquel Torres, Myrna Loy, Armida, Noah Beery, Georgie Stone, George Cooper, Fred Kohler, Betty Boyd, Charles Sellon, Tully Marshall and many others.

"Under a Texas Moon," now playing on Broadway at top prices is unique in being the first outdoor picture ever photographed with sound and color and the perfect reproduction of both of these features is amazing. The scenes were taken on the desert and so intense was the heat that Frank Fay lost twenty pounds. Progress was halted by the wind which blew in gales and whistled in the microphones, by the cactus on which some member of the cast was continually stepping or sitting and by the snakes which were a constant source of danger.

The story, which was taken from "The Two Gun Man," by Edward Stuart White, describes the adventures of Don Carlos, a dashing Mexican adventurer. Conquest after conquest is the record of this modern Don Juan who woos two women at a time if necessary. When he sees a maid who lightens his heart he whistles or hums or sings the theme song of the picture "Under a Texas Moon," and there are so many maids that before the picture had progressed very far the audience has taken up the haunting strains of this beautiful song.

Armida and Myrna Loy are cast as sisters and they are charming in their roles as Mexican beauties. There are other lovely girls too and wherever this cavalier catches sight of them he becomes enamoured immediately, be it at an inn, a hacienda, a ranch or a bathing pool. But he is never satisfied.

No one should miss this gorgeous picture with its magnificent scenery, its picturesque setting and the magic voices of the ranchers singing "Under a Texas Moon."

The double-feature bill combining "New York Nights," a racy drama of life and love on the Great White Way, starring Norma Talmadge and Gilbert Roland, with "Troopers Three" featuring Rex Lease and Dorothy Sebastian will be shown at the Palace for the last times today. "Troopers Three" is a comedy romance of army life written and filmed under the direction of the author, Arthur Guy Empey.

Frigidaire

DAYTON, O., April 17—(AP)—Prosperity being experienced by the electric refrigeration industry as preparations go forward for the heavy summer buying season is being reflected in other lines. As an example, Frigidaire corporation has just received a shipment of German hygrometers, comprising the entire American supply of these humidity recording instruments.

Confidence that all records of his company will be broken during the preesnt year was expressed by E. G. Biechler, president and general manager, who pointed out that during March more than twice as many people visited the company's showrooms throughout the country as during the same month in 1929.

"The outlook is most encouraging," Mr. Biechler said. "First quarter production records were far ahead of the same period last year, with more men employed in our factories than there were during the same period last year. We face the approaching buying season with every confidence that all records will be broken.

"Ability to perform satisfactorily in extreme heat is the real test of an electrical refrigerator," Mr. Biechler said, "just as ability to keep the home comfortable in zero weather is the real test of a furnace's afficiency. Ability of Frigidaire to maintain its even, unvarying temperature under the most severe tests has always been an outstanding feature.

"Such advantages as those afforded by the cold control, the hydrator and the convenient flat top will be brought to public attention. All porcelain-on-steel, inside and out, a life time finish as easily cleaned as a china dish, is another point. Elevated food shelves and quiet operation are other refinements upon which we are counting to help make this year another record breaker.

"Reliability is a feature for which Frigidaire is famous. Frigidaire is sold with a definite guarantee, backed by General Motors. Still more important to the purchaser is the fact that year after year Frigidaire continues to give satisfaction—long after the guarantee has expired. If service should be required, it is rendered instantly and without removing the machine from the premises.

"These are a few of the reasons which have influenced people to buy more than three times as many Frigidaires as any other make of electric refrigerator."

NORWICH BROADCAST PROGRAM AT PLAUT-CADDEN'S TONIGHT

As a convenience to those who wish to listen in on the Norwich program to be broadcast tonight at 10 o'clock from Station WTIC, the Plaut-Cadden Co. will relay this program with one of their radios in front of their store on Main street at this hour. A like convenience will be extended to the New London public in front of the company's New London store on Bank street.

MOOSUP

Dr. A. E. Tingley is to continue his pastorate at Moosup M. E. church for another year, much to the satisfaction of the church and community.

Miss Germaine Bouvier is arranging for a concert of outstanding musicians under the auspices of All Hallows' church. George Levesque, operatic tenor of Woonsocket, T. Francis Monaghan, violinist; Louis N. Beaudry, 'cellist; Miss Martha Bouvier and Miss Germaine Bouvier, of Moosup, are to have part in the program.

Mrs. W. W. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. John Gallop and Miss Ruth Griffiths have returned from Florida.

The annual union communion service of the Plainfield churches was held Thursday at 7:45 in the Baptist church, Moosup. One deacon from each church assisted the pastors. Dr. A. E. Tingley of Moosup M. E. church preached the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelore Turcott were in Norwich Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lena Carron, Mrs. John Cote and Mrs. Joseph Godchild were appointed the Legion Memorial day poppy committee, at the auxiliary meeting Wednesday night. Commander John Cote of the Legion was present at the meeting.

Mrs. Harriet White is ill.

Mrs. Howard A. Taylor and daughter Thelma are spending Easter holidays in Brooklyn, N. Y.

John B. Gallop of Church street has been grading the lawn and putting in a cement sidewalk in front of his property.

Little Robert Bessett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bessett of Main street was operated on for ruptured appendix, at the Day-Kimball hospital, Putnam, Wednesday.

'INVERTED' TEMPERATURE CAUSES FREAK WEATHER

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—When hot nights come there is some comfort for persons compelled to occupy sleeping chambers near the ground.

The airy room, high above the street, is likely to be cooler much of the time, but there are exceptions, when the coolness stands on its head.

The phenomenon called temperature "inversion," is described to the American Association fir the Adancement of Science by R. A. Dyke of the New Orleans weather bureau.

This somersault of temperature occurs principally on clear nights when ther is little wind, he finds. The height of these inversions is from a few hundred up to more than 1,000 feet.

This inversion also occurs in winter, and accounts sometimes for official weather bureau readings of above freezing, when the ground is covered with frozen puddles.

COLD CLIMATE PLANTS UNSURPASSED IN BEAUTY

LARAMIE, Wyo.—(AP)—Alpine and subalpine plants have won out in a hazardous environment, says Dr. Aven Nelson of the University of Wyoming.

"They have learned two things," he says, "that they must hurry and that they must endure. They have two climates—the freezing cold of the star-lit nights and the alternating heat of the mid-day summer sun.

"In such an environment, a flora thrives that is unsurpassed in numbers of species, in beauty of form, color and sweetness of perfume."

TAFTVILLE

OBITUARY

August Krodel

August Krodel, 41, of North B street died Wednesday at the William W. Backus hospital after an illness of several weeks. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Krodel of Baltic road, and was a life-long resident of the village, having been employed as a mulespinner at the Ponemah mills. Mr. Krodeel had many friends in this vicinity and was a kind and loving husband and father, as well as a faithful and efficient employee. He was a member of Court Wequonnoc, No. 88, Foresters of America. He is survived by his wife and six children, Mrs. Robert B. Schmidt, Miss Fidelis Krodel, Raymond Krodel Miss May Krodel, Robert and Constance Krodel; one grandchild; his parents, a brother, Edward Krodel of Providence street, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph P. Gadle of Harland road and Mrs. Harold S DeCelles of Boswell avenue.

Postmaster Edward Adams announced Thursday that the hours at the local postoffice for Good Friday would be from 8:30 to 9 a. m., and from 6 to 6:30 p. m.

A number of the school children of Sacred Heart school took part in the procession of the blessed sacrament, following the 7:30 mass at the church on Thursday, when the sacred host was carried from the tabernacle on the main altar to the repository on the altar of the blessed virgin to remain over Good Friday.

The wheels of local industry will stop today (Friday) in observance of the holiday, and there are to be no sessions at the local schools. All places of business, stores and markets will also be closed.

A celebration of the holy communion was held Thursday evening at the Taftville Congregational church, following out the custom of several years in having this solemn service on the evening of Maundy Thursday. Rev. William Penner, the pastor officiated, and there was a large congregation. Miss Nellie S. Howie had charge of the music. During the service a number of members of the congregation were received into full church membership.

The members of the Wequonnoc school orchestra held a rehearsal and meeting at the school Thursday afternoon.

Court Wequonnoc, No. 88, Foresters of America, held a special meeting at their courtrooms on Merchants avenue Thursday evening, with Chief Ranger Patrick J. Fogarty presiding.

Miss Helen C. Aberg has returned to her home on North Third avenue after spending several days with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Pingree and family of Saylesville, R. I.

Much interest has been taken in the pool matches that have been played at the Overseers and Foremens' club in the Ponemah community building. A team headed by Hedler won from Kloss' team by a close score. Linderson's spinners didn't have the right "twist" on the ball, and could not compete with the "slashing" attack, but the office staff got their number and booked for a defeat of 200 to 198, after a close "Call." Defeat was inevitable as the winners were composed of masters of angles, designers, acrobats and Y. M. C. A. lodgers.

M. F Duff, and son, Robert Duff, manager of Noose Neck Inn at Washington, R. I., and State Trooper Elton E. Nolan of the Danielson barracks, have been recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Duff and family of North A street, who are also entertaining Mrs. Duff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Moreland of Plainfield.

FACULTY ANNOUNCEMENTS AT CONN. AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, April 17—William M. Esten, recently retired head of the bacteriology department at the Connecticut Agricultural college, has been made professor-emeritus of bacteriology by action of the board of trustees, according to an announcement by President George Alan Works. Professor Esten, who has completed 40 years of service to the state of Connecticut, 24 of which were spent at Storrs, is a graduate of Wesleyan university in the class of 1884 and also received his master of science degree there in 1886. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

President Works also announced that the rank of Louis A. Alexander, instructor in the physical education department, and Joseph A. Gibbs, instructor in forestry, has been raised to that of assistant professor in their respective departments. Mr. Alexander, who has been here since his graduation in 1923, is also alumni secretary, coach of the varsity basketball team, and coach of freshman football and baseball teams.

Mr. Gibbs received his B. S. degree, with a major in forestry, from Colorado Agricultural college in 1923. In 1927 he received his master's degree in forestry, and came to Storrs as instructor in forestry in the fall of that year.

Bernhard Ulmer has been appointed as instructor in the newly created modern language department, President Works also announced. Mr. Ulmer will fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal from this department of Miss Edwina Whitney, who is now devoting her entire time to her duties as college librarian. Mr. Ulmer was graduated from Colgate college in 1929 and since then has been engaged in graduate work at Harvard university. He will supplement the work of Professor Arsene Croteau and Mrs. Howard Seckerson on the Storrs staff.

The appointment of Miss Esther Dodge as assistant to Walter Stemmons, head of the college editorial department, has been announced. Miss Dodge has just been granted her M. A. degree at University of California, and will act as secretary to Mr. Stemmons, and assist in the editing of college periodicals. Miss Dodge was on the Storrs staff in 1926, connected with the registrar's office.

Calling Jury Docket

The list of cases on the jury docket will be called and assignments made for trials at Norwich when the common pleas court holds a session here on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

KORNACKI MAKES ALIBI DEFENSE ON CHARGE OF SELLING LIQUOR

Alexander Kornacki, 17, on trial in the criminal common pleas court here Thursday afternoon before Judge C. B. Waller and a jury offered an alibi defense to the charge of selling liquor on the morning of Nov. 12, 1929, at the Greeneville bottling works on Sixth street to two detective agency spotters, Herbert Gray and James Eustis.

The case went on trial after the noon recess and was not over when court adjourned for the day till next Tuesday morning when the arguments will be made by Prosecuting Attorney Charles B. Whittlesey for the state and Attorney V. P. A. Quinn for the accused.

Norwich, Charles W. Dow; Preston, Jesse Crary, Frank Krug, J. Guy Ayer; Griswold, Alvin D. Douglass, Michael Fogarty, Andrew Chesboro; Salem, Edgar J. Standish, Frederick C. Winchester; Lebanon, Frank B. Nye; Lisbon, Henry J. Kendall, Frank A. Mell.

Herbert Gray, a former detective agency employe, testified that he bought three drinks in the Kornacki place from the Kornacki youth, pouring two drinks into a cream jar which he had in his coat pocket. He then returned to his room by automobile and put the contents from the cream jar into a bottle which was produced in court.

On cross examination, Attorney Quinn brought out that Gray bought the liquor at about 9:45, then went to his room on Franklin square, put the liquor into the bottle, went to the West Side section where he met a man named McWilliams, who went to a place and made a purchase of liquor. This purchase, the witness said, was made at 10 o'clock. Gray said his salary from the detective agency was $50 a week and expenses. He is not now employed by the detective agency.

James Eustis, another former employe of the detective agency now living in Chester, N. H., where he is working as a carpenter, testified that he went with Gray to the Kornacki place. Eustis said he had a drink of beer and two drinks of hard stuff and saw Gray pour drinks into his pocket and later saw the liquor transferred from the cream jar into the bottle in Gray's room. Eustis was sure the Kornacki youth was the one who sold the drinks.

The state rested and the defense called Kornacki to the stand.

Kornacki was chewing gum when he went on the stand and Judge Waller directed him to take it out before he testified.

Kornacki said he was not at the bottling works on Nov. 12, because he remembered that Nov. 11 was armistice day and he had to collect some bottles on the 12th. He told of collecting bottles on the morning of that day, which kept him busy until noon and he said he was not at the bottling works on the morning of the 12th.

On cross examination, Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey asked Kornacki why he had not remembered about the bottle collecting when he testified when the case was in the Norwich city court. Kornacki said he could tell from his books.

Aleck Jankowski, a gun shop employe for the past three weeks, testified to seeing Kornacki with the truck on November 12 on the corner at Nevin's store. The witness said he and Kornacki were together there until 9:30 and then Kornacki went away. The witness didn't know where Kornacki went after that.

Joseph Wojchiechowski, 17, testified that he met Kornacki on Nov. 12 at 9:15 at the bottling works and went with him on the trip to collect bottles at Pulaski hall and then to a pool parlor where Kornacki and he shot pool until noon. The witness said, on cross examination, that he spent about all the time in the pool room every day, after looking around for a job in the morning.

Stanley Bania, of 156 North Main street, janitor at Pulaski hall, corroborated Kornacki's testimony as to being at Pulaski hall between 9:30 and 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov 12 with Joseph Wojchiechowsky.

PIANO RECITAL SHOWS PROGRESS BY STUDENTS

At the April students' recital of the piano pupils of Miss Margarete Suck, which took place Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Suck at 357 Washington street, twelve young pupils played for each other, each one showing a very creditable improvement since the last recital. All the numbers played gave proof of the good work the young musicians have been doing during the past weeks. Each pupil announced her or his selection giving the name and composer of the chosen piece.

The following selections were played:

JAIL SENTENCE WITH $200 FINE FOR PEPIN

Found guilty by a jury of violating the liquor law, Henry J. Pepin of 146 Norwich avenue, Taftville, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Charles B. Waller in the court of common pleas at Norwich Thursday afternoon.

Pepin was charged with the sale of a pint of liquor Feb. 18, 1930 to Ernest J. Brochu of Occum who was working with the state police in an anti-speakeasy campaign conducted in that section.

Trial of the case began Wednesday afternoon and went to the jury shortly before noon Thursday. The verdict was returned shortly after 2 o'clock.

The jury was as follows: Norwich, Martin E. Jensen; Preston, Frank Krug, Charles C. Zabriskie; Griswold, Alvin D. Douglas, Michael Fogarty, Andrew Chesebro; Colchester, George F. Brown; Salem, Frederick C. Winchester, Frank K. Noyes; Lebanon, Frank B. Nye; Lisbon, Henry J. Kendall, Frank A. Mell.

Distinguished men have been invited and the help of neighboring churches is assured.

MINOR SEEKS DIVORCE AND CUSTODY OF CHILD

Through her mother, Mrs. Georgiana Dupont of Griswold, Delia Dupont Ducharme, a minor, has filed suit in the superior court for a divorce from George Dewey Ducharme of New York city. She also asks custody of a child. The couple were married April 20, 1925 and intolerable cruelty is alleged since the date of the marriage. Habitual intemperance and a statutory charge are also charged.

CORONER FINDS SPEED AND DRINK IN KEHOE CASE

John T. Kehoe, employed at the Norwich state hospital, is found criminally negligent in causing the death of Mrs. Rose Lavalle Riley, of this city, in a finding announced Thursday by Coroner Edward G. McKay. Kehoe was the driver of the roadster containing six persons which upset on the Military highway in Ledyard on the night of April 1st. Mrs. Riley was instantly killed. Kehoe is held in jail in default of bonds.

The coroner says in his finding:

The collision occured at what is known as Dead Man's curve on the said highway. This curve is at the intersection of the Sandy Hollow road with the Military highway. It is an exceedingly sharp curve and has an arc of almost 90 degrees. The highway south of the curve runs generally east and west and turns around the curve to a northerly direction. The highway is surfaced with macadam and south of the curve is about 27 feet wide. At about the center of the curve it is in the neighborhood of 43 feet wide and slightly banked towards the east. There is a highway fence along the northerly portion of the highway and almost immediately adjacent thereto. This highway fence continues around the curve. On the opposite side of the highway there is another highway fence that runs from a point north of the curve to about the center of the curve and then follows the intersection towards the Sandy Hollow road. This curve and intersection are marked by the usual highway signs at a distance of about 500 feet west of the westerly approach of the curve.

On the said April 1st, 1930, said John T. Kehoe drove to Norwich, with a fellow worker, and at that place met the deceased and a girl friend. This party of four drove to a place north of Norwich and obtained there two half pint bottles of gin. They returned to Norwich and during the evening consumed the said liquor. Kehoe had taken a few drinks at sometime between eight o'clock and 11:15 the time of the collision. The effect of this liquor was noticeable on him soon after the collision occurred but he was not completely under the influence thereof.

After the party had returned to Norwich, they started out again and went to Ocean beach. They remained there a short time and eventually started to return to Norwich. When they went down to Ocean beach, they rode on the Military highway and when they returned they took this same route.

As they were passing the Submarine base, on their return to Norwich, one of the girls saw two of her friends waiting at the Submarine base for a bus. She asked Kehoe to stop for these two girls, and he did so. He also backed the car a short distance. When the two girls came to the machine, the party of four were occupying the one seat of the roadster. There was no room there for the new pasengers, and they boaded the automobile and sat on the back of the seat and on the down turned top. Champlin, Kehoe's fellow worker, also took a place in back of the seat.

This party of six started then for Norwich. On the way up, a short distance from the Submarine base, the car was stopped, and Champlin and the deceased changed places. The deceased then was riding on top of the back of the seat and on the right hand side. To her left also on the top were two other girls. The main seat of the roadster was occupied by the driver, a girl, and Champlin.

As this party was driving along between the Submarine base and the point of the collision, the driver was urged by members of the party to put on more speed. He did this but was cautioned by one of the other passengers to slow down. No attention was paid to this latter request and Kehoe continued to drive at a fast rate of speed. He negotiated the corners south of the scene of the collision from the point of the last curve west of the point of the collision, to the curve on which the collision occurred, he had increased his speed, and he was going at a very fast rate of speed.

As Kehoe came to the curve on which the collision occurred he was going at such a fast rate of speed that he failed to negotiate the curve. He turned his car and applied his brakes. These brakes held and locked the wheels. The car left the hard surface of the highway and went onto the soft shoulder and continued for about 90 feet until it struck the highway fence. It then went along the fence a short distance and overturned, coming to a rest about 43 feet beyond the point of contact with the fence. However, the car had gone down an embankment after it rode along the fence.

All of the pasengers were thrown out or were trapped underneath the car. However, none of them were fatally injured except Rose Riley. She struck her head a violent blow which must have caused her to die instantly. After the car came to a rest, the passengers extricated themselves and stopped a passing motorist, and those who were seriously but not fatally injured were taken to medical assistance.

An immediate view of the collision and an immediate investigation of the facts disclose that at the time of the collision occurred the said John T. Kehoe was going at an exceedingly fast rate of speed and that his automobile was over-crowded. He should not have allowed so many people to ride with him in the first place, and again he should not have driven at the speed that he was making, with such a load. The party in its inception was basically wrong, and, as is sometimes the case, ended in disaster. The operation of a motor vehicle by one who has imbibed of liquor, is fraught with great possibilities of injury to human life and property.

I am satisfied and find that the death of Rose Lavallee Riley was caused by the criminal negligence of John T. Kehoe in operating his automobile in a grossly negligent manner so as to cause it to leave the highway and collide with a fence, thus fatally injuring the said Rose Lavallee Riley, and have so reported to the prosecuting officer of the Town of Ledyard for further action.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH HELD ANNUAL ROLL CALL

At the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, Rev. A. N. Foster, pastor, the final in the series of three holy week services was conducted at the church Thursday evening. The roll call of church members was taken, there being a fair response from resident and non-resident members, the latter by letter. The observance of holy communion concluded the service.

Rev. Dr. T. A. Fisher of New Haven, president of the Connecticut Universalist convention, was the preacher Tuesday evening, bringing a very thoughtful message, as did Rev. C. D. Newton of Stafford, who addressed the members Wednesday evening. The latter was accompanied by a large delegation.

An impressive pageant was presented by the Young People's Christian union under the direction of Mrs A. N. Foster at the Wednesday evening service. It was entitled Be of Good Cheer and portrayed scenes in the closing days of the life of Christ. The cast included; Mary of Magdala, Betty Pike; Judas, Alice Parsons; Polonius, William Mitchell; Joanna, Hattie Fowler; Mithrael, George Bell. A dozen young girls acted as candlebearers.

CLAIM WATER BRACKISH AT GROTON LONG POINT

Inadequate and unsanitary facilities for supplying water at Groton Long Point were alleged in Hartford Thursday before the public utilities commission at a hearing granted the petition of Matthew O. Troy and fifty-two others. The water is supplied by the Groton Long Point Land company and the petitioners claim it is brackish and of bad quality. They are represented by a Hartford attorney.

Caleb M. Saville of Hartford, speaking as an expert for the petitioners, said the pipes are choked with rust and that the supply is inadequate.

PRIZE TO CONNECTICUT D. A. R. FOR MARKING GRAVES

The Connecticut D. A. R., was awarded $25 first prize for marking the most graves of revolutionary war soldiers during the last year as shown in the report of Mrs. James E. Caldwell, chairman of the committee for the preservation of historic spots, before the 39th continental congress in session at Washington Thursday.

Miss Emiline Street of New Haven, vice-regent of Connecticut, received the award.

BROOKHART ASSAILS TILSON ON THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE

Called the House Republican Leader the "Water Boy For This Wall Street Committee Which Calls Itself the Republican National Committee"—Angry Because Tilson Criticised As "Inconsistent" Those Who Were Advocating Retention of the Debenture Plan In the Tariff Bill—Tilson's Retort Was That He Would "Rather Be a Water Boy Than Nothing."

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Paving the way for consideration tomorrow of the controversial administrative clauses, the conferees on the tariff bill today agreed upon the higher senate duty on casein, restores all countervailing rate provisions and eliminated a senate amendment, which would have abolished the "courtesy of the port" privileges of returning American officials.

In addition, the higher rates on watches agreed upon last week were pared down considerably by the tariff adjusters to make certain that they would not go beyond the limits of the rates of the two houses and thereby be subject to points of order when the conference report is taken up on the floor.

Meanwhile, the tariff controversy was taken to the senate floor by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, who braved the admonition from Vice President Curtis and dubbed Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the house republican leader, the "water boy for this Wall street committee which calls itself the republican national committee."

The Iowan assailed a statement by Tilson, issued through the national committee which criticised as "inconsistent" those who were advocating retention of the export debenture plan in the tariff bill.

He said fifteen republicans in the senate who "refused to be ruled by Wall street" and who were "genuine republicans and real representatives of the farmer" voted for the debenture, and predicted many republicans would fail of re-election if they "followed the advice" of the republican national committee.

When Tilson was informed of the remarks of Brookhart, he observed that he would "rather be a water boy than nothing." Asked if he had anything further to say, the house republican leader said that such a statement deserved no further reply.

Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, also took the senate floor for a denunciation of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, which, he said, had carried a "violent and hypocritical" editorial in its magazine, the Engineering and Mining Journal, against a silver tariff.

REPRESENTATIVE LEE OF TEXAS DIED YESTERDAY

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The death today of Representative R. Q. Lee of Cisco, Texas, marked the passing of one of the prominent early settlers of the West Texas plains country.

Stricken by paralysis five weeks ago the 71 year old Texan died this morning in a local hospital. His was the first death among the Texas delegation in a score of years.

Both the senate and house adopoted a resolution of sorrow and adjourned out of respect to his memory. President Hoover sent a letter of condolence to Mrs. Lee and her five children.

A congressional delegation of 24 house members, including the Texas delegation and Senators Connally of Texas, and Bratton of New Mexico, democrats, was designated to accompany the funeral party, which was scheduled to arrive in Cisco Sunday. The funeral will be held Monday.

Lee was born at Coldwater, Mississippi, in 1869, and moved to Texas in 1886. He engaged in the cattle ranching business and helped to build several small railroads, giving small plains towns an outlet for their products.

Mrs. Lee, their daughters, Mrs. Leonard Simon of Cisco, and Mrs. Harold Ochler, of Dayton, Texas, their sbons Edward, Robert Stien and R. Q. Lee, Jr., are those surviving.

PAGEANT DEPICTED THE DEATH OF JESUS

GRASSINA, Italy, April 18—(AP)—The "Gesu Morto" (Jesus dead) ceremony, with which the inhabitants of this little village commemorate Good Friday, unfolded picturesquely this evening just after twilight.

Large numbers of visitors from nearby Florence, including many tourists and members of the permanent Anglo-American colony in Dante's city, stood hushed until the tolling of a bell in a little church high up on a hillside amid the vines, gave the signal for the quaint procession to begin.

Then down the hillside there came, clad in reproductions of the costumes worn in Christ's own day, the simple peasant folk of the Tuscan hills and the trades-people of the village, each acting some role in the gospel story of the weary climb to Calvary. Torch bearers led and flanked the column as it proceeded slowly along in the gathering dusk.

COMMITTEE FAVORS PROBE OF THE BANKING SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Investigation by the senate of the banking system was recommended today by the senate banking committee and the resolution of inquiry will be presented next week by its sponsor, Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, along with a comprehensive bill proposing widespread changes in the national banking act and the federal reserve system.

One of the purposes of the resolution is an inquiry into the use of federal reserve facilities and national banking facilities in stock speculation. One provision of the Glass bill is to curb the use of these facilities in such transactions.

TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST AGRICULTURAL MARKETING

CHICAGO, April 18—(AP)—Happen what will, President C. E. Huff, of the Farmers National Grain corporation said the organization would keep right on marching "through the wheat."

Huff, president of the $20,000,000 marketing organization, today made his reply to the campaign started against the agricultural marketing act and its results.

Organized at the behest and under the tutelage of the federal farm board, the corporation landed on its own feet at the inception and has stood there ever since, said Huff, who has been president less than two weeks.

COMMITTEE TO INVITE JUDGE PARKER TO APPEAR

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, will be invited before the senate judiciary committee to answer the protests made against his nomination as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Confronted with a deluge of protests from Negro organizations about a speech attributed to Judge Parker in which he is charged with showing racial prejudice, the administration and republican leaders decided today it was [illegible] for him to answer these himself.

MEETING DEMANDS OF CONN. BOARD OF PUBLIC WELFARE

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Owen Roberts, chairman of China Child Welfare, Inc., today issued a statement saying the objections raised by the Connecticut state board of public welfare in regard to licensing the organization had been overcome.

The Connecticut board announced today that it had refused China Child Welfare a license to solicit funds in that state on the ground that a very small proportion of the amount raised last yeraw sa sent to China.

"The directors of China Child Welfare had not been given advance notice that such action was proposed," Mr. Roberts said. "But in order to protect the standing of the organization, at a meeting ten days ago, they met the requirements of the Connecticut state board of public welfare. Such acion had previously been under discussion as advisable by the China Child Welfare officers."

Mr. Roberts said the directors probably would make public a report of receipts and expenditures as soon as it could be compiled.

The organization also was refused a license to solicit funds in Connecticut last year but this action later was rescinded by the Connecticut commission.

FIVE MEN WOUNDED IN FIGHT AMONG MINERS

ROYALTON, Ills., April 18—(AP)—Five men were wounded, one critically, in a shooting affray here this afternoon between rival miner factions. Approximately 25 shots were fired.

The most seriously injured was Barney Davis, of Ziegler, who was taken to the hospital at Ziegler.

Others wounded were Constable John Hicks and Adam Ivanich, of Royalton, Roy Groves, of West Frankfort and Ray Edmonds, address unknown. Ivanich was taken to a hospital at Herrin and Groves to a hospital at West Frankfort.

The trouble arose when Alexander Howat, president, and Adolph Germer, vice president, of the insurgent groups of the United Mine Workers, attempted to address a meeting. Nearly 100 automobile loads of adherents of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America came here from West Frankfort and Ziegler and proceeded to break up the meeting. Nearly 500 were in the crowd.

Germer was beaten up. Howat was not injured.

WATCHING LIQUOR AND VICE CONDITIONS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, April 18—(AP)—An invitation to Attorney General Joseph E. Warner, of Massachusetts, to testify on prohibition enforcement before a congressional committee and a revelation that federal officials were watching liquor and vice conditions in Boston nwere developments arising today from the investigation of the pensioning of Patrolman Oliver B. Garrett.

Since the beginning of March, Warner and his aides have been engaged in an inquiry authorized by the legislature, to determine the circumstances leading up to the pensioning of Garrett, former raider on the Boston police headquarters vice and liquor squads.

SEARCHING FOR BOMBERS OF HOME OF DRY LEADER

ASHTABULA, Ohio, April 18—(AP)—Police tonight were searching for a clew to the persons who today bombed the home of M. C. Robinson, prominent prohibition leader here. Robinson said his only possible enemies were unidentified anti-prohibitonists.

None was injured in the explosion, but the walls and foundations of the residence were damaged, and several windows broken. The damage was estimated at $300.

Police said the bomb had been made of dynamite with a fuse attached. It h dabeen planted near a cellar window. The blast rocked the structure and aroused the occupants.

MESSAGE TWICE CIRCLED GLOBE IN 2 HOURS, 5 MIN.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—A message of greeting, riding on the wings of mercury, and starting from New York, twice circled the globe in two hours and five minutes, making a momentary call en route at each of the eighteen most important foreign bureaus of the Associated Press, and four bureaus of its ally, Reuters, the British News Agency.

Announcement of the result of the test which was made on March 31, was withheld by the Associated Press until the eve of its annual meeting which convenes Monday in New York.

Maryland H. Morse, chairman of the public service commission, announced that the transfer of properties in New Hampshire of the Twin State Gas and Electric company, to the Public Service company, of New Hampshire, would soon be proposed in petitions to be filed with the commission.

Authority for examination by the comptroller of the currency of every unit of group banking systems was suggested to the house banking committee by Lyman E. Wakefield, vice-president of the First Bank Stock corporation of Minneapolis as a means of federal regulation of such organizations

Would Lighten Dry Burden On Hoover

By Having General Atterbury Entreat the Public to Respect the Calm Consideration of the President.

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—A letter written by William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the asso[illegible] tion against the prohibition am[illegible] ment, which expressed the opini[illegible] President Hoover "is begin[illegible] doubt whether prohibition ca[illegible] enforced," was read today befo[illegible] the senate lobby committee as it continued its investigation of wet and dry organizations.

Henry H. Curran, president of the association, who was being questioned about its activities in behalf of repeal of the prohibition law, was not examined concerning the letter and did not volunteer any comment. "This was his third day on the witness stand and he was directed to reappear Tuesday for further questioning.

The letter, written last February to Charles S. Wood, of Philadelphia, a vice president of the association, said: "My own feelings, as I talk to senators, members of congress and public officials here, that Mr. Hoover is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced. He wants to take plenty of time to consider it, but he is being abused a little too much."

Marked "absolutely confidential," the letter began with a statement that Chairman Graham of the house judiciary committee, which was holding prohibition hearings, had urged Stayton to ask W. W. Atterbury, a director of the association against the prohibition amendment and republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania to testify before the committee.

"I believe that, if General Atterbury should take the stand," Stayton wrote, "it would cause a great many people to be more generous as to Mr. Hoover's attitude. I think there are thousands of people—and especially prominent people here—who would at once say that, if General Atterbury with his strong convictions on this subject, is willing to wait for Mr. Hovoer's calm consideration, then the rest of us ought equally to be willing to wait—and I believe that a real service would thereby be done to the republican party."

The letter said Graham was thinking "not only of the wet and dry issue, but also of the republican party, which he very dearly loves."

A letter written the latter part of last year by John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, and a director of the association aaginst the prohibition amendment, which requested funds for the association, also was placed in the record.

It was sent to 494 persons who contributed to the democratic campaign fund and resulted in 12 donations totalling $875. A similar letter, sent to 240 republicans by Lamont Dupont, an official of the association, brought in five contributions aggregating $2,125.

EASTER DAY

The shadows of the Cross are gone,
Christ's pain and passion pass away
Amid the joy on Easter morn,
We hail His resurrection day.

The stone is rolled away once more,
Our Lord has risen from His tomb,
Lent's solemn season now is o'er,
Departed are its grief and gloom

His followers devoutly throng
Their churches and their altars then,
Proclaiming with triumphant song,
"Christ, Christ our Saviour lives again!"

And near at home, and far abroad,
From crest of hill or ocean side:
"Hosanna unto Christ our Lord,
Who for us all divinely died!"

Four Occupants Of Plane Electrocuted

Plane Struck High Tension Wire In Attempting to L[illegible] Near Newark, New [illegible]

[illegible]SEY CITY, April 18 — (AP) — [illegible] Henri De La Vaulx, president [illegible] the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, of Paris, and three other occupants of a Canadian Colonial Airways passenger plane flying from Albany, N. Y., to eNwark, N. J., were electrocuted 300 feet above the ground today when the plane, seeking a landing place, struck a high tension wire. The craft, enveloped in flames, later crashed to the ground and was consumed.

The bodies, badly burned, were removed from the wreckage, and identified from an official list as the count: Mrs. Marie E. Williams, 111 Fosdycke street, Providence, R. I.; A. V. Conklin, 1441 Broadway, New York and the pilot, John Salway, 37 and married, of Albany.

The accident occurred at 5.30 p. m., just 11 minutes before the plane was due at Newark airport. The plane had left Albany at 2 p. m.

AT LEAST 150 PERSONS WERE BURNED TO DEATH IN CHURCH

BUCHAREST, April 18.—(AP)—Dispatches from the village of Choesti, near the town of Pitesti, 65 miles northwest of Bucharest, said tonight that at least 150 persons were burned to death or severely injured in a fire that broke out in a church during an Easter vigil service.

Several hundred persons were imprisoned in the flaming church. It was not known how many had escaped. Meagre reports available said the fire brigades of Choesti and Pitesti were desperately fighting the flames and endeavoring to break in the church doors, jammed by the pressure of the crowd from within.

During the vigil service tonight, wind carried a curtain across the flames of lighted candles. The curtain caught fire, and the flames were quickly communicated to the altar and the panellings.

In a panic that followed, the fear crazed congregation pressed against the doors, which opened inwards, and thus cut off their own escape. Among the dead were two priests, a notary, and the burgeomaster of Choesti.

PIRACY ADDED TO LIST OF CRIMES IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 18—(AP)—Probably nobody could say why, but there was one branch of outlawry Chicago criminals had overlooked—until today. Now they have taken care of the oversight: Piracy.

The foray took place on the good ship Herman, anchored at North Wells street and Wacker Drive and doing a thriving business in sea foods. Two sinister figures with drawn guns clambored aboard, threw nets over Coxswain William Bloom and two others of the crew, and looted the ship's chest —a cash register—of $80.

"If we catch 'em," Captain Frank Jensen vowed, "them lads 'll swing for the job."

YOUNG COMMUNISTS ARE TO CONVENE AT LEIPZIG

BERLIN, April 18—(AP)—Two thousand communists in 59 motor trucks, accompanied by a special train carrying 500 more, left today for Leipzig, where a convention of young communists will be held.

Police accompanied the trucks to the city limits, where they arrested four communists for carrying weapons and confiscated a mass of subversive literature.

WALLINGFORD TO HAVE MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE

NEW BRITAIN, April 18—(AP)—The board of park commissioners today signed contracts for a municipal golf course. The first spadeful of earth on the Stanley track on the Hartford highway, was turned over by David L. Nair, acting mayor. Actual construction of the nine hole course will begin tomorrow.

Funds for the project were raised by the chamber of commerce, and the cost will be approximately $16,000.

CENSUS SHOWS LESS CONGESTION IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Conditions are improving. Census enumerators found only 4500 persons in the block at 90th street, between First and Second avenues, the most populous in the city so far. In 1920 they found 6,000 persons in the block at 112th street, between York and First avenues. Only 4,000 were counted there this year.

CONFIDENT NAVAL TREATY WILL BE SIGNED TUESDAY

Envoys of the Five Great Sea Powers Are Expected to Sign the Document—The First Section Will Contain Provisions For a Battleship Holiday—The Third Part Will Embody the Three Power Agreement and Will Be Signed Only By the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

LONDON, April 18—(AP)—The committee drafting the London naval treaty today polished the sentences, crossed the T's and dotted the I's of the document which envoys of the five great sea powers are expected to sign Tuesday.

They worked in the peace of London on Good Friday, when Londoners in general are on holiday, and the courtyards of St. James' palace were as quiet as they were centuries ago when Henry VIII built the good and stately edifice as his country house.

Thus far no new prospect of delay has arisen to interfere with the carrying out of the final plenary session as planned. Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who is acting for Secretary Henry L. Stimson in the drafting, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, who is acting for Secretary Henry L. Stimson in the drafting, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, who has given his attention to the delicate work of framing the important "safeguarding clause" of the three power pact, are confident that the treaty will be signed Tuesday.

Mr. Stimson, thus assured, is spending the week end at Stanmore, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is resting at his home in Scotland but will return to London Monday, Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France, will return to England Monday. Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, also is expected, so the treaty should carry the names of the five chief negotiators.

The first section of the treaty will contain provisions for a battleship holiday. The second will deal with technical accomplishments of the five delegations such as definitions of special ships, rules for scrapping, humanization of submarines and a general statement on the methods of disarmament. The five powers will sign those sections.

The third part will embody the three power agreement reached by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and will be signed only by those powers.

Prime Minister MacDonald is expected to interpret the position of disarmament as the conference concludes and then the parley will be adjourned.

NO CHANCE OF TRANSITORY GOVERNMENT IN SPAIN

MADRID, April 18—(AP)—Political circles believed today that there was no chance of a transsitory Spanish government being formed with the Duke of Alba or any other neutral leader as the head.

It was believed, however, that there would be some changes in the government before the elections promised by Premier Berenguer are carried out. It is understood that the government as constituted at present, would not obtain sufficient political support to give Berenguer control of the Cortes, and that it thus would be necessary to have a president of the council who could obtain a Cortes majority in elections.

Two possibilities are put forward. Count Bugallal, head of the liberal conservative party, might be able to obtain a majority and would stand behind the crown as against the attacks of the extremists.

The other possibility lies in the Catalonian leader, Francisco Cambo. He is a financial authority and his appointment would placate those Catalonians who are extreme regionalists. With such experts as the Catalonians Juna Ventosa Y Calvell or Bertran Y Musitu to aid him, Cambo would be able to improve the finances of the country, it is felt.

ASKS EDITORS TO SUPPORT PRESENT PROHIBITION LAW

WASHINGTON, April 18.— (AP) — Asking members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to lend their support to uphold the prohibition law as long as it stands, Chairman Wickersham of the Hoover law enforcement commission told them today that while modification might be found desirable he would express no opinion on that point himself.

"To secure the maximum abstinence from the use of liquor," he said, "it may be found desirable to modify the eighteenth amendment or the national prohibition laws.

"I express no opinion on that point. Opinions differ. That is a fair field for discussion."

SENATOR HEFLIN TO STUMP FOR RENOMINATION

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Deprived of a place on the democratic ticket because of his failure to support Alfred E. Smith's presidential candidacy, Senator Heflin, of Alabama, is going on the stump next week in Alabama to appeal to the voters for renomination as a democrat.

The decision yesterday of the state supreme court upholding the ruling of the democratic state committee barring candidates from the party primary who failed to support the Smith ticket was answered today by the Alabaman with the notice that he will go to the voters.

CONVICT SEEKS RECOVERY OF $50,000 FORFEITED BAIL

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Carmine Licenziata, serving eighteen years for manslaughter in connection with the deaths of more than 100 persons from drinking wood alcohol, acted today to have restored $50,000 bail which he forfeited.

Licenziata appealed his conviction, posting a $50,000 bond. He vanished. Lated he was found in Montreal, a prosperous fruit merchant, with his wife and six children. He was returned and sent to Sing Sing prison.

The wood alcohol deaths occurred in Massachusetts and Connecticut in 1929.

I. C. C. WOULD POSTPONE ALL RAILROAD CONSOLIDATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission was placed on record today as unanimously favoring legislation to prevent unifications of railroads through the "overhead" method of pooling holding company stocks without authority for consolidation from the commission.

Chairman McManamy of the commission was recorded as endorsing "in its entirety" a proposal to suspend all railroad consolidations—direct and indirect—until congress has enacted additional legislation to regulate them.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DISAPPEARANCE OF SHERIFF

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 18—(AP)—Mystery surrounding the disappearance of Sheriff I. K. Horn, of Seminole county, Ga., whose blood-stained automobile was found in a Ocklocknee river swamp near here deepened tonight.

Sheriff's officers of adjoining Georgia and Florida counties conducted a search in the belief that Horn had met foul play, while en route from Donaldsonville, Ga., to Arcadia, Fla., for a prisoner. He has not been seen since he left Donaldsonville last Tuesday.

OCEAN LINERS HELD UP BY FOG IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP) — A thick fog, accompanied by intermittently light and heavy rain, fell upon New York harbor and the city tonight, blocking a considerable portion of liner traffic. The weather bureau said there was little chance of the fog lifting before morning.

The French liner Ile De France remained at her pier long after sailing time with no prospect of leaving until the weather cleared.

The Cunard liner Berengaria, scheduled to anchor at Quarantine at 8 o'clock this morning, was delayed outside the harbor until 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Reports from Quarantine were that she would be delayed there until morning.

The steamer Boston of the Eastern Steamship company was forced to dock at its so-called "fog pier" at Whitestone Landing, Queens, where the passengers took trains into Manhattan.

The French liner Rochambeau, after several delays outside the harbor, was able to get to the Battery, but was forced to drop anchor there for two hours before proceeding to her dock.

The Olympic, another ship scheduled to sail early today, was forced to remain at her pier. The Cunard liner California left her pier but was forced to anchor off Gravesend bay.

The Cunarder Tuscania, bound for a West Indies cruise, was delayed twelve hours before sailing, while the Toltec of the United Fruit line, due early today, anchored outside Sandy Hook at noon, but at a late hour tonight had not been able to enter the harbor.

YOUTH IN DRUNKEN FRENZY BEAT AN OLD MAN TO DEATH

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)— James Matthew Maxon, Jr., 21, an Episcopal bishop's son who aspired to be a writer of detective stories, tonight found himself in a situation quite as sinister as any he ever had devised for characters in his fictional plots.

White and shaky, as alcohol gradually cleared from his muddled brain young Mason, son of James Matthew Maxon of Chattanooga, bishop coadjutor of Tennessee, sat in an uptown police station, accused by fellow boarders of having killed, while in a drunken frenzy in the night, a shabby old man whom he never had seen before.

The boy ran amuck, they said, in a cheap brownstone rooming house on West End avenue, where he had lived only a few days; chased the landlady and the other lodgers about the place and, finally, beat the life out of David Paynter, 73, who despite the frailty of his years had the courage to stand up against him.

PROSPECT OF AIR MAIL EUROPE TO RIO JANEIRO

RIO JANEIRO, April 18—(AP)—An international air mail race between an airship and an airplane from Europe to Rio Janeiro is in prospect for the early days of May.

The Graf Zeppelin will leave Friedrichshafen, Germany, at a date in May to be fixed later, for her long scheduled South American flight, carrying mail and passengers, a day later an airplane of the French Aero-Postale company will leave Paris for the first all-air transport of mail from France to South America.

Experts here estimate that the Graf Zeppelin will take at least 96 hours to make the distance, while the regular air mail from Paris should reach Rio in 72 hours.

SUSPECTED OF STEALING $11,300 WORTH OF JEWELRY

HONOLULU, April 18—(AP)—Police said today they were holding two persons suspected of stealing $11,300 worth of jewelry early Wednesday from a house here occupied by Miss Edna Purviance, motion picture actress and two California women.

Miss Purviance reported she lost a watch and two rings valued $4,500. Mrs. Mabel Arnold said she was robbed of two rings worth $5,300, and Mrs. H. H. Helbush lost a pin valued at $1,500.

BOY DROWNED IN CANAL AT STAFFORD SPRINGS

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 18—(AP)—Edward Hubert, 7, drowned in the Warren mill canal, across the road from his home, here today. His body was rocevered an hour later.

The boy went fishing alone and slipped into the water. It was carried 300 feet downstream where it was recovered.

Mrs. Harriet Butler Hale, who on June 23 would have been 105 years old, died at her home in Portland.

COLUMBIA MAN FOUND DEAD AT HIS HOME

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 18—Frank B. Clark, 54, of Columbia, adjoining the Andover town line, was found dead in bed late Thursday afternoon by his ten-year-old granddaughter, with whom he had made his home since the death of his wife about two years ago. The little girl had just returned from school when she made the discovery and informed neighbors, who in turn notified First Selectman Clair Robinson as well as the Stafford Springs state police barracks. Officer Harris Hulburt making an investigation. Medical Examiner Dr. William L. Higgins of South Coventry was also notified, viewed the remains and pronounced death due to natural causes after being told by the girl that her grandfather had been suffering from a grippe cold for about a week. The body was turned over to the Columbia authorities, who arranged for the funeral and burial. Little information could be secured about the deceased except that he has a half-brother living in New York and efforts are being made to get in touch with him.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen C. Livermore were held at the Lebanon Congregational church Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Walter S. Vey officiated and burial took place in the Lebanon center cemetery. The bearers were David and Charles Pitcher, Fred Taylor and Ray Manning. Avery and VanZandt were in charge of the arrangements.

Cole; first trustee, Daniel Shearer; second trustee, William Cady; third trustee, Emma Geer. The by-laws of the organization were also amended.

Stafford Springs

TWO MOTORISTS FINED AS RESULT OF COLLISION

Miss Helen Smith, of Stafford Springs and Francis H. Little, of Rockville, were badly injured in an automobile collision near the Cady filling station in West Stafford about 8:15 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. Little was operating a Studebaker car and was on his way from Rockville to Stafford Springs, with Miss Smith in his car. As they approached the filling station a machine operated by Enoch S. Follette, of Hempstead, L. I., came out of the station driveway which is a private driveway and the two cars came together. The Little car first attempted to pass on the left, but there was not sufficient room, according to the testimony of Mr. Little in court, so he swung his car to the right and it struck the left rear of Mr. Follette's Whippet sedan and turned over on its side. Mr. Little received a deep gash in his left cheek and his lip was badly cut. He also suffered from a number of minor cuts and bruises. Other than an ugly gash in one wrist and a shock to her nervous system Miss Smith was uninjured. Both Miss Smith and Mr. Little were taken to the office of a local physician where their injuries were treated. It required several stitches to close the wound in Mr. Little's face, and Miss Smith had to have five or six stitches taken in her wrist. Riding in the car with Mr. Follette were his wife and two children. They were on their way to Manchester, Mass., where they had planned to spend the holiday with Mr. Follette's father. No one in the Follette car was injured.

State Trooper Stevens was called to investigate the case and summoned both drivers to court for Friday morning. Little, through his father Erwin Little, he being a minor, and unable to plead, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of operating an automobile at a rate of speed greater than reasonable and proper. Judge Heald imposed a fine of $10 and costs of $11.36 which the young man's father paid.

Follette was charged with failure to grant right of way as he was entering a public highway from a private right of way and did not grant the right of way to the automobile on the public highway. He pleaded not guilty. Judge Heald found him guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs, as he did in the case against Little. Mr. Follette paid up and left for Manchester about eleven o'clock Friday morning. He and his family were befriended by George Greendonner after the accident and were allowed to stay at Mr. Greendonner's home in West Stafford for the night.

At the Congregational church Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock the Cantata "The Crucifixon" will be given by a chorus of fifty voices under direction of A. E. Waite, of Rockville, with Mrs. May Chapman Holt at the organ. One of the soloists will be Bernard L. Mullins, formerly of Stafford Springs, whose fine voice has often delighted local people and who is now a member of the Apollo Male Quartet of Hartford. Rev. and Mrs. Harry E. Small made a round of pastoral calls in this vicinity Tuesday.

Swallows Late In Coming

Large flocks of wild geese are seen daily on their flight north; but the swallows are not here yet, a sure sign that we may expect unseasonable weather.

Did the fishermen forget the opening date of the trout fishing season? Not much! Every stream in this locality had its enthusiastic devotees of the sport Tuesday. One Hartford man showed The Bulletin correspondent his morning catch—19 "speckled beauties." "O, boy! how they did bite early this morning!" he said. The same man fished all afternoon and added but one small trout to his string.

Walter Jones, who came to visit his brother, Arthur, a patient in Backus hospital, Norwich, following an automobile accident, has returned to his home in Jersey City.

E. A. Gooding, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is improving. His daughter, Mrs. Wodraska, of New Rochelle, N. Y., is attending him.

Howard Rix, who has been ill for the past ten days with a bad attack of bronchitis, is improving steadily.

Manfred Moody and Robert Jocelyn are the latest patients ill with German measles which has been epidemic all over town.

House gardens are being prepared. Several have planted early vegetables, such as peas, onions, lettuce, etc. Field work is well under way and the usual crops will be planted in this locality.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DANIELSON

GOOD ROADS MEETING TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 18.—When those who assemble at a meeting called for next Tuesday evening at the Community house at South Killingly in the interest of good roads have heard what the speakers will say on the subject, delegates will be elected to a convention to be held in Hartford on Saturday, April 26, which convention will have attendance from many parts of the state.

Though the granges of this town are sponsoring the local meeting, everyone interested in better country roads is invited to be present.

Here in Killingly, with upwards of 150 miles of highway, a great improvement in the town's development can be foreseen if the highway plan is made effective. Likewise, a considerable increase in the value of country property throughout the town is forecast. It is regarded that the legislature that will assemble next January will hear much about this matter.

Warden Gaston A. Maindon has made the following borough committee appointments for the ensuing year: Building, A. V. Woodworth, Charles E. Austin; fire, A. V. Woodworth, L. E. Young; lights, F. O. Armington, A. V. Woodworth; park, Attorney Harry E. Back, F. O. Armington; sewers, D. E. Jette, Harry E. Back; police, D. E. Jette, C. E. Austin; auditors, D. E. Jette, C. E. Austin.

There will be festival music in Danielson's churches on Easter Sunday. The Easter service of worship at the Westfield Congregational church will be at 10:30, with special Easter music. Looking Beyond will be Rev. Harding W. Gaylord's subject. At noon the session of the church school will be held. In the evening at 7 o'clock there will be a union Easter service at this church under the auspices of the Danielson Federation of Churches. The musical program will be under the direction of Henry N. Flagg. Rev. Mr. Gaylord will make a brief address.

There will also be a special Easter program of music at the Baptist church Sunday morning at 10:30. The pastor, Rev. C. J. Armstrong, will preach on the subject, The Spirit of Easter. The church school will be at noon, and there will be an Easter program for the children. Sunday morning there is to be a sunrise service, at 6 o'clock at the Baptist church, members of other churches also being invited to attend.

The Easter services at the Methodist Episcopal church will begin at 10:30, and there will be special music and sermon by the pastor.

At St. Alban's church on Easter the first service of the day will be at 8 o'clock and the next at 11 a. m.

At the 10:45 a. m. service at the Nazarene church there will be special music. Message of Easter Time will be the subject of the sermon.

The masses at St. James' church will be at the usual hours, and there will be special programs of music by the choirs of the church.

Edmond Lyons of Dayville was before the town court this morning to answer to charges of operating a motor vehicle without having a license to do so and with evading responsibility after the car he was operating was in collision with another machine, this on Thursday. On the final count he was fined $1. On the second count a fine of $50 was imposed, but $45 of this amount was remitted. Lyons' explanation as to his driving on after having struck the car of Joseph Depot of Dayville was that he slowed down, saw the other man get out of his car and smile at him and that he gained the impression that everything was all right. It being his first offense and in view of the family burdens that rest upon him, he was leniently dealt with, but warned.

Characters in the high school operetta under rehearsal are: Andreas J. Haveles, Florence Loiselle, Clark B. Wood, Ruth C. Albro, Phyllis I. Kenworthy, Ruth A. King, Celia Baranski, Mildred E. Meech, Jacqueline Gardner, Gabrille Fortier, Norman E. Winslow, Norman Lague, Harold Nicholson, Sidney Marland, Jr., Joseph Yolda, Jack Huntington; farmer boys and girls, Loretta Nado, Antonio Haveles, Beatrice Haveles, Bridget Jaworski, Blanche Boulais, Marion Richardson, Isabella C. Abbott, Evelyn Friese, Jeanette Grenon, Gertrude Jaegar.

That White Wyandotte hen that spent eight months under mounds of hay in the mow of Otis Chase's barn at East Killingly and lived has become a famous bird. It is related that Mr. Chase has had letters and cards from many places relative to the matter, and not a few visitors, one party coming from as far away as Vermont to see the hen, which is now perfectly normal and goes about regularly with other hens of the flock.

The newly elected officers of the Captain Put Engine company of the fire department are: Captain, Walter I. Chase; first lieutenant, Frederic O. Armington; second lieutenant, Edward Maher; secretary-treasurer, William Fenner Woodward; drivers, Winthrop E. Short, Arthur W. Logee, Gerald Boulaine, William E. Nuttall; first pipemen, John H. Gordon, Joseph Cristina; second pipemen, Everett W. Albro; third pipemen, Joseph Morency, Oliver Clements; hydrantmen, W. Fenner Woodward, Herbert E. Hopkins; sick committee, Oliver L. Clements; entertainment committee, Gerald Boulaine, Abel N. Bernier, Joseph Cristina.

Next Tuesday afternoon members of the Fortnightly club are to meet with Mrs. Deborah Atwood of Broad street.

The coming week will be the last during which Danielson will be on standard time until late in September. Fast time will be very generally adopted here and in numbers of places hereabouts on Sunday, April 27.

There have been 18 cases in the Killingly town court within the period of a week. This is getting far away from the usual record of a few cases within that period of time, or, better still, no cases at all for a week.

CENTRAL VILLAGE

BURIAL AT PACKER FRIDAY OF MRS. OTIS CONANT

Mrs. Otis Conant died Wednesday at the home of her grandson, Edward Bates, at Rocky Hill, where 12 days ago she went to visit, accompanied by her son, Walter Bates, with whom she had made her home for several years. She was nearly 90 and had been very well until about a year ago when she had pneumonia, when visiting at the same home. She never fully recovered and gradually grew weaker until the end of her long and useful life. Her first husband was Joseph Bates, who died a number of years ago. They had three children, the late Arthur Bates and Walter Bates of this village, and a daughter, Mrs. Brown, of Willimantic. There are six grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Benjamin Gardner, who lives in Massachusetts. Edward Spicer of this village is her nephew. Her second husband was Otis Conant of Gurleyville, who died a few years ago. Funeral services were held at the chapel at Packer Friday afternoon at 2:30. She lived for many years in Packer. Burial was in the family plot there.

PUTNAM

DERR FIRE WAS NOT OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 18—State police at Danielson barracks have definitely established there was no criminal intentions on the part of the person who was responsible for the fire which destroyed several buildings on the W. L. Deer farm in Putnam Heights, last Friday evening. Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, commanding officer at the Danielson barracks, said this afternoon that officers had found the person seen driving away from the farm a few minutes before the fire and after questioning the autoist, whose name was not divulged, ascertained that there was no motive for the man intentionally kindling the fire. No arrests will be made in the case it was said today.

In the city court this morning, Edward W. Munroe, of Providence, was found guilty of maliciously damaging property owned by Gedion LeMaitre, on Providence street, yesterday afternoon and was fined $50 and costs. At the request of Prosecuting Attorney Eric H. Johnson a substantial portion of the fine was remitted by Judge M. H. Geissler.

Monroe is employed by a Providence trucking concern and was delivering products to a store in the Farley block, owned by LeMaitre, yesterday. After unloading several boxes the truckman in driving away, drove his vehicle into the side of the building, damaging the woodwork. LeMaitre inquired from the driver the cause of the mishap and the answer he received excited a verbal tilt between the two men and resulted in LeMaitre entering a complaint to the police demanding the arrest of the truckman.

State officers of the Danielson barracks continued their investigation of the Plouffe service station burglary, in North Grosvenordale, today, with the result that important clues were found. Tire marks, left in the mud, and finger prints found will be used against all suspects under surveillance. The burglars, in committing the robbery, drove an automobile up to the service station and gathered up their loot, placed it in the car and drove away without attracting the attention of anyone in the vicinity during the evening. Lieut. Urquhart said this afternoon that circumstances surrounding the North Grosvenordale robbery indicate that there is no consponsible for the theft, with the lone burglar's activities in breaking into Putnam stores.

The state owned park at Priest Island, on the lake road in the south end of the city is a beautiful spot now that foilage and plants about the premises are beginning to bloom in all the splendor of springtime. During the winter months, men of the state landscape and park bureau of the highway department have been at work beautifying the grounds and within a few weeks the park will be one of the most restful spots in the city. The island is watered by the Quinebaug river and access from the mainland is gained by a suspension footbridge which was erected two years ago when the state acquired the land for the purpose of converting it into a state park.

Howard James, a former resident of this city, now of Providence, is spending a few days here as the guest of friends.

Several Putnam men, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the New Haven railroad, will attend the annual convention of the organization to be held in Chicago next month.

Putnam together with various other cities and towns in the state will advance their clocks on next Saturday evening, April 26, when the daylight saving system of time is officially adopted. An announcement advising employees and patrons that all trains on the New Haven railroad will advance schedule one hour on that date, has been received from the executive offices of the company by local railroad officials. A resolution favoring the adoption of the new time system will be officially acted upon by the common council at the May meeting, as has been the custom in past years.

Today, being Good Friday, banks and schools in the city were closed, but all business houses did not observe the day.

Final work on the remodeled athletic field at Putnam high school was done this afternoon by Ralph Leo, contractor in charge of the reconstruction operations which have been under way since last November. The sites of the baseball diamond and the football gridiron were fertilized, seeded, brushed and rolled today marking the completion of the work, and incidentally a marked improvement to that section of School street. The local athletic field is now one of the best in the state and is a credit to the students of the school, whose efforts when coupled with the financial assistance of the Putnam lodge of Elks made the new field possible. John H. Bulger, chairman of the building committee of the town school board said this afternoon that the field will not be dedicated with any sporting events until next season.

The radiator of the combination pumper and hose wagon, stationed at the Central fire station in Union square was punctured yesterday by a ladder while firemen were fighting the fire at the Labby block on Canal street. Chief Thurston immediately placed an order for a new part in order that the apparatus may be re-conditioned at once.

Despite inclement weather there was a large attendance at the Congregational church Friday evening where a Community choir, under the direction of Mrs. Edwin L. Robinson, choir director, and Kenneth C. Sharpe, organist, sang the cantata, "The Crucifixion," which was written by Sir John Stainer. The solo parts were sung by George W. Curtiss, tenor of the Simonds choir, of Fitchburg, Mass., and William E. Wheaton, baritone, of this city. The beautiful musical service presented last night marked its third successive presentation in the Putnam church on Good Friday.

The singers taking part were: Sopranos, Mrs. Joseph Carpenter, Majory Benoit, Dorothy Dow, Mrs. James F. English, Chrystabel Gifford, Mrs. Henry E. Hodge, Mrs. Albine Johnson, Edna Kent, Mrs. Gertrude Letters, Mrs. William E. Moss, Mrs. Howard H. Sherriffs, Pauline Chandler; altos, Mrs. Leslie Beebe, Mrs. Emil J. Benoit, Dorothy Bradford, Mrs. Eben W. Holden, Mrs. Earl B. Kent, Mrs. Raymond S. Medbury, Miss Mildred Bard, Mrs. Lauriston F. Noyes, Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Charles Thayer; tenors, George W. Curtis, Edward S. Duffey, Andrew K. Fulkerson, Earl E. Johnson, William Moss, Edwin S. W. Phillips; bass, Ernest L. Chandler, Donald MacLearn, Russell Sherman, Howard H. Sherriffs, Wallace J. Smith, E. L. Robinson, Roswell Wheaton, William E. Wheaton.

CANTERBURY GREEN

HIRAM W. HAWES' BURIAL AT HIGHLAND MILLS, N. Y.

In the death of Hiram W. Hawes, Canterbury loses a man who for 20 years has been identified with the business and social life of the town—one who will long be remembered as a gentleman of genial ways and kindly disposition—a true neighbor and friend. His native town was Honesdale, Pa. He was born Oct. 31, 1857, next to the youngest of a family of seven children, of whom he was the last survivor. At 21, Mr. Hawes went to Bangor, Me., where he entered the employ of H. L. Leonard, a manufacturer of high grade fishing rods. Here he learned the business, an industry in which he has always been engaged. The firm later located in Central Valley, N. Y., where the family lived until they came to Canterbury in May, 1909, when Mr. Hawes started independently making fishing rods. The superiority of his work and product won for him a name among sportsmen and he received many trophies as prizes at various tournaments. He was himself an expert demonstrator in this line and was popular at all sportsmen's meets. Music filled an important place in his life and as violinist he played in orchestras in Bangor and Central Valley and played the trombone in different bands of which he was a member. Since coming to Canterbury, Mr. Hawes with his violin and Mrs. Hawes as pianist were welcome entertainers at social gatherings until failing health and increasing deafness compelled the former to give up his music. He was interested in town and community affairs, was a member of the local grange and had served on the school board. After a long period of decline, he passed away Monday, April 14. Many people assembled at his home Wednesday afternoon for the funeral services, when Rev. Harry Small of the Green and Rev. George Clark, a former pastor and neighbor here, spoke briefly of the faithful and courageous life of Mr. Hawes. Among other poems one entitled Rest, written many years ago by Mrs. E. S. Leonard, Mrs. Hawes' mother, was read by Mr. Clark. Two hymns, God's Way and He Walked With Me, were sung by Hart Goff and Mrs. Sager. Handsome flowers were contributed. The body was taken Thursday, by E. C. Tillinghast, for burial in the cemetery of the Highlands, at Highland Mills, N. Y., where by coincidence the burial of a neighbor and friend of that locality took place at about the same time. Besides his wife, who was Miss Cora Leonard, he leaves a son, Merritt, and daughter, Elise, all of Canterbury. The only living relatives of his family of seven are a nephew in Colorado and a grand-niece and her three young daughters in California. Friends from Norwich, Glendale, R. I., and Bridgeport were present at the funeral. Clinton Frink accompanied the family on their automobile journey to the burial place at Highland Mills.

Mrs. Frank Nelson and daughter, Julia, are spending a week at their place west of the Green.

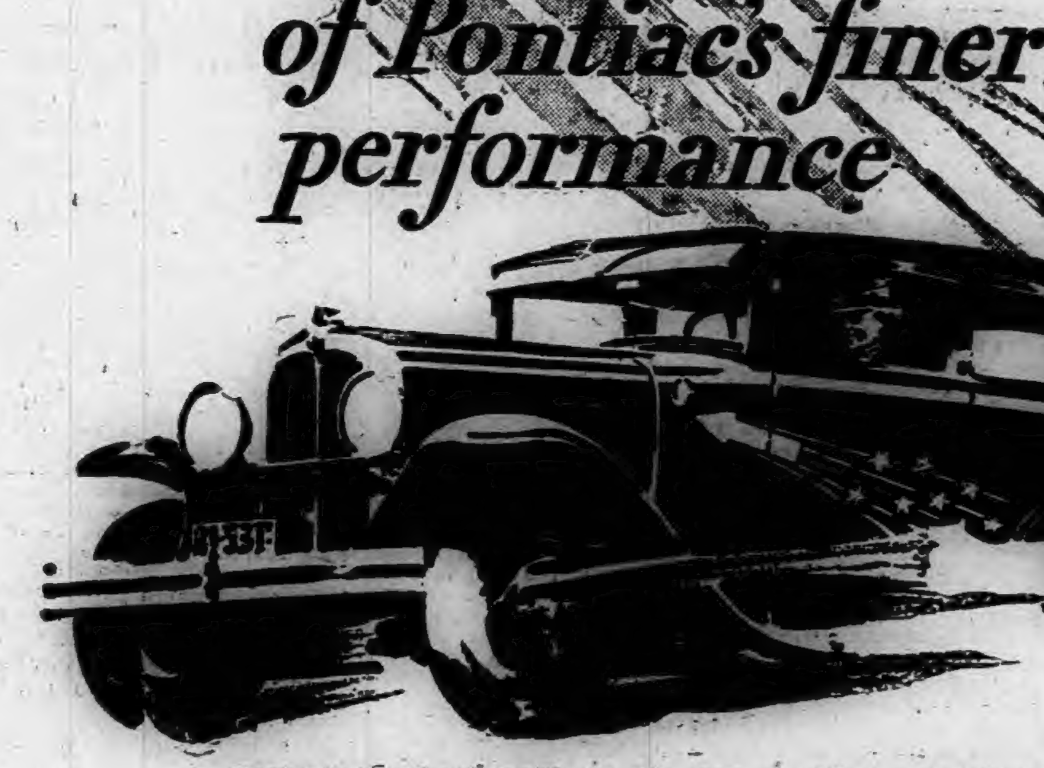
The Red Rocket
a demonstrator of Pontiac's finer performance



Beginning today, you'll see the car with the RED ROCKET on the streets and boulevards of this city. It is a New Series Pontiac Big Six, marked with a RED ROCKET to symbolize its remarkable speed, pick-up and power. This demonstrator is on the streets for two reasons. First, so you can obtain a vivid impression of its speed, its quick getaway, its smoothness and easy handling. Second, so you can receive a demonstration on the spot—anytime, anywhere you see this car. We want you to take the wheel. For only in this way is it possible to realize what excellent performance you can now enjoy in this new low-priced six!

SPEED AND POWER. Pontiac's 60 horsepower engine, with 200 cubic inch piston displacement, is the largest in any six of its price. This accounts for Pontiac's exceptional top speed, its swift acceleration, and its abundant power on the hills.

SMOOTHNESS. This engine is also very smooth because of its new-type rubber mountings and its Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional crankshaft vibration.

EASY HANDLING AND RIDING. A new steering system acting on roller bearings and improved four-wheel brakes make this car delightfully easy to handle. And riding is unusually smooth, thanks to its comfortable new Fisher bodies with mohair upholstery of excellent quality, and improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers.

Now ask to drive the car with the RED ROCKET. Or come to our salesroom, where you can learn about Pontiac's reliability, economy and long life. A demonstration will show you what splendid performance Pontiac now is offering at very low cost.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

CUTTING AUTO ACCIDENTS

When Commissioner Stoeckel of the motor vehicle department sets forth that there were 17,957 more automobiles registered in the first three months of this year than in the corresponding period of 1929 and that there were 446 less accidents, it is not only good news but it leaves no other inference than there was more care being used in the handling of motor vehicles.

It has always been contended that the increase in the number of automobiles imposes greater care upon the individual driver. It has been perfectly obvious that there were plenty of drivers who were handling their machines in a manner to prevent accidents provided the other fellow was doing likewise, but there have always been those who persisted in taking chances with themselves and their fellow highway users in such a manner as to make accidents inevitable. They simply cast care to one side. They are determined to go through with their chance-taking, not necessarily in the belief that those in the way must take the consequences, but under the conviction that they can accomplish the impossible, squeeze through at the expense of someone else and make two cars occupy the space that was only intended for one.

We have for years been experiencing results quite contrary to the result shown in the past few months. More cars have meant more accidents and we have been urged to console ourselves because there was a drop in the percentage of accidents to the number of cars. Far more satisfaction is gained from the knowledge that the motorists have come to a realization of the fact that it rests with them whether there is an increase or a decrease in the number of accidents and fatalities.

Cutting down the number of accidents by 446 represents a welcome change. It is to be realized that the first three months of the year are not the worst and the good record that has been made in the opening quarter may be quickly shattered in the next, but there is hope that if the idea of more care has been properly implanted in the minds of the motorists that it will continue to develop and produce even better results. It is certainly time for a continued rather than a temporary reduction in auto accidents, and especially in the fatalities.

CHANGING POPULATIONS

From certain of the preliminary census reports, in Connecticut and in other states as well, it is shown that the population in the small towns is decreasing. This may not work out in all cases and it will be decidedly surprising if it does.

These are the days of the improved roads, modern main thoroughfares and facilities which make it possible for people to live outside of cities and yet experience all their benefits without their undesirable features. When highway improvement comes it isn't long before each year shows increasing building along that thoroughfare. People realize that they can build and live there more cheaply than in the cities. They are aware of the fact that they can have a car and go forth and back to their work or go into the city for trading purposes at will. They are invariably in a position to secure electricity for the various household requirements and if they do not live too far in the country they will have the benefit of highway lighting for a considerable part of the distance. If they are off the power lines they can easily install a plant for making their own electricity that will furnish light and power for necessary purposes, including a water supply.

Further than that, they know that they are able to get mail service at their door once a day, which is 50 per cent of what is obtained in the city, and when it comes to entertainment the resident outside of the city is in a much more favorable situation for radio reception than his cousin in the city. With entertainment as with other things, however, it is simply a case of jumping into the car and in a few minutes he is transported to theater or music hall.

Thus with the building that is noted along the improved highways in the country, the increase in the automobiles and the eagerness to get away from city taxation, it will be surprising if the small towns as a rule show decreased population when all the census returns have been received. Certain of the small towns are not as favorably situated as others. Naturally they cannot expect to experience the growth but if the tendency is toward the towns surrounding cities there will not be occasion for surprise.

SAFEGUARDING CLAUSE

When a point was urged that part if not all of the powers involved in the London conference should sign a treaty of naval limitation, it was urged that there were obstacles in the way. These obstacles were that there would be an unwillingness on the part of European countries to place restrictions about their navies, while other continental countries operated under no such restraint. In other words, they could hardly be expected to handicap themselves by leaving the way open for others to take advantage of their action. This was one of the arguments that was raised to the idea of a three-power treaty.

How to get around the situation has been one of the problems over which the backers of the three-power treaty have been doing much thinking. They recognize the predicament they would be in if they adhered to a policy of naval curtailment while nations which did not sign should take the opportunity to engage in extraordinary naval expansion. It may not be a course that can be rightly anticipated, but there is no telling what the future will bring forth. There is a limited time in which the naval restrictions are effective, but there are, nevertheless, proper reasons for setting up safeguards that will govern such a situation. In view of the fact that such a possibility is realized, it is quite natural that provisions for meeting it should be established.

That is the purpose of the safeguarding clause that has been written into the three-power treaty. Under it, it would be possible for any of the three nations to govern themselves according to what any of the non-signers may do. If they find that naval construction threatens to upset the balance established they will not be restrained by the treaty but proceed to protect themselves as the situation requires.

It is not expected that there will be cause for making use of the safeguard. It is, however, well that it should be there. It reduces the anxiety of the three signatory nations and it makes it apparent to the non-signers that they are not in a position to catch the others while their hands are tied. Further than that, the three nations know in advance that this means of meeting an emergency exists.

EASTER

At every Easter season there is cause for rejoicing. It is the season of hope, the one that adds stimulation to faith, the anniversary that presents a great victory. It is a time when we celebrate the victory of things spiritual, the time when the heart of man is filled with the beauty of spring's flowers that have sprung from death to life.

Rev. S. R. Mayer-Oakes has said: "Easter is our salute to spring. Nature has laid aside the grave clothes of death. New life emerges radiant from the tomb of winter. Death has claimed the fruits of yester-year; but from their decay is now resurrected a more abundant life of beauty and color; of strength and song.

"Easter is our feeble effort to be attuned to nature's awakening. We, too, may acclaim a new birth of those humane qualities that will not die. We, too, may bring to our human world the beauty of wholesomeness; the truth of freedom; the goodness of love. These are the redeeming qualities of life exemplified in the Man of Nazareth.

"The Man perished with His age, but the germs of His character survived in others. Young men were impregnated with the genius of His goodness. He was resurrected in them and through them and by them to the world. No wonder the story of the angel of the tomb survives. Forever the angel of life, the spirit of youth, proclaims, 'He, the Person, is not here, in the tomb. He is risen in the new generation!' Easter is Christendom's proclamation that this life shall not die. Yet it is resurrected only as it re-lives in us."

Easter is a day of encouragement to those with saddened hearts. It is a day of assurance for those with faltering faith. Easter brings its message of convdence and inpiration.

IMPROVING TRAFFIC CONDITIONS

The decision to give a tryout to the idea of continuous right-hand traffic at Shannon corner must be looked upon as a sincere effort to bring about a relief to the traffic situation which has prevailed at that point for a long time. Under the present system, cars are forced to remain at a standstill when the signal is red even though if they should continue on into Main street to the right they would not be interfering with any other line of traffic. They would, in fact, simply be relieving the congestion which the signal arrangement inevitably forces to pile up when busy hours and busy days roll around.

In the past, and it will continue to do so in the future under the change in the traffic arrangement, Shetucket street has been obliged to care for the traffic which would naturally develop from the Laurel Hill entrance to the city and the center of the city business, and also that volume of traffic moving to the east which would be taken care of by Main street if that were not a one-way street. Add to that, the fact that this double volume of traffic is obliged to stop and go according to the signal, it is by no means surprising that needless jams have been created.

With a line for the right-hand traffic and another for the left-hand and Broadway traffic, the situation at the worst bottle neck in the city stands in the way to receive the relief that has long been needed. It should do much to keep the cars in Shetucket and Water streets moving, and that is going to be an important factor if a congested situation in Main and the one-way portion of Market street is going to be prevented.

Norwich suffers from a lack of streets to solve the traffic puzzle but if the expected improvement at Shannon corner can be followed by the improvement of Talman street as another relief measure we have hope for some relief.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The score boards are attracting more attention than they did a week ago.

With plans all made for the Easter parade, the weatherman must appreciate his responsibilities.

The man on the corner says: You never can tell from the way the baseball season opens what the finish is going to be.

What United States capital thinks of Canada and its resources is indicated by the fact that three and a half billion is invested there.

Where, oh where, are those trout fishermen who always had the others green with envy because of the wonderful catches they made on the opening day, no matter what the conditions were?

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Last week mention was made in this column of an unpardonable neglect of April 13, because it was the birthday of one of the greatest of American patriots. Looking a little farther into the non use of April 13, it is a bit surprising that we have no national holiday or celebration of any time during the month of a political character. This would not be noticeable were it not for the historical importance of some events that transpired during the month. Let me mention just a few of the more outstanding ones. Unless I greatly mistake it was in April that the long and sanguinary Revolutionary war was begun; also a lesser war known as the Mexicon broke out in April. Every schoolboy knows that Civil war dates from outbreaks in Baltimore and Charleston during April, 1861. We shall all of us remember that the World war—as far as the United States was concerned—began April 6, 1917.

It may not be amiss to draw the reader's attention to some of the immortal personalities who first saw the light of day on this month. Giving them in the order of their chronology in modern times the first is Oliver Cromwell, the man who saved England from the incompetent House of Stuarts; rather stern for modern political conditions, but a great Puritan who gave his country the right trend. Cromwell was England's great contribution to the world in the 16th century. It was in April of the 18th century that the Duke of Wellington was given to the world. Every historian feels that it would have been a sad day for European civilization had the outcome at Waterloo been different. Was the autocracy of the Roman empire coming back? The duke of Wellington settled that question. One of the great products of April in the 19th century was the coming of Bismarck. Like Wellington he was a man of blood and iron. Germany will never forget him.

It may be a matter of interest to carry this subject of April a bit farther. As far as the meaning of the word is concerned it is put in an appropriate place in the calendar. It is derived from a Latin word which means "to open," or expand, and is so called because in the north temperate zone which has been the theatre of the major events of mankind, April is the season of the year when nature shows evidence of waking from her long sleep and the buds begin to swell and open. Out of this comes the loveliness which is one of the greatest charms of the natural world. It is interesting to know just how the word crept into the calendar. The ancient Romans made it the second month of the year, but later one of the emperors squeezed in January and February before it. Some of the emperors, when they had nothing else to do, used the calendar as a plaything which accounts for the changes that were made from time to time.

One of the evidences of real value is its tendency to permanency. Things that are of no earthly use to any human being for the most part are short-lived. Insects and vermin that make life miserable have short generations. Scientists tell us that lice are grandfathers in twenty-four hours. Manners and customs that have a downward trend are soon abandoned, but things of merit-things that bless mankind-endure. Today there are cedars standing in Lebanon beneath whose shade the armies of Julius Caesar rested, and perhaps our Lord himself. Gold found in the earth deposited there long before man was created has lost nothing of its intrinsic value. Socrates and Plato are read today in Yale and Harvard with as much zeal as the boys of Athens did centuries ago. The early Christians made much of Palm Sunday and Easter, so do we. "It is the fittest that survives."

It has always been a puzzling question to students of theology how to reconcile the presence of innocent suffering with the goodness of God. There is only one reasonable way of looking at it, and when it is viewed that way there is but one logical conclusion, and that is this: If one suffers from causes over which he has no control it releases him from responsibility as far as the causes are concerned. Now this universe is regulated by law, and the administration of this law is almighty, and that means perfection of love as well as of power. Therefore if one suffers in this world from things that he could not control, justice demands that the case shall be adjudicated somewhere and somehow. If the recompense does not come here, it must come somewhere simply because" justice and judgment are the habitation of his throne; mercy and truth shall go before his face."

It seems to the writer that one of the strongest evidence of a hereafter is the vast amount of injustice here. No one can question that a vast number of innocent little children come into this world terribly handicapped from the start. Do what they will they must be subnormal to the day of their death. These innocent little ones had a right to live and function properly, and that is in a perfectly normal way. Now this perplexing problem—as it seems to me—is dealt with in this scriptural passage; "that which is bound on earth shall be loosed in heaven." Many of these unfortunates may take courage in these words spoken early in the book of Genesis; "shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" Where can you find even in Christendom a hamlet so small that does not contain somebody whose personality says: "I am the object of injustice and wrong?"

If history can be relied upon this 19th of April is the 255th anniversary of the battles of Lexington and Concord, first hostilities of the American Revolution in 1775. In the stillness of the night I can hear the clatter of a galloping horse, and by the way the ground is pounded the rider must be on some important mission. It is something that will brook no delay! I wonder if Paul Revere should go over the same route today he would recognize the territory! If that same section of the old Bay state were still under the dominion of the government of Great Britain would there have been the same amazing development as this section of Massachusetts shows to the world to day? That is beyond the power of any man to speak with accuracy. Of all nations England has probably been the most successful organizer. But there can be no question that the consciousness of being free and independent has been a most potent factor in political growth.

The above paragraph logically turns one's attention to present day political conditions in India. In two and a half centuries from now Mahatma Ghandi will either be looked upon by historians as a traitor or a sort of Washington the Second. There can be no question as to the serious situation that the British government is up against. One cannot minimize the force of the wave that is sweeping India from the Himalayas to the ocean. "Have we not arrived at a time when it is feasible for us to try our hand at self-government? Why should we be under the dominion of a power thousands of miles away?" This is what India is saying. There can be no doubt that the people are just as capable of forming a stable government as any other Asiatic nation. But is it not as reasonable for nations to become masters of themselves as individuals? India has attained her political majority.

EASTERN CONNECTICUT SNAKE STORIES RECALLED BY EAST KILLINGLY EXPERIENCE

On Tuesday of this week The Bulletin reported that Wilfred Ledger shot 48 blacksnakes on a farm situated on the road leading from Ballouville to East Killingly. The snakes measured from 4 1-2 feet to 6 feet 2 inches. Not since 1874 has The Bulletin published any report of an authentic snake-killing which in number exceeded or even equaled Mr. Ledger's record. In that year The Bulletin of April 29 contained the following item from Voluntown:

Kill 67 Snakes at Voluntown

"A few days since, while some laborers were at work near the farm of Pardon Saunders in this town, their attention was directed to a hole in the ground with several snakes' heads sticking out. After a short consultation it was decided to investigate the premises with shovel and hoe, when 67 reptiles of the species commonly called coluber constrictor (blacksnakes) were found and killed, and with the exception of three which were over three feet long all the rest were from four to six feet in length."

In its issue Saturday, Sept. 26, 1874, The Bulletin records:

"George Fenton of Canterbury managed last Tuesday to kill 34 watersnakes in the vicinity of a brook. They averaged four feet in length, making 130 feet of snake.

"We mentioned some time since, that a watersnake had been killed in Voluntown from which were taken 26 young ones, six of which had two heads and one three heads. Yesterday a couple of samples of the 'amphisbaena dire' were brought into our office. They were bona-fide heads."

Thereafter The Bulletin is barren of snake news till 1879. On Aug. 25 of that year it reported a good one:

Monster Chased Berrying Party

"The latest snake story comes from a Westford (Windham county) correspondent: A little over a week ago, as a gentleman living at Westford hill was trimming some trees in his peach orchard, a party of friends arrived, and requested him to show them the direction of a whortleberry lot. He at once preceded the party to the pasture, retaining in his hand the sickle with which he had been trimming. Soon after entering the lot they came suddenly upon an enormous black snake, coiled up beside a rock. One of the party threw a pail at the snake, which before had lain quiet, but which now raised its head, its eyes glowing like two coals of fire, and its forked tongue darting out and in with the quickness of lighting. The tail of the snake which lay in the centre of the coil kept up a sort of vibrating motion so rapid as to be almost indiscernible.

"The party stood gazing at this horrible sight half a moment as if spellbound, and then took to their heels and ran with all the speed they possessed, the snake pursuing. The gentleman acting as guide, probably from a desire to protect the rest more than from any inability to travel faster, brought up the rear and was first overtaken.

"Seeing the monster close upon him, and knowing that further flight was useless, he suddenly faced about and determined that as the snake desired a fight he should have it; and after a short, sharp struggle in which the sickle played an important part, he succeeded in mastering it. Seeing the snake getting worsted, and their courage singularly enough returning about the same time, the rest gathered rails and stones, and returning to the charge soon succeeded in dispatching it.

"The length of the snake by careful, accurate measurement was eleven feet five inches, and in the largest places it was nearly as large around as a tea kettle. Noticing one place was considerably larger than the rest, it was cut open and found to contain the gentleman's rooster, which had been missing since the previous day. He had missed considerable poultry this summer, mostly small chickens whose mode of departure he at the time was unable to account for, but which had, doubtless, served the snake a dinner. Had it not been for the hearty dinner the snake helped himself to the day previous, and which, doubtless, rendered him less lively than usual, it would probably have lunched off some of the party."

Norwich Snake Had Brood of 47

On Sept. 3, 1883, The Bulletin told of some large snake families in the environs of Norwich and incidentally discussed the city street-lighting system as a contributory factor in enlarging the food supply of the local reptiles:

"Many snake stories have been told the present season by correspondents throughout the state, and much ado has been made over the fact that a female adder had been killed from which 27 young ones were taken. That 27 young ones constitute a large family, whether of snakes, toads or animals, is admissable; yet it is far from being the largest family in snakedom.

"In this part of the county the water snakes are the most prolific breeders, and two captures of females in different part of the town have given surprising results the present season. The first was captured by a man in the employ of F. L. Gardner at the East Great Plain, and yielded by actual count 47 young ones, from two to three inches in length, as lively as crickets. The second was killed last week on the farm leased by C. H. Raynes on Laurel Hill, and contained 44 young ones two inches long and very active.

"On two occasions lately the policemen have killed snakes after midnight, loitering beneath the street lamps, apparently waiting to catch the crippled moths which, after their giddy and purposeless fluttering about the glass of the street lights, lose their plumage and power of flight by darting wildly into the blaze, and then fall to the earth. It is well known to lamp lighters that the gleam of the street light is the delusive snare that costs thousands of winged insects their lives. The action of these throngs which make each grotto of light a butterfly metropolis after dark, furnish to man only a symbol of folly, for no reasonable being has been able to discover yet why moths love to congregate about a light to be burned and preyed upon.

"The toads, cognizant of insect habits, make the circle of light beneath the street lanterns a rendezvous, for there food is plenty and in as great a variety as the most fastidious batrachian could demand. The spiders spin their webs beneath the lantern mouth to entrap the small fry, and the predacious beetle prances up and down the lantern braces to devour the sluggish moths that stupidly sit there to be eaten. The parasitic flies hover about to deposit their eggs in the bodies of the larger moths, while the bats scale about in the upper air, swooping down now and then for a dainty morsel—but never before did it appear that snakes, too, take advantage of these artificial moth cripplers."

Snakes Choke Well at Old Lyme

"The Packersville sensationalist seems to have a peer in Old Lyme. It is only recently that this sleepy shore-town has commenced to figure in the press of the country, but it now puts upon the wire some of the best evidence that a "fakir" is among them. Following is the latest:

A half mile from the station in this village stands a tenantless house. In the well belonging to this house George H. Peckham recently made a startling discovery. Going there for water he opened the well, when his ears were greeted with loud hisses, and upon looking closely he discovered that the whole well was alive with snakes, all local varieties being represented. Between the stones which keep the dirt from falling into the well he saw the heads of snakes and the bottom of the well, which is nearly dry, was one wriggling mass.

"Neighbors near by were called, and with an eel spear nearly a hundred snakes were caught and brought to the surface and killed. It is supposed that there are hundreds left in the well, which is frequently visited. When opened the hiss of the snakes is heard, signifying that they are there in abundance."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 18—There is something about the look and manner of Johnnie Raskob, financial wizard of the General Motors evolution, that strongly recalls Dwight Morrow, ex-Morgan partner, tranquilizer of Mexican-American relations and soon-to-be senator from New Jersey.

Both are short, for one thing, carrying themselves very erectly to get the benefit of what inches they have; both are a bit brown of face, and both are very quiet in manner and almost gentle of voice, deceptively gentle at times, it seems.

Both, too, have that habit of steady eyes gaze at a questioner. It is not a combative or pugnacious look, it is merely exceedingly observant, as though the man behind it was doing a lot of unhurried thinking even as he framed answers to a question.

Poker Face

Raskob displayed all these traits he has in common with Ambassador Morrow very clearly when he faced the senate's lobby investigating grand jury. If you could judge anything by his look and composed manner of what was in his mind as Senator Robinson of Indiana dug away at him with questions, it must have been a faint amusement.

It showed at times in the smile with which he returned monosyllabic answers, just "yes" or "no," usually "no." He managed to do it without seeming a reluctant witness, his voice was so calm and unprovocative, and so quiet in tone

The democratic national committee head knew, of course, that Robinson's demand that he be called was purely a fishing expedition. That very clearly developed when the senator quickly found himself at a loss for more questions.

Raskob also knew that those democratic veterans, Caraway and Tom Walsh, would be exceedingly alert as to political implications and inuendos that might develop. But the Bystander, watching him before the committee session opened, read in this calm and self-possessed little man signs of supreme confidence in his ability to take care of himself in all circumstances.

Among The Crowd

By way of varying the usual reporter view of such proceedings, the Bystander kept away from the press tables and sat with the spectators who filled the room to overflowing.

He wanted to overhear onlooker comments. And putting aside those which might possibly have arisen from the commentator's personal views on the wet-or-dry question, he found the general run of the audience expecting, even before the session started, that Johnnie would come through unruffled.

Just why they thought that was not entirely clear. Perhaps with some it was his place in the business world; with others the same look of self confidence that impressed the Bystander.

"It will take a smart guy to tangle that bird up," said a chap on one side as the hearing got going.

"A smarter man than any senator here," agreed a lady on the other side.

And that's that

YOUR HEALTH

The Folly of Food During Recess

By Clifford G. Grulee, M. D., Chicago
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

There has been a movement of some strength during the last few years in this country to sponsor the supply of mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunches for school children. Before such an attempt to raise the nutrition of children, was tried out as a wholesale measure there should have been a very careful consideration of the whole procedure, but in characteristic American fashion we jumped at the conclusion which was apparent and not real. What is the true status of this situation? Are these lunches really needed; are they simply an unnecessary expense; do we do actual harm by giving them?

For children who go to school hungry the lunch is a good thing. But why not give it before they start their work in the morning rather than at recess time? One maxim apparently has been lost sight of; that the greatest appetizer in this world is hunger. If you satisfy hunger at recess it is much less keen or often entirely absent at noon. The result is that your child fails to have any appetite for his real meal and consequently misses a well balanced meal which is far more important to him than that that which he takes at recess. If the procedure is repeated in the afternoon the same holds true.

The chief reason for poor nutrition in children is loss of appetite. In some cases this is because the child is suffering from some minor ailment which if properly treated and cured restores to him his proper appetite. But in the vast majority of cases loss of appetite is a state of mind which is made constantly worse by efforts to make the child eat. Your child is no exception.

For the poor child who gets no adequate food in the morning, or goes without breakfast, the giving of lunch at recess is of course excusable; but even here it would be much better to provide him with sufficient food before he goes to school. Certainly the number of these children even in our poorest communities is not large and should therefore be cared for rather as cases referred to charitable organizations than to generalize on their condition for the effect on the whole school

The latest investigations would seem to show that even if we do give lunch at recess it should consist of some light food such as orange juice rather than of milk. So only in a small proportion of cases in this great country of ours is the recess lunch of benefit. In many cases it is a distinct detriment. How soon will we learn that each child is a problem in itself; that private health is public health; and that we cannot generalize as to human beings in this matter of food or exercise or care?

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

Mount of Triumph

There is a mountain just beyond dark calvary; it is the lovely and final mount of triumph. On that mountain we, see for the last time, the Christ beckoning those who have followed Him, whose hearts were filled with grief at sight of the master's suffering comes to their hearts the call to follow Him, Him who gave His life to redeem a sin burdened world.

The rising sun sights its golden rays above that holy hill, the gates are open wide, and through them swells the great anthem from angels' throats, rejoicing in the return of the Immanuel. Here He has walked with them as guide and friend. He has given to them that precious premise, "So, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world," and it came to pass, while he blessed them, He was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.

Then upward slowly, as a rose leaf borne on the breath of a summer zephyr, He rises from among them. Angels are there waiting to receive Him, but the Guide is not lost, He is ever near to lead you onward and upward to the home He has gone to prepare.

THE GARDEN

By REX REES

The Season of Gardens

A Garden is a love something God wot,
Rose plot, fringed pool, ferned grot,
The veriest school
Of peace, and yet the pool
Contends that God is not!
Not God? In gardens? When the day is cool?
Nay, but I have a sigh—
'Tis very certain God walks in mine!

At this time the mind of the whole Christian world is turned toward a garden outside the city walls of the most beloved city in the world. The garden recalls the night the master was betrayed. There were on that night agroup of weary men who notwithstanding the tragedy impending and of which they had had warning, fell asleep immediately after the Master left them. They did not for a moment realize the tragedy and the triumph of that hour they were permitted to spend with the Christ in that old garden with its olive trees and shrubs and flowers. I have always greatly enjoyed Sidney Palmer's poem, "Into the Woods My Master Went," and especially the lines:

"But the olives they were not kind to Him
"The little gray leaves were kind to Him
"The thorn-tree had a mind to Him
"When into the woods He came."

It was only a few years when a great army would be camped in this beloved garden and the great walls of this world old city would be thrown down and all the pomp and power of an age old aristocracy should go up in bloody dust, and the handful of men who went with Jesus into this garden should become the leaders of a great religion that should bring joy and peace to untold millions and plant in the human mind the flowers of faith, hope, and love in every land. Whatever is best, whatever is most beautiful, triumphs in the end, and that which is for the time being massive, triumphant, cruel, lives out its time and comes to naught.

How much more beautiful the garden of Gethsemane than the garden of Decameron though enriched and beautified by Boccacio the master of Italian romance. His characters withdrew themselves from the sorrows and suffering of a plague cursed city and gave themselves over to a life of luxurious ease and sensuality forgetful of all their obligation to their fellows suffering and dying in the city.

Out of culture begotten of flowers have some of the most beautiful lives been given to the world. Of the "little poor man of the world" St. Francis, it is said that when weary and hungry as he often was, he comforted himself with flowers, talking to them as to old friends and saying to the lily: "O wonderful woman of the flower world, my Master looked on you and stooped down to caress you. I, too, love you because everything beautiful is of God. Consider the lilies wonderful words of my Master. Every flower in His great garden of the world is to love and use, though frail, like our lives, is yet dear to God." Those old monks who built the monasteries enriched them with wonderful gardens and drew valueable lessons from them. When we study hybridization of flowers or fruit we always think of Mendel, the great priest naturalist, studying sweet peas in his garden at Brun in Moravia. For eight years Mendel studied the peas in his garden and in 1865 published his findings but they attracted no attention until rediscovered and confirmed by DeRies and TschernaK. His doctrine that in the second and later generations of a hybroid every possible combination of the parent character occurs and that each combination appears in definite proportion of the individuals. This is called Mendel's law. Strange, is it not, that this remarkable paper of Mendel's should have lain forgotten for 35 years; indeed its very existence was unknown to science until 30 years ago. But during the short period that has elapsed since then, Mendel's views have exerted a profound influence on modern scientific thought and it is now universally recognized that his experiments are the most outstanding, far reaching, that have ever been made in the study of plants or animals for the law applies to animal as well as plant life. His discoveries in his garden have placed him alongside Darwin as one of the greatest scientists of the world. The facts he presented so convincingly by the experiments made in the garden of Brun, have never been disputed, and they have laid open to scientific workers a hitherto undiscovered world rich in promise and boundless in extent. The practical importance of this law is beginning to be realized. Men working along Mendelian lines have discovered strains of wheat, oats and barley immune to rust and frost resistant. Mendel loved his flowers and his garden, in it, perhaps unconsciously, he developed a principle that may yet be able to feed the world. He could be called a true hunger fighter. His law is applicable to all kinds of grain, plants and animals. When the population of the United States has reached a half billion or more, unless more food can be grown per acre, trouble will ensue. The Mendelian law promises endless variation and supply.

It is well for us to know that in many of the great gardens of the world endless experiments are being made to grow new varieties of flowers, fruit, vegetables and grains. Perhaps the greatest garden in our country is the Arnold arboretum of Boston, or Harvard university. Here can be found specimens of almost every plant, shrub and tree in the world and a force of scientific men whose sole aim is to find out the secrets of plant and shrub and tree and flower. It is only a few years ago that Dr. Wilson of the arboretum, searching for rare plants in China found and brought back to America, the Regal lily, now so common in all our gardens, the great gardens of New York and Washington, D. C., the farms under glass in almost every part of our country, the great gardens of England and France and Germany, especially Kew garden, just out of London.

The Jardine Des Plants of Paris, the wonderful garden of the Tzar at St. Petersburg, now falling into ruin are full of the secret plants of all lands. They tell of patience and loving care bestowed by man on the most unpromising plants and of the rewards such patience and care received. Study the great gardens; grow a garden of flowers or fruit or vegetables. Stay out of doors.

"Looking Backward

Read: Proverbs 4:1-7.

MEDITATION: Lord Haldane in his autobiography devotes his last chapter to review He wrote at seventy-two of his satisfying philosophy: "A good deal of my work has been little know. The best I can say for myself is that I have not been slack in either thought or action and that some substantial results have emerged from time to time." "We ought never to disturb ourselves about the quantity reputed to have been ours, or about our own prominence before the public. Our duty is to work without turning our eyes to the right or to the left from the ideals which alone can light up our faith. What is ours can be no more than the best quality of which we are capable put into the effort toward the attainment of what we have set before ourselves. . . . Hesitation and unhappiness become replaced by a life that is tranquil because freed from dependence on casual ups and downs."

PAYER: "Teach us, good Lord, to serve Thee as Thou deservest; to give and not to count the coat; to fight and not to heed the wounds; to toil and not to seek for rest; to labor and not to ask for any reward, save that of knowing that we do Thy will, Amen."—Loyola.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wages On Fisher's Island

Mr. Editor:—An article appeared in The Record Wednesday night stated that a man claimed he called at the free employment agency in response to their advertisement for laborers at Fisher's Island and was told the wages were 35c. an hour and board $10 a week.

The fact is that the employment bureau, realizing that so many men were out of work here, telephoned two different contractors at Fisher's Island two weeks ago in behalf of the men here and was told that there was nothing doing at present but that they would call us later if they needed any help.

Last Saturday the Fisher's Island club phoned us for 25 men and we advertised for that many. On Monday at 9 o'clock we thought it best to verify the order, so phoned the Fisher's Island club and they told us they could use only ten men at present, but might need more later. They also stated that the wages would be 45c an hour and board would be $1 a day. Out of 300 applicants we had no trouble filling their order.

We admit that even 45c an hour is not city rates, but 45c jingling in your pocket at times feels pretty good, and the man who made the wrong statement probably enjoys basking in the sun on Franklin square curbing day after day and would not work at any price.

Stories That Recall Others

Good Memory

Dorothy, who has an older sister, recently returned from kindergarten and made the announcement that she had a beau.

"I would not have a beau, because your big sister didn't have one so young," said her mother.

"You have forgotten, because I heard you bawling her out one day," replied the five year old.

Mrs. Flanigan walked into a grocery and ordered a peck of potatoes. She paid for them and told the man in charge that her husband would be in later and get them. When the husband came a boy had taken the grocer's place.

"Have you Flanigan's potatoes?" Mr. Flanigan inquired of the boy.

"No," smiled the boy, "but we have Irish potatoes at 45 cents a peck."

NORWICH DELEGATES ATTEND NAT'L. C. A. R. CONVENTION

Misses Mary Stewart, Beatrice Eggleston and Dorothy Stewart are the delegates from General Ebenezer Huntington society of this city attending the 35th annual convention of the National Society of Children of the American Revolution being held at Washington, D. C., April 15 to 19, inclusive. The local members are accompanied by Mrs. Fred Eggleton and Mrs. Roy D. Judd. Miss Dorothy Stewart is one of the 39 pages at the convention which has headquarters at the Women's War Memorial building of the American Red Cross.

The opening day's session was featured by an address, "Our Republic, What It Means", by Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, followed by greetings, "Enroute from the South Pole," in the form of a radio message, from Admiral Richard Byrd, U. S. N., also by three addresses, "Capturing the Golden Eaglet," by Judith Steele, golden eaglet, D. C. Girl Scouts; "Lion Hunting in Africa," by Robert D. Douglas, Boy Scouts of America with the Martin Johnson expedition and "Celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Birth of George Washington," by Col. U. S. Grant, 3rd, engineers corps, U. S. A.

Included in the highlights of Wednesday were an address, "Recollections of the Nation's Capital," by Hon. William T. Page, clerk of the U. S., house of representatives, and a reception and dance, at which Mrs. Gann, a sister of Vice President Curtis, received the delegates. An impressive service in Thursday's session was the presentation of state flags, the Nutmeg flag, the gift of Connecticut societies, being presented by William W. Gaylord, Jr., of Amos Morris society. This was followed by interesting addresses in the afternoon at exercises at the National Cathedral, Mt. Saint Albans, by Mrs. Percy Edwards Quin, national president and Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D., bishop of Washington, Princess Cantacuzene, speaking on the topic, "Russia, Its Destruction," was on the morning programme.

A service of special note at the tomb of the Unknown Revolutionary soldier in the Old Presbyterian Meetinghouse cemetery, Alexandria, Va., included an address by Hon. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, associate justice of the court of appeals, D. C., after which the delegates enjoyed a sightseeing trip to historic spots in Alexandria.

The final session will be held today (Saturday) with the annual pilgrimage to Mt. Vernon, the service to have two addresses, "George Washington the Man," by Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, bishop of Virginia, and "George Washington the Statesman," by Hon. Frank W. Mondell.

PASSING ON RIGHT WAS CAUSE FOR ARREST

When John G. Lukaszewicz of this city, found the automobile ahead of him on the Post road in Groton late Thursday proceeding at too slow a pace to suit him, and saw himself unable to pass it because of a car coming in the opposite direction, he made the mistake of passing the first named vehicle on its right hand side. Unfortunately for him, State Trooper William McKenzie of the Groton barracks was driving the other car, and he promptly arrested the Norwich man for reckless driving. He will be presented in the Groton court.

STAFFORD TOWN MEETING LIMITS ROAD EXPENDITURES

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 18.—By a yea and nay vote the motion embodied in the warning of the meeting for an appropriation for improvement of Stafford street highway was voted down by an approximate gathering of 150 voters at a special town meeting here tonight.

The meeting also voted that the selectmen of the town must keep within and not expend more than $16,000 in repairs to highways of the town, the amount adopted in the budget last fall.

Judge William H. Heald was moderator of the meeting and J. Carl Converse, clerk.

OBITUARY

Learned B. Denison

Learned B. Denison, formerly of this city, died Friday morning at his home, No. 26 Huntington street, Hartford, after a long illness. He was born in this city August 21, 1864, the son of John L., and Frances B. Denison. Handicapped from early youth because of an accident, he lived his life uncomplainingly with a patience and a desire to help. For the last 15 years Mr. Denison was associated with the Underwood Typewriter Co., at Hartford, and during that period was said never to have been late for work.

Mr. Denison was a member of Summit lodge, I. O. O. F., Miriam Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., Miriam Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., Griffin Steadman Camp, No. 6, Sons of Union Veterans, the Royal Arcanum, R. H. Webb council, all of Hartford, and was a member of the Asylum street, Baptist church, Hartford. The burial will be in Norwich.

He is survived by his widow, Amelia M. Denison, a brother, Marion B. Denison of Wethersfield, and several nieces and nephews. Mr. Denison's father was a well known Norwich resident. He was a deacon of the Central Baptist church and superintendent of the church Sunday school for some years. He was an accountant and was employed by the Henry Bill Publishing Co. About 30 years ago the family moved to Hartford where Mr. Denison Sr., was employed by the Travelers Insurance Co.

Mrs. Oliver Eccleston

Mrs. Harriet A. Hewitt, 73, widow of Oliver Eccleston, died suddenly Friday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock at her home, No. 58 Lafayette street. Mrs. Eccleston was stricken with heart trouble. She had been a resident of Norwich for a number of years and was a member of the Central Baptist church. She is survived by two brothers, Palmer Hewitt, with whom she made her home, and Stanton Hewitt of Preston.

Mrs. Eccleston was well known to many Norwich people by whom she was highly respected. Her many friends and acquaintances extend heartfelt sympathy to the surviving brothers.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Charles D. Swain

The funeral of Mrs. Charles D. Swain was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, No. 12 Maple street, with many relatives and friends present. Rev. Joseph F. Cobb, of Windham, conducted the service at the home and the committal service at the grave in Hamilton avenue cemetery. There were many beautiful floral tributes and friends acted as bearers. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Walter Samokar

With a large attendance of relatives and friends, the funeral of Walter Samokar was held at 9 o'clock Friday morning from his brother's home at 197 Yantic street, where Rev. Wladyslaw Nikolsky said prayers, followed by a requiem high mass in St. Nicholas Orthodox church at 9:30 o'clock, where the priest conducted services. The choir sang hymns. Friends from the St. Nicholas society acting as bearers were: Fred Tupika, Harry Garon, Alexander Harelik, Andrew Harelik, Styf Magylewicz, Anthony Baranczyk and Wasil Laput. The flowers were beautiful and numerous. Burial took place in St. Nicholas cemetery, where Rev. Nikolsky conducted the committal service at the grave. Surviving are his parents in the old country, two brothers, and many friends who were shocked to hear of his sudden death. J. Wojtkowski had charge of the funeral arrangements.

EASTER PAGEANT FOR FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, the great religious Easter pageant entitled "The Questioner," will be presented. This pageant was written by Lyman Bayard, the author of many religious pageants. Critics are of the opinion that he has done his best piece of work in "The Questioner." The following is a brief synopsis of the pageant: Time, the day of enlightenment place, the courtyard of the Inn called life; characters, The Questioner, Robert Burke; Death, Ralph Mitchell; Doubt, Albert Brend; Gold, Mervin Leffingwell; An Old Man, Thomas Farrell; A Worker, Francis Hopkins; Wisdom, Mazie L. Stamm; Pleasure, Emily Sandberg; Nature, Myrtle Connors; History, Florence Leffingwell; Reason, Elley Nielsen; Religion, Ruth Hopkins; Experience, Edith Pulsifer; Sorrow, Zeldah Mourey; Faith, Grace Mitchell; Love, Celeste Copeland; Joy, Doris Pulsifer; A Mother, Edna Jones; A Daughter, Eleanor Hopkins; Three Children, Doris Sandberg, Ruth Howard and Richard Kyle.

There will be special lighting features and scenic effects, with beautiful costumes and music. The service begins at 7:30 o'clock.

EASTER SERVICES FOR BOZRAH BAPTIST CHURCH

Easter services for the Bozrah Baptist church at Leffingwell, where Rev. George W. Borden is pastor, are to be carried out with the following programme:

Festival Prelude, Dudley Buck; Holy, Holy Holy; invocation, pastor; solo, "At Calvary's Cross," Helen Spicer; responsive reading; hymn; scripture lesson, congregation; solo, "Garden of Peace," Linda Mowrey; prayer and response; solo, "Calvary"; offering, Carolyn Beebe; Welcome Sweet Springtime, junior choir; sermon; hymn, Mighty Meaning of Easter, pastor; benediction; Postlude in C, Rockwell. Mrs. G. W. Borden will be at the organ.

For Driving Overloaded Truck

In East Lyme Thursday State Policeman Arthur Whitmarsh arrested Arad Robinson, Willimantic, on a charge of operating an overloaded truck. The trooper found that the man's 7 1-2-ton truck had an overload of almost two tons. He will be presented in the East Lyme justice court.

GOVERNOR CONGRATULATES NORWICH FOR ITS ENTERPRISE IN OPENING TEN WEEKS RADIO BROADCAST

"The Doctor 'n the Schoolmaster" went on the air Friday night at 10 o'clock in the opening episode of a series of ten 30-minute weekly sketches bringing Norwich before the radio audience. The broadcast was from station WTIC, Hartford, and was heard here generally with great distinctness and with much interest as the dialogue was carried on by Secretary John Richardson of the Norwich chamber of commerce, who was in the role of "The Schoolmaster," and Leonard J. Patricelli, continuity writer of WTIC, who carried the other role.

Promptly at the hour for the broadcast, Edwin Rogers announced the opening of the series and presented Governor John H. Trumbull to introduce the series.

Governor Trumbull was heard clearly as he expressed his pleasure at the opportunity to introduce the Norwich broadcast, complimenting Norwich upon its enterprise in spreading abroad the romantic story of the city's growth and development, which was not alone the story of Norwich but was typical of the history of New England.

Musical Interludes

Musical interludes which were used by the orchestra in the course of the broadcast included a minuet for the colonial period, an Indian air and taps in connection with mention of the Uncas monument, the dashing sea song, Nancy Lee, in connection with maritime history. There was also an orchestral opening and conclusion.

While some sections of the city and town reported excellent reception other sections reported very poor reception, due to outside interference. This was especially true of the Thamesville section where a number of people were forced to shut off their sets due to a continual roar that made reception impossible. The West Side section was also extremely noisy. In other sections, including Broadway, Washington street, Orchard street, Oak street, Norwich Town and Taftville the reception was very good.

"The Doctor 'n The Schoolmaster"

The broadcast proceeded as follows:

ANNOUNCER: The program for the next half hour, ladies and gentlemen, is sponsored by the Merchants Bureau of the Chamber of ommerce, of Norwich, the shopping center of eastern Connecticut, which boasts of 271 years of chartered government, is known as the Rose of New England. The origin of the name is lost in the mists of by-gone days. But there is a fanciful suggestion of a rose in the shape of the city. On the east and the west, the Yantic and Shetucket rivers plunge and tumble among hills that might be likened to the petals of a rose, the business section of Norwich is the heart, and the stem is the sober Thames river, rolling sedately to the sea.

Just a stone's throw off the main highway from Norwich south to New London, the second most important highway artery in the state, over which more than 2,000 motor vehicles pass daily, stands the new Norwich Inn. From easy-chairs on the porch, there are delightful vistas of the Thames river, with a clear sweep of Trading Cove and the rolling hills of Connecticut's most beautiful country.

The time is late afternoon, the sun is beginning to drop toward the west, we are nearing the end of a June day, a day of rare calm, whose closing brings a potent invitation to reverie. Two men are seated on the porch of the inn, both well into middle age. One is a schoolmaster. The other, whose voice you will first hear, is a doctor. We leave you with them, on the porch of the Norwich inn.

DOCTOR: Well, professor, what do you think of it, as far as you've gone?

SCHOOLMASTER: I haven't gone far enough yet, doctor, but I'll say that Norwich is unique among cities!

DOCTOR: Yes, indeed! I doubt if there is another city in the whole United States remotely like it! Where else, will you find another spot in which primitive wilderness stands elbow-to-elbow with the culture of 1930?

SCHOOLMASTER: I noticed that, doctor. Your city is a panorama of American history.

DOCTOR: Why, professor, I stood this morning in a thicket that hasn't been touched, very likely, since the days of old Uncas. Thirty or forty feet below me, lay a door-yard that hasn't changed since we cut loose from King George, the Third, an old-fashioned garden with old-fashioned flowers, a quaint brick sidewalk in herringbone pattern, a doorway architects rave about. Across the way, a trolley car with a noisy bell, invited a motor car to one side. In the background, I saw smoke rising from the chimney of one of the most modern manufacturing plants in the country, but that's typical of Norwich.

SCHOOLMASTER: And that is why I believe I will like the town. Its incongruities are startling, but very charming, also!

DOCTOR: You'll like it, professor, nice country, nice people.

SCHOOLMASTER: But what I had in mind when I said "unique" was the industrial side. So many advantages have been placed at your door-step.

DOCTOR: Pardon me, professor, the door-step was built in front of the advantages.

SCHOOLMASTER: Have it your own way! But just consider now, here's the Thames river flowing from your harbor due south to Long Island Sound.—by the way, doctor, why do you people call it the "Thames?" It's spelled exactly as the English "Temz."

DOCTOR: Just another incongruity, professor. The English may like their London on the "Temz," but we prefer our Norwich on the Thames.

SCHOOLMASTER: That may be an explanation, but I doubt it! As I was about to say, however, you have a very remarkable river here in the Thames. Not only is it accommodating enough to make Norwich a seaport, but it is also very fortunate in its selection of tributaries.

DOCTOR: Yes, there's water-power all around us. Without the developments on the Yantic and the Shetucket and on the old Quinebaug, Norwich wouldn't be on the map.

SCHOOLMASTER: In other words, it might not be worth a war-whoop!

DOCTOR: Possibly not that bad. But we thank our lucky stars that the pioneers saw fit to found our city near to the mouth of the horn of plenty. Prosperity rolls out on us. The war-whoop is still with us, as a memory. We pass daily visible reminders of a century of colonial tradition, we had a share in the building of the nation, we played no small part in the development of commerce and industry. And today you'll find the spirit of Norwich as modern as an American thermos bottle.

SCHOOLMASTER: If I'm not mistaken, Norwich is the home of the American thermos bottle.

DOCTOR: Correct, professor! Proves my point, doesn't it?

SCHOOLMASTER: Couldn't be any more up-to-date! In the march of progress, you're still in the front rank and keeping step!

DOCTOR: I see you're interested in the facts of industry. Would it surprise you to know that Norwich was one of the first towns in the colony to make experiment in manufacture?

SCHOOLMASTER: Nothing concerning Norwich will surprise me, Doctor!

DOCTOR: The manufacture of paper was begun here in 1766. Christopher Leffingwell built our first paper-mill. And one of our own newspapers, the Connecticut Gazette, was printed on paper from that same mill.

SCHOOLMASTER: (Pondering), Leffingwell? wasn't there a man by the same name who made stockings here?

DOCTOR: Same man, and in the same year. He had a number of interests, and the weaving of stockings was but one of them.

SCHOOLMASTER: I know he opened the first chocolate mill, in 1770. And two years later, he had a competitor in Simon Lathrop. They tell me the chocolate industry here was once of considerable importance.

DOCTOR: Pottery, too. The making of pottery was begun in 1766, and it continued far into the nineteenth century.

SCHOOLMASTER: I saw some specimens of that pottery yesterday.

DOCTOR: You'll see many an interesting sight when you come to nosing around Norwich. Have you seen a calash yet?

SCHOOLMASTER: I wouldn't know a calash from a Hubbard squash. Is it a vegetable?

DOCTOR: There is some resemblance to a Hubbard squash. You see, the style of the day demanded a cushion, stuffed with wool and covered with silk, as part of the dressing of the hair. The cushion was placed on the head, and the hair combed up over it and pinned. Of course, a bonnet was impossible! So a calash was used, instead. It was very large and wide, and fitted over this elaborate head-dressing, to protect it for a trip outdoors.

SCHOOLMASTER: And when a good, stiff breeze was blowing up the Thames?

DOCTOR: The ladies must have had their troubles! But haven't they always endured much for fashion's sake. You'll find some of those calashes about town yet, I presume.

SCHOOLMASTER: How does it happen, doctor, that so much clothing of the colonial period has existed until today?

DOCTOR: I have a theory. The ladies are responsible. They had a passion, almost a mania, for gathering and hoarding articles of dress, even beyond possibility of use. They preserved it by the chest-full. And not only clothing, but everything else in proportion.

SCHOOLMASTER: Parasols and umbrellas were unknown doctor. The nearest approach was a fan, a foot and a half long, which could be used to keep off the sun. And one of them could raise a fairly strong wind.

DOCTOR: The ladies were very fond of long-trained gowns, and they carried the train over their arms. And embroidered slippers, with high French heels.

SCHOOLMASTER: The men, too, I believe were a gay lot. Full dress meant silk or satin throughout, with an embroidered waistcoat. Trimmings were of gold and silver lace. It was all very expensive! No wonder they took great care of their clothes.

DOCTOR: I've often dreamed, professor, of what some of these old colonial places must have looked like in their hey-day. If we could only step into one of them for even a moment, with the clock turned back a century and a half, what a sight, eh, professor?

SCHOOLMASTER: White wigs and powdered hair, beauty patches, old glass shimmering in candle-light. Silver buckles on knees and shoes, fragrance of lavender in the air, there would be music, perhaps, on the harpsichord, one of those old tunes, such as our forefathers loved.

DOCTOR: I see you can get as romantic as myself, in spite of your very modern, industrial mind.

SCHOOLMASTER: There's romance in industry, and in commerce, also. For myself, I've found the work of Captain Coit very absorbing. It was one of his suggestions, in fact, that gave birth to the Adams Express company, known today as the American Railway Express.

DOCTOR: Indeed!

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, he was a steamboat captain running between Norwich and New York. Adams used to make the trip with him frequently, and always complaining for the lack of something to do. Captain Coit called his attention to the number of parcels on board the boat and suggested that Mr. Adams take care of them.

DOCTOR: Friendly act!

BAR ASSOCIATION CLAIMS NEED OF MORE JUDGES

Steps to secure additional judges for the superior courts of the state were taken by the New Haven County Bar association at a special meeting before the short calendar session of the court. The members of the association feel that extra judges should be available in case of sickness on the part of any of the present judges of the high court. A committee was appointed to handle the matter.

Although the need for additional judges has been felt for some time by the state attorneys, it is believed that matters were brought to a head at the opening of the spring session of the superior courts. At that time Judge John Rufus Booth was to have gone to New Haven to preside over one of the civil courts there, but through an order of Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of the supreme court, Judge Booth remained in Middletown to finish up the docket there.

Judge Christopher L. Avery was ordered to New Haven by the chief justice when members of the New Haven county bar petitioned for another judge to take up the work of Judge Booth. This appointment did not cause much relief, as just at that time Judge Edward M. Yeomans, who was to have taken up the work in the other side of the civil superior court, became ill. Judge Avery stayed in New Haven for a week, when Judge Yeomans was able to take up his work.

Judge Booth finished his work in Middletown Wednesday and went immediately to New Haven. He sat at the short calendar session with Judge Edwin C. Dickenson, while Judge Yeomans took up the hearing of cases without a jury.

"KINGS" WAS TOPIC FOR CLOSING LENTEN ADDRESS

A splendid group of business men and others attended the final service of the annual lenten series at the local Young Men's Christian association, Friday noon, and the meeting was a most impressive one. With Edwin Wigley at the piano, the opening was "Saviour, Thy dying love." Rev. George H. Strouse offered a very helpful prayer. General Secretary Edwin Hill, who presided, speaking in behalf of the management and the men who had attended the series, expressed to the speaker deep and heartfelt appreciation, and presented Rev. J. R. Danforth, of New London, with an Easter plant as a slight token of esteem. Dr. Danforth spoke from the topic, "Kings," his words making a deep and unusual impression on everyone present. He spoke in part as follows: "After many other occupations and stations in life, king is the one which is by most of us regarded as the highest. Carlyle derives the word king from the man who can. The people want to do something and the man who can do it and lead the rest in the doing is the king. But we often find despair and disappointment instead, for the man who can is also able to do the wrong thing and lead astray.

So it was with Herod. The slaughter of the infants in Bethlehem was so small a crime for him that it hardly counted at all. Wives and children of his own were done to death lest they should conspire against him to seize his throne. And his kingdom was only a little one and subject to Rome at that. So the emporer had him like a dog chained to his kennel. He could make a terrible nuisance of himself, but only in a little space. But even Herod had a conscience. God meant something to him. And as he feared what his deeds might mean to God he built a most beautiful temple to cover his crimes from God's sight. But nothing could really do that. In that temple chanced many a stranger. Once and again a king might come. But a real king of a very different sort came often It was Christ. His kingdom was not of this world. His control was very different from that of Herod. No crimes to cover. A great love for God, His Father. A desiretha t the temple should be in truth, what it was in name, a house of prayer.

In the eyes of the world the Herod idea prevailed over the Christ idea. They led Him out on that Friday in the long ago and crucified Him. And over His head was written I N R I. The Latin initial of "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews." To us He comes today as our own king, the only one we have or want to have. And we can make our own inscription, "Jesus of Nazareth, My King."

The closing hymn was "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and Dr. Danforth pronounced the benediction.

The preacher will be Rabbi Lave Becker of the Jewish Theological seminary of New York.

CONNECTICUT VOTE SHOWS STATE WETTEST

Connecticut is the wettest state in the nation and Rhode Island is close behind it, according to the Literary Digest poll on prohibition, as published in this week's issue of the magazine. On the present figures Connecticut appears to have over a 50 per cent vote for repeal and but 18 per cent for enforcement. The Connecticut figures are 11,932 for enforcement, 20,952 for modification, 33,306 for repeal. Rhode Island gives 2,735 for enforcement, 3,377 for modification and 6,471 for repeal.

Kansas continues to be the only bone dry state to date with almost 58 per cent of its vote for enforcement and 18 per cent of its returns for repeal.

Connecticut, Louisiana, New Jersey, and Rhode Island each give a majority of their vote for repeal.

The dryest vote by national geographical sections is registered in the west south central states, which includes Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and the wet state of Louisiana.

The wettest sentiment is noted in the middle Atlantic states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

This is the sixth week of the returns and the entire vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment continues to lead with over 41 per cent of the total of 3,175,972 ballots returned from the entire forty-eight states.

The break-up of the grand total gives 915,681 votes for enforcement; 951,475 for modification; and 1,303,816 for repeal.

This shows over 28 per cent of the total vote for strict enforcement while practically 30 per cent favor modification to legalize light wines and beers.

DROWNED IN MILL CANAL AT STAFFORD SPRINGS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 18.—Frederick Hubert, 7, son of Mrs. Sophia Hubert of Silver street, was drowned in the canal of the Johnson Woolen mill here this afternoon. The youth, in company with another boy, climbed under a fence near the water and while playing on the bank fell into the raceway. His body was recovered about 6:15 o'clock, three-quarters of an hour after the accident.

The child is survived by his mother and several brothers and sisters.

APPEALS FROM ASSESSMENT PUT ON HIS PROPERTY

James A. Hiscox of No. 605 Main street, has filed an appeal in the superior court from assessments made on two pieces of property which he owns in the town of Norwich. The appeal is directed against the town and papers have been served on Selectman William S. Murray.

One of the pieces of property is in the rear of Franklin street and the other piece is on the westerly side of Goldberg avenue. The Franklin street property was assessed for $131,645 and the Goldberg avenue property a $2,050. Mr. Hiscox appealed to the board of relief but his appeal was denied. He now appeals to the superior court, on the grounds that the assessments are excessive.

MOOSEHEART LEGION

The degree team of Chapter 124 Women of Mooseheart legion, held a surprise party for Mrs. Gilchrist Thursday evening, in honor of her birthday, at the home of Mrs Nellie Don, 24 Main street.

The table was very attractive, the color scheme being pink and green. A delicious supper was served by Mrs. Don, assisted by Mrs. Teresa Watters, consisting of salad, cold meat, pickles, rolls, fancy cookies and coffee. The favors were fancy cups filled with tiny Easter eggs. Mrs. Gilchrist received many gifts among them a beautiful tapestry bag, from the degree team.

Radio and piano selections were enjoyed, also fortune telling.

There will be a meeting of the degree team Thursday evening after the regular meeting. A dance is planned for the benefit of the team in the near future with Mrs. Mary Edwards as chairman.

Quoted The Wrong Name

Through the misuse of a name in the common pleas court session when liquor violation cases were on trial it was reported that Arthur Chartier of Jewett City was a witness whom the prosecuting attorney discredited. The person indicated by the prosecuting attorney was Victor Chartier and not Arthur.

JEWETT CITY

STRANGER CLARKE SEEKS WINE CASKS BURIED IN CELLAR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, April 18.—A man named Clarke has been in town to visit a friend here and to see if he can locate the house where his father lived, some 50 years ago. The family moved from here to Fall River, where the visitor now resides. When the parents left Jewett City, not being able to find room on the load for two 10-gallon casks of wine, the same were buried in the cellar to await a later visit. For some reason the return visit was never made, with the result that the priceless cache is located somewhere around these diggings right now, aging in the wood. After inquiries were made regarding one-time Clarke families, from Dennis Barnett, J. E. Phillips and other of the older residents, a strict search was made, but with, as yet, zero results. If any direct clue shows up, one of the contractor's big steam shovels will be available for the unearthing job, which promises to be extensive.

Those who attended the County Pomona grange in Groton Thursday from Pachaug grange were Miss Clara Hyde and Bessie McCluggage, Mrs. Hattie Edmond, Fred Edmond, Elmer Miller, Mrs. Jane Lester, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Miss Susie Morgan, Mrs. Alice Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis, and Rev. G. F. Goodenough. From Lisbon grange, Mrs. Rose Maurice and Everett Thornton.

The children of the Congregational Sunday school are to give an Easter program during the Sunday school hour in the vestry, under direction of Mrs. F. E. Robinson.

Pachaug grange had a Rally night Thursday with nearly 100 members present. The program included: Song, The Model Grange; selections by an orchestra, Mrs. E. E. Lewis, piano; Mary and Reginald Lewis, harmonicas; Clayton Lewis, jews-harp, and Russell Brand, banjo; roll call, "What I Like Best About the Grange," responded to by a large number; two trio numbers, Doan' Yo Cry, Ma Honey, and Whale Did Swallow Jonah, sung by Mrs. Byron Kinnie, Mrs. Walter Hyde and Miss Mabel Frink; an original ode to the members of Pachaug grange, with allusion to all the families of the grange, composed by Worthy Chaplain G. F. Goodenough, was much enjoyed; a medley of old-time tunes by the orchestra was followed by a playlet, "Routing Ma Out," by Mrs. Frank Morgan, Eva Whipple, Marjorie Webster, Grace and Herbert Campbell and George Frink; song by the grange, Melody of Spring. The special feature of the meeting for May 1st was announced as a harmonica contest. Musicians' Night will be observed and all members were requested to bring any musical instrument which they can play.

At St. Mary's church the ceremonies commemorating the end of Holy Week began Thursday, the blessed sacrament being carried in a procession of children to the repository on the altar of the Blessed Virgin. Friday there was the mass of the pre-sanctified and veneration of the cross and the stations of the cross. Today (Saturday) there will be the blessing of the new fire, the Paschal candle and the Easter water.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

What Unc' Billy Didn't Know

Some selfishness may have its use,
E'en though it seems without excuse.
—Mrs. Quack.

Unc' Billy Possum was certain that pretty soon he would find the nest of Mrs. Quack the Mallard Duck. In fact, he had no doubt whatever. He had followed Mr. Quack down the Laughing Brook to the Big River. The water was shallow in the Big River for some distance along the shore below where the Laughing Brook entered In this shallow water grew wild rice. It was already beginning to show. The old stalks of last year formed brown clumps. It was a wonderful hiding place for water-loving birds. A couple of Jerry Muskrat's relatives had built houses there.

Unc' Billy stood on the shore and thought to himself that here was just the kind of place a Duck would like for nesting. He had lost sight for the moment of Mr. Quack, for Mr. Quack was slipping about among those brown clumps and it was hard to keep track of him. But presently Unc' Billy saw his again and he still appeared to have nothing in particular on his mind. He was preening his feathers and taking a great deal of care in doing so. Then what do you think he did Well, he settled himself for a nap. Yes, sir, that is what he did.

Unc' Billy Possum was disgusted. He didn't want Mr. Quack to go to sleep But there was nothing he could do about it. Perhaps after all it was a good sign. Perhaps Mrs. Quack was close by. What would be more natural close by. What would be more natural than for Mr. Quack to take a nap near the place where his mate was sitting on the eggs. So thought Unc' Billy and felt better for thinking it. Just back a little way on the bank was a tree. Unc' Billy climbed the tree and crept out on a branch, where he could look down on Mr. Quack. It was a splendid place to keep watch. He would look down among those old clumps of wild rice in all directions. His eyes gleamed with eagerness. He felt sure that Mrs. Quack was hidden down there somewhere and he felt equally sure that the instant she moved he would see her

But time slipped by and nothing happened. Mr. Quack continued to sleep. Once Unc' Billy saw a Muskrat swimming. Finally, Mr. Quack awoke, shook out his feathers, raised himself on the water and flapped his wings.

"Now," said Unc' Billy, "Brer Mallard will go sit on the aigs while Sis' Mallard goes to get something to eat."

He swam out into the middle of the river

But Brer Mallard did nothing of the sort. He swam out into the middle of the river. You see, there was something that Unc' Billy didn't know, or he wouldn't have been wasting his time watching Mr. Quack. He didn't know that Mr. Quack is somewhat selfish and leaves the care of those precious eggs entirely to Mrs. Quack He didn't know that Mr. Quack usually goes off by himself after the eggs are laid. He goes off by himself, or joins a party of others of his kind, who are also selfish and leave the care of the eggs and young to their mates. Of course, there was no one for Mr. Quack to join here, so he was staying by himself. Mrs. Quack's nest was not down at the Big River or anywhere near the Big River.

Unc' Billy remained up in that tree the rest of that day. Mrs. Quack swam across the Big River and didn't come back. Then Unc' Bily began to wonder if Mrs. Quack's nest was across the Big River. He couldn't quite believe that, however, for had he not seen Mrs. Quack up in the Smiling Pool?

"Ah'll done go back to the Smilin' Pool," thought Unc' Billy, "and see if Sis' Mallard is aroun' there tonight. Ah reckon Ah mus' have made a mistake somehow Seems lak Ah jus' must have some of those aigs."

THE PORTEOUS & MITCHELL CO.

NEW LONDON C. G. OFFICER DEMENTED AS FAKED PICTURE SCHEME PROVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 18—Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith this afternoon arrested an officer of the United States coast guard, charged with being an imposter, but there will not be any court procedure for the service man is unquestionably of unsound mentality and he has already been delivered into the custody of the coast guard officials. The arrest of the service man was at the instigation of officials of the Garde theatre. Yesterday the coastguarder went about the city and interviewed merchants and Connecticut College for Women instructors, asserting that he represented Warner Brothers, motion picture producers and that a picture was shortly to be taken in New London for production at an early date. The picture, it was claimed, would be entitled, "Paul Jones, Jr." The coastguarder said that this branch of the federal service would be pictured in the production, as would girls from the college and that a ball would also be given in connection with the picture production. When it was ascertained that Warner Brothers had not authorized any such plan and knew nothing of the solicitor, complaint was made to the police. A description of the solicitor was given the police, but it was not until late this afternoon that the coastguarder was apprehended.

The flag on the municipal building has been set at half staff as a tribute of respect to Patrolman John P. Foley, who died at Lawrence Memorial hospital from pneumonia Wednesday afternoon.

North Bank street, between State and John streets, was never in a worse condition of repair because of repairs not being made. The entire street is filled with ruts and depressions and that autos have not suffered broken springs is more through good fortune than anything else.

Good Friday, as usual, was a typical holiday in New London, as business generally was suspended. Practically all stores, other than chain stores, remained closed all day. But one mail delivery was made by the post office department. In the Catholic and Episcopal churches solemn services marked the observance of the day and Easter Sunday special music will be provided at special services and there will be elaborate floral decorations in most of the churches.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kaufman left today on a motor trip. During the absence from the city of the physician his duties as medical examiner will be attended to by City Physician George P. Cheney.

ANTHONY MAUERMAN SOUGHT—STRUCK WOMAN IN FACE

Mrs. Helen Babayan, 151 Main street, made complaint to the police this afternoon that she had been assaulted by Anthony Mauerman and requested that he be arrested. Automobile Patrol Officer George Cockell instituted a search for Mauerman, who is a roof worker, but was unable to find him. Mrs. Babayan said that she was walking on North Bank street when she encountered Mauerman, who occupies an apartment in the same house as the complainant. After a brief exchange of words, the woman declared that Mauerman struck her a stinging blow on the face. Mauerman was arrested March 27, charged with perjury, being arrested by State Police Officer John Smith, who claimed that Mauerman gave false testimony in Montville when the latter applied for a license to drive. Two days later in the police court the charge against Mauerman was nolled.

DESERTED WIFE AND CHILD—N. Y. POLICE WANT BREUER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 18—August Breuer, a painter, was arrested this afternoon by Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith charged with being a fugitive from justice. He was held in bail of $1,500 for the New York police, who requested that Breuer be apprehended. Breuer furnished a surety on his bond, and tomorrow when he is presented in the police court, the case will be continued to a date sufficiently distant to permit an officer to come to this city and take charge of the prisoner. It is claimed that Breuer, who has been estranged from his wife for a long time, abandoned her and their daughter of 14 in New York, and since the abandonment, he has utterly failed to contribute to the support of either wife or child.

GAVITT RESIDENCE SOLD TO NEW JERSEY REALTOR

Frederick H. Gavitt, proprietor of the Hotel Royal, today sold his residence, one of the most valuable in Waterford, to Fred M. Young, realtor of Grantwood, N. J. The price paid was $38,000. Mr. Young and his daughter, Mrs. K. Smith, the latter also of Grantwood, will occupy the residence and already Mrs. Smith is residing there. The residence is constructed on a commanding site on the New Haven highway, at Mos... [illegible] a site which is part of several acres. The residence has not been occupied by Mr. Gavitt for over a year.

Thompson, of 265 Crystal avenue, were married last night at the Berkeley street Congregational church, Boston. The best man was Ellery Thompson, brother of the bride. Miss Eleanor Thompson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Lawry are in Washington, D. C., on a wedding trip and upon its conclusion will reside in New London. Mr. Lawry is employed by the Portland Trawling company.

Miss Dorothy Andrews, of Gorton street, and Miss Virginia David, Bellevue place, will spend Easter in New York and West Point, having gone to New York today.

NORWICH DRIVER CUT AROUND THE WRONG CAR

John G. Lukaszewicz, of Norwich, was arrested in Groton last night by State Police Officer William Elmer MacKenzie, charged with reckless driving. He will be tried in the Groton town court Monday next. The driver was on the Post road and the automobile ahead of the Lukaszewicz car not proceeding fast enough to suit the Norwich man, he attempted to pass it on the right hand side because of the approach of a machine from the opposite direction. The car that was ahead of Lukaszewicz's, happened to be driven by the state police officer and an arrest was the result.

Herman Jeim, submarine base, was arrested in Waterford last night by State Police Officer John Smith, charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license and reckless driving. He will be in the Waterford town court Monday next.

Arad Robison, Willimantic, was arrested yesterday at East Lyme by State Police Officer Arthur Whitmarsh, charged with overloading a truck. Robinson's truck is licensed to carry seven and one-half tons and its load yesterday was close to 10 tons.

Stanley Baldygar, Montville youth, was arrested last night by State Police Officer William E. MacKenzie, charged with evading payment of a taxicab fare. He was brought to New London and locked up.

MRS. DAVID HALE, 104, DIES AT PORTLAND

Mrs. Harriet B. Hale, 104, a native of New London, died last night at her residence in Portland, Conn. She was the widow of David Hale and is survived only by nieces and nephews. Mrs. Hale was born in New London June 23, 1825. Until a few weeks ago, Mrs. Hale was in sound health. She resided with her housekeeper.

Five more autoists will be deprived of their privilege to drive for the greater part of two weeks. Today Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel ordered the suspension of the licenses of Paul Raucci, U. S. Coast Guard academy; George Gannon, 61 Colman street; Joseph Moore, submarine base; Mrs. Anna Knapp, 2 Crystal avenue and Richard McCary, 34 Denison avenue.

Police Sergeant Patrick Murphy was unable to perform duty last night, being confined to his home with a severe cold.

FAKE ADVERTISING AGENT GETS OFF WITH COURT COSTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 18—Richard Dunham, New Haven and Meriden, was in Groton town court today charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. He escaped severe punishment, for Dunham was only fined the costs of the court, about $15 and was placed on probation. Dunham, who used the alias of Charles Allen, went to Groton yesterday and represented to merchants that he had been authorized to solicit advertisements which would appear in a publication soon to be produced by the Connecticut State Building Trades council, New Haven. After Dunham had obtained money from several merchants, the fact that the solicitor was making a canvass of the merchants was reported at the state police barracks, Groton. Inquiry of the trade council in New Haven brought the information that Dunham was an impostor. Officer William Elmer MacKenzie traced Dunham to Norwich, where he was arrested and locked up at police headquarters for the night.

Evaded Responsibility

John Pasley, United States Coast Guard, was in the police court today charged with evasion of responsibility, upon complaint of Samuel Carlson of High street, Noank. The case was continued to Saturday, the 26th inst. Pasley was driving on Main street last night and near the corner of Church, the car crashed against Carlson's auto. Pasley did not stop, but Carlson noted the markers and supplied the information at police headquarters. It was then ascertained that the colliding car is owned by R. J. Littleton and when the owner was interrogated it was revealed that the car had been loaned Pasley. Automobile Patrol Officer Thomas Cavanaugh sought and arrested Pasley.

The other cases tried were for intoxication and there were two of them. Both men, one an old offender, were given suspension of judgment.

The police are positive that the thieves who have stolen many automobiles of late, taking the cars from their places of parking and after going for a joy ride, abandon them in another part of the city, are residents of East New London or vicinity for three of the last of the autos stolen have been abandoned in the East New London section. Last night R. G. Foster, Poquonoc bridge, drove to New London and went to the state armory, Colt street where he parked his car. When he returned for the car, it had been stolen. A report of the theft was made at police headquarters and several hours later the car was found abandoned on Lewis street. Earlier in the week another of the stolen autos was found abandoned on that street and still another was found abandoned on Cole street, a short distance from the former street.

GALES FERRY

The following is of interest to Gales Ferry residents, Mr. Risdon's parents have occupied their summer residence in the village for a number of years. A New York paper of Wednesday, the 9th, said:

Miss Margaret Clay Smith, daughter of Colonel Clarence Browning Smith, United States army, retired, and Mrs. Smith, of 69 East Eighty-seventh street, was married to Charles Secor Risdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Claypole Risdon, also of this city, yesterday afternoon at the home of her uncle, Robcliff V. Jones, in Bronxville. Rev. Dr. H. Percy Silver, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, this city, performed the ceremony in the presence of a small gathering of relatives.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an Empire gown of old princess lace over eggshell satin and a veil of tulle. She carried a cluster of calla lilies.

Countess George Hoyos of Hewlett, L. I., was her sister's only attendant. Her frock was a peach-colored faille and she carried a bouquet of Spring flowers, peach color predominating.

Edward Bucleigh Lewis, Jr., was best man.

Mr. Risdon and his bride will sail today for Jamaica, and on their return will live at 210 East Sixty-eighth street. The bride, through her mother, is related to the Clay family of Kentucky and is a direct descendant of James Polk of Revolutionary fame and of John Brevard, aide-de-camp to General Washington. On the paternal side she is related to the Browning and Clarke families of South Carolina. Her father was the American delegate on the Austrian reparation commission. He is an officer in the Legion of Honor, a commander of the Crown of Italy and an officer of Etoile Noir. The bride attended school in Switzerland and at the Corbonne.

Mr. Risdon was graduated from Yale and during the World war was an ensign in the United States Navy.

The annual meeting of the Fire District of Gales Ferry was held Monday evening, at the Country club house, with a good attendance of voters. Prof. Chester E. Dimick was the choice for chairman and read the call for the meeting. Prof. Dimick clerk of the district, also read the minutes of the last annual meeting and a special meeting, these being approved. Walter M. Buckingham, collector, and D. R. Povey, treasurer, gave reports which were accepted. The election followed and the former officers: C. E. Dimick, clerk; W. M. Buckingham, collector, and D. R. Povey, treasurer, were continued in office for the ensuing year. It was voted to continue the same tax rate of 8 1-4 mills, payable the first of May. The meeting adjourned to April 28. It was announced that a supper is being arranged under the auspices of the Village Improvement association.

Mrs. Allan Penhallow and daughter, Mrs. Joseph Elder, of New London, called on their cousin, Mrs. Fred E. Richards at Long Cove Monday.

Mrs. Monett A. Lawson and daughter, Eloise of Long Cove, were callers recently on Mrs. Lawson's mother, Mrs. Harmon L. Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harold and Mrs. Harold's mother, Mrs. Marie Cathcart, have been entertaining Mrs. Cathcart's sister-in-law, Mrs. A. J. Allen of Springfield, Mass., for a few days at their home at the Submarine Base.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Robison and son Theodore of Meriden, have been visitors at their summer cottage on the Bluff.

A meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary auxiliary was held in the vestry of the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon. Twenty-five members and friends were present. Mrs. John Harold, president of the auxiliary, presided. Mrs. Courtland E. Colver was chairman of the special program, The Negro, as arranged for the Spring Jubilee meetings of auxiliaries. O Beautiful for Spacious Skies, was the opening hymn, Mrs. Eugene LaFontaine being at the piano. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins. The treasurer, Mrs. Colver, gave her report and also the annual conference report covering the year's work of the auxiliary and that of the Queen Esther circle. It was announced that the mite boxes were to be opened at the next session. The secretary, Mrs. Morton E. Crawford, read the roll call and minutes of the last meeting. The matter of the church budget pledges was presented and it was voted to continue the pledge of $26 for the year. The annual luncheon of the New England Southern Conference W. H. M. S. to be held in Providence was announced for Tuesday, April 29. It is expected that the local society will be represented. The hymn, In Christ There is No East or West, preceded a series of readings as follows on: Contribution of Individual Negroes, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Mrs. Colver; Booker T. Washington, Mrs. R. rving Hurlburt, Robert R. Moton, Mrs. Carl B. Lawson; Roland Hayes, Mrs. Nelson Parker, with an article, Negro Spirituals, by Mrs. Henry W. Hurlbutt. Hymn, Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory, followed. The mission enigma numbers presented with Easter booklets as favors, were conducted by Mrs. Marie Cathcart. America was sung as the closing number. Mrs. Fred E. Richards and Miss Alice Satterlee were the hostesses and were assisted in serving afternoon tea by Mrs. C. B. Lawson and Mrs. Charles Hoyt.

ASKS THAT CARNERA AND MANAGERS BE BARRED FROM BOUTS IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18—As a result of an unsatisfactory bout in Oakland last Monday Charles F. Traung, member of the state athletic commission, today recommended to the commission that the licenses of Primo Carnera huge Italian fighter and his three managers be revoked and that Carnera not be allowed to box again in California.

In addition to recommending the revoking of the licenses of Carnera, his manager, Leon See, of France, and two assistant managers, Bill Duffy and Walter Friedman, both of New York, Commissioner Traung urged the indefinite suspension of Tim McGrath, manager of Leon Chevalier, the Negro two seconds, Perry and Robert Laga and Frank Churchill of Los Angeles nationally known manager of boxers and Carnera's California representative.

"I have no doubt in my mind from the evidence that the action of the Second Perry was inspired by some person connected with the management of Carnera and the evidence taken at the hearing seems to support no other conclusion" Traung said.

The commissioner recommended that purses of the fighters be returned because there is no evidence that the fighters were not using their best efforts and a decision was rendered by the referee and under such a state of facts no authority exists under the law in the commission to forfeit any purse.

Carnera's 50 per cent. of the net receipts amounted to $13,230 while Chevalier had $1,500 of the total, $26,478 coming.

The statement cleared Carnera and Chevalier of any wrongdoing, declaring they were "undoubtedly doing their best."

Louis Parente, Oakland promoter of the bout, also was held blameless.

BALTIC S. A. C. SUPPORTS TWO BASEBALL TEAMS

The Baltic Social and Athletic baseball club are booking Saturday and Sunday games for the season with regular uniformed playing clubs.

The club has two teams in uniform, seniors and juniors. In writing for games state which club you wish to play and what guarantee you want and if you intend to pla them a return game.

Michael Coullard of the old Putnam team has taken charge of both teams and is acting as coach no manager has been elected but will be later on when the boys can decide this for themselves.

The following have been added to his staff: Arthur Coulard, formerly of the Socony club of New London who will look after the first team; Arthur Guillotte who will look after the second team and Albert Forster secretary and treasurer and Harry Collins who will act as booking agent and will look afte games played with both clubs.

Coullard and Collins are well known to the fans of eastern Connecticut.

The first team has the following games scheduled: No game will be played Saturday or Sunday; Sunday 27th., Majestics, of Westerly, at Baltic; Sunday, May 4th., Westerly Independents, at Baltic.

The Juniors will play the All Stars at Jewett City, Sunday, April 20th., and will leave by bus at 1 o'clock from the club house.

For games write to Michael Coullard or Harry Collins, Baltic Soial club, or Box 61, Baltic, Conn.

VELVETMEN CLASH WITH LEAGUE CHAMPIONS SUNDAY

All the soccer fans in this vicinity are expected to be on hand at the J. B. Martin field Sunday afternoon when the Velvetmen clash with Plainfield, Eastern Connecticut league champions. Plainfield clinched The Bulletin cup when the two teams met in Plainfield last Sunday in a thrilling game that had a large crowd on edge all the way, the Velvetmen losing, 1-0. There is sure to be 90 minutes of fast soccer when they meet this Sunday in the last league game of the season. Plainfield expects to use the line-up that did the trick last week and the J. B.'s team will be chosen from the following players: R. Smith, F. Orcutt, E. Eccleston, A. Headon, F. Thompson (capt.), H. Seidel, A. Alexander, G. Roehead, J. Houston, J. Archibald, B. Labenski, G. Edmonds.

MONTVILLE DUSTY LEAGUE DIRECTORS ARE NAMED

The second meeting of the Montville Twilight league was held in the Uncasville Community house Thursday night, with President Frank Richards presiding. Directors were named, as follows: Supt. W. Marsters, for the Corrugated Dept. of the Robert Gair Co.; Edmond Killeen, for the Connecticut Light & Power Co.; John Wylie, Sr., for the Textile Nine, composed of employes of the Uncasville-Shelton Corp. and the J. B. Martin Co.; Andrew Rosenlund, for the Robertson's Paper Box Co. A motion was made by Harvey Newton and seconded to have subscription season tickets printed and to be sold at $2 each. Treasurer Armand Plouffe was nominated to be the collector at the league games, assisted by managers of each playing team. The Spaulding $1 ball was adopted by the Industrial league. John McGinnis and Harvey Newton will draw up the game schedules and present them to the league at its next meeting Thursday, May 1st. Mr. McGinnis was asked by the board of directors to get in touch with the City league of New London for the purpose of hiring one of their umpires to umpire the league games on their night off.

All members of each team are requested to be present at the Robert Gair Co. diamond of Uncasville for the purpose of repairing the diamond for the coming season, Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m. Treasurer Plouffe will have charge of the hiring of water boys and boys to chase balls and to have the season tickets printed. At the last meeting held it was voted to turn over the balance of last year's money, amounting to $22, to Mr. McDermott, official scorer of last year's league, for his expenses for traveling to and from Norwich. Mr. McDermott accepted with thanks but refunded $11 to the Textile team treasurer, Manager Wylie.

The league rules are:

KOSKI IS FAVORITE TO WIN BOSTON MARATHON

BOSTON, April 18.—(AP)—Forgetting his previous disappointing performances, the experts tonight selected Karl Koski, the New York holder of the American marathon championship title, as the most likely of the 215 long distance runners entered in tomorrow's 34th annual Boston marathon.

For the past several years this bald-headed Finn has been made the night-before favorite, despite the presence of several previous winners in the races, and each time he has faltered in the home stretch. Twice he appeared to have the race well in hand but in 1927 he yielded to the furious spurt of the veteran Clarence DeMar and last year he was beaten during the final two miles by Johnny Miles of Hamilton, Ont.

DeMar, who has ran 12 Boston marathons, winning six of them, and Miles, who has won twice, in 1926 and 1929, will run again tomorrow, as will old Bill Kennedy, the Portchester, N. Y. bricklayer, who led the pack home in 1917.

DeMar, now 41 years old, finished ninth last year. He has been conceded but little chance to win his seventh victory because of his advanced age. Miles, who set the course record of 2:33:08 4-5 last year is regarded as the other most outstanding runner in this year's field.

Eight of the first ten 1929 finishers have returned for another try at the torturous and hilly course from Hopkinton to the Boston A. A. club house in the Back Bay section of Boston, a total distance of 26 miles, 385 yards.

Eastern Connecticut will be represented in the marathon by four runners. Those who will strive to bring the honor back to this section of the state are Chief Horatio Stanton of Westerly, Frederick E. Van Buren of Norwich, Armand Bernier of Danielson and Nicholas A. Schults of Oakdale. All these boys have appeared in local distance events and will be entered in the National 10-mile championship at the Fairgrounds on Memorial day.

Rogers Beats Gold

PITTSBURGH, April 18 — (AP) — Jackie Rogers, Pittsburgh, won a decision over Marty Gold, Philadelphia, in ten rounds here tonight.

Frankie Portland, Ambridge, Pa., technically kayoed Roger O'Brien in two rounds.

LOCAL BOXERS HAVE FAST WORKOUT

A lage crowd saw four of the boxers who appear on the Shyma club card at Parish hall work out at Hickey's gym last night and were very much impressed by the showing of the local youngsters. All the boys looked to be in perfect condition and very fast. Those working out were Young Lavigne, of New London, who meets Marty Cortez, of Boston, in a six round preliminary, Johnny Kop, of Norwich, who goes against Tommy King, of Fall River, in another six rounder, Young Guoin, of Taftville, who will open the show in a four rounder against Jackie Maher, of Fall River, and Al Beauregard, New England bantamweight champion, who clashes with Willie Rose, of New York, in the ten round final.

Last night the boys put in considerable time with the weights and rope skipping and then boxed several rounds. Beauregard and Lavigne boxed two fast rounds. Both boys looked to be very fast and each gave the other a real workout. Lavigne appeared to be in better form than at any time he has appeared in a local ring.

Johnny Kop and Tommy McCarthy went another two fast rounds both displaying plenty of hard punching and clever boxing. McCarthy is tapering off for a bout with Ralph Aquino, at Newark, on Monday evening.

Young Guoin went a round each with McCarthy and Kop. Guoin was fast and showed no ill effects of the infected tooth which prevented him from participating in the last show at Parish hall.

Word comes from Worcester that Peterson is training hard for his encounter with Joe Barre of New York. These boys meet in the semi-final which should be one of the best bouts of the evening.

"Wake up, wake up, are ye all dead?" frantically called Putnam's lone whitewing as he rushed wildly up the stairs to the sleeping quarters of the engine house early the other morning.

As he excitedly pounded on the door and repeated his question, there was a muffled yawn from the interior of the room and a sleepy voice inquired, "What in hades is all the racket about? And whacha pounding on that darned door like that for?"

Heaving a sigh of relief to find that there were audible signs of life on the other side of the door, the whitewing says, "Get up quick, but don't light no matches, the d—d engine house is fulla gas and if you light a match it'll be blown to h—l."

"Gwan, that ain't gas," disgustedly returns Fireman Jack as he turns over for another snooze, "thats skunk odor." And thereby hangs a tale.

It seems that the boys had been gathered around the card tables and the checker boards in the basement of the engine house the evening before when a gentle breeze wafted an aroma into the room that was unmistakably skunk.

As the first wisp of the pungent odor struck the nostrils of those about the tables there was a scraping of chairs and a unanimous opinion that there was a nocturnal visitor in the close proximity of the engine house.

A stealthy investigation was immediately underway and like all good hunters they followed their noses which did not lead them astray, like some noses do. Between the engine house and the adjoining building the straying carnivore was discovered.

One of the boys was dispatched to the police station for the loan of a trusty weapon to teach the skunk the error of roaming Putnam's streets at night.

With the artillery drawn up in battle formation, the order to start firing was given. A barrage of leaden missles was laid down all around the unwelcome visitor but he was as safe as though he had been at home in his burrow in the fields.

But like all self-respecting skunks he took affront at this unseemly discourtesy to a visitor and he retaliated after the accepted form of all good skunks. The enemy was completely routed.

Re-inforcements in the nature of two shot-guns were brought up and, with both barrels belching forth leaden death the skunk was finally vanquished.

But even though he had gone to the great beyond the skunk had left behind that which was a constant reminder that he had existed. In fact, this reminder was so strong that the knights of the green cloth decided that home presented a more agreeable atmosphere.

So it was that the white-wing arriving early the next morning for his broom mistook this reminder for escaping gas and fearing for the lives of the two firemen, Jack and Joe, aroused them.

The firemen are of the opinion that white-wings should be given a course in zoology.

HALLAHAN HOLDS CUBS TO TWO HITS, ONE RUN

ST. LOUIS, April 18. — (AP) — Bill Hallahan, who scored his first victory last year in September, held the Chicago Cubs to two hits and struck out eleven today to give the St. Louis Cardinals an 11 to 1 victory in the fourth and final game of the series. Each won two games.

Hallahan gave nine bases on balls but when he did get the ball over the plate, the Cubs could not touch it. The only Chicago run came in the sixth when Tolson and Taylor singled after Adams had muffed Hack Wilson's pop fly.

The Cardinals pounded Guy Bush for eleven hits in five innings and added five hits and six runs off Warneke and Nelson, recruit right handers. Chick Hafey's homer in the second was one of the longest ever seen here.

FLAGSTEAD'S HITTING HELPS PIRATES TROUNCE REDS

CINCINNATI, April 18.—(AP)—Flagstead, Pirate outfielder, led his team to a 5 to 3 decision over the Reds today by hitting a single, triple and two doubles in five times at bat. Jess Patty, winning pitcher, was wild, issuing six bases on balls, but held the Rhinelanders in check when hits meant runs. Allen hit a home run over the left field fence in his first time at bat duplicating the feat which he accomplished yesterday in his last trip to the plate.

ACADEMY AND DEEP RIVER MEET ON DIAMOND AT CAMPUS THIS AFTERNOON

Probable Lineups

Game starts at 2:30 p. m.

Deep River high, perennial challenger for the state title, and a school, that has not played the Academy to less than ten innings in recent years, will provide the obstruction this afternoon at the campus over which Boots Greene, one of the Wildcat pitching hopes, must hurdle in his first real start as a regular. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The first appearance outdoors of the new school band of 35 pieces will be an added feature.

ALEC ARICO
Veteran N. F. A. First Sacker

Greene is being counted on as one of the mainstays of the team this year and today he will get a stiff test. The Deep River outfit has always made the Wildcats travel to the limit. Last year's game went 12 innings before Red Fagan and Butsy Weisgraber could collaborate to whip Coach Tourville's boys. No doubt Deep River will be out for revenge in earnest today on the local diamond and, according to reports from the downstate school they are very confident of administering a neat defeat to the N. F. A. athletes.

Hagen, a veteran of three years' experience, will do the pitching with last year's catcher, Jaeckle, again behind the plate. The rest of the team is practically the same as appeared against the Red and White here last year.

The Academy will take the field without a bit of practice since beating Killingly Wednesday, 15 to 2, as the sessions scheduled for Thursday and Friday were washed out by rain. Coach Brigham, however, thinks they are ready for anything the invaders can offer. He will start practically the same lineup that has opened most of the games so far. To date, Capt. Gibbs has been the only boy to do much hitting but very soon it can be expected that the other veterans, including Bud Fontaine and Alec Arico, will swing into action with their big bludgeons.

A packed crowd is expected out for this big Easter holiday game. Hank Morin and Johnny Morin will call 'em.

INDIANS HAVE EASY TIME SUBDUING TIGERS

DETROIT, April 18.— (AP) — The Cleveland Indians easily defeated the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 1, behind the fine pitching of Wesley Ferrell in the opening game of their series here. Ferrell allowed seven hits and kept them well scattered until the last inning.

In the ninth, the Tigers bunched two hits for their only run. Cleveland bunched three doubles and a single off Ownie Carroll for three runs in the second inning. In the eighth, they got to Art Herring for three more tallies. His wildness and two errors by Bill Rogell allowed the Indians to score three times on one hit.

LEADER MAKES NO CHANGES IN VARSITY BOAT

NEW HAVEN, April 18—(AP)—Coach Ed Leader's tinkering with his Yale rowing crews continued in the rain at Derby today, but the varsity was spared. Six changes were made in the junior varsity and third boats.

Knott, number 5, and Hunt, number 4, in the third boat, were shifted to the second. Knott took over the same oar while the latter was placed at number 2.

Manuel, number 2, in the junior varsity was sent to number 4, in the third crew; Williams, number 5, was relegated to number 3 in the same boat. Childs, number 3, went to number 5 and J. Blagden, who was replaced at bow yesterday by Storrs, relieved Turner at number 7.

J. Blagden is Captain Blagden's brother. The announcement today of the make-up of the freshman 150-pound crew revealed that three Blagden brothers are seeking honors in Eli shells

THREE CALIFORNIA WOMEN NAMED FOR WIGHTMAN TEAM

BROOKLINE, Mass., April 18.—(AP)—Three of the five places on the American Wightman cup tennis team, which will compete with the English women's team at Wimbledon in June, were formally awarded to Californian players today by Donald M. Hill, of the Longwood Cricket club, the chairman of the American Wightman cup committee.

They were given to Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of San Francisco, Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Cal., and Edith Cross, of San Francisco. The fourth place was given to Sarah Palfrey, the 17-year-old Brookline star, and Sarah Greef, of Kansas City, Mo., was awarded the fifth and last position on the American team.

First four positions were decided upon at various times during the past few months but the decision to place Miss Greef on the team was made today after a lively discussion by the American Wightman cup committee.

Chairman Hill and his committeemen spent much time considering the claims of Mrs. L. A. Harper, of San Francisco, who was ranked fifth, a place over Miss Greef, on the 1929 women's tennis list.

Silvert Bullets Win 3rd Straight

The heavy hitting was done by Capt. Malogrides.

Stribling And Shortland Matched

LONDON, April 18.—(AP) — Young Stribling, American heavyweight, was matched by Promoter Jeff Dickson today with Donald Shortland, of Sheffield, for a twelve round bout in Albert hall May 8. Shortland recently defeated the Frenchman, Maurice Griselle. Negotiations for Stribling to box Phil Scott, British champion, have not yet been completed.

Voyles Given Release

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 18—(AP)—Phil Voyles, former Braves' outfielder and until today with the local Eastern league club, was given his unconditional release. Charlie Cerny, former Columbia university mound star, joined the Providence club today coming here from the Newark Bears. He is here on option.

Tower Wins Dixie Title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 18.—(AP)—Duane L. Tower, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., today won the Mason and Dixie amateur golf championship, defeating J. B. Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final round. Ryerson was the defending champion.

PRESTON

The Ladies' Bible class of the Baptist Sunday School was pleasantly entertained at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Smith Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Appleton Main, presided at the business meeting, after which the program committee, Mrs. Belton Woodmansee and Mrs. Clark Wodmansee, presented the following: Solo, Rev. J. A. Smith; readings, Mrs. Appleton Main, Mrs. Clarence Benjamin and Mrs. Jesse Crary; contests in charge of J. A. Smith. The Bible study was in charge of Mrs. J. A. Smith. A delicious luncheon, served by the hostess, consisted of salad, sandwiches, pickles, fruit jello, cakes and coffee. The room was beautifully decorated in purple and gold, with Easter favors at each place.

There is to be an Easter sunrise service on the land of G. V. Shedd, near the home of Miss Mary Woodmansee, with Harold Muttart, leader.

The name of Miss Georgia Bates who gave a recitation at the recent program presented by two of the local 4-H clubs, was omitted in the account published recently.

The Congregational Missionary society held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Crary Tuesday afternoon, with a good number present. The devotional service was led by Mrs. G. W. Clark and a most helpful and instructive talk on Home Missions was given by Rev. George Clark. Cake and coffee were served.

Plans are being made and rehearsals are being held preparatory to the Easter pageant to be given at the Congregational church on Sunday evening.

Peter Fritz and a friend from New Jersey have been spending a number of days at the home of Mr. Fritz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fritz.

At the C. E. meeting Sunday evening the leader was Mrs. Nellie Main. The topic discussed was "Why Everybody Needs Christ."

GARDEN CAMPAIGN FOR 4-H CLUB MEMBERSHIP

In the garden campaign under 4-H club auspices, the New London County Farm bureau is giving the following advice:

If the purpose of your garden is to grow something, and have something of your own, it might be a good plan to select only a few vegetables that you have a fair chance of succeeding with.

Here are some of the vegetables that usually grow readily in Connecticut: Radishes, spinach, Swiss chard, cabbage, string beans, sweet corn and tomatoes.

Of course, you will want to find some use for your vegetables. Here are three suggestions: 1. Use them at home. 2, sell them to the neighbors. 3, give them away.

Make up your mind you are going to have a good garden and keep right at it all summer, learning all you can about growing vegetables.

There is a lot of fun and satisfaction in taking good care of a good garden.

Be proud of your job and do it well.

Tax to Yield $19,373

Collection of the Westerly Fire district taxes for 1930 has been in process since April 15th at the office of Town Clerk Col. Everett E. Whipple, treasurer and collector of the Fire district. The tax this year was, by vote of the annual Fire district meeting held Aug. 28, 1929, 20 cents of each and every $100 worth of ratable property in the district. District Tax Assessors Walter C. Hiscox, Oliver P. Crandall and D. Harold Rogers completed their duties before April 1st and found that the grand list of the district totaled $9,686,850, on which the 20 cent levy yields a collectable tax amounting to $19,373.70, to be collected before April 30th, 1930, after which an interest charge of 12 per cent is added.

Thursday evening, Westerly Scottish Rite Masons attended the Maundy Thursday observance of the Feast of the Paschal Lamb at the Masonic temple, Providence, when the Council of Rose Croix of the Providence Valley, presented its annual program in solemn services. The principal speaker was President Charles Barbour, president of Brown university, and who also spoke on Good Friday at the ceremonies of Washington commandery, No. 1, K. T., at the Masonic temple in Hartford.

OBITUARY

Charles N. Bagley

Friday morning, Charles Noyes Bagley, husband of Emma J. Stoddard Bagley, died at his home, 222 High street. He had been in ill health for several months.

Mr. Bagley was born at Usquepaug, R. I., the son of Joseph and Lydia Bagley. When a youth he lived for a number of years in Westerly, and then traveled about the country, being engaged in the mill business. He retired some time ago and about two years ago returned to Westerly to reside, coming here from Providence and Lowell, Mass. Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Joseph Bagley, of Providence, and a sister, Mrs. Mita Fuller, also of Providence.

Luther Simonds

In Norwich, Thursday, Luther Simonds of 56 West Broad street died at the Backus hospital, where he was taken for treatment Saturday last.

DR. PAPALIA TO WED MISS BROWN, OF READING

Dr. Philip D. Papalia of Worcester, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. G. Papalia, 120 High street, Westerly, and Miss Dorothy Ludwig Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown of Reading, Pa., will be married Monday morning at St. Stephen's church in Reading. A few days ago about 50 friends and professional associates of Dr. Papalia tendered him a stag banquet at the Warren hotel, Worcester.

Good Friday, before Judge Oliver H. Williams in the regular Friday morning session of the Third district court, there was the minimum amount of business. Raymond T. Hargraves of New London pleaded guilty to the charge of operating an automobile not equipped with adequate brakes. He was fined $10 and costs. Hargraves was stopped by the state police of the Hope Valley barracks in a check-up at Hope Valley April 11. There were no civil cases heard, owing to the fact that it was Good Friday. The civil docket was called and all cases were continued.

Westerly poultry fanciers, Tom Thorp, Cyrus A. Lee and Harry P. Pellett, of South County Poultry and Pet Stock association, will attend the meeting of the State Council of Poultry Associations of Rhode Island to be held with the Pawtucket Poultry association Sunday afternoon.

Miss Bernice E. Whipple arrived from her New York school duties Thursday evening to pass the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Whipple.

Mrs. Anna F. Davis has returned, after the winter season passed at Daytona Beach, Fla., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Raymond H. Hiscox, in Westerly.

Mrs. Norman C. Church has returned to Pawcatuck, after a visit with Hartford relatives.

Miss Nellie B. Willard, in her 77th year, a sister of the late Charles W. Willard of Westerly, following injuries sustained last October in Hartford when she was run down by an automobile and sustained a broken hip, is again learning to walk after being a patient at the Hartford hospital.

Walter Swenon, teacher in the public schools of Providence, has been at his summer cottage at Misquamicut.

Charles H. Putnam has returned from a business trip to Boston and Providence in the interests of the South County Public Service Co.

LEDYARD

The Missionary society held its annual meeting at the parsonage Wednesday, April 16, with an attendance of 21 adults and seven children, several visitors being present. The meeting opened with the hymn "Let The Lower Lights Be Burning." The 100th and 121st Psalms were recited in unison; the 24th Psalm was read with the request that it be committed to memory. Rev. Mr. Kelly offered prayer. The report of the year's work was read by the secretary, Mrs. Flora Gray and was quite satisfactory. Miss Nellie Geer read several letters of interest to the society. It was voted to continue assistance toward the support of Miss Ruth Beebe of Athens, Ala., and Miss Dorothy Goodenough of Athens, Greece.

The missionary meeting which was held in Norwich March 28 under the auspices of the women of the United church was briefly reported by the delegates attending, Mrs. Joseph A. Clark, Mrs. E. P. Kelly, Mrs. Carl H. Holdridge and Miss Nellie W. Geer. Mrs. Calvin Main reported work at South Sea Islands; Mrs. Everett Gallup read an article "About Dondi," Mrs. John Finegan, a report from South Dakota; Mr. Kelly explained the merger of the Christian and the Congregational denominations. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Nellie W. Geer; vice presidents, Mrs. Everett Gallup and Mrs. Joseph Clark; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Flora I. Gray; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Finegan; work committee, Mrs. Everett Gallup and Mrs. Bennett. Refreshments were served by the members and a social hour was enjoyed.

Why it's wise to choose a CHEVROLET SIX!

Choose CHEVROLET for Smoothness . . .

The only way to get satisfactory smoothness in a low-priced car is to choose a car with a six-cylinder motor. Six cylinders save the whole car from the destructive effects of vibration. And they make motoring far more comfortable. In the new Chevrolet Six, you get every advantage of six-cylinder smoothness.

Choose CHEVROLET for Beauty . . . . . .

Chevrolet brings you the greater beauty of bodies by Fisher—styled by Fisher's famous artist-designers. Long, low and properly proportioned—and complete with every feature of modern automotive coachwork—Chevrolet-Fisher bodies introduce a new measure of quality and beauty into the low-price field.

Choose CHEVROLET for Economy . . . . .

The new Chevrolet is just as economical as any car you can buy. It costs no more for oil. It costs no more for tires. It costs no more for service. And, in a recent officially-observed economy test, a Chevrolet won first place—averaging over 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Choose CHEVROLET for Service . . . . . .

Chevrolet's owner service policy calls for free replacement—including both parts and labor—of any material that may prove defective within the terms of the standard warranty. Chevrolet's flat-rate charges are the lowest in the industry on many service operations—and, furthermore, Chevrolet service is available at more than 10,000 authorized service dealers

Choose CHEVROLET for Re-Sale Value . .

From the standpoint of re-sale value, it's especially wise to choose a Chevrolet. The big swing is to the Six. And when you buy a six-cylinder Chevrolet you are assured a car that will be modern tomorrow as well as today. This is important to remember, for obsolete design always lowers re-sale value.

Choose CHEVROLET for Low Cost . . . . .

Priced as low as $495 at the factory, the Chevrolet Six is one of the lowest-priced cars in the world. And this low first cost is emphasized over and over again—in gasoline and oil economy, in inexpensive service, and in the low cost of replacement parts.

THE GREAT URIAH

By MONT HURST

A DUSKY SHEIK COMES TO TOWN AND PURSUES A CAREER OF HEARTBREAKING UNTIL INDUSTRIOUS ARLIE TAKES A HAND

"WE SHO am signully honored by dis heah missive of utmost acceptance!" declared Filbert McCuddy to a gathering of citizens at a special meeting of the Negro Business Men's Chamber of Commerce of Brown City, after reading the letter from Uriah M. Snodgrass, the famous Negro athlete, who had consented to appear at the Freedmen's Athletic Field and Park one week hence.

There was a general grave nodding of kinky heads in agreement with the chairman's words. Uriah Snodgrass was an old Brown City boy who had gone East and made a very great success in all branches of athletics at Jimson university. He also had attained a signal success as an actor with a stock company in Hoboken. And now Brown City's most famous Negro son was going to honor the home folks by taking part in the big field meet and playing right end on the Black Demons eleven!

* * * * * * * * * *

The day of the great Uriah's arrival will go down in the history of Brown City as a most notable event. Every dusky citizen who could leave his work was present at the depot. The local Mazeppa Silver Cornet Band blared out a welcome as the train pulled into the crowded yards.

Miss Fluxana Johnson, daughter of Mose Johnson, owner of the North Star Cafe, was thrilled a little more than the others, for in days gone by she had been a very, very dear friend of the great Uriah M. Snodgrass. She was a "catch" for whom many suitors had angled unsuccessfully. After the departure of Uriah for the East, she had spurned all but one Arlie X. McKinley. Arlie was the local agent for an insurance company, owned some real estate and drove a shiny roadster that was all paid for.

THE prospective return of Uriah M. Snodgrass had caused Arlie considerable anxiety, but he comforted himself with the thought that Fluxana was wearing his diamond ring on the third finger of her left hand. Surely Fluxana wouldn't give him the gate after showing the ring to the whole town and expressing her affection for him!

Nevertheless, Arlie was on hand at the homecoming of the famous athlete and stood apart from the surging mob as Uriah alighted from the train. A great procession escorted Uriah to the hotel, where a magnificent banquet was to be spread in his honor. The town was beside itself with excitement.

Seated between Uriah and Fluxana, Arlie became annoyed that this special strategy of his, which had cost him a five-spot slipped into the palm of Foster Q. Phipps, chairman of the committee on arrangements, seemed to be of no avail. The famous athlete had a most disconcerting way of leaning across Fluxana's escort and whispering in her ear. He was constantly bragging of the great track meets he had won medals in, of his famous football and baseball playing, his ability as a pilot of an airplane, his success on the stage and his talent as a dancer. The Gotham Black Giants were even now offering him a huge bonus to sign with them as pitcher, so he stated. The stage was crying for his thespian talents. The world was at his feet.

Miss Fluxana gave a most interested attention to his tales. This was all very exasperating to Arlie, who could hardly get in a word.

On the first day's appearance of the great Uriah, Arlie escorted Fluxana to the field. The track meet proved a great success, the crowd sitting spellbound as Uriah displayed his great ability. He won all of the contests handily and then gave an exhibition of high-jumping that left them speechless. Then, to wind it up, he played a couple of selections on his guitar and sang. The applause sounded like thunder. They kept up the din until he finally made a speech.

Having acknowledged with much complaisance the tumultuous applause that echoed through the park, Uriah rather hurriedly dressed and made his way to Miss Fluxana. Ignoring Arlie, he bowed in his most graceful manner, saying with a most ingratiating smile:

"Ah suah wouldst deem it an honor fas you to allow me to escort you to your domicile, Miss Fluxana."

"Oh, dat wouldst be a suah and mighty sweet thing for you to do!" exclaimed the dusky lady, flashing white teeth in an ingratiating smile. She was visibly moved. He had her going and she was fast toppling for his charms. He had a way with women, did Uriah.

"Yeah, yo' kin run 'long. * * * Ah got some renigable business to 'tend to downtown!" said Arlie, exertiing himself to produce a grin and accept the situation gracefully.

The following week brought sadness for Arlie. He began to realize that he was losing the affections of Miss Fluxana. She was wild about the great Uriah M. Snodgrass and whispers could be heard on every hand about her infatuation. Uriah had learned that Fluxana's father was wealthy and that she had quite a bit of cash in her own name, an inheritance from an oil-wealthy uncle down in Texas. Arlie was torn between his great love for her and his seething resentment of the intrusion of Uriah.

When Arlie reflected upon the possibility of losing Fluxana, he decided upon drastic action. He would not give up his sweetheart without a terrific battle for her affections! He knew a boy in the East who knew Uriah and had gone to the Eastern school with him. An idea dawned and Arlie smiled.

For three days Arlie came to his office for the sole purpose of pacing the bizarre alleged Persian rug. He studied over the situation, pondered over his plans, until the rug began to show signs of wear. On the fourth morning he came downtown smiling. He actually laughed as he passed Miss Fluxana with Uriah.

Miss Fluxana's shiny face beamed upon him in benign condescension. She wondered why she had ever cared for Arlie, the small-town dude! She knew that it was only a question of time until Uriah would ask her to be his soulmate! Oh, most beautiful thought!

Arlie caught the evening train to New York City. He made it his special business to tell the boys around the Big A Tailoring Emporium that he had been called to the big city on business for his insurance company. There was a glitter in his eye and a new snap to his walk that puzzled those he met. They wondered how he could be happy while he was losing the love and affections of Miss Fluxana. They felt sorry for him.

They did not realize that Arlie X. McKinley was a man who would not give up his intended bride and an investment of $500 in a diamond ring without a fight.

ARLIE returned from New York at the end of a week. He reported that his business trip had been very successful. Around the North Star Cafe he strutted with a long cigar in his mouth, utterly oblivious of the looks of pity cast in his direction. The folks really felt sorry for Arlie * * * he was a fine young man and they hated to see Miss Fluxana throw him down. Sympathy was extended in guarded ways and Arlie outwardly was grinning and bearing his sorrow at losing Miss Fluxana.

The populace could visualise a marriage. While Arlie had been away the great Uriah had courted Fluxana with a fervor that was only equaled by her reception of his advances. The love affair between the two had caused unceasing interest and much talk. Arlie had been left out of the picture completely and the Negro gentry envisioned a wedding march when Uriah and Fluxana stepped down the aisle of the church.

It was only a day after Arlie's return that a big red placard appeared in the Washington drug store, announcing the coming of Arabella Jefferson, the famous Negro motion-picture actress, who would play a few days' engagement in Brown City at the Casino Afro Theatre in person! The town was turned upside down. Sheiks got busy getting their suits cleaned and pressed, buying loud silk shirts and getting their jewelry out of hock. Uriah's courtship of Fluxana was forgotten in the midst of this new excitement.

Even Uriah himself was passed on the streets without so much as a glance from the busy citizens. Arabella Jefferson was coming * * * in person * * * not a motion picture! Who could be interested in anything else save her appearance in Brown City? Who was Uriah M. Snodgrass when Miss Jefferson was coming to town?

Then the truth leaked out. It was broadcast that Arlie X. McKinley had turned impresario and had booked the great movie actress. He was besieged on all sides by sports who wished to get an introduction to Arabella. Bribes were offered him, which it nearly broke his heart to refuse. But to all of these pleas Arlie turned a deaf ear.

In desperation, Uriah managed to bring himself to the embarrassing task of asking a favor of Arlie.

"Mah good friend, Misto' McKinley," he said, "as a well-known man of de world an' also occasional membah ob de actin' profession, Ah, ob cose, wishes to meet an' grandoriously welcome Miss Arabella. As one artist to anudder, ah wish to extend de han' ob our fraternal realm to her. Ob cose yo' all willst interdooce me?"

Arlie smiled a smile of complete satisfaction!

"Co'se Ah'll interdooce yo'. Ah knows she wants tuh meet yo' an' Ah'll see 'bout it de fust thing," he replied. He lit a fresh perfecto and walked snappily away.

The first night of Miss Arabella's appearance was an eventful one. Scores were turned away from the theatre even though the price had been doubled. They were dumfounded and happy when she appeared on the stage for only a few moments, smiling graciously upon them as she told them that she was glad to be there and that she hoped they would soon see her latest feature picture. Almost immediately thereafter she departed with the elated Uriah, who had gained his introduction to the celebrity and was making the most of his opportunity.

A serene smile settled on the bland black face of Arlie X. McKinley as he saw them leave. Then he phoned Fluxana.

Miss Fluxana had not been among those present to welcome the famous actress. When Uriah had told her that his presence was demanded at the theatre that night, she at once suspected a rival for his affections. Torn between curiosity and chagrin, she stayed home in a huff.

As each successive night found Uriah with business at the theatre, Fluxana became more worried and exasperated. Reluctantly she began to admit to herself that she had made a mistake in dropping Arlie for Uriah M. Snodgrass. Uriah was nothing but a fickle, good-for-nothing fortune-hunter! After all, she decided, of what earthly avail would his fame be to her? What a fool she had been to let herself be carried away by the glamour of hero worship!

She began to yearn for Arlie and his steadfast love. In sudden panic, she wondered if all was lost now. Would Arlie take her back? Must she forever lose her chance of sharing that shiny, cream-colored roadster and the bungalow he had shown her and explained had been built just for her? With a mingled feeling of shame and fear Fluxana gazed at the solitaire, which had reposed in her jewelry box since the advent of Uriah.

The worst of it was that Arlie paid no attention whatever to her on the rare occasions when they met. She had a suspicion that he deliberately avoided her. He seemed oblivious of her very existence. Folks smiled and winked at each other when they passed her on the street. It was already on the lips of the scandalmongers that Uriah had thrown her down.

"MISS ARABELLA," said the great Uriah one night, "Ah love you! Yet yo' all willst not, as yet, receive mah pure and hones' love! Ah hab nebber loved anudder woman as Ah loves yo' all! Yo' time is up nex' week an' Ah wouldst be blissfully happy and exiggerated mightily ef yo' all wouldst promise to marry wif me!"

Arabella smiled and flicked an imaginary speck off her sleeves. "Ah, mah deah Misto' Snodgrass, but Ah heahs you is in love wif Miss Fluxana Johnsing, de local heart-buster! Am you not in such a state?" she countered.

"Lawsy, no! Ah ony entertains a friendship fo' her. De idee ob mah bein' in love wif dis heah small-time belle am preposterous an' likewise unconjunctive! Yo' all is de ony woman Ah hab ebber loved!" declared Uriah with much feeliing.

"Ah shallst gibb you my unremunerated answer tomorrow!" she smiled.

"Ah jest knows it'll be 'uh-huh!'" grinned Uriah, and with a much-studied gallantry he touched her hand to his lips. Whereupon Arabella's eyelids fluttered over dilated pupils, and the great Uriah departed with the feeling of a conqueror.

The next day he called at her hotel. Miss Arabella was in and would see him. He bounded up the stairs three at a time, his heart beating like a throb of a speeding locomotive. He realized that his greatest moment had arrived. Pride expanded his broad chest, for women just could not resist him!

He was quickly admitted when he knocked at the door and Miss Arabella arose to extend her hand.

"An' dis heah's mah fiance, Misto' Snodgrass!" she smiled, indicating a tall, yellow Negro. "Ah wishes yo' all to meet mah frien', Mr. Snodgrass, Misto' Muffinton," she continued, turning to the gentleman of lighter hue.

Uriah swayed unsteadily at the introduction. Her fiance! He could hardly walk in a straight line as he went across the room to shake hands with Mr. Muffinton.

"Very, very glad to know yo' all," declared Mr. Muffinton pleasantly.

For one tense moment Uriah drew himself to his full height and glared first at the extended yellow hand and then into the black eyes of Mr. Muffinton. Mr. Muffinton had broad shoulders. He looked like a boxer. Then the shoulders of the great Uriah slumped and he muttered feebly, "De pleasure am all mine," but his looks belied his words.

Embarrassing moments followed. They spoke of the stage, the town and the weather. Then Arabella told Uriah that Mr. Muffinton was the famous boxer, "Kayo" Muffinton. Resigned to his fate, Uriah finally arose to go.

"Ah bids yo-all good-by an' wishes yo-all much happiness," he said with a forced smile.

"Us sho do thank you-all," said Mr. Muffinton.

THE great Uriah walked many blocks in a dazed state of mind. Arabella had played a trick on him! Here was one woman who put the "tin kimono" on him. But, upon saner thought, he admitted to himself that she had not given him any dates. He himself had made all of the advances and had thrust himself upon her. But soon the deep furrows on his brow smoothed at the touch of his lavender silk handkerchief and his thick red lips parted in a grin. Surely Fluxana Johnson would be glad to see him after a week of neglect! He prided himself upon the fact that he always had an ace up his sleeve! It did 'em good to keep away from 'em a while—they appreciated you more. His grin broadened as he stopped and purchased a large, beribboned box of chocolates.

It would be nice to surprise Fluxana, thought the great Uriah. So he came in from the back alley and went around toward the front veranda. It was a very dark night and, as he paused behind the honeysuckle vine that covered the porch, he thought he heard the sweet voice of Fluxana coming from the swing. Uriah felt a great wave of pity and shame come over him as he indistinctly heard her sobbing tones. The poor girl was so lonely that she was sobbing her heart out because he had neglected her! Oh, well, he couldn't help it if women's hearts were broken on account of him. It was a gift he had. Creeping closer, he listened until the sounds came to him more distinctly.

"Oh, honey, how came me to thow yo-all down fo' dat athletey fella, Uriah? Baby, Ah'm cured! Yo' has prove to me dat Uriah am a he-vampire, stealin' de love ob innocent gals lak me! When we watch him wif Arabella n' hide an' heah him make love to her Ah knows dat he am a trifler! Mah poppa am gonna get after him. Ah knows dat you is de onliest one Ah ebber did love! Dat man jes' hypnotized me! Yo' sho' was smart to prove hit an' to think up a way to show me dat he wuz no-count and triflin'!" Fluxana was saying.

Uriah's ears burned and his knees became weak. Unconsciously he loosened his hold on the box of candy and it slipped to the ground with a thud.

"Whut's dat?" came Arlie's voice.

FEARING that his presence would at once be detected, the great Uriah turned to run. But a sound of smacking halted him. He decided it would be safe to wait for Arlie's reply.

"Yo' am okay an' all right!" came the voice of Arlie. "Ah knowed dat Uriah wuz jus' a triflin' he-butterfly! Ah knowed dat he would fall fo' any pretty face. Ah'm a man whut kin dyagnose symptoms ob rotten trifulness! Ah jes' goes to ol' New Yawk an' gits dis movie actress woman to come heah! Yo' see, Ah done read in de paper where she wuz engaged to de famous boxer, Muffinton, an' Ah knowed dat Misto' Uriah, de trifler, would fall fo' her! It has prove itself! As jes' wanted to demonstrate to yo'. Ah knowed yo' all still loved me. Ah'm a man whut kin lose 'em an' git 'em back, ain't I? Ain't mah love strong?"

Another series of loud smacks denoted an osculatory demonstration of affection.

"Ah say it am!" gasped Fluxana finally, coming up for air.

With a sinking heart the great Uriah slipped away to his hotel room by way of the alleys. He hastily packed his trunk. Before daylight the next morning he caught the train to Mobile to join a minstrel show as trap drummer. He had read the want ads in the local paper the night before.

Brown City scarcely noticed his passing. A week later he had been entirely forgotten and the Negro Business Men's chamber of commerce was busily engaged, in conjunction with the Sons and Daughters of the Inner Sanctum of Esteem, in planning a great banquet in honor of Arlie X. McKinley, the well-known insurance agent, to celebrate his marriage to Fluxana Johnson.

Brown City was excited once more.

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut,

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, New Haven

The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company is the parent company of comprehensive transportation system serving southern New England and New York with rail, highway and water transportation.

It operates 2,131 miles of railroad, the result of consolidation and merger of more than a hundred separate rail lines, including the first railroad opened for operation in the United States, the Granite railway in Massachusetts, built for the purpose of hauling granite for the Bunker Hill monument.

Steamships are operated through two subsidiary corporations, the New England Steamship company and the Hartford and New York Transportation company, the former including the famous Fall River Line which operates between Fall River and New York, with rail and bus connections between Fall River and Boston.

Extensive street railway and highway motor coach operations, throughout southern New England are carried on through various subsidiary companies, one of which, the New England Transportation company, also operates motor truck service in cooperation with the railway and steamship lines. A high speed electric passenger service in and out of New York city is handled by another subsidiary, the New York, Westchester and Boston Railway company.

The four states in which the New Haven Railroad operates, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York, rank respectively first, second, third and fifth in density of population per mile of railroad. Although the longest passenger train run on the railroad is from New York to Boston, a distance of only 229 miles, the New Haven ranks fourth in the number of passengers carried one mile.

The New Haven Railroad has an extensive and complete electrification between New York and New Haven being one of the first to enter the field.

Women like these tell why slo-baked bread is now served on their tables every day

[illegible] this bachelor girl found Wonder Bread toast [illegible] to make and better to eat . . .

Housewives all over the country attest to superiority of Wonder Bread . . . give very definite reasons for their choice . . .

A GRANDMOTHER said she wished she could have bought Wonder Bread when she was a girl . . .

Yo Ho! Yo Ho! Yo Ho! for the Happy Wonder Bakers every Tuesday evening at 9:30 in their entertaining Wonder Bread Period over WEAF and associated N. B. C. stations.

Tune in and hear the famous Happy Wonder Bakers and their orchestra conducted by Frank Black.

WOMEN like these you see pictured here : : : and hundreds of thousands more like them : : : have decided to use Wonder Bread.

Why is this so? Why has this slo-baked bread become such a tremendous favorite with American women?

We quote a few of their comments below, that reveal the reasons for this choice:

"I made the test by toasting. It surely convinced me that Wonder Bread is a perfect bread, for I got golden, evenly browned toast every time."

"It stays fresh longer, slices easily and quickly and has a nice flavor my family likes."

"I gave a tea party and wanted my sandwiches to be particularly nice. My grocer said Wonder Bread. The sandwiches were ideal. Wonder Bread for me hereafter : : :"

Do the way these women did. Prove to yourself—and one way is by means of the toast test—that slo-baked Wonder Bread will meet your every bread need.

Just take a slice of Wonder Bread and a slice of any other bread you have been using. Place both in your toaster.

See which slice is toasted first. Which is an even, golden brown from edge to edge? Which is crisper, with a new delicate toast flavor? And which slice is unevenly browned and burned : : : with just the ordinary disappointing toast taste?

Wonder Bread is better owing to super quality ingredients and exclusive slo-baking process, which eliminates excess moisture and gives bread of fine, delicate texture.

We have won ten million women to this bread. Once you try it, you will want Wonder Bread. Your grocer has it. Try it today!

A Cobweb Made to Order

A hungry spider made a web
Of thread so very fine,
Your tiny fingers scarce could feel
The little slender line.
Round about and round about,
And round about it spun,
Straight across and back again,
Until the web was done.

Oh, what a pretty shining web
It was when it was done!
The little flies all came to see
It hanging in the sun.
Round about and round about,
And round about they danced,
Across the web and back again
They darted and they glanced.

The hungry spider sat and watched
The happy little flies;
It saw all round about its head,
It had so many eyes.
Round about and round about,
And round about they go,
Across the web and back again,
Now high—now low.

"I'm hungry, very hungry,"
Said the spider to the fly.
"If you were caught within the web
You very soon should die."
But round about and round about,
And round about once more,
Across the web and back again,
They flitted as before.

For all the flies were much too wise
To venture near the spider;
They flapped their little wings and flew
In circles rather wider.
Round about and round about,
And round about went they.
Across the web and back again,
And then they flew away.

Tatting

This gauzy web of tatted lace,
Whose single thread no knots deface;
Whose mystic turns and loops expand,
All woven by a master hand.

'Tis thus the web of Life is spun,
With mystic turn and loop and run.
And days and years and times are planned,
And woven by our Maker's hand.

Then shall we mar Life's silver thread
By knots and kinks—by doubt and dread—
Or shall we lend a helping hand,
To meet the end our Maker planned?

Everybody's Lonesome

Way down deep within their hearts
Everybody's lonesome;
For within their secret parts
Everybody's lonesome.

Makes no difference how they smile
How they live or what their style;
Once in every little while
Everybody's lonesome.

People first in big affairs—
Even they are lonesome;
Maybe like to put on airs,
Just the same they're lonesome.

Men for whom existence blends
Every good—who gain all ends—
Still reach out their hands for friends,
Everybody's lonesome.

Women, silk clad, jeweled fine,
Yes, they, too, are lonesome;
When their gems the brightest shine,
They are just as lonesome.

Some must serve and some command
All still seek with groping hand
Love and friends who understand,
Everybody's lonesome.

Though our gifts of friendship's small,
Everybody's lonesome;
It may answer someone's call,
Someone who's lonesome.

Give, and give with might and main,
Give your hands and join the chain,
And your gift will be your gain
Sometime when you are lonesome.

RAINY WEATHER

Up comes "Bouncing Bet" again,
Pink and lusty in the lane.
Tansy's odor keener is
Than all incense-mysteries.
Oh, the trees—
How they strain
In the driven windy rain!

All the marsh-grass bows its head,
All the tide-ways blur and spread,
And the bay
Is as gay
As the roof-o' the miller's shed.

Up the hill I run, together
With the wet and windy weather.
Hair in eyes and dripping cheek
(Oh, how cool and soft and sleek
Is the hand-touch of the rain!).
"Bet" and I bounce up the lane.

There the Dead Folk's decent rows
Flank me, and the church upstands
With its high, gray shoulders, close
On the Dead Folk's silent lands.
—Oh, the trees,
How they strain.
Writhe and reach and fear the rain!
—"Bet" and I bounce up the lane.

All the houses' eyes are shut.
Still are they as Dead Folk. But Here a face, and there a bloom,
Nodding scarlet to the gloom
Say the Dead alone do lie
On the hill, against the sky.

Oh the wind, the driven rain!
How the silver poplars strain!
How the world seems wide and low
As along the lane I blow
All alone, and glad to be
For a little. Beat on me,
Wild, wet weather! Strike me, wind!
Flare my brown cloak out behind;—
Winged as a gull I fly
All alone beneath the sky.

Oh, the trees,
How they strain!
How they clamor and complain!
Reckless in the sea-tinged rain,
'Bet" and I bounce up the lane.

A TOAST TO THE FLAG.

Here's to the Red of it!
There's not a thread of it
No, not a shred of it
From foot to head of it.
But heroes bled for it,
Faced steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it Red—

Here's to the White of it!
Thrilled by the sight of it,
Who knows the right of it
But feels the might of it
Through day and night;
Womanhood cares for it,
Made manhood dare for it;
Purity's prayer for it
Kept it so White.

Here's to the Blue of it!
Heavenly view of it,
Star spangled hue of it,
Honesty's due to it,
Constant and true.
Here's to the whole of it,
Stars, stripes and pole of it,
Here's to the soul of it,
Red, White and Blue.

HURRYING HOUSECLEANING

Dear Editor and Social Corner: Our nice spring days seem to make us want to roll up our sleeves and get through the house cleaning so we can enjoy the lovely weather outside. What is more satisfying than a fresh clean house? Oh, if it would only stay so. But soon it will be most as bad as ever in spite of our efforts to keep everything in its place. But as the old Quaker lady said, "The way of the world is to do and undo." How very true it is in our daily lives. It is always doing the things most needed at the time. Did you ever feel you just couldn't get all done when you see so much work piled up, yet by night we have such a satisfied feeling to see it completed?

If the little noes happen to fall and get a bad bruise or a burn put plenty of butter on and it will not turn black and blue or the burn will not blister. It's the simple things that help us over many a rough spot.

L. T. H.: How are you. I hope to see you some day driving in when you are my way. Get Viola to come up with you and spend a pleasant day. Would so like to hear from my old friends. We hope to go to see Aries soon. Glad you had so nice a time in Norwich.

Hope all the sick and shut-ins are getting alone fine.

Grape Nut Bread: 1 cup grape nuts, 2 cups sour milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda. Let stand 10 minutes to soften. 1 cup brown sugar, 4 cups of flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder. Let raise 3-4 hour and bake. This makes two small loaves.

Grape Nut Raisin Pie: 3-4 cup grape nuts, 3-4 cup chopped raisins, 1½ cup brown sugar, 2 1-4 cups hot water, 1-4 cup vinegar, 3 pounds butter. Cook in double boiler and fill pie plate.

FUN IN JERUSALEM

Dear Social Corner Editor and Readers: Many years ago the thrifty farmers of New England raised all of their grain, particularly corn, and when "the frost was on the pumpkins, and the corn was in the shock," it was drawn together in some field convenient to the crib or corn house and then invitations were sent out within a radius of several miles for the boys, girls and older ones to attend a husking bee. After the corn was husked, lunch was served, and then a dance followed. Such was a good time given by Robert Stanton, living in a farming community known as Jerusalem, in the town of Scotland or Windham.

Yes, and Mr. Stanton was to dedicate a new barn with dancing after the husking. With the invite to the huskers went word that the boys need not bring any red ears from a previous husking for they would find plenty, as there was much red corn planted. But the girls, fearing there might not be enough to go around, came with their pockets full so that they could supply their boy friends with that which made a husking more interesting.

As the sunset glory on the western hills was passing into twilight, the full harvest moon was appearing over the hills and woodlands to the east, the invited guests of the neighborhood and those far away were assembling. The late September atmosphere was warm and balmy; just the kind for outdoor sports and recreation.

Soon we heard the rustle of the corn as the golden ears are stripped of their husks and tossed into a row near where the huskers sat.

Song and laughter filled the air, and quite often a smack, as the boy friend was the finder of a red ear.

By ten o'clock the last of the corn was husked, and announcement was made that lunch, consisting of doughnuts, cake and four kinds of pie, apple pie, mince pie, pumpkin pie and cheese, was ready to be sampled, which was to be washed down with freshly made cider and some slightly snappy, or coffee if one wished.

Some brought along other refreshments. One couple particularly brought that which was more substantial in the way of food; here they come! The young lady bringing in bacon and he had hanging on his arm a nice sugar-cured little Cunningham. Wasn't that some donation?

Lunch finished, then away to the new barn to dedicate it in a most joyful manner. Rob. had made the floor very smooth; an ideal place for dancing. Now all the comers knew Rob. Stanton, and knew he could with plenty of rosin on his bow, measure well up on his violin to "Already Mr. Cady," and at prompting he was not far behind.

Until the wee small hours of the morning the neighborhood was made melodious with laughter, music and song. The shuffle of the merry dancers was plainly heard as they tripped the light fantastic toe to the rythm of Opera Reel, Money Musk, Lancers, Devil's Dream, Zip Coon, and the Irish Washwoman. Oh, but how Rob could bear down on the bow. All square dances in those days; no hugging set to music.

If any one thought that this husking bee wasn't an occasion long to be remembered, they have another thought coming. I know, for I was there both in the flesh and spirit.

Such gatherings were held while there was corn to husk; going from farm to farm as long as the harvest moon, and the mild September weather was favorable. Following these sports was the kitchen dances, then a grand Thanksgiving ball at some of the hotels that have long since passed into memory. Thanks for the yellow slip.

DEFENCE OF THE MIDDLE AGE

Dear Social Cornerites: Quite a bit of controversy has been aroused about the middle age, hasn't there? By Jingo surely started something when she choose that topic.

As yet I haven't voiced my opinion on the subject, but will say that nearly all of my intimate friends are in the middle age class and in those declining years of 70 and more.

I figure it this way, that these people of the middle age and older have been through years of experiences, and in the general run I choose to ask the advice of the middle aged woman rather than of the younger set.

Just what is middle age of today? Sixty or 70 years ago, I presume middle age was around 45 or 50, but now! we can not tell where it begins. Anyway there are not many more years for me, at the longest, before I'll be in the "king row" as a friend of mine expresses it. But I hope I may grow old gracefully, that I may hold my tongue with my son or daughter-in-law if I have either or both. I hope I may not have the habit of dictating to their ways or wishes.

Self-control is a mighty power, that a very few possess and self-control is something we should practice. We owe it to our families, our neighbors, our friends, and community. I believe a good way to achieve self-control is this: If you hear or see something that is to you disagreeable, or this isn't being done as you think it ought, just leave the scene, divert the mind to something that is agreeable. That is once you've conquered that temper and didn't say that terrible something you might have said. It never, never can be erased from the mind of the one who received that piercing dart. I know friends of what I am writing, as I have suffered many times from the cutting lashes of the tongue, and I repeat the practice of self-control is a wonderful factor in one's life, especially to those who have reached middle age.

HAS RIGHT SLANT ON HOME

Kind Editor and Corner Members: What lovely spring weather! It seems so nice after all the mud and cold bad weather. "After the rain comes sunshine; after the tears come smiles," was an old time saying.

Aries: our table decorations must have been fine and worth seeing. Many thanks for telling the Corner about it. Did you see the eclipse? I did, some of it. How are the plants? How kind of you to take bouquets to the sick and shut-ins. I miss your Corner letters, and hope you are not sick. I suppose you are very busy with baby geese and ducks.

Rainbow: Your letter was nice. Come again.

Violet: I hope you all arrived home O. K. and no worse for the trip. I was so glad to see you all, if only for a short time.

Zero: The slips are rooted, for Aunt Jerushie says that when leaves turn to the window after turning the pot around a couple times they are rooted. I am so pleased, my Johnny-jump-ups have been in bloom outdoors all the time since last summer, even when snow was on them. It shows us how God cares for the flowers and us to.

Robin: I haven't seen your name in the Corner page in a long time. Can't you write and cheer us up a bit?

Where are Kitty and Spry Bird: Spring is here. Better come out with a Corner letter.

Joan: How are you? Better, I hope. It is hard to be sick and shut in.

In reply to the sister's letter "What is home," I say it should be a place of love, sunshine and cheer. A 50-50 bargain and not like a balky team with the "Mr." going out with other ladies and having a jolly good time while the "Mrs." with sick babies to care for, stays home and does housework until ready to drop in her tracks. It is where both take up the load together, and keep at it, sharing the sorrows and joys together; cheering the sick with their sunshine of love, that is a happy home.

Regarding the sister's letter on middle age. Just you remember every board has two sides. Examine both sides carefully before condemning either side. I think she has had experience to cause her to say what she did in her letter as hundreds of others have. And yet the mischief maker was so smooth before outsiders that they would not believe one thing could be wrong with the guilty ones. So as usual they blamed the innocent one and set people against her with false sayings. Am I right or not? I have been through that mill from A to Z, so know by experience. But middle age or young age, has some sweet souls one loves. So age has nothing to do with a jealous person, let it be man or woman. They are dangerous and should be compelled by law to wear a danger signal, a little red flag on the front of the forehead to warn people of danger. Could jealousy be buried or washed out, wiped off the earth, what a heaven on earth this would be—one big happy family, all happy, regardless of color, creed or nationality. God is love, and where love is, you always find sunshine and cheer.

FINDS CORNER HELPFUL

Dear Social Corner Members and Editor: I have been reading your Corner for some time and find it very interesting and helpful. I have tried many of the recipes and found them very good.

I would appreciate it very much if some of the members of the Corner would send in some recipes on how to make cold creams and also vanishing creams. I understand that some of the Corner members make their own creams

Any of the members with children will like this recipe for oat meal macaroons as the children can eat all they want without being sick.

Oat Meal Macaroons: 1 cup oat meal, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup melted butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder.

Beat eggs thoroughly. Mix all ingredients together. Drop from spoon on well greased and floured pan, leaving about three inches between each macaroon. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes. Remove from pan while warm with spatula.

Thanking you in advance for the cream recipes.

CLUB No. 6'S MEETING

Dear Social Corner Members: Club 6 held its April meeting in the Grange hall at North Stonington, Tuesday, with 55 in attendance. There was a good dinner served by Cosmos and her helpers. Prairie Chicken did nicely with the program, putting on one number herself which was very amusing. There were readings by Yellow Jacket and Lucille Drew. Singing by the audience, then an Easter egg hunt. Dr. Lamb of Norwich Town sang and Mrs. Manning of Norwich gave two recitations which were much enjoyed. We were glad to have Lauret and Ravena with us again; also so many visitors from Norwich.

WANTS MACARONI RECIPE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I hope everyone is feeling fine today, although it isn't a very good day. It looks like rain, but feels like snow. I will be glad when it gets warmer.

Rose Lee: Will you please send in your recipe for macaroni before the next meeting? As your macaroni is so good I would like to see if I can make it for the next meeting.

TUNY ANN (Club 1).

AN EVENING IN MAINE.

Dear Corner Friends: Today has been lovely. As it is Sunday evening and the steady hum of the autos which have been moving in a steady line all day is quieting down, one can now hear himself think. The frogs are singing and a number of wild ducks are on the lake. A pretty picture was several taking a sunbath on a float that is used by the bathers.

Whirlwind: I don't forget I owe you a letter. Your's was fine.

Jane of R. I.: I shall be pleased to answer all questions if you address Balsam Fir, Box 27, Dry Mills, Maine. I am glad you like my name. I only wish you could see my pines fir and a hemlock tree. Yes, I have heard people say that who have kept fir eight or nine years by putting it into a pan and warming it in the oven. It will smell like fir just picked. Dry Mills is 22 miles from Portland direct route to Berlin, N. H. A state road all the way. Summer people are beginning to open their cottages here. A man and his wife who own a nice house across the lake are from Hartford, Conn., and were here all last week.

I am going to try Jane of R. I.'s Eskimo rarebit. It sounds good. Arbutus is earlier than usual. I do enjoy every letter and the poetry. I did enjoy getting the poetry of "The captain with his whiskers takes a sly glance at me."

Those in sorrow and grief have my sympathy. So many passing away so suddenly. Our family doctor, Dr. Ellen Wood, was buried a few days ago, and like the late Dr. Tingley, it was a great blow to his many friends. Such is life, but we must look on the bright side of life for what is to be will be. Absolutely. Let us laugh a while.

Speaking of laps:

"I was reared in the lap of luxury," said the multi-millionaire's daughter.

"Try mine for a change," suggested the impecunious young man.—Boston Transcript.

Libby: Yours received. Many thanks. You will hear from me soon.

BALSAM FIR.

GARDEN JOYS

Dear Social Corner: I want to tell Pernickety about the delightful time I had this afternoon. The wind was not as cold and boisterous as it has been most of the spring. So, sheltered by the garden wall, I spent an hour and a half cultivating and weeding my bulb bed. The children were playing by themselves in the back yard so I had a quiet time all alone. Now and then I heard the sweet notes of a bluebird and also the cherruping of frogs down in the pond.

The first bulbs to bloom for me this spring were the snowdrops. My winter aconite usually comes first but it did not bloom this year. I have crocus flowers in blue, yellow, white and stripes. On one plant I counted six blooms. Have you ever tried forcing crocus for indoor blooming? Years ago I tried some in water with pebbles but they were a failure. This year I planted some in dirt and they did well. How the children did enjoy them!

I hope you have some blue scillas in your garden, for they are very pretty. I plan to move mine near the yellow crocus for they bloom at the same time and look delightful together. Next to the wall are some daffodils that promise to unfold their buds soon. Have you looked at the grape hyacinths that I gave you? I thought mine were resentful over being moved last fall. But when weeding I found some of them were budded.

The jonquils that you gave me from grandmother's garden did not bloom last spring but I hope that they will be more kind this season. The tulips and narcissus that you gave me have come up well. Last spring I had some of those odd looking fritillaria. They started to grow this spring but rotted off. I do not care enough about them to buy any more.

Last fall I sent to California for some trout flies. Maude planted them for me and now they are coming up. You see, I have a lot of fun running to the garden every morning to see how all these plants are doing.

I enjoy every word of your gardening letters. But they do not take the place of seeing you and talking things over face to face. When are you coming to see your sister

RHODY?

ATTENTION, MR. FULLER.

Dear Social Corner Members: Lazy folk make work for themselves? Perhaps, but that does not always hold true. I got sick and tired of trying to clean one of those spiral bed springs with a bristle brush and bethought of one of those long radiator brushes. It proved to be just the right thing for the job and that particular spring was cleaned in a jiffy. I'm willing to eat all the dust that was left on it but I very much doubt if you can find any.

Now is the "properest" time to move those perennial plants to the places where we want them. They have started just enough so we can tell one from t'other and yet not enough so that moving will retard growth.

What a late spring! But those daffies are glorious now and other things will rush to take their places and before we know it the height of the spring blooming season will be here.

PERNICKETY.

THE PRISON WRITER

Dear Social Friends: I wonder do you realize that we have great writers in prisons? This a. m. I received one of the magazines from the Charlestown prison, (Mass.), and one from the Vermont state prison. There are many men who write prose and poems, and are editors of magazines, some that I write for who have been in for 36 years and are going to stay in for life.

If you knew the lives of many of these men, you would know more about life.

A few years ago I played Sundays for 500 men to sing at the Church house in Providence. If everyone would say a kind word, or do a kind deed for a down-and-out, this would be such a different world. All men and women have good points and we can overlook bad ones by helping them to do right. I wish you all a happy Easter, and plenty of flowers and pure thoughts.

JANE OF R. I.

HOUSECLEANING EASY

To the Social Corner: The first thing I do Saturday mornings is to read your letters. I am glad to note that the Rev. George Warren Potter is going to be with us another year. He is a fine man and greatly interested in the work he is doing. My spring housecleaning is easy. I have four rooms only and do not let things accumulate during the year. So cleaning is about the same the year round.

I pass on all books and magazines when read and do not hoard old clothes, broken dishes or useless utensils of any kind. All furniture is plain, and all curtains washable. Congoleum (waxed) in pantry, kitchen and small hall and small rug with painted and varnished floor in the living room.

With best wishes to all.

GERTRUDE

SUGGESTS CARD SHOWER FOR AGED VETERAN

Dear Social Corner Friends: As it is nearing my father's 90th brithday, April 23rd, I would like to give him a post card shower.

He is a Civil war veteran having serving in the Civil war five years and never got wounded. He belonged to Co. D, Eighth Connecticut. He would like to hear from any of his old comrades if they are living.

His address is Henry A. Bassett, North Windham, Conn., P. O. Box 72.

Best wishes to all.

RIVERVIEW, (Club No. 1).

HER DRIVING EXPERIENCE

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: What a lovely day we had for the meeting on Tuesday. Cosmos gave us a nice dinner and Prairie Chicken arranged the program, which was very interesting. There was an Easter egg hunt and when Topsy found she wasn't going to get the most she just stalled so she could get the consolation prize. Why was I so dumb I never thought of it? Nevertheless, Kitty Lou was pleased with the chicken. I have my two rooms papered now, thanks be, and the rest I'll do as I get to it. I think I'm going to Groton to New London County Pomona on Thursday if nothing happens (and Milky Way goes). It is not often I get a chance to go to N. L. Pomona, so it will be a treat.

Well, one of the sisters gave us something to write about now and we should get a whole lot of letters as there are so many of the Social Corner members who drive cars. I have had very few exciting experiences driving. Once I backed into a piazza and knocked out a corner post and some lattice work. Another time I was driving a new truck and the reverse stuck and backed into a fence and knocked it over. My worst experience was trying to drive a horse. The first horse I ever drove into town was an old one, old enough to be pensioned. I guess, but he would go a pretty good gait until I met someone and said, "Hello," or "Good Morning," when he would stop dead still. It would nearly throw you through the windshield. No! No! Over the dashboard. After a while I was promoted up to driving the little driving horse and he went like fury. I say I drove him but really I just held the reins. Nearly every time we went downtown he backed me up onto the sidewalk. He would get his tail over the reins, then it was all off. We went until he decided to stop. Then we had another horse, a young one, to use on the milk route and also on the farm. We had to go to White Rock for milk every night and when I drove through town I couldn't get him by a water fountain. There were three, one on West Broad street, one by the post-office, one up by the depot and another, too, farther up Canal street. He would have to drink at each one and when he had to cross onto the wrong side of the road it was rather exciting. No matter how I tried to get him by, it did no good, for drink he would. Both he and the other horse of the team were very good to work and were perfectly willing to stop when we said "Whoa!" I was riding on a harrow one day and I went over an extra-high stone and lost my balance and fell off. One end of the harrow went over my leg and I yelled, "Whoa." They stopped so quick it was still on my leg. I've driven a car (?) eight or nine years but never had the exciting experiences I have had with horses.

I hope we will hear a lot of experiences now. Evidently my suggestions about hostesses fell on bare and stony ground, as certainly they never bore fruit. It does seem too bad that the same ones have to do it each time when there are so many who might do it if they would.

Cosmos: I guess I lost my bet but at any rate Yellow Jacket was there to protect you.

Coonie: We missed you. Expect by this time you are all settled. (I'm not yet.)

Brown Eyes: It was good to see you. Sympathy to those in distress.

SUMAC (No. 6).

DO AS YOU EXPECT

Dear Social Corner Readers: I attended the Social Corner meeting Tuesday and had the usual good time. Cosmos arranged a splendid dinner and the program went smoothly in spite of the disappointment that affronted Prairie Chicken. After she had the program arranged, at the last minute a friend that expected to play the piano was unable to be there, so Prairie Chicken was almost sure there was one among the company that would accommodate her but unforunately there was no one that could play. It seems as if there must have been just one in 60 that could at feast have played America and the closing hymn that to me must seem so familiar to others about my age.

Please do not think I am preaching because I do not mean to, but do you know we can some way get around a big obstacle, but it's the little things in life that hurt, as was the case yesterday.

The Scripture tells us, "Hide not your candle under a bushel," which means if you can do a thing, do it; if you cannot execute it perfectly, do it the best you can.

Prairie Chicken was asked to take charge of the program. She did it cheerfully and patiently. She is always willing to do things as far as she is able. It is well to remember that whenever we are asked to help our sister or brother over a "stony" path, especially at a most perplexing moment, we feel better if we respond and it saves a terrible embarrassment for the other.

B. O.

THANKFUL FOR ASSISTANCE

Dear Social Corner Members: Well! I'm here to tell about it, fortunately. I didn't know at first as I ever could struggle through the program, but in spite of the fact our Sister Zulieka was unable to be with us we were more than fortunate to have a guest take our absent sister's part.

I wish to express my thanks to those who so willingly assisted me and to the guests. We fully appreciated your presence and sincerely hope you had such a thoroughly good time you will all want to come again. I understand the next meeting will be held in Westerly.

Clara Bee, Clarissa Lyle, Zulieka, Interested Reader, Tish and Tatting: I missed your smiling faces at our meeting. Maybe you will be able to be with us at the next one.

PRAIRIE CHICKEN.

SUGGESTS NAME OF FLOWER

Social Corner Editor: I am enclosing herewith my correct name and address which I overlooked in my previous leter.

Eveline Burr: The hardy perennial flower you asked the name of may be physostegia. The blossoms are yellow and early.

MARY LOUISE.

WHO HAS THE SHEARS?

Dear Social Corner Sisters: First I wish to thank all of my helpers for assisting me in the last meeting. And now did anyone happen to pick up a pair of nickle shears in the kitchen? I lost a pair. And I wish whoever picked them up they would return them to the next hostess next month.

Breed Theatre

"Happy Days," coming for you tomorrow and how!

A full 100 stars of stage and screen doing their stuff in as sparkling an all-talking musical romance as was ever conceived for stage and screen.

Did we say Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Vic McLaglen, Ed. Lowe, J. Harold Murray, Walter Catlett, Tom Patricola, Warner Baxter, William Collier and 90 others were in it!

And how!—those stars shine.

Did we say there were enough other featured players—and beautiful girls who can sing and dance like "nobody's business!"

And how!—those sprightly pretties glitter.

Did we say there was a charming dramatic story, teeming with heart interest winding swiftly through the colorful musical settings!

And how!—that story grips, in every sequence.

In fact "Happy Days" is coming to the Breed theatre tomorrow right for four days, and you'll agree that those days will be happy days when you come early to avoid the rush.

Visitor—Does the crystal gazer live here?

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Democratic primaries to elect delegates to the town convention were held in Norwich fifty years ago this week and a bicycle club, know as the Norwich Bicycle club, was organized the same week with Edward Howard as president and Winslow Tracy Williams as captain. Deacon Elisha H. Mansfield of Norwich Town, died that week at the age of 87 years. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of April, 1880, are as follows;

Monday, April 12, 1880—The anniversary exercises of the Park church Sunday school were conducted in the main edifice yesterday morning, by the pastor.

The Right Reverend John Williams, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Connecticut, visited Trinity church, yesterday morning, the Poquetanuck church in the afternoon and Christ church in the evening, for the purpose of administering the rite of confirmation.

An interesting programme of exercises was carried out at the Sachem street M. E. church reunion, last evening. A. E. Cobb, the oldest male member of the church, presided.

Two well known young gentlemen of this city, Messrs Herbert Linnell and George Plummer, leave Norwich in a few days for Virginia, to engage in the pastoral pursuit of raising Angora goats.

Tuesday, April 13, 1880—The second concert of the Orchestral union at Breed hall, last night, drew out an excellent audience, somewhat larger than that which greeted the union at its last concert. The programme was the same as the one upon that occasion and each piece was received with enthusiasm.

Mr. Harley Bromley's hens keep a booming in the egg business. For three months ending April 1st his 65 hens had deposited for him 3,540 eggs, or 295 dozen. We doubt whether a hennery in the state can make better returns.

Mr. Charles Buchanan of this city caught 22 as handsome trout as were ever brought to this city, on Saturday. This is the largest and handsomest string reported this season. Who beats it?

Wednesday, April 14, 1880—The following are the canvassers that have been appointed by Supervisor J. Q. A. Stone to take the census canvass in New London and Norwich—New London, C. M. Wilcox, L. Hempstead, N. S. Gardner, B. L. Lynch, B. Mahan, S. Dahol. Norwich, Palmer Bill, Daniel Lee, J. B. Rogers, G. A. Pratt, Jr., D. R. Vergason.

The Wm. M. Williams Steam Fire Engine Co., entertained the members of the Shetucket Steam Fire Engine Co., at their house on Saturday evening, together with Chief Engineer Carrier and invited guests. A splendid supper was served and the occasion was made very enjoyable by the Falls Co. They can't be beaten in taking care of their friends.

Mr. Charles Trankla of Preston and Mary C. Webster, daughter of H. E. Webster of this city, were made one yesterday, by the Rev. Wm. S. Palmer. The printers of this office acknowledge receipt of choice favors from the wedding feast and wish the couple much joy in their new life.

Thursday, April 15, 1880—There was a large sale of real estate on Colt street, some 33 building lots of the Colt estate going very low yesterday. Nine house lots went for $883.

A bicycle club was formed in this city, yesterday, under the name of The Norwich Bicycle club. The following officers were elected; President, Edward Howard; secretary, James Carew, Jr.; treasurer, Charles R. Butts; captain, Winslow Tracy Williams.

Yesterday the death of Deacon Elisha H. Mansfield of Norwich Town, was announced at the advanced age of 87, after a brief illness of a week. He was a native of Norwich, having been born in the house where he died, in 1794.

Friday, April 16, 1880—The New London Northern railroad are building a heavy stone wall along the line of their property on the Cove, 150 feet long. It will widen their premises some 20 feet and give room for double tracks in front of the depot.

Thieves entered the stable of Mr. E. D. Fuller, on Broadway, on Wednesday night, and carried off a new double harness. The same night the barn of Mr. Amasa C. Hall, on the same thoroughfare, was entered and a single harness taken. No trace of the thieves has yet been obtained.

The Norwich telephone exchange was turned over to its New London proprietors on Monday. Mr. Charles E. Case is now ready to receive applications for the instruments.

Saturday, April 17, 1880—The democratic primaries to send delegates to the town convention, called for Monday afternoon, were held in the five voting districts last evening and were largely attended. In the first voting district H. Hobart Roath was elected as chairman and Franklin H. Brown, secretary. Eight delegates were chosen as follows; E. F. Parker, H. D. Sydleman, M. W. Beebe, Junius A. Brand, Dwight Doolittle, J. H. Woodruff, Charles S. Avery, Charles F. Thayer.

In the second district John P. Murphy was chosen as chairman and Charles E. Briggs, secretary. Four delegates were chasen, as follows; George C. Bills, John C. Shay, P. W. Pratt, John P. Murphy.

In the third district the three delegates elected were S. D. Wilson, P. Barry and James Conklin.

The delegates chosen in the fourth and fifth districts had not been reported at the hour of going to press.

LODGE NOTES

ODD FELLOWS

Shetucket lodge, No. 27, held their regular meeting Tuesday night with Noble Grand Alvin D. Lewis presiding. Routine business was transacted and the usual benefits voted. One feature a little out of the ordinary was the two or three minute talks by a number of the brothers present. In the near future the front of the building will be graced with an electric sign, a sufficient sum having been raised by the sign committee and the contract has been given to a local man, a member of the order.

The last in a series of district meetings of District No. 9, comprising Obwebetuck of Willimantic, Reliance of Jewett City and Uncas and Shetucket lodges of Norwich will be held next Thursday night, April 24, with Obwebetuck lodge of Willimantic. They have just had their lodge room redecorated and refurnished, so it will be in excellent condition to receive the visitors. Supper will be served at 7:30 as usual. These district meetings have been quite successful and much credit is due the committee having them in charge. The Odd Fellows cannot afford to forget the date.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

The regular meeting of Clara Barton Tent, No. 7, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, was held at Buckingham Memorial, Tuesday evening, with the president, Mrs. Elizabeth Bogue, presiding. Several matters of business were conducted, but the principal subject was the state convention to be held in Willimantic, April 22 and 23rd. A good delegation is expected to attend from this tent, and all members are welcome whether delegates or not.

The meeting was closed in usual form with the salute to the flag, and singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

The regular meeting of Mercier Assembly, No. 12, was held Tuesday evening with the president, Miss Margaret Sullivan, presiding.

A large class of candidates was initiated by the committee of which Miss Lucy Murphy was chairman. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

All plans have been completed for the dramatic reading and entertainment to be given by John P. Murphy.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

Norwich grange, No. 172, will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, April 23, in Grange hall. A supper served by Division E., at 6:30 o'clock, will precede the meeting. The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on a class of 25 candidates. All candidates are requested to be at the Grange hall for the supper.

All roads will lead to Grange hall when the play entitled, "Chintz Cottage," is produced. Dancing is to follow the play with refreshments.

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—The moderate improvement in the insolvency record that has been shown in recent weeks, was in evidence this week with three less failures being reported to R. G. Dun and company than during the preceding week. Defaults last week number 491, which compares with 502 two weeks ago, and with 488 failures reported for the corresponding week in 1929.

An investment trust of the limited management type to be known as the Utilities Hydro and Rails Shares corporation, has been formed by J. Henry Lewis and company, New York and Philadelphia investment bankers. The trust will have an authorized capitalization of 15,000,000 shares of common stock, of which 120,000 have been issued. Its present portfolio consists of shares of more than 149 railroad and utility companies and affiliated equipment organizations.

Employes of the Bethlehem Steel corporation numbering 43,367, have subscri[illegible] for shares of the corporation's [illegible] cent cumulative preferred [illegible] year's employes' saving and stock ownership plan, the corporation, announced today. The stock was priced at $125 a share, but through credited dividends and other special benefits the buyer pays only $113.56 a share.

Interests affiliated with S. W. Straus and company are forming an investment trust of the fixed type called the Super-Corporations of America Trust Shares, Inc., with an authorized capitalization of 100,000 shares of no par common stock. The shares will be offered in two series, namely, maximum return series, in which all returns on the under-lying stocks including split-ups, will be distributed as dividends, and capital accumulation series in which all stock dividends in excess of 10 per cent and all split-ups will be allowed to accumulate.

A further slowing up in sales of manufactured gas utilities was experienced in February, according to reports received by the American Gas association from companies representing approximately 88 per cent of the manufactured gas industry. Customers of the reporting companies on February 28 aggregated 8,789,077, while sales for the month total 32,307,861,000 cubic feet. This figure represents an increase of 1.5 per cent over those of the same month last year, but the rate of increase was not as great as that of a year ago.

Treasury Balance.

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 16 were $5,032,201.81; expenditures $42,054,567.46; balance $271,110,758.34.

GOV. CONGRATULATES NORWICH FOR ITS SPIRIT

with the parcels, for he was expected to deliver them as well as transport them. Mr. Adams jumped at the chance. For a small sum, he agreed to carry parcels between various points. The result was the Adams Express company.

DOCTOR: Great oaks from little acorns grow!

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, if they land on good soil. At eighteen years of age, Captain Colt was commanding a sailing vessel. He continued with sailing vessels until the coming of the steamboat. He was the man who carried President Andrew Jackson down the Thames river the time the hero of New Orleans came up to Norwich to lay the corner-stone of the Uncas monument.

DOCTOR: That was a red-letter day for the Rose of New England!

SCHOOLMASTER: It certainly was. Not only President Jackson, but Vice President Van Buren, and three members of the cabinet. Also Governer Edwards, of Connecticut. In all his career, Captain Colt never lost a life nor a pound of freight.

DOCTOR: Remarkable for a man who entered steamboating in its infancy. The first ten or fifteen years steamboats used to blow up almost on a schedule.

SCHOOLMASTER: The peak of his career, however, was during the Civil war. In a steamboat built at Mystic, in 1864, and named the W. W. Colt, he carried General Gilmore to Charleston to replace the American flag on Fort Sumpter. Captain Colt loaned the ship's ensign to be raised over the fort.

DOCTOR: You say he loaned it? Did he ever get it back?

SCHOOLMASTER: He did. When the fact that the Union had been preserved finally percolated through the south, the flag was replaced and the ship's ensign returned to Captain Colt.

DOCTOR: That's a little side-light I didn't know. On the other hand, do you happen to know that the monument to Uncas, of which you were just speaking, was erected by the women of Norwich, in 1833?

SCHOOLMASTER: By the women, indeed!

DOCTOR: In 1907, when Buffalo Bill's Wild West show visited Norwich, Buffalo Bill, with Chief Rocky Bear and Chief Iron Tail, led one hundred Sioux Indians to the royal burying ground of the Mohegans. They formed a circle around the monument to Uncas and chanted a war song.

SCHOOLMASTER: Very well-thought of!

DOCTOR: Buffalo Bill placed a wreath of flowers on the grave of the great Sachem, and a cavalry bugler with the party sounded taps.

SCHOOLMASTER: But why all the ceremony? Our race cheated Uncas out of his rights. This ground on which Norwich stands, no doubt.

DOCTOR: (Interrupting), was purchased? A fair and square business transaction. The price was $350 in a period when that amount of money was a fortune. In 1659.

SCHOOLMASTER: I'm glad to hear it, doctor. Indian titles haven't always been gained so honestly.

DOCTOR: Norwich can look back to the memory of Uncas without a blush. This is the famous town of the nine miles-square, and it was paid for, $350.

SCHOOLMASTER: Old Uncas wouldn't recognize it today!

DOCTOR: And yet I fancy he could find his way about. There's many a spot about the city where he would feel at home, where an Indian lodge would be a finishing touch to a patch of wilderness, a camp-fire not out of place, a pounding of medicine drums fitting music. With all our modernism, we can't shake off our beginnings. They live with us!

SCHOOLMASTER: Shall we go inside, doctor? Are you hungry yet?

DOCTOR: Not quite. Let's sit out a few more numbers. Sorry you didn't join me at golf today. I'd like you to see our course here.

SCHOOLMASTER: I'm such a rotten golfer; some other time. Frankly, I'd rather sit here and watch the Thames.

DOCTOR: Odd thing, professor, the early settlers here didn't at first appreciate the value of that river. They could see the water-power of the Yantic and the Shetucket. That was wealth. And I suppose that is the reason they went so far inland for their settlement. Norwich was founded in back there, at Norwich Town.

SCHOOLMASTER: I didn't know that. I supposed the first houses were by the river. That would be my way of doing it.

DOCTOR: They had different ideas. At first, farming was the prime motive.

SCHOOLMASTER: But your colonial farmer always had an eye out for waterpower. Quite a bit of colonial manufacture was done during the winter months. It helped out in poor years.

DOCTOR: Quite right, professor. And where our business section now stands was the old "Landing" or "Chelsea Landing," as they called it, two miles away from the original settlement. Even from very early times, Chelsea Landing was prosperous. It was the harbor for Norwich Town.

SCHOOLMASTER: You're getting me a bit confused with this Norwich and Norwich Town.

DOCTOR: Norwich Town was the original settlement, the plantation, two miles back from the landing. When agriculture declined and industry replaced it, the Landing began to grow. Men looked to the ocean, and the trade it brought them, for wealth. In time, the Landing became an incorporated city, the City of Norwich, with old Norwich Town for a suburb.

SCHOOLMASTER: An ideal way to grow, if you ask me!

DOCTOR: Isn't it, though! That gives us something of which no other city can boast, a residence district which hasn't changed its standing since it was founded. Manufacturing, business and residence were very definitely set apart in the beginning, and they have always remained so.

SCHOOLMASTER: As a seaport, how did Norwich succeed?

DOCTOR: Almost a second Salem, professor. In its day, the old Thames you see in front of you carried ships to Norwich from every port on the globe. Shortly after the Revolution, our citizens owned 40 vessels engaged in deep-sea trade. There's been many a shipload of West Indian sugar, molasses and rum brought to Norwich.

SCHOOLMASTER: Those were the days of the old square-rigged clippers?

DOCTOR: Yes, but Norwich traces her maritime history further back than that. The frigate Confederacy was built here in Norwich, during the Revolution. It was one of two frigates ordered built in Connecticut by the Continental Congress, and carried 32 guns. And Norwich furnished more than one captain to the country.

SCHOOLMASTER: How about privateers?

DOCTOR: In that day, professor, all eastern Connecticut was in the privateering business. Officers and sailors were recruited from the banks of the Thames, from Norwich to New London. They were lively times along this river then.

SCHOOLMASTER: And there were lots of prize ships laying along the river?

DOCTOR: Yes, but ships were only ships. In one way, the biggest prize Norwich ever captured was 18 or 19 gallons of molasses. A man by the name of Winslow, a Tory, sent out his brig Nancy with the molasses on board. The boat ran into bad weather and was forced into Stonington harbor.

SCHOOLMASTER: Down on the Sound?

DOCTOR: Yes, and a little east of New London. Soon's Norwich heard about molasses being in Stonington harbor, a band of volunteers set out in a big sloop, commanded by Captain Robert Niles. In a few days, they were back at Norwich with the Nancy and the molasses.

SCHOOLMASTER: The boat might have been a prize, but I can't see where 18 gallons of molasses is anything to create excitement!

DOCTOR: Some of htat molasses was used as money! If that proves anything.

SCHOOLMASTER: They were either short on money or on molasses.

DOCTOR: They were short on both, for the greater part of it was doled out to the hospitals. Norwich privateers could go out and capture a ship most any time, but very rarely did they get a chance at 18 gallons of molasses.

SCHOOLMASTER: Seems hard that the old-time sailing vessel had to pass out, doctor. The steamboat covers the water, of course, but they never seem to leave a thrill with you like a sight of canvas spread out to the breeze.

DOCTOR: Now you're treading on my territory, professor. Leave the romance to me. But you're right! What would you give to see an old-time square-rigger come sailing up the Thames right now, with an old-time crew on board, singing an old-time song!

SCHOOLMASTER: Come to think of it, doctor, if I had my choice, there's a scene of old Norwich I should like to have looked upon. It took place upon a Sunday in June, back in 1775. The second bell for church was ringing and down from Bean Hill comes a parade of Backuses, Hydes, Rogerses, Wheats, Tracys.

DOCTOR: There'd be a Waterman and a Griswold in there, too.

SCHOOLMASTER: We mustn't forget Dr. Elihu Marvin, either. They are all headed toward the ancient meeting house on the hill. From an opposite direction come the Lathrops, the Huntingtons, the Adgates, the Blisses, and the Reynolds.

DOCTOR: Also the Baldwins, and the Pecks, and the Trumbulls.

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, and the Fannings, the Townsends and the Carpenters.

DOCTOR: The Miners, the Perkinses, the Goodells, the Marshes, and the Browns.

SCHOOLMASTER: Aaron Cleveland and William Hubbard, the Robertsons and the Turners, the Spooners, the Morgans and the Bushnells.

DOCTOR: The Starrs would be there, and the Carews, the Lords, and the Butlers.

SCHOOLMASTER: The aged pastor steps from the parsonage and joins the throng. He enters the church and ascends the pulpit stairs. The bell overhead is hushed. The service begins. The time arrives for the benediction. As the pastor raises his hand over the bowed heads of his congregation, a horse gallops up to the church door, and a man cries out!

DOCTOR: A messenger with news from Boston!

SCHOOLMASTER: The church bell is rung loudly. The congregation, forgetting the benediction, rises to its feet in alarm. There is a great confusion, but over it all come the words sharp and clear, "a battle, at Bunker Hill, and the British have been defeated."

DOCTOR: That was their benediction!

SCHOOLMASTER: The congregation rush out to the [illegible] round the tired courier, [illegible] reads his dispatches aloud, [illegible] over again. That is one [illegible] I should like to live, if it were possible.

DOCTOR: You came [illegible] of it, way back here in 1930.

SCHOOLMASTER: [illegible] Tree of Liberty was [illegible] ners, the bells rang [illegible] night, and old Norwich [illegible] lighted with fire from a [illegible] fires. The first blow had [illegible] America was ready to fight [illegible] dom.

DOCTOR: I believe I'm [illegible] hungry. Shall we go inside, [illegible] sor?

SCHOOLMASTER: I'm waiting [illegible] you, doctor.

DOCTOR: Shall we meet [illegible] and where?

SCHOOLMASTER: [illegible] here, on the porch of the inn. [illegible] think of a better place for a [illegible]

DOCTOR: All right, [illegible] week, at the same time.

SCHOOLMASTER: And by that time, I might feel like trying [illegible] holes of golf.

ANNOUNCER: The program [illegible] concluded, ladies and gentlemen, [illegible] sponsored by the Merchants Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, Norwich, Connecticut, the Rose of New England. Every week at this [illegible] the old Doctor and his friend [illegible] Schoolmaster will entertain you [illegible] the story of Norwich, ancient [illegible] modern. If you are planning a [illegible] trip through Connecticut, don't [illegible] include Norwich and the [illegible] territory in your route. It [illegible] thousand charms for the [illegible] While Norwich has developed largely as an industrial community, it is also justly noted for its picturesque beauty. Its magnificient parks, [illegible] great elms and maples, its many beautiful residences dating back to colonial days, its finely appointed public buildings are all surrounded by a country-side that is unequalled for its scenic beauty.

The Merchants Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, Norwich, Conn., invite you to be present with the Doctor and the Schoolmaster next week, and now bid you "good-night."

In Far Hawaii

In the islands of Hawaii
  It is always summer time,
There is no chill of winter
  In that far off sunny clime.

There the palms are always waving
  There the flowers ever bloom,
There the sun is always shining,
  And there are no days of gloom.

There the seasons are unchanging,
  There December is as May,
For those skies of deepest azure
  N'er are clothed with leaden gray.

The beauty of its rainbows
  Tongue nor pen can e'er portray,
And the glory if its sunset
  Marks the hour of closing day.

The sunrise with its gorgeous hues
  Rivals the sunset in its tint
But of all the wealth of color
  Words can give the merest hint.

For the gentle rains that fall there
  "Liquid sunshine" is the name,
And its mild and even climate
  Now has gained a world-wide fame.

There you may bathe in tepid ocean
  Every month throughout the year,
Within its reef-locked waters
  There is pleasure without fear.

Floating on the broad Pacific
  Soft and cool the breezes blow,
There the mango and banana
  With the cocoanuts do grow.

When you greet those sunny islands
  "Aloha" they say to you,
'Tis the Hawaiian salutation
  Both of welcome and adieu.

When you leave those pleasant islands
  All bedecked with garlands gay,
To the music of aloha
  They will speed you on your way.

—By C. H. Case, in Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

The Wind

I hate the wind, the blustering wind,
  So saucy and so rough;
Performing some fantastic freak
  With every boisterous puff;
The wind that howls and raves and roars,
  Uncouth, undisciplined,
That shakes the house and racks the trees—
    I hate the wind!

I like the zephyrs, soft and mild,
  The gentle Summer breeze
That fans our groves and lightly stirs
  The leaves upon the trees;
But surely when the wind was born
  The Devil must have grinned;
It is indeed the Devil's child—
    I hate the wind!

Spain wishes to be permanently joined with the land of her traditional enemies, the Moors, by the longest tunnel in the world—twenty miles from end to end and 1,500 feet below water surface at the midpoint. Spanish engineers have discussed in their societies this proposed bond between Europe and Africa, and a preliminary shaft has already been sunk. Although the straits are only eight miles wide at their narrowest point, it is impossible to build a tunnel there because of the great depth of the channel and the presence of rock too hard to bore. Further explorations of the consistency of the rock are to be made from the shaft by means of sound waves.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

Today the Palace theatre will present one of the most spectacular films which has ever been produced. "Under a Texas Moon" is the name of this great offering and it is Warner Brothers' first 100 per cent talking, singing, outdoor picture in technicolor, now playing on Broadway at top prices. Never before have the sounds of nature and the beautiful coloring of the great open spaces been reproduced together and the combination of the two makes a gorgeous spectacle.

Frank Fay, who was the master of ceremonies in "Show of Shows," is the leading man and he heads a long cast of stars. Included among these are: Armida, Noah Beery, Myrna Loy, Raquel Torres, Mona Maris, Fred Kohler, Tully Marshall, Charles Sellon, Georgie Stone, George Cooper, and many others.

Don Carlos Jose Rafael Sebastian de Rivero, as played by Frank Fay, is one of the most astonishing and delightful liars of all time. He, with his fertile imagination, blurts out whatever comes into his mind as the solemn truth, adds assumed names to his already lengthy list, and refers to ranches which do not even exist, as his very own. He swears undying devotion to every attractive girl whom he meets and woos them one and all with ardent fervor.

Don Carlos and his two Mexican peons have been engaged by Jed Parker, foreman of the Lazy Y ranch, to restore some stolen cattle and, if possible, capture the thief. Immediately upon his arrival at the ranch, Carlos becomes enamoured of two sisters. Faithfully, and of course separately, he pledges his love to the senoritas and leaves on his mission. There are so many girls on the journey that soon this modern Don Juan forgets entirely about cattle and thieves and leaves Pedro and Philipe to carry on. There are girls at inns, in haciendas and even in bathing pools, and unfalteringly he wins them.

But he fools many men and upon his return to the ranch he finds them gathered on vengeance bent. Don Carlos is clever and not to be vanquished, so taking the reward for the return of the cattle and the capture of the culprit, both of which were accomplished by his henchmen, he rides away in a cloud of glory.

No one should miss this picture, which will be shown at the Palace through Tuesday of next week. Everyone will be enchanted by the theme song, "Under a Texas Moon," already popular but greatly enhanced by the voices of the ranchers gathered around campfires on the edge of the desert beneath southern skies.

Broadway Theatre

When a stage production is rendered upon the audible screen it is natural to draw a comparison. But in the case of "The Vagabond King" which opens at the Broadway theatre today, a comparison is a paltry means of expressing the glamorous wonderment of this marvelous screen version. In fact, the film adaptation is so far superior in thrills and sheer beauty that there is no comparing it with the original, beautiful as the original was. Dennis King, as the master of the sword, the leader of the vagabonds, the redeemer of Paris and the captor of a princess' heart, leaps into the very front rank of romantic actor-singers of the cinema in his gorgeous portrayal of Francois Villon, the poet-hero of "The Vagabond King." The period of the plot is 1463, the late middle ages. Louis XI (played by O. P. Heggie) is the weakling king of France, besieged at Paris by the Burgundian army. By a quirk of fate, Dennis King becomes sovereign for a week. It is during this brief reign that he meets Louis' niece, the Princess Katherine (played by Jeanette MacDonald), and falls in love with her. By clever generalship the bogus king outwits and defeats the Burgundians with the help of his faithful vagabond adherents. Paris is thus saved, but the treacherous Louis decides that King is too powerful and that he must be hanged. It is when the hero is about to have his life snuffed out on the gibbet that Katherine takes a part in the proceedings and saves the day in a tremendously powerful dramatic climax. Here is a picture bewilderingly wonderful, what with its gorgeous technicolor treatment throughout, its powerful plot, stupendous sets, breath-taking action, romantic glamour and musical richness both in the singing and orchestral departments.

You owe it to yourself and your sweetheart or family to see this masterpiece, not once but over and over again, for it's that kind of a picture. On the same program, Eddie Cantor has a bit of original foolishment, "Getting a Ticket," which is good for that spring fever, furnishing a thousand laughs in its brief run. The latest Paramount sound news is also shown, and the kiddies have their special showing of "Tarzan the Tiger" at today's matinee.

Count Luckner at Slater Hall

Ever since the day when the 13-year-old Felix von Luckner, son of a German nobleman, ran away from home to sail before the mast, his life has been one of ceaseless adventure. He has made the dangerous life his own, packed with excitement and courage. He sailed before the mast for eight years—he worked as bar-boy in Hoboken, hunted kangaroos in Australia, became middle-weight boxing champion of Queensland. He returned to Germany and joined the imperial navy. His heroic deeds attracted the attention of the kaiser, and he is the only man ever to have risen from the ranks to a command in the German navy.

Lowell Thomas' book, "The Sea Devil," describing the amazing career of Count Luckner, immediately jumped into the best-seller class when placed on the market last fall. Recently it was published in England and is meeting with the same phenomenal success there.

The count is a natural born actor with a tremendous voice that can easily be heard and understood in the largest auditoriums. Hear this interesting lecture at Slater hall next Tuesday evening, given under the auspices of our own Legion boys.

NORWICH TOWN

CLOSING LENTEN SERVICE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

In concluding the Lenten services at the First Congregational church, a special service was held Thursday evening in observance of Hold Thursday. The pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, presided and was assisted by Rev. Charles E. Reeves. The choir sang several selections, under direction of Organist Herbert L. Yerrington. There Is a Green Hill Far Away was the anthem given. The order of service was: Scripture reading prayer and singing. This was followed by a communion service, Rev. Mr. Bailey and Rev. Mr. Reeves officiating in observing the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Rev. Mr. Bailey pronounced the benediction.

Methodist Lenten Service

Friday afternoon in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church, Dorcas Women's Home Missionary society held the annual Good Friday service. In the absence of the president, Mrs. William Weaver, the vice president, Mrs. Arthur T. Fulton, presided. The meeting opened with the singing of the hymn, "In The Cross of Christ I Glory." Prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter. The report of the previous meeting was given by the secretary, Mrs. Stanton W. Brown, and the report of the treasurer was read by Mrs. Rose Manning. After singing the hymn "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life," Mrs. Manning took charge of the service. "Oh Dearly, Dearly Has He Loved," a meditation on Good Friday, was taken up and the following read selections: Mrs. Rose Manning, Mrs. Arthur Fulton, Miss Florence M. Bennett, Mrs. George Randall, Mrs. Stanton W. Brown. The pastor gave a talk on the subject, "Try His Works To Do." "Saviour Thy Dying Love," a hymn was sung. The meditation included the subjects, "He Loved the Seeking Multitude" "He Loved the Indifferent City." "He Loved Restless Individuals," "He Loved His Own," "And How He Intensely Loved People," "We Must Love Him, Too." Following sentence prayers the meeting closed with Mispah benediction. Miss Bennett was pianist at the service.

Men's Club Plans Good Program

The John Mason Community club is to hold the April meeting Monday, next, at 8 o'clock, in the Methodist Episcopal church. John Rogers and Carlton Morse have charge of the entertainment and have secured a well known impersonator, George Jackson. Good musical numbers will help make up an excellent program.

"Family Religion"

Sunday night in the Methodist Episcopal church, the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, will deliver a stereopticon lecture on the subject, "Family Religion." The lectue will follow the Easter concert to be given by the children of the church school, which which will begin at 7 o'clock. The lecture tells in the beginning of the Biblical foundation of religion in the family life and leads on to modern problems. It gives constructive illustrataons of valuable factors of family religion. About 60 slides will be shown during the course of the lecture. Ralph Smith will operate the machine. The lecture is free to the public.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

The people of St. Patrick's church in great numbers observed Good Friday with services which began at 8 a. m. were continued at 3 p. m., and concluded with devotions in the evening. The ceremonies in the morning consisted of a prophecy, a lesson, the Passion of the Redeemer, (John 18-19) special prayers or supplications for all orders and conditions of man, the veneration of the cross and the mass of the presanctified. This mass was read by Rev. John J. Reilly, the only music being responses by the organist, Henry J. LaFontaine, with no organ accompaniment.

At the close, the members of the great congregation, by direction of the assistant pastor, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, moved up the center aisle to the sanctuary railing and after kissing the cross as presented by Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May or Rev. Father Galvin, the congregation left the church by the side aisles Throughout the service, stress was laid on Psalm 66, beginning, "God be merciful to us and bless us;" also on the words of the anthem, "Thy cross, O Lord, we honor and we praise and glorify Thy resurrection; for behold, by this wood (of the cross) hath joy come into the whole world."

The side altar, where the sacred host, consecrated during the mass of Holy Thursday, had remained in the repository over night, had been beautifully adorned with ascension lilies by the members of the Altar society.

Friday afternoon, another great assemblage assisted at the solemnity of the stations of the cross, when Rev. Father Reilly was in the pulpit, Father Galvin, leading the processional to the fourteen stations depicting the principal events from the condemnation of Christ by Pilate until the Redeemer's death on Calvary and His burial in the proffered tomb.

Friday evening's devotions were also largely attended and again there was the veneration of the cross.

PUTNAM MAN TAKES E. C. CHECKER CHAMPIONSHIP

PUTNAM, April 18—William P. Warren of this city and C. E. Hallem of Lebanon, eastern Connecticut's foremost checker players, winners in the semi-finals, played off the final match games of the 5th annual eastern Connecticut checker tournament here today, Warren winning the tilt and clinching the eastern state championship. Warren secured two final victories and played Hallem to two draws.

The play started at 9.15 this morning with sixteen players entered. The play was conducted on the four game single knockout plan, with some of the outstanding players east of the Connecticut river, entered in the matches. Competition proved keen and before the final games were on, ballots had to be drawn before a winner of the earlier matches could be decided.

Although meeting defeat at the hands of the new champion, Hallem forced his opponent in every game and by his sheer skill managed to hold the outcome of the concluding match in doubt until the final game.

The summary follows: First round, Smith, East Killingly, won from Benoit, Putnam, 3 wins, no loss, no draw; Atwood, Brooklyn, won from Williams, Lebanon, 2 wins, one draw, no loss. Warren, Putnam, won from Stanton, 2 wins, 2 draws; J. Gorman, Wauregan, won from Seymour, Putnam, 2 wins, one loss, one draw. Burton, Putnam, won from Baker, Brooklyn, 2 wins, one loss, one draw. Geissler, Putnam, and Hallem, Lebanon, passed on a bye in the first round.

Second round: Smith won from Geissler on a ballot, the summary being a win, a loss and a draw; Warren, Putnam, won from Gorman, Wauregan, 1 win, 1 loss, 2 draws; Burton, Putnam, won from Atwood, Brooklyn, 3 wins, 1 draw. Hallen won from Spaulding, 4 wins. Third round, (semi-finals), Warren won from Burton, 2 wins 1 loss, 1 draw; Hallen won from Smith 2 wins, 1 loss, 1 draw. Finals, Warren won from Hallem, 2 draws, 2 wins.

Mr. Warren, the winner of today's tournament, is well known in New England checker circles. On February 22, he took part in the New England checker meet played at the American house in Boston, and was a prize winner in Class C. He is an ardent participant in the ancient sport and is one of the committee which annually provides for the eastern state championship match.

MOTORISTS GATE CRASHERS AT R. R. GRADE CROSSINGS

Increasing recklessness on the part of many motor vehicle operators in their attitude towards railroad grade crossings is shown in the statistics of grade crossing accidents on the New Haven railroad during the year of 1929. In addition to the 144 crossing accidents in which there was actual contact between motor vehicles and trains during the year, there were 217 occasions when operators in attempting to beat trains over crossings drove their machines into or drove through lowered crossing gates.

In 1927, there were 186 such occasions, and, in 1928, 183 drivers ran through or struck crossing gates. The large increase in these incidents last year, in the opinion of railroad officials, indicates absolute recklessness on the part of the 217 operators. Only the hand of fate coupled with the strength of the crossing gates prevented these drivers and the occupants of their cars from being added to the list of 18 grade crossing fatalities of the year, and from causing an increase of deaths instead of the actual decrease of 53 per cent from the 1928 total.

Recklessness of this type, railroad officials point out, is difficult to analyze, since delays at railroad crossings on the average are actually less than the delay at street intersections equipped with traffic lights. In the case of long freight trains the delay is slightly prolonged, but the time required for the passing of a passenger train is only a few seconds. It is also pointed out by railroad executives that drivers who are so impatient as to drive upon a crossing in the face of all protective signs and signals, should they escape death, will undoubtedly by their disregard of their own safety sooner or later endanger the safety of other motorists on the road.

STATE WOMEN RALLYING TO FIGHT WET TREND

Fearful lest they be "overpowered" by the anti-prohibitionists, particularly the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, the Connecticut branch of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement has called an emergency meeting to organize the women "drys," it has been learned.

The meeting, which has been veiled in secrecy, will be held at the Hotel Taft in New Haven Wednesday at 1 p. m. Mrs. Frank C. Porter, wife of Professor Porter of Yale university, who recently testified before the United States senate lobby investigation committee, is chairman of the Connecticut branch, and will preside at the meeting.

The Women's Christian Temperance union "surely will indorse the program," Mrs. Mary Welles of that organization pledged in a statement Thurasday night. Although members of the Connecticut branch of the law enforcement committee vigorously denied that the Anti-Saloon league was behind the movement, Mrs. Welles was equally sure that the league would "stand right beside them."

The slogan of the committee is "Allegiance to the Constitution and Observance of Laws." This principle was indorsed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, the National League of Women Voters, the Y. W. C. A., the Federation of Women's Board of Foreign Missions of North America, the W. C. T. U. and the King's Daughters.

ONE-WAY TRAFFIC SIGNS FOR SHETUCKET STREET

The new traffic ordinance making Shetucket street a one-way street will go into effect early next week. Right hand turns out of Shetucket street will be allowed at all times, whether the traffic light is red or green, it was announced Friday. Traffic signs for Shetucket street have been completed and will be installed the first of the week. The new ordinance, making Shetucket street a one-way street was adopted at the last meeting of the court of common council.

The lucky man at a wedding may be one who loved and lost.

JEWETT CITY PHYSICIAN AMONG OLD FAMILY DOCTORS

Dr. George Jennings of Jewett City and Dr. E. M. Ripley of Unionville will be the Connecticut representatives of the "old family doctor" group which is to be assembled for the tercentenary tribute to the veteran doctors of New England which is to be paid on April 30 by the city of Boston and the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The New England Medical Center which set out to find the oldest family doctor received 135 names and sent out invitations for them to attend the gathering in Boston. But only 131 invitations instead of 135 could reach their destination. In the 10 days prior to the mailing of the invitations three of the veterans died, and a fourth had died some time before that. This knowledge emphasized to those in charge of the testimonial dinner to the old doctors the need of haste in paying the honors due them.

To date the oldest family doctor found is Dr. Merritt H. Eddy of Middlebury, Vt. It is possible, however, that a still more venerable one may be discovered before April 30, the date when the announcement will be made as to which is the oldest family doctor of New England. A special effort is being made by Will C. Eddy of Boston, first vice president of the Eddy Family association, to bring 97 years old Dr. Eddy to Boston on April 30.

LYME FIRST TOWN IN COUNTY COMPLETING CENSUS

Census population figures in the third district of Connecticut, nearing completion, took definite form Friday with announcement from Supervisor Otto B. Robinson of Willimantic as to three towns.

Bolton, in Tolland county, has 504 persons as against 448 in 1920, or a gain of 56.

Union, in Tolland county, home of United States Attorney John Buckley, long held up as the "specimen" town illustrative of the borough form of representations in the general assembly, has 196 persons as against 257 in 1920, a loss in ten years of 61. Union probably remains the smallest town in the state.

Lyme, in New London county, has 540 persons against 674 in 1920, a loss of 134.

Union has 26 farms, Bolton 63 and Lyme 47. Enumeration is complete in five districts of 25 in Tolland county, six out of 76 in New London county and two out of 40 in Windham county.

For Easter Sunday Services

"What Easter Has Come to Mean To Me," will be the topic of the Easter sermon at the Central Baptist church on Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. David A. Pitt.

At the evening service Rev. Arthur S. Adams of China, will speak on "Some Signs of The Living Christ In The Orient."

There will be baptism at both the morning and the evening service.

Driving Without License

Herman Jelm, Submarine base, was arrested in Waterford Thursday night by Trooper John H. Smith, who charged him with driving without a license and reckless driving. He will be presented Monday in the Waterford town court.

WOMEN ARE INCREASING IN POLITICAL OFFICES

"One of the most notable effects of woman's suffrage is the steady and surprisingly rapid influx of women into local municipal and county offices" was the comment made at the headquarters of the National League of Women Voters, in announcing the returns from surveys made in four states."

At the suggestion of the national office, the state League of Women Voters in Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin has made a careful check, covering both elective and appointive offices. For three of these states we have the figures for three different periods beginning in 1925, for Michigan we have them for the years 1927 and 1929.

"The results have been as surprising and rewarding to those who did the actual work of the surveys as to us. The increase in the number of women in elective office has apparently been matched or even bettered by the increased number in appointive office. In Connecticut these have increased since 1925 from 105 to 474, in Michigan from 90 to 203. In Minnesota, however, for some unexplained reason the number of women appointed to public positions has remained practically stationary."

The favorite office is that of city, village or township treasurer. Michigan has no less than 347 of these, and it is this position and that of clerk for the municipality that accounts for the biggest part of the increase in that state. For these positions which demand chiefly a conscientious attention to detail and trustworthiness, returns from Connecticut and Minnesota tell the same story. Women justices of the peace are no rarity in Connecticut where there are 65, and Michigan shows an increase of from 3 to 28 in a two-year period.

For some reason Connecticut seems to offer unusual encouragement to women to run for representative types of office. The record of twenty women members of its state legislature is unchallenged anywhere in the country, but it also appears that Connecticut has eleven women "selectmen" which is a way of saying "aldermen" in that state, and two county commissioners, an office held by men only in the other states studied.

A summary of the returns from the four states is given below:

	Date	Elec.	Ap.	T'l.
Connecticut	1926	29	105	134
	1927	67	349	416
	1929	590	203	793
Minnesota	1926	127	100	227
	1927	209	—	—
	1930	245	103	348
Wisconsin	1926	58	4	62
	1927	64	9	73
	1929	158	13	171

City village and township offices are not covered in Wisconsin 1926 and 1927 reports. Of the 171 women officials reported in 1929 eighty were in county and state offices.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The report from Gen. Ebenezer Huntington society of Norwich, Conn., was read to the C. A. R. National convention by Miss Mary Stewart, one of the Norwich delegates, and Miss Beatrice Eggleton presented a check of $25 from the society towards the Harriet M. Lathrop memorial fund.

Miss Dorothy Stewart played a violin solo at the Thursday morning meeting with her sister, Mary, accompanying her at the piano.

NORWICH TEACHERS' LEAGUE HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The annual meeting of the Norwich Teachers' league was held at Broadway school, and the reports for the year were very gratifying. Over $1,400 passed through the hands of the treasurer, and a balance on hand of $330 was reported. The sum of $900 was paid Yale university for the two courses given in English and psychology by Professors Noyes and Russell. Such interest was manifested by those teachers who availed themselves of these lectures, that the league hopes to have similar courses next winter. Much appreciation was expressed to the committee who arranged a social evening for the league held at the Samuel Huntington school on March 20. After discussion of other items of business, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President—Miss Mary E. Rogers; vice president, Miss Geraldine Enos; secretary, treasurer, Miss Anna McGuinniss; executive board, Miss Lillian Stetson, Miss Alice Kilroy Miss Celine Bowen Miss Rose Murphy.

(Special to The Bulletin)

Middlebury, Vt., April 18—Donald F. Whitney, of Hobart avenue, Norwich, Conn., has recently been appointed one of the assistant circulation managers of the 1932 Kaleidoscope, Middlebury college junior class annual. The year book is scheduled to appear during the late spring of 1931.

Mr. Whitney is prominent in dramatics in Middlebury college, having taken part in several recent productions. He is a member of Chi Psi.

PASSION SERVICE HELD AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

With several pastors of the city taking part, a most impressive three-hour passion service was conducted Good Friday from 12 to 3 o'clock at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Greeneville, Rev. E. J. Norris, rector, a large congregation attending. The Seven Last Words of Jesus were the subjects of the sermons by the clergymen. The service opened with an introductory address by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church.

The First Word, the Word of Intercession, Luke 23:34, was the subject of an address by Rev. David A. Pitt, D.D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, followed by a talk by Rev. Theodore M. Shipherd, D.D., pastor of the Park Congregational church, on the Second Word, the Word of Pardon, Luke 23:43. The sermon on the Third Word, the Word of Human Care, John 19:26-27, was given by Rev. Joseph Cooper, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, after which the Fourth Word, the Word of Loneliness, was presented in the sermon by Rev. Carl Storek, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church.

The Fifth Word, the Word of Human Need, John 19:18, was the theme of the sermon by Rev. Dwight G. Stone, pastor of the Hanover Congregational church, and the sermon on the Sixth Word, the Word of Victory, John 19:30, was preached by Rev. Myron E. Genter, district Methodist superintendent. The Seventh Word, the Word of Trust, Luke 23:45, was the subject of the talk by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church. Commendatory prayers and musical numbers interspersed the sermons, there also being well-chosen hymns sung by the congregation.

UNITED FRUIT AND VEGETABLE STORES

"ON THE SQUARE"

TO MY FRIENDS:—

Folks, I've seen "The Vagabond King"! And like me, you'll be spell-bound by the supreme artistry, the driving force, the soul-stirring songs, the daring plot, the irresistible talent of the principals, and the overwhelming brilliance of the technicolor, for "The Vagabond King" is filmed throughout in all the colors of the rainbow—bright, vivid, sparkling History knows of that Villon, cut throat, purse-snatcher, common thief, but by virtue of that soul of his literally "King of the Vagabonds," whose poetry, vibrant with the love of life, and written in the fifteenth century, is today still a classic. Dennis King, fresh from his stage triumphs, gains new glory in his screen portrayal of the title role. Jeannette Macdonald, the charming "Louise" of "The Love Parade," is again a queenly lover. Lillian Roth, rough, uncouth, dirty, but thoroughly alive, is the gutter sweetheart of the vagabond king, loyal to his faith, even to taking the death stroke intended for him. O. P. Heggie, as the crabbed, querulous, vacillating King Louis XI., has the supreme role of his career, and Warner Oland is again a sinister character as the Court High Chamberlain. The cast includes over 3000 people, and the scenic sets are awe-inspiring in their grandeur and massiveness.

One cannot pass lightly over a brief resume of this gorgeous photoplay triumph, without a mention of the Broadway's superlative Western Electric sound system, known state-wide as the best, reproducing with utmost fidelity and clarity the human voices, the street sounds, the snicker of often wielded swords, but above all the VOICES, which after all, are the reason for Sound Pictures. You owe yourself an Easter treat. There is none better than a visit to this triumphal screening of the year's greatest picture, which, don't forget, is brought to you here in Norwich at your own Broadway Theatre for positively the FIRST TIME in NEW ENGLAND at our REGULAR PRICES, identically the same production as shown in New York, Boston and other key cities at from $2.00 to $5.00 a seat. The engagement starts TODAY at 1 o'clock. YOU MUST NOT MISS IT!

We pledge the reputation of the BROADWAY THEATRE, and I pledge my own that this is positively the greatest photoplay that has ever been screened in Norwich—and you'll agree with me after you see it!

Sincerely,

NORMAN E. FITZ,
Manager the Broadway.

LINDBERGH SMASHES WEST--EAST FLIGHT RECORD

Famous Flier and His Wife Lopped Three Hours and 16 Minutes Off Record Set By Captain Hawks In His Non-Stop Flight Across the Country Last June—Landed At Roosevelt Field At 11.11 Oclock Last Night, Making One-Stop High Altitude Flight In 14 Hours, 22 Minutes, 50 Seconds.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh tonight completed their experimental, one-stop high altitude flight across the continent.

They landed here at 11:11 p. m. eastern standard time, beating Capt. Frank M. Hawks' best time for non-stop west-east flight.

The famous flyer and his wife lopped three hours, 16 minutes and six seconds off the record of 17 hours 38 minutes, 56 seconds set by Captain Hawks last June 29.

The total elapsed time of the flight was 14 hours, 22 minutes, 50 seconds. The motors of the plane were heard at the field at about 11:08, the plane seeming to come down from a high altitude.

Colonel Lindbergh circled the field twice, then turned and landed into the wind. A squadron of motorcycle police surrounded the plane as it taxied up to protect it against any rush by the crowds.

After staying a short while at the far end of the field, the colonel turned and taxied up toward the hangars. The crowd was well behaved as the colonel and his wife stepped from the plane. Lindbergh posed for photographers and answered questions of reporters.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh hopped from Grand Central airport, Glendale, Calif., at 8:26:20 a. m. Eastern Standard time today. Carrying 400 gallons of gasoline, the low wing monoplane went nearly the whole length of the three-quarter mile field before he lifted her nose to the west. When one side tipped, the little group of 75 persons who watched the take-off feared a crash, but Lindbergh levelled the plane and soon disappeared over the San Gabriel mountains.

They laned at Wichita, Kan. at 3:20:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time, having traveled at 180 miles an hour to accomplish the 1,249-mile hop in six hours, 56 minutes and ten seconds. Five thousand people watched him glide easily to ground, remain but 22 minutes to take on gasoline and oil, and take off again for the east.

Maintaining an altitude usually over 10,000 feet, he was too high even in daylight hours for residents of towns over which he passed to see him.

The colonel's announced object was to obtain data from the flight which would be of use in transport and express plane passage across the continent at high altitudes. In spite of the high average speed he maintained, there was no announced effort to beat Captain Hawks' time for the transcontinental crossing.

The official landing time, as announced by Walter D. Ward, official timer of the National Aeronautic association, was 11:11:52 p. m., and the official elapsed flying time was 14 hours, 23 minutes, 17 seconds. The elapsed flying times does not take into account the 22 minutes and 5 seconds consumed in refuelling operations at Wichita, Kas., the only stop.

After posing for flashlight pictures in the plane, Col. Lindberg jumped out and helped mechanics push the ship into the hangar, while Mrs. Lindbergh remained in her seat.

The colonel's face was dirty, tired and drawn. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, was smiling and apparently enjoying the excitement. She remained in her seat until the hangar was cleared of onlookers, when her husband helped her out.

The ship, a two-place low-winged open cockpit monoplane, is furnished with transparent enclosure that slide over the cockpits, practically transforming it into a cabin plane.

After the plane was safely housed in its hangar, Col. Lindbergh went into the press room to answer the questions of reporters.

He gave his wife credit for the greater part of the work on the trip, declaring that she did all the navigating and kept the charts and also acted as co-pilot.

"It is impossible for me to give you the average altitude at which we flew," he said. "Our maximum altitude was about 15,500 feet.

"We did not find any exceptional weather conditions on the way, but we frequently found adverse winds."

When he was told that the flight cut more than three hours from the record time of Capt. Hawks, Col. Lindbergh pointed out that "our flight is not to be confused with Hawks' flight, as he flew non-stop, and we made one stop for fuel.

"While we did carry sufficient gas for the entire trip," he continued, "we would have had to throttle down and fly slower, in order to save fuel, if we had not stopped."

He declined to make any generalizations about the data obtained on the experimental flight.

RENEW DEMANDS AGAINST CONFIRMATION OF PARKER

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Spokesmen of organized labor renewed their demands against confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, as an associate justice in statements issued today as the senate judiciary committee prepared to call the nominee before it.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asserted in his statement that a canvass of the senate has shown the appointment has been "definitely rejected" and for that reason he said the vote on confirmation is being delayed.

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, in a letter addressed today from his headquarters in Indianapolis to members of the senate asked "Why is it necessary for the president to appoint, and why is it necessary for the senate to confirm, the elevation to the supreme bench of Parker, the judge, who in the red jacket injunction suit, delivered 50,000 free Americans into indentured servitude."

Organized labor is protesting the decision of Judge Parker upholding an injunction restraining the United Mine Workers from soliciting membership among employes who agreed not to join a union.

Tomorrow, Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, who is waging the contest for Judge Parker's confirmation, will move in the judiciary committee that Parker be invited to appear before the committee to submit himself to examination. The nominee has volunteered to appear if invited.

CHARGED WITH DEATH OF TELEPHONE OPERATOR

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—A porter in a telephone company building at Long Island City was arrested today charged with homicide in the death of a telephone operator in the building last night.

The porter, James Hughes, 23, of Flushing, was held in $10,000 bail after another telephone operator charged he kicked the dead woman, Mrs. Stephanie Werner, 22, into an elevator shaft after attempting to kiss her.

The two women, Mrs. Werner and Miss Barbara Westlake, entered the building late last night to go to work. There was no elevator operator in sight and Hughes offered to take them upstairs.

Miss Westlake said Hughes stopped the elevator between the third and fourth floors and attempted to kiss Mrs. Werner. She opened the door and sought to leap to the third floor landing, but Hughes, Miss Westlake said, kicked her so that she struck the edge of the third floor landing and fell 60 feet to the bottom of the shaft. Mrs. Werner died of internal injuries and a fractured skull.

SECRETARY STIMSON TO BROADCAST FROM LONDON

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—Talking from London to New York and speaking at the same time through broadcast stations in the United States and Canada, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will address the annual luncheon of The Associated Press at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The coast to coast network of the National Broadcasting company, including CKGW, Toronto, will be set up, being connected to the London studios of the British Broadcasting corporation. Mr. Stimson will talk by the trans-Atlantic short wave circuit. The luncheon guests in New York will hear the talk through loudspeakers.

UNEMPLOYED JOIN FIFTH AVENUE EASTER PARADE

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—With the rising of the sun New York began its celebration of Easter today—a celebration of chants and pageants, from the dingy corners of the Bowery to the candle-lighted altars of Fifth avenue cathedrals, fragrant with incense and the perfume of a thousand lilies.

With the close of the services throngs flocked onto Fifth avenue for the Easter parade. And here the Bowery's threadbare garments mingled with Park avenue's new spring fashions as Urbain Ledoux, known as "Mr. Zero," led about 75 of his followers past St. Patrick's cathedral at the parade's height.

Silk hats that had once been shiny and swallow tail coats that had seen better days, were worn by some of the paraders who staged their march to call attention to the unemployment situation. But the majority appeared in the clothes they wear habitually in the Bowery.

Fashionable paraders appeared in colorful array before the battery of cameras that lined the curbs—and as usual it was the feminine contingent that held the eye. It was there enmasse—with never a knee in sight, save two bare ones displayed by a white-socked young miss of about six years.

Women's knees are to remain in hiding if this spring's fashions are any indication. For all the skirts displayed today were from three to seven inches below the knee, and even in line.

BETTY COMPSON FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

The actress, who separated from her husband last Friday, said Cruze's habit of entertaining large crowds at all hours in the couple's home prevented her from obtaining rest.

Sheriff's deputies served Cruze with a copy of the complaint Saturday while he was poised to dive into the swimming pool at his Flintridge estates. His comment consisted of "Oh well."

The suit was filed against James Bosen, the director's true name, Miss Compson giving her name as Lulcime Bosen. No request for alimony was made and it was indicated a property settlement would be effected out of court. The couple was married in 1925.

W. C. T. U. CLAIMS "WETS" FAILED IN TESTIMONY

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—Failure of the wets "at every point in their testimony" was the judgment today of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in a statement reviewing the recent prohibition hearings before the house judiciary committee.

CLERGYMAN KILLED BY SUBWAY TRAIN

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—A man killed by a subway train today was identified tonight as the Rev. Dr. James Edgar Wilson, 48, pastor of the Waynesburg, Pa., Presbyterian church and prominent in church circles throughout western Pennsylvania.

ROME PREPARES TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

ROME, April 20.—(AP)—The flush of Easter-tide barely over, Rome settled down tonight to prepare for another holiday tomorrow, the anniversary of the Eternal City's founding.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LEIPSIG, Germany, April 20—(AP)—Three persons were killed and about 10 injured in a clash between communist demonstrators and police this afternoon on the Augustus Platz, in the center of the city. A police captain was among the dead.

SHANGHAI, April 20.—(AP)—A letter received here today from a missionary in the besieged city of Kanchow, Kiangsi province, said a situation of anarchy prevailed in the district under a bandit regime engaging in wholesale carnage and plunder.

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—The globe girdling message dispatched around the world by the Associated Press in two hours and five minutes on March 31 and made public on April 18 has created extraordinary interest in France and this evening brought an expression of congratulations from Andre Mallarme, minister of posts and telegraphs.

SIMLA, India, April 20—(AP)—Lord Irwin, viceroy of India, in a signed statement today said renewal of the special Bengal ordinance conferring extraordinary powers for the suppression of disorder had been necessitated in order to forestall further outbreaks like that at Chittagong, where seven persons were killed. The viceroy renew the ordinance after that outbreak.

LONDON, April 21—(AP)—(Monday)—Several London morning newspapers announced today that Viscount Byng had resigned his post of commissioner of the Metropolitan police.

Lord Byng is still in South Africa, where he went in February to recuperate from a serious illness, and nothing official could be obtained to confirm or deny the report of his resignation, earlier reports of his intention to resign were denied.

DEMOCRATS LAUNCH ATTACK ON TARIFF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—Timing their statements with the agreement reached by the conferees on all except five rates in the tariff bill, democrats today began an assault on the re-written measure which is certain to be carried to the floors of both chambers.

Senator Wheeler, of Montana, and Representative Garner of Texas, the house minority leader and one of the conferees, asserted the six republicans on the conference committee had ignored agriculture in adjusting the differences between the two houses and had accepted the highest rate on manufactured commodities in virtually all instances where the senate and house rates did not conform.

"The bill as it is about to be reported out of conference," Senator Wheeler said, "is bereft of aid to the important agricultural west, while it spreads a veritable feast for the industries of the east, already overstuffed with protection benefits."

Representative Garner said "agriculture, as usual, has been ignored by the tariff manipulators, who in a few days have undone the work accomplished by the senate coalition in behalf of the farmers and consumers."

Senator Wheeler predicted that President Hoover would sign the bill "regardless of its gross inequalities" and that the export debenture provision incorporated by the senate would be "stricken out at the instance of the president."

"There is convincing evidence," Wheeler added, "that objectionable as is this tariff bill it does not meet with the disapproval of President Hoover. He must have known in advance of its writing that republican leadership in congress would put up to him exactly the kind of bill as an irresistible coalition". The Montanan said the republican conferees "compelled acceptance of house rates wherever they happened to be higher than the rates proposed in the senate bill and wherever the senate rates were higher than the house rates they were substituted for the latter."

What this country needs, he said, is "not higher tariffs, but to develop markets outside the United States."

Garner said the "trading for the highest rates" had created an anomalous situation.

"A check by the tariff commission experts," he added, "reveals that in at least three of the schedules— all textiles—the average of rates approved by the conference is actually higher than the average for the same schedules in either the house or senate bill. The explanation for this is that the conferees accepted only the highest rates of both bills."

The Texan said only one item in the wool schedule was reduced below existing law and that was oriental rugs, while rugs within reach of persons of moderate means were increased in duty from 34.70 to 40.60 per cent.

HUNDREDS OF RIFLES TAKEN BY RIOTERS

CALCUTTA, India, April 20.—(AP)—The situation in Bengal, as the aftermath of an Indian riot at Chittagong on Friday night, appeared confused and disturbed today, with reports from many districts, indicating a state of tension that may lead to serious developments.

Full details about the Chittagong raid are still lacking. It appears to have been the work of a revolutionary organization not directly connected with the civil disobedience movement of Mahatma Gandhi, who has repeatedly urged his followers to avoid violence in their opposition to the government.

Some 60 revolutionaries are believed to have taken part in the riot and raid. The neighboring hills are being thoroughly combed by police and soldiers on their trail.

About 1,000 rifles, 20 revolvers, and 55 muskets are reported missing from the Chittagong police armory, raided by the rioters. Five arrests have been made. The district magistrate issued a statement today saying that all had been quiet during the night.

ELDERLY WOMAN AND SON WERE BURNED TO DEATH

FAIRFIELD, Vt., April 20—(AP)—Mrs. Mary M. Brennan, 69, and her son, Thomas F. Brennan, 38, lost their lives early today in a fire which destroyed their farmhouse on the outskirts of this village. Another son, William, escaped from the burning building by leaping through a window. Although badly cut and burned, he returned to the house and carried to safety his four year old niece, Virginia Rugg, who was taken to a Burlington hospital suffering from the effects of smoke.

While firemen were fighting the blaze another fire broke out in a moving picture theatre at East Fairfield, three miles away. The theatre was destroyed at a loss estimated at $20,000.

Four Drowned At Baptismal Service

Negro Preacher, Two Deacons and Young Girl Swept Away By River Current.

ST. LOUIS, April 20.—(AP)—Four Negroes, a preacher, two deacons and a 13 year old girl, drowned this afternoon in the Mississippi river during an Easter baptismal service. Another Negro, a deacon, escaped drowning in an attempted rescue.

The four were swept away in the river current when they lost their footing soon after wading out into the stream on the levee here to baptize the girl, the only baptismal candidate for the ceremony. A crowd of about 50 other Negroes saw the drownings.

The victims were the Rev. Robert C. Williams, 30, pastor of the Hopewell Missionary Baptist church; Deacons Joseph McGee, 35, and Henry Turner, 47, and Viola Lewis, 13. Their bodies were not recovered.

POLICE BELIEVE SISSON'S ALIBI IS ABSOLUTE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—W. H. Davies, bus driver, who picked up a man near the spot where Miss Mary Baker, government employe was assaulted and murdered the night of April 11, said today that Mervin Sisson, Warsaw, Virginia, salesman held in connection with the case, was not his passenger.

Earlier in the day Charles Quertermous had picked out Sissons as the man who sold him an overcoat and watch about 9.15 on the night of the crime, in the same general vicinity.

His identification was not satisfactory to police, however, as they believe Sisson's alibi appears to be "perfect and absolute." Davies was taken to the Arlington county, Virginia, court house to see Sisson and Julian Gallecher, another salesman held in the case, but, he said neither one answered the description of his passenger.

At the same time he disclosed that the man he picked up had got on the bus between 9.04 and 9.06 o'clock, going in an opposite direction to the one the man would have had to take to sell the coat and watch to Quertermous, so police concluded, the same man could not have been involved in both incidents.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS AS TYPHOON SWEPT ISLAND

MANILA, P. I., April 20.—(AP)—A destructive typoon swept 14 towns on the island of Leyte Friday, virtually demolishing the communities of Tolosa and Dulag on the east coast.

Thousands were made homeless and the number of dead and injured was not ascertainable.

Governor De La Cruez of Leyte wired the American Red Cross here: "Please secure immediate aid for thousands of homeless people especially food, clothing and building materials."

The typhoon was of small area but of unusual intensity. Such storms rarely come at this season of the year in the Philippines.

Many towns in the devastated region have been completely cut off with telephone and telegraph wires down. The death toll may be large and official reports of destruction cannot be completed in less than a week or more.

The Red Cross has taken action toward organizing the provincial forces of Leyte and Samar and has arranged to send doctors, nurses and relief supplies on the first vessel to leave Manila.

BISHOP MAXON TO "STICK BY" SON

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—Bishop James Matthew Maxon, of Tennessee, today sent word through an attorney to his son, James Matthew Maxon, Jr., who is in jail charged with suspicion of homicide, in connection with the death of Davd Peynter, 72, during a rooming house altercation early Friday, that he would "stick to the last ditch."

The bishop arrived here at 7 a. m., accompanied by George Morris, and Mrs. Morris, of Memphis, Tenn., and went to the Hotel Lexington where he toil reporters he would do "everything possible" for his boy. Later, accompanied by an attorney from the office of Martin W. Littleton, young Maxon's counsel, Bishop Maxon went to the West Side jail.

While the bishop remained outside, the lawyer went in and asked to see young Maxon, but upon being informed that no one was allowed to visit prisoners on Sundays, sent up a letter instead. It read:

"Dear Jim: I have just left your father. He will stick to the last ditch. Your mother and, of course, himself, send their love. We will see you at the first opportunity."

The youth was reading the Sunday papers when he was given the letter. He read it but made no comment and sent no word back. The lawyer and Bishop Maxon left together.

There have been many telephone calls from friends of the bishop or of his son sending messages of encouragement to the youth, and several requests to see him.

AMERICAN ESCAPED FROM MEXICAN BANDIT GANG

MEXICO CITY, April 20—(AP)—Leonard B. Cassidy, American employe of the Transcontinental Fruit company, arrived in Mexico City today on his way home after getting away from a group of men who kidnaped him last Tuesday and released him only after many times threatening to kill him.

Cassidy told The Associated Press he was going to Peabody, Mass., for rest and recuperation. He said that for more than 36 hours he had been under constant threat and fear of death, with revolvers pressed to his head or back, while being held in the vicinity of Tuxtepec, state of Oaxaca.

After a month's rest at home, he plans to return to his work again in Mexico.

His escape with his life, he attributes to the fact that the bandits held nothing against him personally, and to the fact that he speaks Spanish and understands the Latin temperament.

INVESTIGATE ACTIVITIES AT LONDON CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—William B. Shearer, "Big-Navy" advocate, whose activities at the Geneva 1927 naval conference were made the subject of a senatorial investigation last year today demanded that the same committee investigate activities at the London conference of "subsidized internationalist and pacifist organizations"

Lone Gunman Kills Three Gangsters

Assassin Escaped In Machine After Triple Gangland Execution In Chicago Saloon.

CHICAGO, April 20.—(AP)—The quiet of Chicago's Easter morning was broken by a triple gangland execution.

A lone gunman invaded the Blue Hour saloon on the turbulent southside, shot down Frank Del Re, alias Frank Dire, 32, and Joseph Special, 28, co-proprietors of the place, and their bartender, Walter Wakefield, 30. The assassin sped away in a machine without leaving a trace as to his identity, and only a maze of police conjecture as to his motive.

The records of the three slain men provided numerous reasons why they might have been removed from the underworld picture.

Del Re was listed at police headquarters as a bookiegger, racketeer, terrorist and all around hoodlum. Special, Del Re's brother-in-law, had a similar record, while Wakefield, an ex-drug clerk, was a minor character. Police believe the latter was killed to seal his lips.

TWO PRISONERS DEAD IN ATTEMPTED ESCAPE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 20.—(AP)—Two prisoners were dead, two others were suffering from gunshot wounds and a guard was still in a critical condition from a bullet wound and other injuries tonight as a result of an attempt by convicts of the Rhode Island state prison, at Cranston, to fight their way to freedom yesterday afternoon.

Police tonight were holding two men for questioning as to their presence in the prison at the time of the outbreak. The two were members of a group of visitors who had called to see one of the convicts.

Search also was under way for two other outsiders who were held responsible for precipitating the riot and who escaped in a hail of gun fire while fighting was in progress in the prison.

The dead men were Peleg Champlin, a lifer, who was shot down as he ran to the aid of guards and attempted to sound an alarm, and John "Pretty" McNeil, a ringleader in the convict gang who took his own life as he saw his attempt to escape frustrated.

The wounded guard was James MacVay, who was slugged and shot by the desperadoes. Neither of the wounded prisoners was seriously hurt. Nick Cossasso, a life, was shot in the hand supposedly by accident during the melee as he was not connected with the outbreak.

The other, John Gilbert "Whitey" Miller, bank bandit, was shot in the leg. Miller, according to prison officials, was in the plot and he was held in solitary confinement tonight.

The riot broke out during the visiting hour shortly after the two unidentified outsiders and supposed confederates of the convicts, drove up to the prison in a stolen automobile bearing a Massachusetts license, and entered the group of visitors outside the prisoners' cage. The two passed weapons to some of the convicts and immediately shooting started. During the melee the two visitors rushed out after firing harmlessly at Warden Charles E. Linscott, jumped into their waiting automobile and drove from the grounds.

The automobile later was found abandoned in Roger Williams park, its windows shattered and its cushions bloodstained. In it was found a shotgun and a box of loaded cartridges. Police today learned that it had been stolen March 28 from a dining establishment of A. J. Dugan on the Post road in Hillsgrove and that the Massachusetts number plates which it bore were stolen from the automobile of Anthony Marketa, of Whitinsville, Mass.

The prisoners were subdued by police summoned from this city and Cranston and state police, who poured a hail of bullets and tear gas bombs into the enclosure.

The men who were held for questioning today were John Caldelmo and John Colarusso, who were visiting Thomas Carmelo, alias Tommy Conley, a prisoner, at the time of the outbreak. With the two men were Carmelo's wife and Ernest Caldelmo, brother of John. These two were released after questioning.

21 GUN SALUTE FOR PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—Dr. Enricue Olaya, president-elect of the republic of Colombia, arrived here today aboard the United Fruit liner, Ulua to be met by a presidential salute of 21 guns and a reception committee representing the nation, city and business leaders.

Dr. Olaya expects to be in Washington until the last week in July, when he will sail for Colombia. He is still minister to the United States, not yet having tendered his resignation. He left this country some time ago to be present at the election in his own land.

He said he would work for more cooperation between the United States and Colombia. Asked if his program would be one of open door for foreign investors, he said: "Quite so, of course in accord with the Colombian laws."

On the reception committee which went down the bay on the municipal tug Macom were Richard Southgate, personal representative of President Hoover, H. Freeman Matthews, representing the secretary of state; Major General Hanson E. Ely, representing the secretary of war; Admiral Louis R. de Steiguer, representing the secretary of the navy; Senor Carlos Arbelaoz, consul general of Colombia; Senor Jose M. Coronado, Colombian charge d'affairs; Maria Olaya, daughter of the president-elect; John L. Merrill, chairman of a group of American business men; and George F. Man, treasurer of the mayor's reception committee.

CHICAGO GUNMEN GET $4,000 IN GARAGE HOLDUP

CHICAGO, April 20—(AP)—A robbers bullet singed Matthew Kurtz's mustache and his sense of humor simultaneously early today as six men, armed with shotguns and pistols, held up thirty men in a West Side taxi garage and escaped with $4,000 in cash.

Kurtz, counting receipts in his cashier's cage, suddenly saw a pistol in the window.

"Put that gun away and turn in your books before you get fired!" Kurtz ordered. He thought it was a joke of one of the drivers.

But Kurtz became instantly serious when a bullet pinged into the wall behind his head. He raised his hands as another gunman stepped in and scooped up the week end receipts.

JAPANESE TO SIGN LONDON NAVAL PACT

Treaty Draft Has Been Approved By Premier Hamaguchi, Foreign Minister Shidehara and Other High Officials—Instructions to Sign Treaty Have Been Cabled to Head of Japanese Delegation In London — Government Confident That Opponents of Naval Agreement Will Not Be Able to Prevent Ratification.

TOKYO, April 20.—(AP)—Formal instructions to sign the London naval pact on behalf of Japan were sent today to Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation in London.

After the text had been carefully examined by Premier Hamaguchi and Foreign Minister Shidehara, and other high officials, it was decided there was no need to revise the document.

Before approving the treaty draft Premier Hamaguchi and the foreign minister conferred with other high officials for four hours. After the conference the premier issued a statement for the press.

"We carefully discussed the text of the treaty and found no necessity of revision," the premier said to the Rengo News agency. "The foreign office will immediately cable M. Wakatsuki instructions to sign. Upon receipt of Mr. Wakatsuki's report that the treaty is signed I shall make a further statement regarding the London conference."

Observers believe the premier's promised statement on the conference would be designed as a reply to attacks on the government's course which the political opposition including the big navy group and other conservatives are expected to launch next week, when parliamentary session opens.

Foreign Minister Shidehara also is expected to make a statement either directly to the press or early in the parliamentary session which begins tomorrow.

Officials believe that criticism of the treaty will almost certainly be clamorous but the Associated Press was assured today by the highest authority that the government is confident that opponents of the London agreement will not be able to prevent ratification. Many leaders in the privy council, whose approval must precede the emperor's ratification, have spoken disapprovingly of the government's "surrender," but the cabinet is confident that the councillors will be unwilling to take the responsibility for wrecking the pact. This belief was strengthened by the fact that the international instrument will mean a great financial savings for Japan and gain the good will of the Anglo-Saxon powers.

NAVAL TREATY TO BE SIGNED TUESDAY MORNING

LONDON, April 20.—(AP)—The heads of the delegations to the five power naval conference have approved the wording of the preamble to the London naval treaty, and on receipt today by the Japanese delegation of authorization to sign the treaty, they were ready to meet tomorrow to examine and finally approve the entire text.

Approval by the Tokyo government was considered today to preclude any last minute hitch in the arrangements for the final plenary session at St. James's palace. It is expected that the treaty will be formally signed at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, thus permitting the American delegation to leave for home on the liner Leviathan Wednesday.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald left Lossiemouth, Scotland, where he has been resting for a few days in his boyhood home, for London by airplane. He will preside at tomorrow's meeting of the delegates.

Colonel Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, tonight finished writing an important address on the work and achievements of the conference, which he will broadcast from London tomorrow for the annual luncheon in connection with the meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Press.

Colonel Stimson had originally planned to be in New York to address the members of the Associated Press in person, but the weeks of delay in the negotiations obliged him to stay in London. So, instead of speaking at the luncheon of his hosts of the Associated Press, he will go to the microphone at about his own dinner-time and address them from more than 3,000 miles away. He will be able to be six hours late for his original engagement, and still be on time, for with the usual five hours' difference in time and an hour extra for English daylight saving time, it is dinner time in London when it is luncheon time in New York.

This development of transatlantic broadcasting for the purposes of the naval conference has been a significant feature of the disarmament negotiations now drawing to a close. Week by week the story of the London conference has been told by word of mouth to the American people over the radio, members of the American delegation taking turns at the microphone.

BRIEF STATEMENT OF AIMS OF POWERS

LONDON, April 21, (Monday) —(AP)—The text of the preamble to the London naval treaty, to be signed by the five powers at the conference, became known here today. It is a formal statement, in a single long sentence, of the aims of the powers.

The preamble reads:

"The president of the United States of America, the president of the French republic, his majesty the king of Great Britain, Ireland, and the British Dominions beyond the seas, his majesty the king of Italy, and his majesty the emperor of Japan, desiring to prevent the dangers and reduce the burdens inherent in competitive armaments, and desiring to carry forward the work begun in the Washington naval conference and to facilitate the progressive realization of general limitation and reduction of armaments, have resolved, with a view to accelerating these purposes, to conclude a treaty for the limitation of naval armaments and have accordingly appointed as their plenipotentiaries:"

The names of the plenipotentiaries and the treaty itself follow.

LONDON PRESS AROUSED OVER EVENTS IN INDIA

LONDON, April 20—(AP)—During the week end, the London press has become thoroughly aroused over what is considered to be an increasingly dangerous trend of events in India.

Advices from Bengal, from the Bombay presidency, and from the united provinces indicated a determined and bitter hostility toward the British, far surpassing that of a decade ago. The massing of crowds threatened, in some cases, to get beyond control. The definite tide towards violence is said to be growing rapidly.

Reuters news despatches from many parts of India show that defiance of the government salt monopoly is fast receding into the background. Savage outbreaks at Karachi, in the Bombay presidency's western tip, at Calcutta and at Chittagong are construed as showing that hooligans are seizing the opportunity of Mahatma Gandhi's campaign to vent their feelings on the police and harmless Europeans.

Semi-official quarters at Simla believe the viceroy's latest action in renewing the Bengal ordinance should assist greatly in stemming the rising tide of terrorism.

FATHER AND FOUR CHILDREN FATALLY BURNED

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—A father and four of his children were burned to death early today when a fire of undetermined origin swept their apartment on the top floor of a two story brick dwelling.

The dead were: Christopher Johnson, 63 and his children, Clara, 18, Gladys, 16, Elwood, 14, and Harold, 9.

Mrs Johnson, who is 60, suffered severe burns of the body and received a fracture of the skull when she jumped from her bedroom window. The eldest son, Christopher, Jr., 23, also jumped. He suffered severe burns and lacerations of the hand.

Although fire department officials said the fire was not "suspicious," an investigation was begun, when it was found the fire apparently started just outside the Johnson apartment.

The bodies of the five victims, trapped as they awakened from sleep, were charred beyond recognition.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF MELVILLE E. STONE

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Paying the respects of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to the memory of Melville E. Stone founder and former general manager of the Associated Press, officers of the organization today placed a wreath before the crypt in the Washington cathedral which contains his ashes.

Fred Fuller Shedd, of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, president of the society, and Walter M. Harrison, editor of the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and the Oklahoma City Times, former president, placed the wreath

MRS. HOOVER UNABLE TO ATTEND EASTER SERVICE

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—President Hoover sat in his pew of the Irving Street Friends' Meeting house this morning to meditate and hear expressions on the spiritual significance of Easter.

In the quiet dignity of the little church, unornamented and undecorated except by a large vase of Easter lilies before the pulpit, the chief executive joined in the familiar services of the Orthodox Quaker faith. Mrs. Hoover, who painfully wrenched her back a week ago, remained in her room today.

The service opened with a period of silent meditation while warm sunshine suffused through the brown-stained windows. After a prayer by Dr. Augustus T. Murray and another period of meditation, a woman minister among the seven with the pastor on the platform, spoke briefly on the resurrection. There was another period of meditation, then Dr. Murray portrayed simply, in resonant voice, the story of the resurrection.

The president sat quietly as the minister outlined different conceptions of the resurrection and of Christ's words, "He that believeth in Me has life."

CAPONE IN FLORIDA FOR TWO WEEKS VISIT

MIAMI, Fla., April 20—(AP)—Scarface Al Capone, Chicago racketeer and gang leader, arrived here today from the Windy city to spend two weeks at his palatial home on Palm Island. He was accompanied by his 13-year-old nephew.

Capone made the trip by train and was greeted by his attorneys, J. F. Gordon and Vincent C. Giblin. His journey through Florida was without interruption from authorities who several weeks ago were ordered by Governor Carlton to arrest Capone and escort him to the state line, should he attempt to enter Florida.

A federal injunction granted by United States Judge Halsted L. Ritter restrains sheriffs of 20 counties in the state from molesting Capone during his visit.

Capone announced that a tentative agreement had been reached with federal authorities regarding the settlement of his income tax payment, in which a suit is pending against him.

RETURNS WITH NEGATIVES OF BYRD AIR MAP

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—Captain Ashley C. McKinley, aerial surveyor of the Byrd expedition, returned here today with the negatives of an air map of 170,000 square miles of Antarctica and a vivid recollection of a "ticklish moment or two" on his flight with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the South pole

The convention headquarters will be at the home of Willimantic lodge No. 1311, B. P. O. Elks where two daily sessions will be held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Tuesday evening there will be a banquet in the Nathan Hale hotel at 6 o'clock, to be followed by a formal reception to Department President Mrs. Mathieu, her staff and officers. There will be an instrumental program and addresses by well known G. A. R. and auxiliary speakers. At the close of the second day's session the new officers will be elected and installed.

At the opening gathering in the Elks home Mayor Walter R. King will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the city and greetings will be extended by Exalted Ruler George W. Hickey of the Elks. There are now 22 tents in the state organization, with 1,205 members, not including the membership of the twenty-second tent which was formally organized at Rockville Saturday evening by Department President Mathieu and staff.

The business of the Tuesday session will include a report of the credential committee and nomination of officers. During a memorial service in the afternoon Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones of Mansfield Center will deliver the address and the soloist will be Mrs. Helena M. T. Church, department patriotic instructor of Norwich. The reception to the president and staff Tuesday evening will be at the Elks home with the main address by Mrs. Grace Hurd, national president of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war. Other speakers of the evening will be; James Haggerty, department commander, G. A. R.; Mrs. Mary W. Gregory, department president of Woman's Relief corps; Mrs. Bertha Goodspeed, department president; Morgan B. Haven, department commander, Sons of Veterans; Mrs. Ada Rice, department president, Auxiliary to Sons of Veterans of the Civil war; Fred Oatley, past department commander of Rhode Island and Mrs. Minnie E. Mathieu, department president of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war.

Wednesday forenoon will be the reading of records, reports of committees, officers and tent presidents and in the afternoon the election of officers and installation.

The committees in charge are: General chairman, Mrs. Mary E. Lovett, chief of staff. Program committee, Mrs. Mary Hallock. Invitation committee, Miss Elizabeth Hallock, Miss Sadie E. A benefit baseball game will be staged here Sunday afternoon, May 4, under the auspices of Gold Star post No. 1724, Veterans of Foreign Wars. It was announced Saturday by Florimond Normandin, member of a committee of the V. F. W. The proceeds will be applied toward defraying the expenses of the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held in this city May 8 and 9. The game is expected to be played at Windham Field and will bring together the Norwich All-Stars and the Willimantic All-Stars. The local organization, which is sponsored by the West End Social club will furnish all players without charge. The Norwich outfit will probably include two former local favorites, Leo Normandin and Joe Hamel.

OWNERS OF PROPERTY TAKE APPEAL TO SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 20—Papers have been served on the Windham selectmen and board of relief by Deputy Sheriff Lester H. Bliss, in the form of application to the Windham county superior court by John M. Hall of Boston and Julia W. Hall of New Haven, administrators of the estate of the late Silas F. Loomer, regarding property known as the Loomer Opera House block at Main and North streets, and by John H. Hall of Boston, Julia W. Hall, Florence F. Day and Helen H. Owsley, all of New Haven, heirs of the John M. Hall property at Main and Walnut streets.

The application is an appeal against the recent revalution of property in the town of Windham and is the first legal protest on such grounds to be filed against the town.

The petitioners plead that their properties have been overtaxed, that the true valuations had been filed in proper and due time with the board of assessors and that the latter placed a value of $79,850 on the opera house block and one of $47,297 on the John M. Hall property consisting of a one-story brick building, a five-room two story frame building, one-story brick building, a three-story brick block and a barn. Claim is made that the assessments are illegal, excessive and not the present market value of the properties, but on the contrary far in excess of their true worth. The petitioners state that they appeared before the board of relief within the prescribed time and entered their protests against the valuation placed, but received no reduction.

Mrs. Marietta C. Flynn of 18 West End Place, Elizabeth, N. J., is suffering from three broken ribs as a result of an automobile accident late Friday afternoon at Columbia Green corners in which the car she was driving figured in a collision with one operated by Charles F. McBride of South Manchester. Mrs. Flynn, accompanied by her husband, had reached the green on the Hebron road and had just passed the intersection with the Jonathan Trumbull highway when the McBride car struck Mrs. Flynn's machine on the left rear side. McBride, who was said to have been traveling at a fast rate of speed, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harvey S. Collins on a charge of reckless driving. He was released under bond for his appearance in the Columbia town court next Wednesday night. Mrs. Flynn received treatment at St. Joseph's hospital. Her car was badly damaged.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Elizabeth Mellody

The funeral service for Mrs. Elizabeth Mellody were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edgar W. Jacobs of 11 Potter street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. Wilfred D. Hamilton of the Methodist church officiated. Burial was in the Willimantic cemetery. The bearers were, Edwin Wood, John F. Collins, George Paton and James F. McGlone. Arrangements were by Avery and VanZandt. During the services Mrs. Ruth Snedd sang Abide With Me. Miss Inez Paton was accompanist.

Final returns of census enumerators are being received in rapid succession within the past few days. At the office of Supervisor Otto B. Robinson in the Capitol theater building Saturday 10 more enumerators in the third district gave notice of having completed their work. Three were from New London county, F. O. Roever of Stonington, F. J. Battersby and Paul F. Ensling, both of Norwich.

Agnes Paris, who enumerated the inmates of the State Hospital for the Insane at South Farms, made the first return from Middlesex county. Dorothy Royle, a Mansfield enumerator whose work included the inmates of the Mansfield Hospital and Training school reported during the forenoon. Peter Magnant of Putnam filed his report shortly before noon. Willimantic enumerators who registered Saturday were: H. A. Trudeau, Eva B. Marrotte and Arthur J. McQuillan, making a total of four out of the eight local enumerators to have completed their work. There were no complete returns as yet from the towns.

Mayor Walter R. King said today that he had not as yet received the report of experts of the state highway department who made an inspection of the footbridge last Wednesday. While this report, which is to be accompanied by recommendations and a possible estimate of the cost of repairs, is anxiously awaited by the mayor, the special city meeting scheduled for Monday night will not be postponed in any case, Mayor King said today. Unless expert recommendations and estimates are received to the contrary in the meantime, the voters will be asked to appropriate the sum of $5,000 or such part thereof as may be necessary, to cause immediate repairs to the pedestrian span, at the city meeting. The common council order which caused the bridge entrances to be boarded up last Tuesday morning was based on a report by an expert of a bridge construction company. The fact that there appeared a feeling that such a report might possibly be "prejudiced" induced Mayor King to request an inspection by state highway engineers.

The man known as Frank B. Clark, who was found dead in bed at his home in Columbia Thursday, was identified Saturday as Raymond Remsen, by his brother, Daniel D. Remsen, of Millneck, L. I. Remsen said that his brother had left home about 30 years ago and it was determined that he had lived in this section for over 20 years under the name of Clark. Daniel Remsen purchased a farm in Lebanon some years ago and his brother occupied it, later removing to North Windham and then to Columbia six years ago. The deceased was employed by Burnham Brothers here for some time. He was born in Oyster Bay, L. I., 62 years ago, a son of William D. and Mathilda Banks Remsen. Besides his brother, Daniel he leaves another brother, Frank Remsen of Glen Cove, L. I.

A Cadillac sedan owned by Town Assessor George E. Gifford was damaged Saturday night when struck on Union street, where it had been parked, by a coach owned and operated by Mary Duclos of 122 John street, Fall River, Mass. A bystander told Officer Albert Montie that the woman was driving at the time and that she stopped but finding no one about the Gifford car a male passenger in the Fall River machine took the wheel and drove off.

The applications of the West End Social club and the Chapman Aces, A. C., for the use of the baseball field at Soldiers' Memorial park will be taken up at a meeting of the park committee called for 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the council chamber by Alderman William E. Webber, chairman. By virtue of a vote of the common council, the committee has power to act in the matter.

The cantata Life Eternal by Fred Holten, was sung by a vested choir of 18 voices at a public service held in the Methodist church this evening. The choir, under the direction of Edwin F. Cross, was assisted by Albert L. French, baritone; Donald Nichols, violinist and Lawrence Latimer, cello. Mrs. Charles H. Beebe was at the organ.

Cars owned and operated by Ernest A. Dion, 14 Union street, this city and Frank J. Lacafter of 144 Laurence street, Hartford, collided with damage to the Dion car, in front of St. Mary's church on Valley street shortly before 11 o'clock this forenoon. Officer John Killourey conducted an investigation.

Plans are being formulated by Purinton Temple No. 2, Pythias Sisters, for the forthcoming district convention to be held here under general supervision of District Deputy Eva Adams and Most Excellent Chief Bessie Picknell.

Miss Yetta Chasen was tendered a pleasing surprise party at her home on Union street Friday evening in honor of her eighteenth birthday. Bridge, games, music and refreshments were enjoyed. Guests came from Hartford, New London, Norwich, this city, and Providence, R. I. Miss Chasen received a number of gifts.

Charles Heff, aged 62, died at the Upton home in West Ashford Saturday night. He leaves no known survivors as far as could be determined today.

Francis S. Long Woman's Relief corps No. 28, held a successful rummage sale in the Capitol theatre building Saturday with Mrs. Charles Woodward in charge. The proceeds are for the entertainment of the Grand Army veterans during the state encampment here May 8 and 9.

Engine company No. 1, was called out twice today for brush fires. The first call was at 10:41 a. m., on land of the Robert Mitchell estate on South Park street. The forestry pump was used. At 1:12 p. m. the chemical truck went to Park Spring, upper Jackson street, in response to a call. The fire was found to be on the opposite side of the Natchaug river and outside of the city limits. Deputy Fire Chief Michael J. English summoned Fire Warden Alfred P. Abbe of Windham Center who stated that he would take care of the fire which was located on the shooting range used by Company C.

CANTERBURY

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL HAS FIRST TOWN RADIO

The Westminster School club held its meeting Thursday afternoon, the president, Louise Soderberg, presiding. The fifth, seventh and eighth grades gave very interesting and instructive talks on Alaska, its people, and its many rich resources. These talks were followed by a literary program consisting of recitations and songs, in which all the pupils participated and which were much enjoyed by the parents and friends present. The speakers were announced by the vice-president, Lillian Green. A spelling match was an interesting feature of the program. Edward Newton won in the contest.

This meeting was a special event because of the recent purchase of a radio by the pupils and friends of the school. This is the first Canterbury school to have a radio installed.

Edwin B. Floyd of Norwich, state supervisor of schools, was present. He gave a brief talk on the "new" school, mentioning particularly the need for activity in the school program, since a child learns by doing. He spoke also of the place of the moving picture and the radio in the modern school.

ALLEGED CHAIN STORE HOLD-UP IN NEW LONDON AND BY LONE CROOK

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—The police today are making efforts to solve an alleged "stick-up" of a chain store; but because of the unusual features connected with the reported robbery the investigators are disinclined to believe that a hold-up really occurred, principally because but one youth is said to have enacted the role of the robber and because of the alleged robbery having been committed in broad daylight and no one being found who could recall seeing the crook, although the latter's head was said to have been enveloped in bandages so as to make him conspicuous. However, the police are working on the theory that the robbery really did occur.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon a telephone message was received at headquarters that William Christian of Groton, employed at the National Economy store, corner of Montauk avenue and Orchard street, had been held up by a gunman and robbed. Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith and Patrolmen Dennis Murphy and Louis Tooker were sent to the store and made a hasty investigation. Christian informed the officers that because of an order to all employes not to permit over $25 to remain in the cash register at any one time, $80 was secreted in the building about 4 o'clock. A short time later a youth with his head bandaged entered and requested a package of cigarettes. As Christian was about to hand the purchase to the supposed customer, he says he was confronted with a .22-calibre revolver and ordered to hand over the contents of the register. This Christian said he did, only that the crook took only bills, $22, and left several dollars in silver unmolested. The crook then went to Orchard street and entering a dilapidated Buick roadster, that lacked rear markers, speeded across Montauk avenue and into Moore avenue, quickly disappearing.

All patrolmen in the city were instructed to keep a lookout for the car with orders to be on the lookout for a driver whose head was covered in bandages. The state police, Groton barracks, were also informed of the hold-up and Sergeant George Webber and four officers started a search of the trunk lines entering the city. All roads leading from the city were searched and within 15 minutes following the report of the hold-up every city of importance in the state, together with the state police at Westbrook had been requested to be on the lookout for the hold-up man, but no trace of the alleged robber was found.

A strange incident connected with the supposed robbery is that a gang of youths were playing baseball in Moore avenue at the time the crook is supposed to have passed through that thoroughfare, and although it was said that the car was an open one, none of the youths could recall the driver of any auto passing there, whose head was covered with bandages, a condition that would have been readily observed.

TAXICAB DRIVER SAID TO HAVE BEEN RECKLESS

Louis Ramistella, 708 Bank street, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sergeant William T. Babcock, charged with reckless driving, and will be in the police court Monday. The allegation is that Ramistella was driving a taxicab on Howard street and in a manner that endangered the safety of other drivers.

Joseph Francis, a carpenter, residing at 169 North Bank street, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Dennis Murphy, charged with breach of the peace in attacking Dennis Spinnard. Francis was released upon furnishing a surety on his bond of $30 and will be in court Monday.

Ernest Bidini, 63 Bayonet street, was arrested early today by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He furnished a surety on his bond of $150 to assure his appearance in the police court Monday.

John P. McPherson, a member of the crew of the yacht Reha, was arrested on Main street Saturday night, charged with breach of the peace, and will be in the police court Monday.

TRAFFIC LAWS IGNORED— POLICE NAB OFFENDERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20.—The police having started to enforce traffic laws throughout the city because of the great amount of travel the past few days and in order to prevent congestion and tie-ups, the parking ordinances will be vigorously enforced from now on. Mrs. Frances Keenan, 23 Sermhan street, was arrested Saturday charged with parking in front of the curb on State street; Alvin A. Eccleston, R. F. D., Mystic, was charged with parking in restricted area on Bank street, having parked in front of quarters of the Allen Hook and Ladder company; Carl A. Greenleaf, 65 Pleasant street, Groton, parked on Pearl street, which is a one-way street; Emilio Leandri, 502 Thames street, Groton, parked in a manner to block a driveway on Bank street; Arthur C. Wood, Submarine base, and Robert C. Simpson, 161 Monument street, Groton, parked on Pearl street. All of the drivers furnished a cash bond of $2 and were ordered to appear in court Monday.

August Breuer, 223 Montauk avenue, was charged with non-support and abandonment of his daughter, aged 14. The case was contined to Tuesday. Breuer was arrested last Friday when the police received information from the New York authorities that they held a warrant for the New London man's arrest. Breuer, who is a painter, will probably be delivered to a New York officer next week.

George M. Learmond, West Main street, Meriden, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law. The charge was nolled upon Learmond paying $15, the costs of the court. Learmond was arrested several days ago, charged with driving without a license. He was ordered to present himself in court the following day and when he failed to obey the summons he was given another opportunity to do so. This resulted in Learmond being penalized Saturday.

Norwich Man Out $2

Otho G. Chase, Norwich, was charged with violation of the city's traffic ordinance in parking his automobile in a manner to block a driveway. He did not appear in court, so his bond of $2 was declared forfeited.

One case of intoxication was tried. A fellow went to police headquarters Friday night seeking lodging, but as he was drunk he was locked up. In court judgment was suspended.

POLICE DEPT. MEMBERS BEARERS FOR JOHN P. FOLEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 20.—The funeral of Patrolman John P. Foley of 270 Huntington street was held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners, including delegations of members of New London lodge of Elks and Allen Hook and Ladder company. At the service, Rev. George Clark officiated. The bearers were Lieut. James C. Sullivan, Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith and Patrolmen Edward Riordan, Braxton Hill, John Clifford and Walter O'Neill. About 40 members of the department acted as an escort to the cortege and Rev. Fr. Clark conducted the committal service in St. Mary's cemetery, where Patrolman George McCaskey sounded Taps as the body was being lowered into the grave.

Burial in Jewett City

The funeral of William Francis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McNeil, 591 Main street, was held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence of the child's parents. Burial was in Jewett City.

Carlisle A. Case

Funeral services for Carlisle A. Case, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Case, were held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence of the child's parents, 4 Sherman court. Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ, officiated. The bearers were Alfred, Charles, Ray and Arthur Cole. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Miss Lucy A. Kellogg

The funeral of Miss Lucy A. Kellogg, formerly of New London, who died last Thursday at her residence in Waterford, was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church, the services being conducted by Rev. Charles E. Spaulding. The bearers were Henry and Albert Kellogg, Stephen A. Prentis and Thomas W. Phillips. Burial was in Elm Grove cemetery, Mystic.

Orlando S. Hedden

The funeral of Orlando S. Hedden of Waterford was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. Harry Brothwell, pastor of Jordan Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Herbert B. Prentice has sold a building lot on Glenwood avenue to William B. Carberry.

Louis Schwartz, New York, formerly of New London, has granted a renewal of lease of the property, 393 Williams street, now occupied by the College pharmacy, of which William C. Smith is proprietor. The renewal dates from June 1, 1930. The annual rental for the first two years will be $1,200; for the next three years, $1,320 and for the remaining five years, $1,500.

Charles Glassenberg, proprietor of the New London News Co., Bank street, has leased the ground floor of the building, owned by Ludwig Mann, 5 Railroad avenue. The lease is for ten years and dates from June 1, 1930. Alterations to the building will be made prior to Glassenberg taking possession.

City Clerk Julian D. Moran, who developed a severe cold several days ago, now confined to his home suffering from grip. He will be absent from his duties at the municipal building for about a week.

Miss Eva Lampert, 199 Huntington street, employed as a waitress at the Far East restaurant, State street, reported to the police Saturday afternoon that her diamond rings with setting of two emeralds had either been lost or stolen. She was unable to provide any information whatever as to when the ring disappeared.

Saturday, Alexander Nietre of Mountain avenue reported to the police that a blanket was stolen from his yard the night before. Nietre also reported that a neighbor suffered a similar loss earlier in the week.

Eugene Conway, proprietor of a club room at 107 Main street and residing in the same building, was in the police court Saturday, charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts, keeping with intent to sell and reputation. He pleaded not guilty, but because of the nature of the evidence introduced, together with statements made on the witness stand by Conway, a fine of $200 and costs was imposed on each count. Conway, through his counsel, filed notice of an appeal and furnished a bond to assure his presence at the next criminal term of the court of common pleas. Conway, who was arrested last Saturday night, testified that he did not own the 24 cases of beer found in his cellar. He declared that the first knowledge he had of the existence of the beer was when the police staged the raid. He claimed that he was at a loss to account for its presence in his cellar and that he had no idea as to who caused electric lights to be installed so the beer could be easily found and handled. When Conway was arrested he intimated that he was being "framed," the intimation being that the beer was planted in the premises by agents of the police in order to convict Conway.

Francis Redden, 361 Bank street, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, pleaded not guilty. He was convicted, however, and was fined $10 and costs. Redden gave notice of an appeal and will be tried at the next criminal term of the superior court. Redden was arrested Friday night by Patrolman Edward Skoczylas. The officer was off duty and entered the drug store, corner of State and Bank streets. Redden was there and when he saw the officer, the former verbally abused Skoczylas, even to declaring that in the event that the officer arrested Redden that Skoczylas would be discharged from the police force. With the threat being made, Skoczylas grabbed Redden and hustled him to police headquarters where he was locked up.

Joseph Syracusa, public service operator, was charged with soliciting patronage on private property, the platform of the union station. He was fined $5 and costs. Syracusa was arrested several nights ago when he left his cab upon the arrival of a train from New York and, going to the platform, endeavored to secure fares. Syracusa was observed by Special Agent Harold Swanson and arrested. The New Haven railroad grants the privilege to drivers of the Yellow Cab to solicit on the platform, but denies the same right to other taxi drivers.

John Hubbard, charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law, was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested Saturday by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Day.

Frank Cooney, 37 Eastern avenue, an iron worker, charged with non-support, had his case continued to Saturday next. Cooney was arrested Feb. 3 and since that time the case has been continued frequently.

Thomas Russell, 32 North street, and Frank Garrison were arrested this afternoon, the former charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, and the latter with breach of the peace. Both were locked up and will be in the police court tomorrow. Russell went to the residence of his mother and there created a disturbance. He was in the midst of the row when Garrison entered the home and the latter interfered. Garrison was attacked by Russell. Mrs. Russell summoned the police and when Patrolman Anthony Turello and Automobile Patrol Officer George Cockell entered the house, Russell and Garrison again engaged in combat and after being separated by the officers were taken to headquarters and locked up.

Told Fairy Tales

William Manning, 16, was arrested this evening by Patrolman Frank Linehan charged with being a suspicious character. When questioned at police headquarters the youth said that recently he held up a man in Bridgeport and stole $6, using a cigarette case as a subterfuge for a revolver. The Bridgeport police informed the New London authorities that no hold-up had occurred there in a long time. Manning said that he had been roaming the country with his brother James and that he had left his kin in Florida several weeks ago.

NORWICH YOUNG WOMEN CLERK ARRESTED IN A RAID

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20.— Allen J. Spencer and Oscar C. Shilders, sailors, stationed at the submarine base, and Mary Ann Lynch, 35, a saleswoman, of Norwich and Esther Pattison, 25, also a Norwich saleswoman, were arrested early this morning, charged with lascivious carriage when the house at 74 Blackhall street was raided by a squad of police. All of the accused were released upon obtaining a surety on their respective bonds of $100 and will be presented in the police court tomorrow. Kenneth Walsh, 20, also a sailor, was later arrested charged with conducting a disorderly house and he, also, will be presented in court tomorrow.

The police have for some time had the Blackhall street house under surveillance, it having had the reputation of being a place where liquor was sold. The proprietor vacated the premises several weeks ago and four sailors rented it. Last night Spencer and Childers and their companions went to the house and while occupying it the police decided to raid it. A squad was formed consisting of Sergeant Samuel Hick, Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey and Patrolman Frank Linehan. The officers found the quartet there and took them into custody.

MRS. MARIAN STAYNER LILLIE IS DEAD AT THE AGE OF 89

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—Mrs. Marian R. H. Stayner, 89, widow of Julius Lillie, died at the Smith Memorial home Saturday afternoon, following a lingering illness. She was aunt of the late Miss Gertrude Lynch, former writer and during the war a correspondent of New York papers. Another niece, formerly Daisy Lynch, is married and lives in California. Two sons, Philip and Bernard Stayner, are dead. Mrs. Lillie was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1841, the daughter of Benjamin Franklin and Mary Sprague Hempstead. When a child, she moved to New London and at 16 became a teacher in the public school at Mystic. When she was 20, she married Henry Stayner. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Stayner married Mr. Lillie. She was a teacher in the public schools of New London for many years and was from time to time principal of most of the graded schools, later being made assistant supervisor of schools.

Found Man Leaving Store

The police tonight received information that a window in the rear of the John Irving Shoe store, Cronin building, State street, had just been broken. Patrolmen Dennis Murphy, Frank Linehan and George Bruhns were rushed to the store and found a fellow, partially intoxicated, leaving the building. He was arrested on suspicion of having attempted entrance to the store and was locked up. So far as could be determined, entrance to the store had not been effected.

MONTVILLE

Local admirers attended the performances at the Garde theatre, New London, for the past three days to hear Baby Ruth Brooks, talented child entertainer in Song Impressions when she sang the following songs: Singing in the Bathtub, I Want a Mechanical Man and I Want to be Loved by You. Baby Brooks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks of Hartford, formerly of Montville.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Albert W. Avery

Funeral services for Emma Chapman, wife of Albert W. Avery, were held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at her home at Uncasville, Rev. Charles Smith, former pastor of the M. E. church at Uncasville, officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives, including representatives of the Methodist Missionary society, Trumbull commandery, Golden Cross of New London, Ladies' Aid society and the League of Women Voters. Burial was in Comstock cemetery, Uncasville. The bearers were Lewis, James, William, Ralph Arthur and Clinton Chapman, nephews. The floral tributes were beautiful.

At the Union Baptist church, Palmertown, at 10:45 a. m. Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Raymond J. Bates spoke on The Pulpit Triumph. The Easter concert was under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Rogers with Miss Elizabeth Lyman organist.

At the Methodist Episcopal church, Uncasville, Sunday morning a sunrise service began at 6 o'clock with a prayer meeting conducted by the pastor, Rev. Otis Lee Monson. This lasted one hour. Robert French opened the services at 10:45 a. m. with the prelude, I Know That My Redeemer Loveth (Handel). The choir sang Hail the Risen Savior, and there was a prayer response, sung by Mrs. Sigrid Aston; offertory, Hallelujah! Christ is Risen, by Caleb Simper and an anthem by the choir. The pastor's Easter sermon subject was The Promise of Life. At 12 noon, Sunday school was under the direction of Mrs. French. The Epworth league held devotional services at 7 p. m.

The masses at St. John's church, Uncasville, Easter Sunday were celebrated by Rev. Father J. A. O'Meara, assisted by Rev. Father James P. Timmins of Hartford. There was the special Easter musical program. The Rosary and Scapular society and the Children of Mary received holy communion in a body at the 7:30 mass. Children of the parish who are of the age to receive first communion will attend Sunday school next Sunday, after the 8:30 o'clock mass for the purpose of forming a communion class to receive first communion May 11. There will be a Polish priest at St. John's church next Saturday for the purpose of hearing confessions of the Polish people of the parish, that they may receive communion Sunday morning.

Miss Charlotte Brooks, of Uncasville, soprano, sang in St. Patrick's church, Mystic, Easter Sunday "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapps also in the duet, O Salutaris Hostia (McCabe), singing with Frederick Whittle.

Miss Mary Dombroski and Emma Gauthier were business callers in Norwich Saturday.

Misses Lillian, Bertha and Eva Barre were in New London Sunday.

Nicholas Plesz, of Willimantic, called on Mr. and Mrs Peter Tisky and family over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tyrseck of Hartford and Mrs Tyrseck's father were callers at the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tyrseck, of Pequot.

William Gardner, of Palmertown, was a week end caller on his brother, John Gardner, of Greeneville.

DANIELSON

ROADSTER RUNS INTO POND; DETAILS MISSING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 20—East Killingly has been persistently pressing for a place in the news for the last fortnight, and not doing so bad either. The community has given the world a story about a hen that subsisted for eight months, with no visible means of support, under many tons of hay, and now, after release, is the greatest corn chewer in the entire flock in which she has been reinstated as a member. Last week a man up that way shot 48 huge black snakes, all in one batch.

This Easter day something of a novelty in the way of a bathing party was inaugurated up at Old Killingly pond, which is just at what may be called East Killingly's back door. Ciara West, resident up that way, owns a Ford roadster. For a time this morning all but about one hub-cap of the machine was submerged beneath the waters of the pond, not intentionally, but there you are!

The state police were calmly accurate in giving out information about the incident, mentioning as a detail that no one was injured or drowned. The car was hauled out later.

Within a few days real active operations will be underway on the building of approximately three miles of state highway between Wauregan and Danielson. Those who have been familiar with the present winding and difficult state road route for many years past are going to be delightfully surprised at the re-routed highway when it is completed. The majority of the dangerous curves will have been eliminated. The new highway will be among pastures new, for the old route is going to be abandoned at various places. The new route likely will not be completed until early fall, but on all accounts, it will be worth waiting for.

This Easter day turned the minds of many hundreds of Danielson's people to the churches of the community, and all of the services were well attended. Inspiring services, instructive sermons and beautiful music featured all of the services. Again this evening the closing services of Easter Sunday were held.

In many homes here today there were festival parties, enjoying the relaxations that come for many after the restrictions they impose upon themselves during the Lenten season.

Received into fellowship at the Westfield Congregational church this morning were the following persons, on confession of faith and baptism: Frances Hopkins Kennedy, Ruth Thompson, Mildred Mae Young; on confession of faith, previously baptized: Elsie L. Fiske, Mildred Keech, Ruth Alma Lyon, Pauline Russell, Barbara Waller; by letters from other churches, Irene Ashley, Mrs. Helen I. Gaylord, Mrs. Ida L. Polhemus, Mrs. Marjorie J. Waller.

Hereafter whoever drives a motor vehicle through the business section at high speed is going to be out of luck. Chief McFarland vowed this morning that being lenient with drivers who like to step on the gas is a waste of time. There are too many drivers that take advantage. Maybe all drivers that operate through Danielson do not read this particular newspaper, but their friends who do should tell them to keep their speed down to 15 miles an hour in town hereafter.

The trout fishermen hereabouts are "regusted." If that word can be admitted to formal place in the English language. They counted much on what was to happen in the way of big catches over the week end. Nothing happened. It was cold and stormy and sharp northwest winds drove the trout off their feed, at least such feed as the fishermen had to offer them. They would not bite. But they flopped around aggravatingly, hopping clear out of the water, in many places.

Searchlights, being operated somewhere in Rhode Island, probably in coastal waters, flashed picturesquely over the eastern section of this town Saturday night about 10 o'clock.

In the interest of the Catholic Welfare council of St. James' parish a tag day was held here on Saturday, and received generous support.

Easter flowers supplied at the Westfield Congregational church today by members of the church school were distributed after the evening service to members of the church who were unable to attend service for the day.

Gertrude Schroll, Gladding Hutchins, Edward Parker and Frederick Arnold were leaders of the final Holy week service arranged by the Tri-Y and Hi-Y clubs at the Baptist church Friday morning.

Miss Madelyn Cronin, student at Mt. St. Vincent's college on the Hudson, is at her home here for the Easter recess.

The first session of the Danielson Leadership Training classes for church workers is to be held Monday evening.

The Easter parade was on hand this morning, and it may not be telling tales out of turn to say that some of the boys took a nice course in refrigeration in going about without top coats, not to mention the girls who valiantly battled to make the world believe that spring is really here.

Miss Nellie Head, seriously ill for several weeks past, was reported today as resting more comfortably at her home on Academy street.

L. J. Gauthier, 33 Hawkins street, has opened an insurance office in the Orpheum theater building, 24 Center street, under the name of the Gauthier Insurance agency. All kinds of insurance will be carried with reliable companies, and prompt service.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Pepler and daughter, Glenna, were at Atlantic City over the Easter holiday period.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nixon of Providence were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts of L'Homme street over the Easter season.

Philip Clark and Elwood Spencer, students at Connecticut Agricultural college were at their homes here over the Easter season.

Mrs. James Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Boston were with relatives here over Easter, returning to their home today.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of the Westfield Congregational church has a meeting arranged for Wednesday.

State officers of the Danielson barracks were called to Wilsonville, in the town of Thompson, Saturday evening, to check on an accident in which a car driven by a young man failed to make a curve and turned over several times, without serious injury, however, to any occupant of the machine.

EASTER MUSIC AND SERMONS IN ALL CHURCHES YESTERDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 20—Easter Sunday services of worship were held in all of the churches of the city today with special services of music. There were large attendances at all churches and the unusual excellence of the day with regard to weather, served to add a note of splendor to the significance of the greatest of all church holidays.

At St. Mary's church, special musical programmes were arranged at all the masses. At 8:15 o'clock, "Mozart's Twelfth Mass," was sung with full orchestra accompaniment, under the direction of Joseph M. Belair and Miss Rose Metras, church organist. The soloists were: Hurside Bonin, Henry Vadnais, Frank Vadnais, Edgar Lucier, Joseph Belair, Mrs. V. St. Marie, Mrs. James Barnes, Miss Blanche Bonin. The musical service included: "Kyrie", solo, H. Bonin; duet, Edgar Lucier, H. Bonin; "Gloria", duet by Miss Blanche Bonin and Frank Vadnais; duet by Mrs. James Barnes, Mrs. V. St. Marie; bass solo, Henry Vadnais; "Credo", tenor solo, by Joseph Belair; "Sanctus", full choir of 30 voices; "Benedictus", solo by Edgar Lucier; "Agnus Dei", by full choir. Two marches preceded the mass and one followed, they being played by Miss Metras.

The 10:30 o'clock mass was rendered by the male choir. The following selections were sung: "Triumphal March", Paul Wachs; "Aqual" solo, Henry Buregard; "Kyrie Eleison", solo by Urban Peloquin; "Gloria in Excelsis Deo", Leonide Tetreault; "Credo" solo, Leo Pominville; "Regina Coeli Laetare", A. Palhus; soloists were L. Papillion, Henry Beaursgard, A. Mayotte; "Sanctus Benedictus", Commille Sponcey; "Agnus Dei", J. Faure, Leonide Tetreault; postlude, "Chanstons L'Hymne de la Vicarie", by A. Auclair and choir.

The combined junior and senior choirs rendered a special service of Easter music at the service of worship at 10:30 o'clock, at the Second Congregational church this morning. "Break Forth in Joy", was sung by the junior choir, followed by the composition, "Seek Ye the Living", sung by the senior choir. Rev. James F. English, pastor, spoke on the subject, "Immediate Immortality". This evening at 7 o'clock the young people of the church presented the play, "The Rock" which featured the last of the Sunday friendly evening services. The players taking part were: Russell Sherman, Helen Varbedian, Marjorie Bendit, Philip Arnold, Marie Trowbridge, Donald MacLearn, James B. Tatem Jr., Dorothy Dow, L. Thomas Jones Jr., Marie Strombelis.

The cantata, "The Risen King", was given by a large choir at the morning service today at the Baptist church. The Easter pageant, "The Resurrection" was given this evening at the church at 7 o'clock.

Rev. John E. Duxbury, minister at the Methodist Episcopal church preached the Easter sermon at the morning service today. His subject was "The Two Hopes Begotten by the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the Dead." A special programme of music was rendered by the choir at this service. This evening at 7 o'clock an Easter concert was given by the choirs of the church and the church-school.

Walter N. King, president of the chamber of commerce said today that the subject of "clean-up week" will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization to be held Monday evening. The directors will attempt to engage the cooperation of municipal, school and civic bodies in fostering a week for a city-wide spring clean-up. Mr. King said that the body would probably select a week for the observance at this meeting. In past years, "clean-up" week has been successfully staged in Putnam. The street department has cooperated by carrying away collected refuse gathered from lawns and yards. School officials aided by instilling the sprit of spring cleaning in pupils and city health officials gave their cooperation by forcing reluctant property owners to join the rake and broom forces in "shining" Putnam up.

At 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening during the height of the last hour Easter-shopping rush, a high voltage transformer on Front street burned out and plunged every Front street store on the circuit into total darkness. Trouble hunters of the light and power company were summoned immediately and within a half hour the damage had been repaired and light restored to that section of the city.

Allurring worms dang ing invitingly from camouflaged hooks attached to lines on rods of Nimrods standing alongside the brooks during the first week of the trout fishing season, proved to be Waterloos for countless numbers of trout. Local Ike Waltons, returning from the fields Saturday evening reported excellent catches during the day. With luck running a high stride, the army of anglers were bent upon returning to their favorite haunts at an early hour this morning. Over in Pomfret, hordes of fishermen are following the irregular course of the Mashamoquet brook where sportsmen are reaping full benefits from the stocked waters. This brook yesterday was reputed to have given up several of the elusive brown trout species, which were released there early last spring. The first few days of the season proved no inducement for amateurs to take out licenses for the privilege of following the sport, but large numbers of anglers returning with limit catches of pretty ones, and stories of the more beautiful ones they lost, was incentive for the large number of license applications being made to the town clerk over the week end. This week will see a large battalion of feminine fishing enthusiasts quartered at vantage points along the banks of the various brooks hereabouts, doing their best to outcatch their male tutors who are encouraging woman patronage of the pastime.

Snow-drifts on April 5, deep enough to make roads utterly impassable, may sound a bit exaggerated to the people of the east, especially when one considers the season of the year, but snow jams of this type were actually experienced this month by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johnson, Woodstock residents, who returned this week after a rather hectic motor tour of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Disregarding warnings of the accredited automobile organizations to the effect that belated snow storms hovered over that section of the two states crossed by the famous Roosevelt highway, Mr. Johnson made the drive and before reaching his destination encountered some of the worst exhibitions of winter he had ever experienced. A raging gale, blowing at a terrific velocity, accompanied by blinding snow, built mountainous drifts along the highway between Unionville and Meadville, Ohio, making the road impassable for two days and in many instances snowing tourists under. Mr. Johnson cited one instance where a large sedan overtaken by the storm, became snowed in to such an extent that only a small portion of the top could be seen.

Mr. Johnson said that such wintry demonstrations are not unusual occurrences in northern Pennsylvania in the month of April, but the extreme lateness of this year's storm went on record as being phenomenal. State officials had taken down their storm barriers on April 1, anticipating an early spring and when the storm broke a week later, they were wholly unprepared to combat its forces.

The Woodstock tourists were able to proceed a day later after spending a day in Unionville, where they sought shelter from the gale and snow.

State officers from the Danielson barracks were at work today investigating the unusual burglary and robbery committed at the home of Demetrie John in North Grosvenordale Friday evening, when thieves escaped with the entire Easter wardrobe of the unfortunate victim. The case, according to officers is clothed in mystery and not a single clue to the identity of the burglars was found. Demetrie, who is commonly called "Johnson," reported his loss to the Danielson barracks Saturday morning as his second wardrobe robbery experience. The strange criminal occurrence of Friday evening recalls to mind the robbery at John's home on Armidine day last year when thieves robbed the house and escaped with clothes, money and jewelry valued at $600.

Word was received by officials of the Day Kimball hospital today of the death last Tuesday in Greenville, South Carolina, of Mrs. Catherine Dalye Webster, mother of Miss E. P. Webster, former superintendent of the Day Kimball. Mrs. Webster has many friends in this city who will regret to learn of her passing. Her daughter, who was superintendent of the hospital for a number of years was succeeded by Miss Nellie T. Bloxham, present head of the institution.

The condition of Robert Bossette, son of Selectman and Mrs. H. F. Bossette of Moosup, patient at the Day Kimball hospital, was reported today as critical. The boy has been operated upon last week for appendicitis.

Charles Crowe of Mechanics street, is a patient at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester, where he is suffering from blood poisoning.

Radio listeners today commented favorably on the Norwich broadcast which was received Friday evening from station WTIC in Hartford. While the nature of the programme did not apply directly to Putnam, places and subjects referred to during the discourse between the doctor and the schoolmaster, were familiar to nearly everyone in eastern Connecticut, therefore being the motive for the large display of local interest in the broadcast which will be given from the Hartford station every Friday evening at ten o'clock.

Churchgoers were reminded at services today to advance their clocks an hour next Saturday evening in order that they might be on time for service next Sunday morning when the daylight saving system of time will be adopted.

Stafford Springs

The selectmen claim that the town meeting which was held Friday evening tied their hands so that they will be unable to make any improvements on the highways this year and the highway work will have to be limited to necessary repairs to the roads and bridges. The resolution which was adopted at this meeting forbids the selectmen from making any expenditures in addition to the $16,000 provided in the budget last fall; and as a large portion of this has already been expended the work for the balance of the year must necessarily be limited. The present board of selectmen was formulating a policy whereby permanent improvements were to be made to portions of the highways each year. A stretch of the Westford avenue highway has bee ncompleted recently and the town fathers hoped that within a few years by following this policy the worst portions of all highways would be made passable at all season of the year, but this policy has now been abandoned.

George Turschman of Hartford spent the week end with his parents.

Robert Fletcher has returned to Providence, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran.

The census enumerators have about completed their work in the town of Stafford. The census has already been completed in several towns in Tolland county. The town of Union will probably show the lowest count of any town in the state. The census in that town is already completed and it shows 196 residents, compared with 257 in 1920. The number of farms enumerated in Union is 26.

Miss Margaret Taylor, teacher in the local grammar school, is spending several days with New York relatives.

Miss Beatrice Siswick of Boston is having a few days' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Siswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Matthews of Hydeville have been guests of New Britain friends and relatives.

Miss Mary Sikora, who is employed in Hartford, was a week end visitor with her parents.

Merton Roberts, student at Dean academy, Franklin, Mass., is having a brief vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Roberts.

Miss Emily S. Brown, former county commissioner for New Haven county, is spending several days with her mother, Mrs. E. R. Brown, on East Main street.

Mrs. George Siswick and Mrs. Edward C. DeBorde have returned, after a few days' visit in Boston.

Earl Senior, employed in Hartford, has been spending several days with local relatives.

Mrs. Mary Murray is a patient at the Johnson Memorial hospital.

Miss Marion Moran of Hartford and Miss Helen Moran, student at New Rochelle college, New Rochelle, N. Y., are home for a few days' vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran.

Miss Helen Smith of Scudder Secretarial school, New York, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith for a few days.

HANOVER

Mrs. Edward Alexander is making a rapid recovery, after a fall which so injured her left shoulder and arm as to keep her in bed for some days.

Sophy Michalvitch is again at school after her quarantine as the result of her sister Mary's illness with scarlet fever.

Earthworms longer than a man and an inch in diameter are reported in the British scientific magazine Nature as the quarry of a naturalist's hunt in southeastern Australia. Average specimens range from four to six feet in length, and one nine feet long was observed by Charles Barrett, member of the expedition. An extreme length of eleven feet was reported though not seen on this expedition. The worms make loud gurgling noise when they retire into their burrows on the approach of a possible enemy. Their greenish-translucent eggs have tough, horny shells, and are from two to three inches in length.

JEWETT CITY

CAR OF JOHN C. SAYLES, NORWICH, IN COLLISION

(Special to The Bulletin)

Philip L. Sayles of 263 Park avenue, New York, driving the car of his brother, John C. Sayles, 145 Washington street, Norwich, and Mike Worgeski, of 11 Walnut street, Westerly, driving a Ford, were in collision at the corner of Slater avenue and Main street Sunday afternoon. Riding in the Rhode Island car were Mrs. Worgeski and her daughter, both of whom received minor injuries. They were given treatment at the office of Dr. G. H. Jennings. Patrolman Henry Vegiard checked up on the mix-up, making no arrests.

The M. A. Gammino Construction Co. had a big gallery at 7:45 Saturday morning when they ran their big tractor shovel up into Main street in the borough and began the local highway contract, which is being done by the state. The south side is to be completed first, and when scratched for traffic then the north side will be closed and the new half used for travel. This arrangement is calculated to reduce the few necessary detours to a minimum. The new section of highway is to extend from the new bridge approach at Slater avenue to Blanchard's corner through the borough. The new highway, which is 20 feet wide, asks several feet on each side of extending to the sidewalk curb. The state required a payment of $7,000 from Jewett City to extend the cement from curb to curb but the board of borough government stood solid against further outlay.

Easter Sunday was observed in all the churches with special sermons, glorious music and beautiful floral decorations. The special music at St. Mary's church was given at the masses in the morning, by the junior and senior choirs. A vesper service was given at the Congregational church at four o'clock, a cantata, Life Eternal, being splendidly rendered by nineteen voices who also sang at the morning service. In the evening in both the Baptist and Methodist churches special programs were finely presented. A cantata pageant, The Calvary Way, was given at the Baptist church. An Easter service, The Ever Present Christ and pantomime, Spring in the Brown Meadows, were very well presented at the Methodist church. At the Sunday school session at the Congregational church, a varied concert and program was given by the children. A little orchestra, playing cornet, drum, bones, bells and tambourine, and a leader with his baton, led the songs. There were solos and recitations by Ruth Mae Benjamin, Corinne Zegeer, Ruth Richmond, Herbert Webster, Watie Stetson, Bernice McNicol, Margery Webster and an exercise by Miss Virginia Goodenough and her class. Mrs. F. E. Robinson was in charge. The choir directors at the churches were: James Olson, Sister M. Cecelia, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, Mrs. G. H. Prior, Mrs E. E. Gilbert and Everett Thornton. The organists were James Olson, Mrs. Walter Benjamin, Mrs. John Davis and Everett Thornton. The clergymen of the churches, who delivered special sermons, were Rev. J. W. Carter, Rev. J. J. McCabe, Rev. E. E. Scates, Rev. G. F. Goodenough and Rev. Nicholas Caron. The decorations were beautiful in each church. Easter lilies predominating with tulips, hyacinths, carnations, roses, geraniums, pansies, palms and ferns. They were arranged in the various churches by Miss Alice Brown, Miss M. A. Burdick, Miss Isabel Marshall, Miss Bessie Thompson, Mrs. J. W. Carter, Oliver Carter, Everett Thornton and the Sister of St. Mary's convent. The plants are sent to the sick and shut-in, after serving their purpose as church decorations.

TWO NEW OFFICIALS AT ASHLAND COTTON CO.

The Acco Smile published for the operatives of the Ashland Cotton Co., Jeewtt City, by the Ashland club, Prentice W. Chase, eidtor, in its Saturday issue, carries the following stories about the company's two new supervisory officials:

William H. Wingate, who is to be superintendent of the finishing department being added to this plant has been on the job for several weeks and certainly has been a very busy man. In fact he has been so busy that we have found it difficult to learn very much about his future plans. We have, however, found him very amiable and sociable and we learn that he is married and has three children, two daughters and a son, the last named being the youngest and nine years of age. He comes from the Lyonse Piece Dye company of Patterson, N. J., in which city his family now resides and he plans to take a residence in Jewett City some time this summer.

With the resignation of Ed Nichols as master mechanic, Paul Z. Curtis has come to the plant. Before coming to Ashland, Mr. Curtis was for seventeen years master mechanic at the Natick Mills, Natick, R. I., and known as the largest textile plant in the world under one roof. Previous to this he was with the Lonsdale company at Lonsdale, R. I. In his short time here Mr. Curtis has made a very favorable impression, being easy to get acquainted with and evidently interested in everything, including his work.

MAKING PROGRESS ON VIADUCT CONSTRUCTION

This (Monday) morning will mark the completion of all the ground work in connection with the surface construction at the Quinebaug viaduct. The big cranes and shovels have been moved to Tadpole the great piers and abutments are completed except for the crown pillars, with the final grading and fills underway. Reckoning from Labor day to Good Friday, the contractor is away ahead of schedule. An important phase of the work will be begun this week, pouring of the first forms in the actual bridge roadway at the north end.

John Whalley, of Lisbon, has signed articles and is a duly appointed member of the board of advisory engineers, and is duly qualified to travel and work as such.

Seeks Missing Heirs

Chester J. O'Brien of Boston, has sent the following letter here:

Chief of Police,
Griswold, Conn.

Dear Chief: I wish to locate the heirs of Matilda J. Carrington; her maiden name was Matilda Carr. I believe she was born in Easton, Conn., about seventy-five years ago. Her father was James Carr and her mother's maiden name Nancy Waterman. When she was a resident of West Haven, Conn., she married George W. Carrington. He died in New Haven, Conn., in 1904. January 29th, 1919, she married Albert E. Clark at Monson, Mass., and was divorced from him sometime later. Perhaps a notice of these facts would be of assistance in locating the heirs to whom an estate is due.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Catherine Enger

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Enger was held Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Maurer, in Voluntown. Rev. Carl Storek of Norwich officiated. Burial was in Rixtown cemetery, friends acting as bearers. Undertaker E. E. Gilbert was in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Asher Popple

The funeral service for Mrs. Asher Popple was held at her home in Voluntown Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. J. W. Carter of Jewett City was the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Joseph Wharton of Jewett City sang several hymns. Burial was in Robbins cemetery, the bearers being Henry and Frank Coles, Frank Berg and Martin Davis. There were beautiful flowers. Undertaker E. E. Gilbert was in charge.

Important business. Regular meeting, K. of C., tonight.—adv.

Burial of Infant Son

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Evers of Voluntown, was buried in Robbins cemetery, Rev. J. W. Carter officiating at the service at the home Saturday afternoon, at half past three. Undertaker E. E. Gilbert was in charge.

County Game Warden Watson arrested Edwin Northrop and Leslie Munson of Hamden, Conn., Friday, for fishing in a pond in the closed season. They were brought before Judge William T. Palmer at the home of Grand Juror Thomas MacDonald in Voluntown, and fined one dollar and costs each, amounting to $16.90 for each man.

The auxiliary to the American Legion post meets this (Monday) evening in the Red Cross chapter room.

Mrs. Edith Boone entertained the Harmony club at the home of Mrs. P. E. Robinson, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Richardson returned from Orange City, Florida, Saturday night.

Rev. G. F. Goodenough officiated Sunday afternoon at the burial in Voluntown of Wilbur Whipple of Providence. Mr. Whipple was an uncle of Everett Whipple, of Voluntown.

John LaFountaine, of Boston, was an Easter visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson LaFountaine.

Several Jewett City parties were in Taftville Saturday in a party as 6:30 to see the early morning fire.

People all over the borough tuned in Sunday morning on the Easter sunrise worship program from San Francisco.

Finn's tonight. Last chance to see No-No-Nanette, all-talking and singing.—adv.

Burial Of Maxwell Holmes

The body of Maxwell Holmes, 12, was brought from Rockville to the Davidson lot in Pachaug cemetery for burial Saturday. The boy was a step-son of Ernest Read, the latter being a native of Jewett City. The parents, a brother and three sisters survive him. A large number of relatives and friends, with the officiating clergyman, accompanied the family to Pachaug. The floral remembrances were very beautiful.

Miss Josephine Gibson of Greeneville attended the Congregational church service Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cook, of East Killingly, were week end guests at N. J. Babcock's.

MYSTIC

A lively meeting was held in Odd Fellows hall, Thursday afternoon, in regard to the second hearing on the petition of the Shell Eastern Petroleum Co., for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station at the corner of East Main and Willow streets. F. G. Post, who with his family lives next to the Mason Manning house, which is where the gas station would be built, said that if they allowed a filling station to be erected at that place he would move his business out of Mystic. L. E. Vatet declared that it would lower the value of the surrounding property. Mr. Vatet lives on the other side of a Socony gas station, which is in turn on the other side of Mr. Post's property, which would make two gas stations and two houses in not many hundred feet. George and Charles Foley protested that it would not be very pleasant to sit on their front porch and see nothing but gasoline pumps. Many other residents were opposed to the project. George D. Johnson, however, seemed to be much in favor, saying that a new gas station would look much better than the house which is being allowed to fall to pieces gradually, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Manning not living in Mystic now. Remarks were rather heated at times. It was finally decided that a meeting called in the evening perhaps would bring out even more people, who were not able to get there in the afternoon. No vote was taken on this suggestion, however, so the residents of Mystic are still on the fence, with the Shell Gas Co. ready to push them off, if possible. Attorney Arthur M. Brown of Norwich and Attorney Arthur T. Keefe of New London represented the Shell company and Attorney George Morgan of New London the opposition. Joseph Harrington, a representative of the company, said that the house would be moved back on the lot next to Mr. Post's and a stone building erected and the grounds improved, at an outlay of not less than $21,000. John Fribance opened the meeting and acted as moderator.

West Mystic Parent-Teacher association held its April meeting in the school house, Thursday evening, with Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve, president, in charge. The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag and singing of America. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved. It was voted to give $5 toward the care of the street flags. The program, in charge of Mrs. Edith Baton and Miss Mary Foley, teachers, was as follows: Violin solo, Gordon Tuttle of Groton; Folk dance, Chimes of Dunkirk, Grade 1; The Sun and the Wind, Grade 2; reading lesson, Grade 3; piano solo, Arlene Leonard; readings, John Paul Jones, Washington, Grade 4; play, The Legend of King Arthur, Grades 5 to 8; violin solo, Gordon Tuttle. Prof. Roy S. Haggard, principal of Robert Fitch high school, Poquonoc Bridge, gave a very interesting talk on school matters. Saltines, cake and cocoa were served by the committee.

Mrs. Charles H. Reynolds of Pequot avenue entertained at luncheon and bridge at her home, Thursday afternoon.

The Rossie Velvet mill and Mystic Woolen Co. at Old Mystic will close their plants today (Monday).

The Junior and Senior World Wide guilds of the Union Baptist church are rehearsing two playlets which each will give at an early date.

Mrs. Frank E. Williams has returned to her home in Old Mystic, after a lengthy visit with her brother, Coles Reeves, of Huguenot, N. Y. Mr. Williams and his mother, Mrs. H. O. Williams, motored down to bring Mrs. Williams home.

All of the churches in the village and in Old Mystic were beautifully decorated for the Easter services, with Easter lilies, hyacinths and other flowers. As is the custom, the flowers were all distributed among the sick and shut-ins. Many members also loaned plants and flowers.

There was a large congregation at the lecture and pageant given by members of the local Congregational and Methodist churches, in the Congregational church, Friday evening. The chorus was under direction of Mrs. Eugene Jones. The program opened with an illustrated lecture, "The Cathedrals of Europe," by Rev. William G. Fagan, pastor of the Congregational church. There followed a solo by Mrs. Clinton Patterson, violin solo by William Griffin of Stonington; the pageant, "The City of God." This pageant was a symbolical presentation of the Struggle Between Righteousness and Sin, with the final triumph of Righteousness. There were 45 persons taking part and the work was wonderfully well done and showed careful and frequent rehearsals.

The 64 teams needed for the elimination bridge whist to be given by the men of St. Mark's Episcopal church, beginning Tuesday evening, have been secured. The first night of play, the tournament will be held in Odd Fellows hall, the next four will be held in the parish house on Pearl, and the final night play will be in Odd Fellows hall again.

Mrs. Mary Gammons Robinson, 66, widow of Orrin M. Robinson, died Friday at her home, 52 Ledward avenue. She was the daughter of Ethan T. and Mary S. Potter Gammons of New Bedford, Mass., born July 19, 1863. Mrs. Robinson leaves two sons, Orrin M. of Providence and Howard G., of Westerly, and two daughters, Miss Edith L. Robinson of Westerly and Mrs. Shirley H. Gray of New Bedford.

POOL ROOM BURGLARY— THIEVES WERE AFTER CASH

Pawcatuck police are investigating the reported burglary at the poolroom of Harry Trefes, Coggeswell street, some time early Saturday morning, with a loss of between $200 and $300 in cash. The break was discovered Saturday when Trefes opened for business, Patrolman George Seidel of Pawcatuck found that the burglars had gained entrance through a rear window. Money was apparently the only loot but the place was literally turned upside down in a search for it.

Had No License

Saturday, Joseph Mender of New York was before Judge Oliver H. Williams at a special session of Third district court on charges of operating an automobile without a license. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. State police of the Hope Valley patrol stopped Mender to caution him against fast driving and discovered he had no license.

Car Ran Into Bus

Sunday afternoon, a coupe owned by R. G. Amador of Cambridge, Mass., and operated by Joseph E. Carbonell, a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, also of Cambridge, crashed into the rear end of a Groton & Stonington bus that stopped to discharge passengers in front of the waiting room opposite the Wequetequock Casino. The bus was due at 1:40 at Wequetequock and the car containing the two men was following within a short distance. The driver evidently did not notice the bus stop at the waiting room and came head-on into the rear of the passenger car. The bus escaped damage but the smaller car received a badly dented fender and the headlight on the left side was smashed. Neither of the men were injured and continued on their way after their differences with the bus operator had been settled.

NORWICH DRIVER'S CAR STRIKES PIERCE STREET BOY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 20.—In the northern part of the town, Sunday morning, Frank De Simone, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Amodio De Simone of 11 Pierce street, was struck by an automobile on Pearl street and was injured slightly. The child was attended by Dr. M. H. Scanlon for a bruise on the forehead and scratches. Officer Frank Knight investigated the accident and reported that the child ran in front of a machine operated by William Barber of Norwich, Conn. It was reported that the machine was operated at a moderate rate of speed.

For the past week or ten days, fishermen of Westerly have been busy with lines, rods and nets to secure the fish in the waters off towns in Washington and New London counties. The favorable time is high tide, when the fish come in-shore. Then the pond and inlet bridges are dotted with fishermen, who so far have had average luck.

THE TERRORS OF FOG

Once again has there been a grim illustration of the danger which fog holds for those who navigate the air. The plane that was on its way from Albany to Newark had become lost and was in search of a landing place when it struck a high tension wire and crashed with the loss of the four persons aboard.

Fog has been the cause of many flying fatalities. Aviators have crashed into mountains, buildings and trees simply because they had either lost their bearings or had exhausted their fuel. In the New Jersey instance there is no survivor to reveal what the circumstances were but the fact that the pilot had been circling that region, which was a short distance from the destination, creates the belief that the fog had caused him to become uncertain as to where he was and to effect a landing. All probably would have been well, even then, except for the electric wires, but conditions were such as to make it difficult for these to be seen with such accuracy as to avoid them.

In the minds of some the flying conditions were not such as to warrant the flight that was undertaken, inasmuch as it was not possible to maintain the height that cities require from airplanes flying over them. In the establishment of regulations for flying, cities have insisted that planes fly high so that in case of accident over a city it will be possible to coast down, which would not be possible in the case of low flying. In New Jersey low flying was being resorted to because of weather conditions, if we can judge by the reports of those who saw the plane seeking a landing place.

This raises the question as to whether it was an unwise decision which caused the pilot to start out on the trip under the conditions that prevailed. Fog is bad enough for the person engaged in directing a vehicle on a highway. When it comes to navigating a ship there are certain definite hazards and certain precautions for avoiding them, though they do not always insure positive safeguard. But in navigating the air not many means of guiding the airplane have as yet been put into operation, although favorable claims have been made relative to certain devices which are expected to meet the situation. Till better safety can be assured, protection lies in recognizing and bowing to the terrors of fog.

TIPPING CUSTOMS AGENTS

Those who hope to escape detection for the violation of the law, or those who expect to secure an advantage over others in speeding inspection through the tipping of customs agents, have learned from Commissioner Eble of the customs service that such a practice is frowned upon and when such gratuities are accepted by customs agents it will be sufficient ground for their summary discharge.

There are annoyances and delays in connection with the customs service which call for attention in order to make it possible for passengers to get away from ships much quicker. This, however, is something that must come from within the service rather than through such a medium as the passengers might individually employ. It is not impossible that tips would be the means of getting people through the customs inspection much quicker than might otherwise be the case, and by so doing there would be no slighting of the service and no violation of the laws, but it is to be remembered that through just such a method it is possible for untold quantities of dutiable goods to be gotten into the country. There is no telling whether the tip is simply for speed or for winking at the law, or both. If there are rules against anything of the kind the agents are serving but one master. If they accept tips and are caught and discharged they have no one to blame but themselves. Those who protest against such action are simply interfering with a rule which experience has shown to be necessary. The agents must be under obligation to no one except the government.

Tipping or bribery is one of the problems that has to be fought in connection with the smuggling of narcotics. If agents can be found who will play with the smugglers, they are invaluable to the violators of the narcotic laws. If tipping is tolerated in the harmless case, it is simply giving encouragement to the practice and an invitation to indulge in bribery. When the customs service declares against anything of the kind it warns the agents and expects cooperation on the part of the public, so much so that the person who resorts to the gratuity puts himself under suspicion to the agent and the service.

RUSSIAN COAL

Attention is being directed at the present time to the practice of bringing anthracite to this country from Russia and an effort is being made to have a duty placed on such importation as a protection to the anthracite industry of this country.

In the pending tariff bill provision is made against the importation of coal mined by convict labor after January 1, 1932, and an effort is being made to have that date advanced, it being pointed out that much, if not all, of the Russian coal is mined by convict labor.

The protection sought is of course for the benefit of the anthracite industry of Pennsylvania where wages of $5 a day are paid in contrast to the 17 cents a day in Russia. Against such a condition it is desirable that there should be reasonable protection. But the opportunity is being created for Pennsylvania with its state tax on anthracite and those interested in the mining of anthracite coal in that state to reflect on the far-reaching effects which their acts have had upon having the Russian coal marketed in this country. There was the time when the people of New England, in their desire for anthracite, were being subjected to what they regarded as great an injustice because of the shutting off of the supply of fuel and later a special tax on each ton mined as the anthracite industry now feels it is receiving from the bringing in of Russian coal. Conditions were then such as to create the belief that New England and other hard coal users could be squeezed to the limit. There came the time when it got beyond the point of toleration. Hard coal users turned to substitutes and foreign producers began a competition which has been continued. The Pennsylvania anthracite industry has certainly felt the effects. It has lost business which it can never regain. It must have long since recognized the folly of its course. It may now understand that all this might have been prevented.

Russia proceeded to eliminate its duty on American coal, which was simply a gesture since American coal had no market in Russia, and took advantage of the chance to send coal into the United States duty free. The quantity received helps to deplete the demands on the Pennsylvania field and it is quite evident in the interest of American industry that the situation is one which calls for protection.

LINDBERGH WINS

Lindbergh wins. Somehow we thought he would win, that is, that he would succeed in making the cross country flight with only one stop and do it in faster time than anyone else has covered the same distance. There is that in his record which gives one confidence that he knows what he is about, that he contemplates his flights with a cool and careful deliberation and preparation that insures success if all goes well.

Colonel Lindbergh was not solely interested in getting from coast to coast in faster time than anyone else as much as he was in testing out the conditions that prevail in the high flying lane. It was his conviction that he would find conditions there which would be conducive to speed and free from handicaps experienced nearer the ground. The fact that he has accomplished his undertaking and done it with part night flying in over three hours less than the record would appear to bear out his contention regarding altitude flying.

It is an accomplishment which places another feather in the Lindbergh cap. Colonel Lindbergh has displayed a soundness of ideas relative to flying which is generally recognized. He has not only expressed his opinions in regard to various undertakings in a favorable light, but he has conclusively demonstrated them by his achievements. He has paved the way for much valuable flying development, the laying out of routes and improvement of flying machines and their operation, and during it all it cannot fail to be noted that his policy has been deeds not words. He has been a doer of big things in aviation without having his head turned by praise and applause. In his latest accomplishment, as companion in the flight, Mrs. Lindbergh of course shares in the honors.

AT RHODE ISLAND PRISON

From the efforts that were made to accomplish a delivery of prisoners from the Rhode Island state prison, it appears that conditions at the institution had been carefully studied. It was known when there were favorable conditions for such an attempt, when there was a reduction in the force of guards and when visitors could get firearms to the prisoners.

Happily the plan did not succeed, although there was bloodshed and death. It provided a demonstration, nevertheless, which makes it apparent that precautions must be taken at all times against the schemes of desperate characters, those on the outside, as well as those within. It cannot fail to be realized, however, that much more serious consequences would have resulted but for the action of the trusty at the cigarette stand who sent in the alarm before he was killed.

Here was a case where those quite as desperate as the ones under punishment were permitted on visitors' day to get in close touch with murderers without the precaution of making certain that they carried no weapons and no other devices for making an escape. It was one of those instances which directs attention to the favorable conditions for just such attempts, and it is needless to say that such opportunities will not prevail at the Rhode Island state prison in the future.

At prisons those who are watching chances for escape take careful note when prison authorities are liable to be caught off their guard. They make a study of the times when the guards are reduced in number and when the best time exists for making a break. It is quite evident that the plan for the delivery had been carefully hatched, and though it was a failure it furnished sufficient excitement to see that the way is blocked for any further attempt of that or a similar kind in the future. What comes as a warning to the Rhode Island prison may well be profitable to all other similar institutions.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If you haven't met the census enumerator don't be discouraged. There'll be a day some week.

Many a householder is finding out that he cannot keep coal in the bin and a fire in the heater this fickle spring.

The man on the corner says: Do you remember those days when the "Back Soon" sign on the office door really meant "Back after this afternoon's ball game"?

LET IT RAIN

Through the swinging doors of the Oakdale postoffice came a gust of raw, cold air, a swirl of rain—and a slim girl in a yellow raincoat.

Rose Cleary was cross. Shaking her umbrella impatiently, she muttered: "Yes, you would blow inside out just now when I don't want to spend a penny. Even if there was anything good about my job I wouldn't like it. When they can't think of anything else for me to do at that real-estate office they send me out in the rain to mail letters."

As she struggled with the temperamental umbrella the tall young man who presided over specials and registered mail eyed her speculatively through his window. He had noticed this pretty brown-eyed girl before. He liked the way her golden-red hair curled out from under the close felt hat. But she was always so businesslike. Tom Brady studied her a moment, then chuckled to himself.

"Well, well! Isn't she cute? Has a temper, and everything. I like that spark in her eyes. Maybe she'll have time to chat a bit today."

But Rose, after her battle with wind, rain and umbrella, was in no chatty mood. Her pretty mouth was shut tight; her eyes were not at all warm and friendly. With a brief nod she did her errands, holding the dripping umbrella away from her as she stood at the window.

Her thoughts were far away as she waited. Her life seemed as dull and colorless as the rain that slid down the window panes. She wanted to be home today, with the big, noisy, happy family that was crowded into the old gray house out in Indiana. She wanted some one to worry because her shoes were wet; some one to treat her like a person, and to do little things for her. She blinked, sighed and turned back to the window.

The clerk was very good looking. Probably he knew it. Most men with fine dark eyes and thick, wavy dark hair appreciated their good points. And he always was so stiff, as though he thought she was going to stand and take up his time. Well, he needn't worry.

With as few words as usual she registered several letters. Tom took as much time as he could, trying hard to think of something to say. She seemed very somber today. As he spoke suddenly to her, Rose turned quickly, caught her finger in the string which held a thick package of letters together and down went the letters.

It was the last straw. With an angry exclamation, Rose bent to retrieve the letters. But a laughing, sympathetic voice stoped her.

"Oh, wait, please. Let me get them."

Before the startled girl could shift her umbrella Tom was out from behind his window. He gathered up the letters in a moment, brushed them off, and was back in his place again, his black eyes laughing straight into her stormy brown ones. Rose's cheeks were pink. What did he think of her? She was so awkward.

"Thank you," she stammered, dropping her lashes. The young man was enjoying her confusion, no doubt of that.

"Not at all. Miserable day, isn't it?" His smile was very friendly but Rose was in no mood to respond. She hurriedly nodded, then pulled out her purse to pay for the stamps.

"My word! I left the money on my desk and these letters must go out." As she admitted her carelessness she blushed pinker than ever. Now he would think she was a goose. Tom made a note on a pad of paper, then slid a book of stamps through the opening in his window.

"Cheer up," he said. "We've plenty of stamps right here. I'm paying for these and you can pay me for them tomorrow. Uncle Sam will be glad to do you that little favor, I know." He was so kind that Rose melted in spite of herself.

"That's awfully nice. I appreciate it. It's so miserable outside and I hate to walk clear back." Then she smiled. "Everything's gone wrong all day." Tom, his eyes very understanding, his smile tender, spoke softly.

"I know. We all have those days. I say, I can leave in five minutes. Won't you wait for me and run over to Hurley's for tea, or something good and hot?"

And Rose, her eyes now like stars, nodded, with a quick lift of her heart. Let it rain. What difference, if one had tea and good company—furnished by Uncle Sam!—Exchange.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 20— (AP) — When Tydings of Maryland hung the senate chamber about with large charts and graphs and proceeded to deliver a statistical lecture on the effects of prohibition, naturally there was a fine attendance in the galleries.

That is one subject on which advance notice of a speech in house or senate always insures an S. R. O. audience. The Tydings contribution was well advertised.

It was a notable effort. Looking back over years of prohibition discussion in both houses, the Bystander cannot remember any "wet" assault so carefully worked up.

Statistics

There have been much more oratorically grandiose speeches made in the same vein by Tydings' former colleague, Bruce, or by former Senator Jim Reed of Missouri, for instance, but never anything quite like the Tydings assembly of massed statistics. He had nearly a score of specially prepared charts and graphs to illustrate his lecture.

Not a great many senators listened in at any one time. The galleries were chock-a-block, however, and eager to applaud or laugh over snappy comebacks in the Tydings-Brookhart exchanges that enlivened proceedings.

The Iowa dry kept up a running fire and Tydings seemed to welcome his remarks. He is quite a rapid-fire debater, the young and vigorous Marylander who comes close to being the very mold of sartorial fashion in the senate. And usually he manages to keep his temper and do his verbal cutting and thrusting with a beaming smile.

Comeback

At one point in the Maryland-Iowa clash, Brookhart declared increases in prohibition violation statistics Tydings was giving occurred "after the agitation against prohibition" in the senate and elsewhere began, "agitation which resulted in retiring one senator from Maryland by 45,000 majority."

That gave Tydings his chance.

"And if I can pay that price to render some slight service to my country, at least I will not be running with the crowd just to get re-elected," he thundered, while the galleries rumbled and clattered with applause.

Of course the senate is too dignified to permit applause of speeches from either floor or galleries, particularly not from the galleries. It has quite a different habit of mind about that from the house. Over there, if the faintest ripple of approval comes from any part of the big chamber, you are certain to find it noted in the Congressional Record. The stenographers put it in usually. But if they don't members who received the tribute rectify that error when they edit their copy.

So vice President Curtis rumbled the usual threat to clear the galleries when they gave Tydings a hand. Senate rules required him to do that.

(And that recalls that while the Bystander has heard that threat made hundreds of times, he never heard of its being put into effect, applause or no applause. Queer isn't it?)

YOUR HEALTH

How To Live Long And Well

By A. R. E. Wyant, M. D., Chicago.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

It might be suggested that if we would live long and well we should have the privilege of choosing our ancestors. Heredity is a most important factor. There is an Old Testament saying that the sins of the parents are visited upon the children to the third and fourth generations. But the flowing stream of heredity has a tendency to become purified unless allowed to become contaminated by the generations through which it passes. It is for you and me to pass on this stream as good as or better than we received it from our parents.

The most important phase of modern medicine is the prevention of disease. Its aim is the discovery of new truth and its application to human need. The scope of modern medicine goes beyond getting the patient well. Its greater work is to keep the patient well by providing immunity through vaccination against many communicable diseases, by securing co-operation with the public health authorities, by insisting on frequent periodical examinations to detect incipient defects or diseases and by urging conformity to the laws of personal hygiene and the seeking of positive, vigorous, abounding health. The youthful President Hutchins of the University of Chicago says: "The conception of preventive medicine leads to the conception of health as a positive attribute." We have been trained to think in terms of disease; we must learn more and more to think in terms of health. Cure is a negative idea; health is a positive thought.

It is the credit of doctors that they are leaders in preventive medicine and are willing to suffer any economic loss resulting therefrom. The modern physician realizes that the chief purpose of medicine is to keep people well, rather than to be content to alleviate or cure diseases which might have been avoided; for modern scientific medicine has discovered the causes of many diseases and the methods of their prevention or control. The good doctors of today must be able not only to treat their patients for illness, but also to preach and practice the gospel of good health that helps to realize the ideal of a sound mind in a sound body. Personal hygiene will always be paramount in the great program of preventive medicine.

The growing practice of periodic health examinations gives promise of becoming the greatest public health movement ever inaugurated. Health and happiness depend upon the efficiency of the human machine. Your body needs service as well as your auto. If you want to be kept in "fine fettle" consult your physician regularly. He cannot be of service unless yiu go to him. Sickness should be considered a disgrace if due to gross carelessness or culpable ignorance. If a man is careless about his own health, which is his greatest asset, how can he be trusted in less important matters?

Periodic examination of your growing child also preserves physical fitness by preventing the development of diseases which damage progressively with the passing years and finally result in the fatal degenerative diseases of old age.

The object of preventive medicine is to increase the comforts and lessen the pains of human existence and keep a man fit for efficiency in his life service. Even if periodic health examinations should not greatly prolong your life they may greatly increase your pleasure in life in your feeling of fitness and joy in your work. Soon it will be only the ingoramus who boasts: "I have never been to a doctor in my life."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

So Near and Yet So Far

It sounds absurd, yet it is clear,
We may be far and yet be near.
—Mrs. Quack.

Mrs. Quack had fooled Unc' Billy Possum very nicely that night when he had discovered her in the Smiling Pool. She had slipped away into the blackest of the Black Shadows, where the Laughing Brook leaves the Smiling Pool, and had hidden between two tussocks of grass. She had guessed that Unc. Billy would take it for granted that her nest was in that direction. You know, that is just what Unc' Billy had done and had gone off down the Laughing Brook, looking for Mrs. Quack and her nest. Meanwhile Mrs. Quack had crossed the Smiling Pool and gone to her nest in the little swamp on the other side.

Mrs. Quack chuckled as she settled herself on those beautiful eggs. When she had left them to go get something to eat, she had carefully covered them with the soft feathers with which her nest was lined—feathers she had pulled from her own breast. Now she had carefully uncovered them before settling herself on them.

Though she was chuckling, Mrs. Quack was somewhat worried. Yes, sir, she was somewhat worried. "As if there were not enough enemies around here without Unc' Billy Possum taking it into his head to come down here," said she. "That old rascal loves eggs and now that he has seen me, he won't be able to get eggs out of his head. He'll think eggs and dream eggs and spend a good part of his time hunting for eggs. That is what he is doing right now. I know it just as well as if I were down there watching him. Well, I just fooled him once and I guess I can fool him again when he comes around; for come around he will. He'll come up this way on his way back to the Green Forest."

Mrs. Quack was quite right. It was along about dusk of the next evening that Unc' Billy reached that little swamp. It had been too light for him to wait over there on the bank of the Smiling Pool for Mrs. Quack to come and get her dinner; so he had decided to hide in that little swamp until it got darker. While he was there he went poking about this way and that way. It is a habit with Unc' Billy Possum to poke about this way and that way. He finds many things to eat just poking about. You see, Unc' Billy isn't very particular about what he puts in his stomach. Anything that is not too large and that can walk, hop, fly, swim, jump, crawl or wiggle suits Unc' Billy Possum.

Unc' Billy had caught and eaten a young water snake on the bank of the

While he was there he went poking about, this way and that way

Laughing Brook and was looking for another when he heard light footsteps approaching. He guessed that Reddy Fox was not far away, and Unc' Billy promptly took to the nearest tree. Now, it just happened that that tree was very near another tree, a branch of which was above the very place where Mrs. Quack and her nest were hidden under the broad leaf of a skunk cabbage plant. Having climbed the tree, Unc' Billy remained there a while. Then, instead of going down the trunk of that tree, he crossed over squirrel fashion to the next tree, using branches of the two trees as a bridge. In the same way he crossed a third tree, and in doing this he passed right above Mrs. Quack.

How surprised Unc' Billy would have been could he have known that he was so near to Mrs. Quack and those eggs he so desired. But not knowing it he might just as well have been a long, long distance away. He was so near and yet, for lack of knowledge, so far. Mrs. Quack saw him when he crossed. Perhaps you can guess how she felt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Groton Long Pont Water.

Mr. Editor: The item in The Bulletin of the 18th, inst., in reference to the water supply at Groton Long Point, is apt to create an impression that all the water is brackish. This is not so, as a number of the cottagers have their own wells and private water systems, all of which are sweet and pure and fit for drinking.

Little Talks on Thrift

Fascination Of Thrift Grows With Mounting Accumulations

On August 16, 1819, a deposit of $10 was made in a New York savings bank. On the 26th of the same month the next year a deposit of $5 was made. No other deposits have ever been made for this account. The original depositor never returned to claim his money. The account still stands but through the processes of compound interest it has grown to more than $2700 or 180 times its original value.

An office boy on an errand lost merchandise worth $110. Ten years later the boy found himself able to make restitution although it was not compulsory. He gave $110 to the man whose merchandise he had lost. The amount really lost, however, was $198.67 for that is what the $110 would have become had it been invested at 6 per cent compounded semi-annually. In fact, if the office boy had waited one year and 263 days longer it would have been necessary for him to return $220 if he had taken into consideration the compound interest which the $110 had earned.

The attention of the writer recently was called to the illustration of a Roman child's bank 1900 years old with this explanation: "One cent if saved in this bank and kept at 3 per cent interest compounded annually until now would amount to twenty-four sextillion dollars—$24,000,000,000,000,000,000,000—more money than there is in the world."

If you can save $90 a month during the next twenty-five years and invest the income at 6 per cent compounded semi-annually you can then retire with $61,975.

One continually is hearing stories about the fabulous accumulation of money through some brilliant scheme or lucky break but there are no financial fairy tales more absorbing than those based on the wizardry of compound interest. The piling up process may seem slow and prosaic enough at first but as time goes on we catch the spirit of the magic spell.

Thrift in theory is a dry subject but when it comes into our lives, enriching our hopes and giving point and purpose to methodical routine, we feel in its a tense and ever growing fascination.—By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

The Norwich Belt Mfg. Co., Inc., Norwich.

The Norwich Belt Mfg. Co. Inc., of Norwich, needs no introduction. Now in its 85th year of successful business, it is the oldest leather belting concern in Connecticut and one of the oldest in the country.

In certain lines of manufacture automatic machines, uniform materials and standardized methods of production enable all manufacturers of those lines to make an equally good product.

In the belting business conditions are different. Modern machines and modern methods, of course, have their part; but there are many phases that will always savor of the days when every manufactured article was the product of individual craftsmanship—the expression of the character and skill of its maker.

To begin with, the belt manufacturer's supply of raw materials is not uniform. No two hides are exactly alike. To sort the best hides from those of inferior grade requires careful selection. Thus, individual judgment and experience are brought to bear upon the quality of the product at the very start. And in the course of transforming the hide into the finished belt, there is scarcely an operation in which the experience, skill and expertness of the organization and its workers is not a factor in determing the quality of the finished product.

Established in 1845, The Norwich Belt Mfg. Co. has built up a loyal organization of experienced workers of which it is justly proud. The character, the skill, and the dependability put into the making of Norwich belts have won for them an enviable reputation wherever belts are used.

The officers of the company are: Charles D. Gallup, president, treasurer and general manager; Walter E. Fuller, secretary; and A. F. Libby, vice president.

The ROBOT on the RUN!

MILLIONS of Theatregoers Demand Real Music.

Music lovers everywhere are insisting that the inspiration and beauty of real art rendered by living musicians in the theatre be restored to them.

The Music Defense League, through which the American public are voicing their vehement protest against the elimination of real music from the theatre, is growing with astounding rapidity. The League has passed the two-million mark in less than three short months of effort. Votes in defense of national culture still pour in.

If you, too, would like to register your resentment against substitution of soulless, mechanical reproduction of music and the elimination of real music in motion picture theatres . . . If you would like to insist upon getting your money's worth in entertainment when you and your children attend the theatre, sign this coupon and mail it today.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS FOR INAUGURAL AT COLLEGE

When the ceremonies are held at Connecticut college on May 16 for the formal inauguration of President Katharine Blunt, several special exhibits have been arranged for.

The Fine Arts department is having a student exhibition which will open with a tea Thursday afternoon preceding the inauguration, when the visiting scholastic delegates are expected to arrive. Paintings, drawings, designs and sculpture will be shown. Such a show is an annual spring event at the college, and draws always a large attendance from New London and the nearby counties.

The Caroline Black Botanic garden will be one of the special points of interest which the students who are to act as guides will point out to visitors. The garden was projected a few years ago by Professor Caroline A. Black who, with necessarily a small allotment of funds and with but a single workman, but with large enthusiasm and the devoted support of the students in her department, succeeded in launching the undertaking. Her purpose was to make of it a garden which should be completely representative of the flora of the state of Connecticut, and which should contain also a large variety of other special and rare specimens. Since the death of Professor Black last winter, it has been decided to name the garden in her honor.

In the botanic laboratory the Graves herbarium will be on display. This is a recent gift to the college and is a rare and valuable collection of pressed and mounted specimens. The collection represents a life time's work of one of those rare men, Dr. Charles B. Graves of New London, who has been able to carry on in addition to his vocation of medicine, this botanic avocation which has given him a definite place among botanists in America. Several plants, which Dr. Graves discovered and which were named in his honor, are contained in the collection.

In the library, the Palmer Memorial room will be open. To this the public has rarely been admitted. It contains many rare first editions as well as many extra-illustrated, specially bound volumes, representing the best of the book makers' art in Europe and America. Owing to the fact that the collection has never been completely catalogued, it has been of necessity remained closed since it came to the college through the gift of Mrs. Neva F. Palmer and George S. Palmer of New London. A special librarian has this year been devoting her entire time to the study and arrangement of these books, and when this work is done it is hoped that the room will be permanently open to the public. Meanwhile, the inaugural guests, will here have an unusual opportunity extended to them.

LEBANON WOMAN HURT IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 20.—Otto Nettleton and his wife, Mabel, of Lebanon, were injured shortly before 6:30 o'clock tonight when the horse which was drawing their wagon down the Columbia highway toward this city, bolted and overturned the wagon. The man and woman were thrown onto the concrete surface near the entrance to the of the city line. The horse raced on of the city line. The horse raced an and was finally caught at Buck's filling station about a mile into the city. The animal had sustained a bad cut on the left rear leg from coming in contact with parts of the wagon.

The runaway was caused when a shackle-bolt in the shaft let go, striking the horse in the leg. Mrs. Nettleton, who was treated by Dr. Nathan Spector, sustained a bad scalp wound about two inches in length on the right side of the head, and various other bruises, while her husband suffered from a blow in the side and abrasions.

The accident was reported to the police and Officer William Hurley was sent to investigate but upon determining that the scene was outside of local jurisdiction, he turned the matter over to State Policeman Charles Daley of the Stafford Springs barracks.

FOUND ALLEGED LIQUOR IN KORNACKI GARAGE

John Kornacki, who has before this been arrested on charges of violating the liquor law, was arrested again Saturday night on the same charge by State Policeman Arthur Whitmarsh, Sergeant Matthew Delaney, Officers Crary and Quinn, in a raid at Kornacki's home, 62 Eleventh street.

A five-gallon jug, containing about 3 1-2 gallons of what is claimed to be intoxicating liquor, was found in his garage, covered over with potato bags. There was a funnel and a glass nearby, according to the police report.

Donald Gilbert in Wesleyan Fraternity.

MIDDLETOWN, April 20.—(AP)—Nineteen juniors have been elected to the Mystical Seven and the Skull and Serpent, Wesleyan university's two senior societies. Election to these societies is regarded as one of the highest honors that can be attained by an undergraduate at Wesleyan.

The Mystical Seven list includes D. A. Gilbert, Norwich.

Pomfret Man Not In Court.

The case of Roy Campbell, 25, of Pomfret, was continued to Monday in the city court Saturday morning, as he failed to make an appearance. He was arrested Friday afternoon by Officer Daniel O'Neil and was charged with driving without an operator's license or registration in his possession.

Charged With Evading Fare.

Stanley Baldyar of Montville was presented in the justice court in Montville Saturday morning on a charge of evading a taxicab fare. The accused's case was nolled, but he was ordered to pay the costs of court.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Marion Baker and the late George Baker, for many years residents of the Greeneville section of the city. Mrs. Bruette is survived by her husband, of Wilmington, Del., her mother, Marion Baker, six sisters, Mrs. George Parker Bolles of Bellows Falls, Vt., Mrs. James Kirby, Westerly, and Mrs. Henry P. Woodmansee, Mrs. Otto Mush and the Misses Ida and Marion Baker of this city and two brothers, Thomas and Frederick Baker of this city. Mrs. Bruette was a fine Christian woman, a loving sister and wife and a good neighbor. Her many friends will learn with sincere regret of her passing.

Earle H. Christman

The death of Earle Howard Christman of 209 Maple street occurred Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, resulting from cerebral hemorrhage suffered last Tuesday which followed a period of poor health since the first of the year.

Mr. Christman was the son of Clinton O. and Lena R. Spencer Christman and had been a life-long resident of this city, where he was born May 13, 1879. Twenty-five years ago he was united in marriage with Miss Grace R. Johnston of Wakefield, Mass., and for the past 20 years he had been a representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, attached to the Norwich office, and he was widely known and held in high esteem by all those with whom he was associated in a business or in a social way. He was a member of the Greeneville Congregational church.

Mr. Christman is survived by his wife, his mother and a daughter, Mrs. Adelaide G. Austin, of this city. He also leaves two brothers and three sisters, Floyd Christman, Mrs. Lena Perrier, Mrs. Sybil McGarrah, all of Woodbridge, N. J., Henry Christman of Mississippi, and Mrs. Charlotte Donahue of Manchester, Ga.

Genial and warm hearted in disposition, he had many friends and he was an affectionate and loyal husband and father who made the interests of his home of first importance and found there his greatest pleasure and satisfaction.

Mrs. Jane E. Rennard

After being seriously ill for the past few weeks, death came unexpectedly Friday to Mrs. Jane E. Rennard at her home on Quinebaug road.

Se was of a quiet disposition and upright in all her dealings, and leaves many to mourn her passing. She will be sadly missed by her family. She was a member of Sachem chapter, No. 57, O. E. S.

Surviving her are four children, Mrs. Samuel L. Armitage of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Arthur E. Oddie and Herbert Rennard, both of Norwich, and a son in Australia; also several grandchildren and a nephew in Jamestown, N. Y. Her only sister died there two years ago.

George L. LaPorte.

The death of George Louis LaPorte of 159 North Main street occurred Saturday in Norwich after a long illness. He was born in Pascoag, R. I., the son of Louis and Florence LaPorte and for many years he had resided in Danielson. Mr. LaPorte had lived in this city since 1928. Besides his wife he is survived by his mother, who lives in Pascoag, and two daughters, Viola, at home, and Mrs. Michael Rubel of this city. There are also seven brothers, Joseph, William, Antone, Leo, Victor and Hector, of Pascoag, and Alexander of Harrisville, R. I., and a sister, Mrs. William Shaw, of Hope Valley, R. I. He was a member of the Putnam order of Elks and leaves a wide circle of friends who mourn his loss.

Mrs. Thomas J. Comstock.

Stricken with a heart attack Mrs. Mary A. Tulley Comstock, wife of the late Thomas J. Comstock, died at 8.15 Sunday morning, at the home of her son, Frank T. Comstock, Nelson place. She had been in failing health for about a year.

Mrs. Comstock was born in West Cornwall, Conn., Aug. 14, 1854, the daughter of the late John and Mary Tulley, and was united in marriage with Thomas J. Comstock in 1871 in Bridgeport. She had been a resident of Norwich 58 years, residing for the greater part of the time on Thames street. She was a member of Christ Episcopal church.

Surviving Mrs. Comstock are the son, Frank T. Comstock, a sister, Mrs. Jennie Bushnell of New London, and a brother, John Tulley, of Bridgewater, Conn. Her husband passed away in this city 23 years ago. Her unusually pleasant disposition won for her many steadfast friends who will be sincerely grieved to learn of her passing.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Ellen C. Livermore

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen C. Livermore, who died at Kissimmee, Fla., were held at the Lebanon Congregational church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Walter S. Vey officiating. Burial was in Lebanon Center cemetery, where the committal was by Rev. Mr. Vey. There was a number of relatives and friends present and beautiful floral forms.

Nelson Morin

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning the funeral of Nelson Morin was held at the parlors of Undertakers Cummings and Ring, Main street. The service was conducted by Rev. Albert Sullivan of St. Mary's Memorial church and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, friends acting as bearers.

Sponsors For Concert

BIG CONGREGATIONS FILL CHURCHES OF CITY FOR EASTER SUNDAY WORSHIP

Congregations that gave the churches of the city unusually large attendances, some of them being filled to capacity, were in attendance at the Easter Sunday services, when the message of Easter from the pulpits was accompanied by melody of song and the beauty of spring flowers to inspire the hearts of the worshippers. The day was ideal from the weather standpoint, bright sunshine and mild airs doing their part in contributing to the enjoyment of those attending the services.

United Congregational Church

At the United Congregational church the inspiring sermon by the pastor, Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, was from the text, Since you have been raised with Christ, think on things above.

Three children were baptized at the morning service and 17 persons were received into church fellowship by confession. Those baptized were Ruth Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Buckley, Norman Bancroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hill, and Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Calkins.

Those received into fellowship were: Miss Marion Bell Allen, Miss Julia John, Miss Doris Elaine Krohn, Miss Madeline Taylor Spaulding, Miss Wilma Elizabeth Stanton, Mrs. Irma May Wetherbee, John S. Kyle, Mrs. John S. Kyle, Miss Lillian M. Kyle, Miss Margaret E. Kyle, Harold Edward Blanchard, Harold Hyde Ennis, Warren Winthrop LaPierre, Richard Henry Morris, Benjamin Burgess Shanley, Ralph H. Sinay, Kenneth Richard Whelden.

A vesper service for the young people was held at 5 o'clock at which the chorus choir led in the singing of hymns and rendered the anthem, Praise Ye the Father (Gounod) and an Easter carol, Alleluia Christ is Risen, (Clough-Leighton.) The voices were tuneful and melodious and the special music was given with impressive effect. Rev. Mr. Abbott made a brief address and after the service the flowers that had been used in the decorations were distributed to sick and shut-in members of the parish.

Central Baptist Church

With reference to his 25 years in the ministry, having been ordained 25 years ago in June, Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt spoke Sunday morning at the service at the Central Baptist church uopn "What Easter Has Come to Mean to Me," using the text John 14 19, Because I Live We Shall Live Also.

Viewing the meaning which the death of Christ had upon His early disciples, the pastor said that their first emphasis was not upon the life everlasting in connection with the resurrection. Their primary problem was the vindication that Christ was what He claimed to be, the leader of Israel. Here was a man who had given himself as no other ever had and He had come to the death of the cross. Easter meant to them restoring the ever present spirit of the friend who had walked with them in the way, his spirit enlightening them and empowering them. And after Easter came the imperial commission to carry on what He had so splendidly begun. This commission coming from Him means that we must carry on to share the good news with the whole world. Let us test our hearts by the response we make to that challenge. Easter Sunday meant the power of God. It brought the touch of eternity which is the aspiration of the human heart. Because I live ye shall live also said Christ to His disciples. Am I living now the kind of life that is worth living forever? What will be your answer to this question in the light of the Easter message?

Four boys were baptized at the morning service and at the evening service four young women were baptized by the pastor. The speaker at the evening service was Rev. Arthur S. Adams of China who made an inspiring address upon "Signs of the Risen Christ in the Orient."

The music for the day was finely rendered by the church quartette, with the offertory solo at the morning service by Miss Jessie D. Guthrie, soprano, splendidly given. She sang Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth", from "The Messiah."

At the morning service the special offering for missions amounted to $508.10, the largest in the history of Dr. Pitt's pastorate.

Park Congregational

At Park Congregational church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Theodore M. Shipherd, D. D., spoke upon the theme, Immortality — A Faith. In his sermon before the large congregation he spoke in part as follows:

There need be no question in any one's mind that in this zone Easter is quickness for all of us by the fact that it comes in our spring season.

When we turn to the inheritance that has so magnified the Christian church in the eyes of many centuries there are other matters that deeply concern us in the Easter time.

The Roman world, the Greek world and the Persian world, not to mention the Hebrew people of our Lord's time, took no great stock in a survival of the spirit of man after death save in a vague and ghostly way. Hades Sheol and the trans-Styx country were no re-assurance to any man. We know that the disciples felt that when the Master was dead on the cross He was lost to them for good and all.

The new Testament marks a turn in the thought both among the disciples and in the world through them.

The belief in the early church came to be quite definite that the Master rose from the dead on the third day. Paul labored to convince his hearers that those who made common cause with Christ should also rise from the dead and join their Master.

It was a grief-stricken and hopeless company whose despair he turned into joy and a new zest for living. It was with great effort that he convinced Thomas and the rest, and it was with great disappointment that he realized their doubt and despair. His rebuke is a telling one when he says: "Because thou hast seen me thou hast believed; blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed."

Just as Jesus was disappointed in those who demanded miracles for the proof of spiritual truth, so He was disappointed in those who required the proofs of the senses to comprehend the survival of vital personality.

The new Testament brings two facts to light: The Easter message sustaining the conviction that Christ lived after his death on the cross. This Easter message is or was supported by testimony of eyes, ears and fingers of witnesses.

The new Testament brings a further testimony from the word of the Master: Blessed are those who have so come to understand the Father and the Son and those who choose "the way" of the Son, that they loose their doubts and the need of sense-proofs and see that the very nature of God, and the exceeding value of the spirit as God and man may make it. Thus the destruction of the most precious thing in this world cannot be torn and shattered and destroyed in a moral universe. To deny the survival of the good man is to rip out the moral foundations of vital reality.

Trinity Episcopal Church

Speaking from the text, I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly, Rev. J. Eldred Brown, at the morning service at Trinity Episcopal church, said that the dominant note of Easter is one of life, a life whose quality was so uniformly pure and noble and self-forgetful, whose love and goodness and righteousness were so abounding with vital force that it was impossible for the grave to hold it. Jesus said comparatively little about the future life. He centered His teachings around the life that now is. According to both His teaching and His example, eternal life is a life which begins here and now.

He went on to say that the essential characteristics of the abounding life which Christ lived here on earth were love, a vitalizing conscience, a will strong and abounding to match the dictates of that conscience, and finally a supreme and soul-stirring confidence in the love and guidance of His heavenly Father. This is the quality of life He came to impart to us. And Christ prescribes as the only means able to develop the highest sort of life self-denial and self-sacrifice. And He proves His method to be true in our daily experience. We are unable to accomplish any progressive development of life except by devoting time and attention to it, by constantly denying ourselves the pleasures and indulgences which conflict with it. And how much more is this truth impressed upon us the moment we really try to follow the life which Christ led, the high ideals, the love of truth and duty and honor, of beauty and goodness and well-doing. Verily, abundance of life in these particulars comes only through our becoming dead to their opposites and alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. And finally, this higher life which Christ offers to give us is the only life which has survival value, that is worthy to overlive death and is fitted to find itself at home in the life that shall know no end.

In the afternoon at 4 o'clock the Sunday school choral service was held with a large attendance and the prizes from Polly Fox fund for perfect attendance since last Easter were given as follows: John Hudson, William Sanders, Ruby Armstrong, Irene Randall, Virginia Meech, Molly Chapman, Barbara Throop, Kenneth Sanders, Howard Randall, Jr., and Elizabeth Randall.

The beautiful flowers used in the altar and chancel decorations were distributed to members of the parish who were unable to be present during the day.

First Evangelical Lutheran

An unusually large congregation attended the Easter morning service at the First Evangelical Lutheran church, Franklin street, when the pastor, Rev. Carl Storek, spoke upon the text, I Cor. 15.20, "But now hath Christ been raised from the dead, the first born of them that are asleep." He said in part:

It is beyond our comprehension how any one or any group or any race can refuse to accept Christ as our risen Lord and Savior. It is an insult to Christianity, yea to civilization. It is ignoring the blessings that Christianity has brought about in its fruitful history of two thousand years. Can the victory and the history of the Christian church be ignored, can a religion continue to exist without Christ? If it does it certainly is not a religion of hope, faith and charity. There certainly is no life where Christ the risen Lord is not worshipped.

Some one has said: "The leading lawyers of Great Britain and America have been so bold as to make the statement that the evidence concerning the resurrection, and the proofs of the resurrection, are sufficient to convince any intelligent jury in the world. Now, if that is the case, and we must admit it on the basis of all that is reasonable and intelligent, why all this quibbling about the virgin birth? If he is able to be born again out of his tomb of rock, is he not able to be born of a woman through a different process than the natural way? Why all this quibbling about the inspiration of the word of God? There is no room, no occasion for quibbling, nor any good that ever came, during the 1900 years since the day that he lived on earth, in quibbling over these things. I would say to all of you who are responsible for retarding the progress of the Christian church by calling to question these things definitely stated in Scripture: Produce your reasons!" But as for me and my house I shall serve the Lord. The time will come when even their captivity shall be ended, for the Lord will have done great things for them also. Let me in conclusion turn to those that need comfort who have the faith, but who weep and cry: Lord strenghten our faith. The Lord has this message for you: "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy, he that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."

The Easter congregations were exceptionally large. The service was divided into three periods: A junior service, from 9-9:50; the Sunday school took part in this. Those present were given Easter candy and each one received a pretty little Easter booklet. This service consisted mainly of song and recitation. The main service was held from 10-11. The congregation again overflowed the auditorium. The orchestra that played on Palm Sunday also played in the Easter service, adding greatly to the inspiration of the service. Miss Olga Zachae gave a fine vocal solo between the gospel lessons and the large choir sang appropriate Easter music. The third part was the communion service which was very elaborate and enriched by the full communion liturgy. Several hundred people took communion in the three great services held on Palm Sunday, Good Friday and Easter morning. The Easter congregation was the largest during the pastor's stay in Norwich.

Trinity Methodist Church

In his sermon at the morning service at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, the pastor, Rev. Joseph Cooper, spoke from the text John 14, 19, As I live, ye shall live.

In part he spoke as follows: Jesus was so sure of life that no incident or accident of experience could ever rob Him of its joyous reality. Christian experience is the direct result of the living Christ. On no other supposition can it be explained. Life alone creates life. Christ comes to us as a creative spirit vitalizing all that is best in us. This spiritual life continually expands its power. This expanding life seems to depend upon its inner quality for its continuousness. Personality for good or evil is a great power and the investment of our personality with the spirit of Christ means for us life at the highest. What we want is quality of life rather than quantity. This life force is progressive. It projects its efficiency into the future. Our fullest growth is never attained. It is always ahead of us. It is from glory unto glory. There is an everlasting persistence in this spiritual element that completes the process of experience. The coming of Jesus as Master and Lord transforms us into the same image. The natural goodness of the human heart flowers into beauty under the touch of the spirit of Jesus. The Christian faith becomes the only reasonable interpretation of life. With this view everything falls into its proper place. Life becomes a procession of expanding experiences, sorrows are illuminated by the light of the hereafter, trials increase our trust and death becomes a portal of a larger life.

This growing view of life is confirmed by our experience. When faith is strongest, when the vision of the soul is clearest, when life reaches its highest fount of pure thinking and right living, then our immortality seems secure. The mind, however, trained to test the truth of things has then no misgivings and no doubts. Belief becomes conviction. The house not made with hands is shaping while this tenement of clay is tumbling into dust. Over the wrecks of time and the broken dreams of earth the Christian sees "Glory beyond all glory seeing, by waking sense or by the dreaming soul."

Universalist Church

"The Fulness of the Easter Message" was the theme of the sermon Sunday morning by Rev. A. N. Foster at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist. His text was II Corinthians V:17; therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become new.

In part, he spoke as follows:

To many persons, Easter commemorates the resurrection of the body of Jesus and belief in such material reappearance is made even the test of discipleship. The records of such are conflicting and most unsatisfactory; furthermore, the reappearance of a bodily form does not prove the immortality of the soul. The inferential knowledge which points to the continued life of the soul beyond the death of the body is three-fold. Presumptive evidence is found in the fact that all races and conditions of men—primitive and cultured alike—have cherished some sort of belief that men live after death; again, lives which are shortened here—broken off perhaps by swift accident or clinging disease—need time in a later realm for their completion if we assume an ordered universe ruled by Intelligence; again, by analogy, we say that inasmuch as no material atom is ever destroyed although its form be changed, certainly mind and soul which control and shape matter cannot be lost and "cast as rubbish to the void when God hath made the pile complete." Jesus was confident of continued life; the thought of his life being ended at 33 years in the swift tragedy of Calvary impeaches the economy of the government of the world; character cannot thus vanish away into nothingness.

Easter is the great springtime festival of nature when tree and shrub and earth renew their life and show forth new beauty and power. Not the fragmentary theory of the reappearance of a broken and mutilated body—not altogether desirable if possible—but the springing forth of renewed life impelled by new motive and purpose, is the lesson of the context.

Christ Episcopal Church

The text of the sermon, given by Rev. Thomas Richey, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Sunday morning, was from St. Luke, 24:5, "Why seek ye Him that liveth among the dead? He is not here, He is risen." At this service the acolytes wore their new white linen vestments of albs, amicas and guilders for the first time, also the church choir had new cassocks and cottas. There was also a new sanctuary rug. In his sermon Rev. Mr. Richey spoke in part as follows:

Jesus Christ is risen today! Yes—our Lord not only conquered sin and death upon that first Easter day—he has conquered them for all time! This, our Saviour, whom we worship and glorify, is a living Saviour! He is no dead, departed shade, but an ever-present helper who gives His life unto His own—gives His life for the life of the world; just as truly now as He gave it for those first disciples. Jesus Lives! Jesus Lives!! Oh! if only you and I could understand the tremendous power, the glorious truth those two simple words contain and express! Jesus Lives!!

Why then do we find it so hard to live by faith? Is it not because six days of the week we are living in an unreal world on a world that is ever changing, but which is looked upon as changeless and enduring? The visible world is the only world most of us are sure of—the material life is the only life most of us are deeply concerned about. Compare how much we worry about these things and how little real thought we give to our spiritual life and our spiritual needs!!

Is not this an indication that instead of living by faith, by putting our trust in God, we are living simply for what we can get out of life and we put our trust in the possession and enjoyment of the world's goods?

Of all the lessons in life that we have to learn as we develop in wisdom and understanding, the lesson of faith is unquestionably the most difficult. But it is no more difficult for us than it was for the first disciples of Christ. Perhaps our difficulty lies in the fact that we forget who Jesus was—who He is!! For that reason our faith is uncertain, it's not because we don't believe in Him. It's because we find it hard to do so. Don't be discouraged, don't give up in despair. Remember one of the apostles, St. Thomas, also found it hard to believe in Jesus' resurrection.

CUBS CROSSED BROOK BY CLIMBING TREES

Because of the rainy weather and misunderstanding due to it only five cubs of the United Congregational church went on a hike with their cubmaster, Cecil Wetherbee, Saturday afternoon. Starting at about 3 o'clock the cubs hiked out to Leffingwell, cut down to the New London road, down through Sandy Desert, and went over to Fort Shantok. After looking over the grounds, hot dogs and marshmallows were toasted, and the return trip was made, the den arriving in the city about 8:00 p. m. One special feature of the hike was the crossing of a brook about 15 feet wide which blocked the path, by climbing up one tree and down another on the opposite side. The cubs attribute their luck in crossing, without accident, to the fact that Tom Gifford found a horseshoe just before the feat.

Forced Off Road

An automobile driven by John T. Harrington of 50 McKinley avenue went through a fence and down a bank on the Norwich and Westerly road Sunday when it was reported he was forced off the road by another machine.

FOUR EASTER MASSES AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

The three zealous and devoted priests of St. Patrick's parish had much to encourage and reward them, in the marvellous manifestation of faith on Easter, the pivotal feast of the Christian year. The day began with the customary low mass at 7:30, read by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May The brief but beautiful sermon brought out the thought that while the resurrection is a well authenticated, credible fact which stands out in the history of the world, it should be also the keystone of our own personal faith in Jesus Christ, since we are not alone commemorating an event but sharing an experience. Today and now Christ is gaining a victory for us over spiritual death, if we rise from sin.

Following the sermon nearly every person in the crowded church received holy communion from Monsignor May or Rev. Myles P. Galvin who assisted him, each communicant having prepared for this by confession the previous day or evening.

The same evidence of faith was shown at the mass for the Italian Catholics, offered at 8:15 by Rev. John J. Reilly, and again at 9 when Father Galvin read the children's mass. At 10:30 high mass was sung by Rev. Father Galvin, a congregation of good proportions being in attendance.

At 9 o'clock, the junior choir, which has the instruction of Sister M. Amata, sang very harmoniously, to the sympathetic accompaniment of the church organist, Henry J. LaFontaine. Their hymns were, Christ is Risen From the Dead, Queen of Heaven, Rejoice, Haec Dies—in which their young voices brought out the meaning of the Latin phrases surprisingly well—and Only a Veil. The soloists in the second hymn were seven nine-year old boys, Henry Ferry, Daniel and Fred Rinaldi, John Gebo, Charles Douville, James Perrone and Patrick Lamperelli. The solo portion in the third hymn was finely given by twelve-year old boys Philip Shannon, Paul Pounch, Michael Rinaldi, Joseph Perrone and Albert Demico. The children sang the high mass for the closing of the forty hours' devotion, also on Holy Thursday, as well as the mass of the pre-sanctified on Good Friday. They have worked very hard since Christmas trying to master the Latin words and their work Easter Sunday impressed and delighted the congregation.

The senior choir, at 10:30, sang in the main Van Bree's mass, under the inspiring direction of Henry J. LaFontaine. The soloists were Miss Sadie A. Driscoll, Miss Eulalie Allaire, Horace F. Corning, Roderick F. Sullivan, Mrs. Bernard C. Coyle, the members of the chorus being Mrs. Dominic Bailey, Mrs. J. B. Caron, Miss Josephine Sabourin, Mrs. George Roberts, Miss Blanche LaPre, Mrs. Leonard Desmond, Misses Mary O'Neill, Mary Lynch, Mildred Combies, Catherine Coleman, also H. O'Brien, Walter J. LaFontaine, J. Williams, L. Grover, P. Cote, Raymond Coyle, John Murphy, Matthew J. Sheridan, J. Kelly, William Shannon, J. K. Tingley, and A. Kirker. After Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament the solo in Divine Praises was sung by Henry J. LaFontaine, Miss Driscoll in Et Incarnatus, R. F. Sullivan in Et Spiritu sanctu, and Horace F. Corning in Agnus Dei did particularly fine work, while the chorus in Lambillotte's "Haec Dies" was especially effective in the staccato passages and finale.

The preacher at the high mass was Rev. Father Reilly, his text from the Easter day gospel, the dramatic episode sumoned up in the narration: Jesus said to her, "Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou?" She thinking it was the gardener said to Him, "Sir, if thou hast taken Him hence, tell me where thou hast laid Him and I will take Him away." Jesus said to her, "Mary." She turning, said to Him, "Rabboni" (which is to say "Master"). Even this eloquent and ardent young preacher never spoke with more thrilling effect, especially during his peroration: Something of a feeling of exultation should be in our hearts today. Today is the birthday of our church. It's good to be a Catholic, especially today. Catholic—there is music in that name, a thousand melodies whisper through its syllables. It is the name of him who believes the risen Christ is God. And our church stands quite alone in this. The world will catch up to us in a thousand years, I suppose. The world is always catching up with us. Away back in the dawn of Christianity our church recommended sacramental confession; the world has very lately agreed that it was good, though she calls it "psycho-analysis." Our church has always recommended temperance, and fasting: the world now recognizes it but calls it the "Hollywood diet." Our church has always had its saints; the world once burned these saints in effigy; the world now feebly imitates this, she glorifies a man, even if he plays a saxophone. It's good to be a Catholic for we believe that Christ is God and the world can't rob us of this faith. Put yourself in the place of Mary Magdalen. Mary Magdalen was one of us and she stood outside the tomb of Christ. Mary Magdalen was a sinner, but we are sinners, aren't we all? It's hard to stand and wait for anyone. It's hard to stand and wait for eternity, but it's harder to have none to wait for. Put yourself in the place of Mary; the risen Christ knows who you are, He knows your very name and whether it's Mary, James or John when Christ says "Mary," say back, "Rabboni," for "Rabboni" is the love of a Catholic heart for God.

The Altar society of the parish had adorned the sanctuary and three marble altars with palms, ferns, ascension lilies, white and pink carnations, roses, tulips, daffodils and hyacinths. At the gospel side of the main altar stood the paschal candle, blessed Saturday, and significant of the light which shone among the Gentiles. Following the fourth mass of the day, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Father Galvin.

Quinnipiac Trail Accepted

At a field meeting held Saturday in Bethany Gap, Arnold G. Dana accepted on behalf of the public, the Quinnipiac Trail which is the first completed portion of the trail system of the Connecticut Forest and Park association. Prof. Everett O. Waters, chairman of the New Haven section, made the presentation speech and handed to Mr. Dana a blue arrow similar to those used in marking the forest trail thus opening to the people of Connecticut the association's trail system.

Before and after lunch tramping parties were taken over samples of the route. About ten miles of the Quinnipiac Trail west and north from Mt. Carmel, have been completed and marked with spots of light blue paint. The series of cliffs of York Mountain, Mad Man's Hill and Mt. Sanford, give a succession of wide outlooks.

Fined For Evading Responsibility

The continued case of John Szerlong, 41, of 106 Prospect street, charged with drunken driving and evading responsibility, was called in the city court Saturday morning. A nolle was entered on the first count and he was fined $75 and costs on the other charge. Szerlong was arrested a week ago Sunday night by Constable Louis Paquette, after his machine was in collision with that of Albert Fournier of Baltic at Taftville.

$20,000 FIRE DAMAGE IN TAFTVILLE FIRE

An estimated damage of $20,000 was done in the fire of unknown origin at the store and home of Wilbur S. Baldwin at No. 225 Norwich avenue, Taftville, about 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The building is two and a half stories with the store being located on the ground floor. The Taftville and Norwich departments were called and responded.

FINED $100 ON RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

Found guilty on the charge of reckless driving Alphonse Pellerin, 30, of Willimantic, was fined $100 and costs in the city court Saturday morning. When Pellerin was first presented in court the case was continued to Saturday pending the recovery of Ernest and Viola Peltier, 18 and 20, respectively, who were struck and injured by a machine driven by Pellerin. The accident happened in Occum about a week ago.

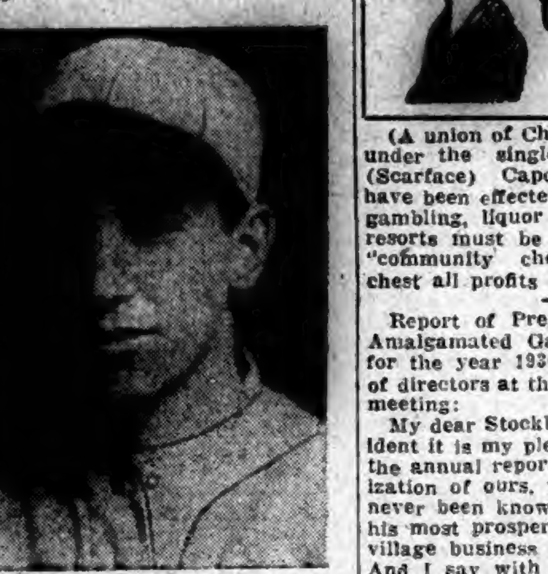
BOOTS GREENE BESTS DEEP RIVER IN BRILLIANT PITCHING EXHIBITION

A "boner" the bane of baseball, decided a sweet pitching duel in favor of "Boots" Greene, Academy righthander, Saturday afternoon at the campus and sent the mighty little Deep River high nine home on the short end of a 2 to 1 score after another brilliant battle that will rank among the best of the local season.

Greene and Hagen, Deep River southpaw, two boys who, without a doubt, will finish well among the leaders of the state high school pitchers, pitched such ball as is hardly seen in high schools or even small colleges through the entire tilt and but for a slight twist of fate in the third inning, they would be going yet, so evenly were they matched.



ARMAND (BUD) FONTAINE
Academy Catcher Who Hit Home Run Saturday

Two Home Runs

After a pair of homers, one by Bud Fontaine, Academy catcher in the second over the fence in left field and another by Swan, Deep River left fielder, over the fire escape in right center in the third, the Academy scored another in the last half of the latter inning which at the time didn't look so much but later turned out to be the margin of victory. And "Boots" Greene was one of the principals in the act, too. Here's the way it happened: Greene, the first batter took three cuts and apparently, fanned. However, Jadekie, the Deep River catcher, dropped the ball and neglected to touch "Boots" but, instead, threw to Hagen, the pitcher. Hagen realized that the out had not been completed so threw to first, only to throw a bit high and have Lamson, the first sacker, miss the ball. It rolled into the crowd. Meanwhile, Academy players and fans got after Greene to run and although the ball was returned from the crowd to the bag before Greene got there, it was ruled interference and he was given his base. Greene then stole second after being nearly caught off the bag, went to third on a fly to right by Arico and came in on another sacrifice hoist by Reardon, this to center. Gibbs singled, went to second on a wild pitch but Fontaine grounded to third and was out on a close play at first.

Aside from this one lapse, both clubs played brilliant baseball behind their pitchers to make this a game that one would go far to equal. Greene had an edge in the hit column, allowing but two against six off the servings of Hagen. Hagen fanned 13 and "Boots" 12 and "Boots" passed two and Hagen one.

Band Makes Good Showing

The game drew out a crowd of around 1,000, which no doubt was cut down considerably by the threatening weather. The new N. F. A. band made its first outdoor appearance a brilliant success, the nattily garbed student-musicians, receiving much applause from the assembled multitude.

Both teams went out in order in the first inning and Deep River put Lamson on base with two out in the second on a pass, only to be stranded when Mozzochi popped to Breen. Then came the run-producing innings described above.

Following this Deep River threatened but once and the Academy twice. The Deep River spasm came in the eighth but was subdued almost before it had gotten underway as Greene showed plenty of courage in extricating himself. After Mozzochi had fanned to start off, Watkinson hit to Breen who threw it away into the crowd back of first, placing the runner on second. Misslick, the ninth hitter, was passed putting men on first and second with only one out and the head of the order coming up. "Boots", however, recovered and fanned both Swan and Linder, the only boys to hit him safely all day.

Academy Has Chances

The Academy's other opportunities came in the fourth and seventh. With two out in the fourth, Mickey Breen got the second of three hits, a liner into center that went through Misslick and the Wildcat third-sacker made second. Berghinzo beat out a hit to short placing Breen on third and Berghinzo then stole second only to have Greene fan for the final out. In the seventh Breen led off with a one-baser, stole second but was out trying to steal third.

Breen was the leading hitter with three singles in three attempts, adding to his three out of four in the Alumni game. Bud Fontaine caught a beautiful game, making two nice catches of fouls in addition to holding up Greene in good fashion, while Chet Berghinzo made a nice catch in left field of Lindner's liner in the third and Reardon made a nice play on Lindner's grounder near second in the first to rob him of a hit.

Deep River, although rated one of the small schools in the state, put up a game worthy of any larger team and surely deserves much praise for its work.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

The games on the last three Saturdays now have been thrillers. First it was the Richmond team that fell, 6 to 5, ten innings, then the Alumni, 1 to 1 and now the doughty little Deep River team. More power to them.

Hank Morin and Johnny Murphy did the calling and, although the fans thought they missed one or two, on the whole they turned in a pretty good afternoon's work.

Chubby Gibbs played another nice game in the shortfield. He didn't ting standards butas it was he colting stnadards but as it was, he collected a single in four tries and a hot one through short, at that.

YANKS LOSE 4TH STRAIGHT BEING DOWNED BY SENATORS

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—The New York Yankees dropped their fourth straight game here this afternoon losing to the Senators 6-3. A two bagger and a triple by Goose Goslin featured the stick work of either club. Though the Yankees tied the count at three all in the eighth, the Senators came back with three runs in their half to win. Lloyd Brown went the distance for the Nationals, keeping the Yankees down to eight scattered hits.

Zachary, starting pitcher for New York, was treated roughly by Washington bats, and was retired for Sherid. He fared no better and Rhodes was called to finish the game.

ATHLETICS RALLY IN 7TH TO BEAT OUT RED SOX

BOSTON, April 20—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3 before 25,000 persons at Braves field, here today, coming from behind with a three run rally in the seventh inning which proved the deciding factor of the game. In this inning the Athletics bunched five of their ten hits off Danny MacFayden, who went the distance for Boston. While Simmons failed to fatten his unusually large early season home run record, his double in the first inning drove in one run and a sacrifice fly in the seventh added another. Score:

(A union of Chicago's warring gangs under the single leadership of Al (Scarface) Capone is understood to have been effected.*Al, income from gambling, liquor distribution and vice resorts must be paid into a common "community chest". * from this chest all profits will be paid.)

Report of President Capone of the Amalgamated Gangs of Chicago Inc., for the year 1930, made to the board of directors at the annual stockholders' meeting:

My dear Stockholders: As our president it is my pleasure to bring to you the annual report of this great organization of ours, the like of which has never been known in history. Nero in his most prosperous days was a mere village business man compared to us. And I say with pardonable pride, we are in big business now Furthermore ours is a growing business and competition is getting less keen as each month passes. But, my friends, we must be careful and not violate the Sherman anti-trust law for we do not court senate investigations, they are too lengthy and we cannot spare our officers for any length of time.

When we merged with the Moran gang last spring we showed excellent judgment as we have eliminated price cutting on the distribution of beer and the paying of large sums for protection. Today we control the field, the small fry has been forced into lines of honest business and our employes can walk the streets without fear of being put on the spot by a business rival.

Our resources are better than ever and are steadily growing. We have a good surplus and a dividend will be voted as soon as the treasurer makes his report. You will now hear that report.

Report of Treasurer Capone of the Amalgamated Gangs of Chicago, Inc.

My dear Stockholders: I have a very gratifying report to make, but first let me endorse every word that the previous speaker has told you. He has worked hard to put this great organization on a paying basis such it has never known before, and no person knows it better than I.

Last year when the amalgamation took place business was at a low ebb. Our revenue from gambling was very disappointing, a fact that could be traced to the stock market crash of 1929. Then there was the petty, tin-horn gamblers that were cutting into our business. These have been eliminated and through our advertizing campaign, the slogan of which, as you all know, was "Get Rich With Capone," the business began to pick up. The public began to have confidence in us, and we have prospered. Today there is no better gambling than that controlled by us.

The beer distribution department has also showed a gratifying return. Our broadcast by The Brewery Boys and their frequent mention of "Amalgamated Beer for Big Business Men" together with the theme song, 'How Dry I Am" did much to increase the business. Your directors are thinking of adopting the slogan of "An Amalgamated Beer Truck in Every Town" for next year.

The vice branch of the organization is our main problem at the present time and although the books show a profit the returns are somewhat disappointing. Your president and I attribute this to the fact that the market is flooded with vice of a much inferior quality to that which we deal in. The public must be educated to a superior brand of vice. We are contemplating launching an advertising campaign with some such slogan as "Vice That Vitalizes—Not Victimizes."

Gentlemen, everything considered, I think we are just at the threshold of a most gigantic business enterprise and I see a great future and great riches before us.

And now let us adjourn while the directors go into session to declare a dividend. Thank you.

BERGER'S HITTING ENABLES BRAVES TO WIN AGAIN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 20—(AP)—P. Walter Berger's hard hitting gave the Braves the deciding spark to make it two straight over Brooklyn this afternoon by the score of 7 to 2. His home run with the bases filled in the seventh climaxed a six run rally. Two errors by Walter Gilbert paved the way for Watson Clark's downfall in that frame.

Seibold went the route for Boston and kept Brooklyn's nine hits judiciously scattered. A capacity crowd of 30,000 witnessed the game. Score:

WILLIE ROSE, WHO BOXES BEAUREGARD, HAS A VERY IMPRESSIVE RECORD

Willie Rose of New York, who will be the opponent of Al Beauregard, New England bantamweight champion, on Wednesday night in the ten-round final on the Shyma club card, is quite some fighter if records mean anything. In fact, from the records it would appear that Rose is going to be just about the toughest boy that Beauregard has met during his career. Rose has piled up a very impressive string of victories in the metropolitan rings and comes to Taftville with the intention of taking Beauregard over the bumps.

The New Yorker has engaged in some 90 fights and has been stopped only once, that being because of a bad cut over his eye which bled so profusely that he was blinded. He is of the same type of fighter as Beauregard, who takes plenty of enjoyment in swapping punches with his opponent. Beauregard is of the slugging type and when Al boxes a clever defensive fighter neither boy looks so good. But when Beauregard meets a boy that will slug with him there is plenty of action

Rose includes in his list of victims such men as Benny Tell, Joey Ferrentino, Nick DeSalvo, Sammy Tish, Johnny Green, Billy Kelly and Frankie (Kid) Anslem. If Rose holds victories over these boys it is certain that he has the goods for all of them are rated high in the east. DeSalvo is a tough boy who is signed to meet Vacca in New Hampshire the same night that Rose appears here. Sammy Tish is one of the few boys who have stayed ten rounds with Kid Chocolate and given him anything like a battle. Frankie (Kid) Anslem only last month fought a draw with Midget Wolgast. From this it can be seen that Rose travels in fast company and should prove a very formidable opponent for Beauregard.

This bout looks even better than the Vacca-Beauregard bout, due to the fact that Rose dislikes to box and will carry the fight to the Taftville boy. Vacca boxed Beauregard but Rose won't, they will fight it out toe to toe.

ACADEMY HAS TWO GAMES AT HOME THIS WEEK

The Academy plays its first two league games of the season this week, both games being at the campus, Wednesday Stonington is the opponent and Saturday the Wildcats meet up with their most serious threat for the title in Chapman Tech of New London.

So far only one game has been played in the league, that in which Chapman Tech defeated Westerly, 8 to 4, last Wednesday. Saturday's two scheduled tilts, Bulkeley at Stonington and Windham at Chapman Tech were cancelled because of the weather.

In Stonington the Academy meets the only Eastern Connecticut high school to defeat them since 1927 while Chapman Tech, with the veteran, Capt. Fred Hewitt pitching, is supposed to be the team that the Red and White must beat to cop their sixth straight championship this spring. Stonington also has its captain, Godomsky to do the pitching.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 20—(AP)—John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., today won the men's singles title in the United North and South Tennis tournament, defeating Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., in the finals match, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3.

GIANTS AND ATHLETICS LOOK BEST IN MAJORS

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—A half dozen teams stand out more or less in the results of the rainy first week of the major league campaign. The Philadelphia Athletics in the American league and the New York Giants in the National went undefeated, each winning two games. But the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox pressed the Athletics hard for their honors, while the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals were not far behind the Giants.

Detroit and Boston, playing more games than their rivals, finished the opening week in second and third places in the American league standing and reversed these posts in regards to hitting and scoring. The Red Sox, mainly through their double victory over the New York Yankees yesterday, made 47 hits in their five games and scored 20 runs. The Tigers, in four games, made 35 hits good for 19 runs.

The Yankees showed a surprising reversal of form, finishing last all around. In losing three games, they scored but seven runs to 17 for their opponents, made only 19 hits and committed six errors, the highest total in either league. The Athletics, in two games, made the best all-around record, scoring 15 runs to two for their opponents.

The Cardinals romped away with hitting and scoring honors in the National league in the course of winning two games by big margins and losing three. They hit safely 61 times for 36 runs. The Pirates scored 25 runs on 60 hits to win four games and lose one, taking second place in the National league standing.

Home run hitting in both circuits stopped at three for any one team. Four American league clubs and two in the National got this number.

The Philadelphia Nationals compiled the most unique record of the week. Winning one game and losing another, they scored just three runs and made ten hits, the lowest number of either in the records. They also were the only errorless team and they likewise held their opponents to the same small run total of three.

TILDEN ADDS TWO MORE TITLES TO HIS ARRAY

BEAULIEU, France, April 20.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden added two more Riviera tennis championships to his already long collection today.

With Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian now living in England, Tilden won the mixed doubles title, defeating Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., and Wilbur Coen of Kansas City, 6-1, 6-3. In the men's doubles, Tilden and Coen defeated Lesieur and Magaloff of France, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

In the women's doubles, Miss Ryan and Miss Jacobs defeated Mrs. Satterthwaite of England, and Mlle. Sigari of Belgium, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Coen announced that he would not be able to play against Tilden in the singles finals tomorrow because of a leg injury.

MIDWEST TAKES LEAD IN BOXING THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—While circus clowns continue to hold sway at Madison Square Garden this week, and other boxing centers in the east experience a lull in fistic attractions, the middle west takes over the task of tickling the palates of those who pay the freight.

New York, with its array of small fight clubs, offers not one bout of general interest this week; the Philadelphia arena will be dark, and Boston's sole contribution to the programme is the inauguration of a diamond belt pro tourney at the Boston Garden on Wednesday night when 15 four round bouts will be on the schedule.

Kansas City and Chicago step into the breach, however, with first rate offerings tomorrow night. Kansas City offers a ten rounder between Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, and Meyer Grace, Philadelphia. Fields' title will not be at stake.

At Chicago, Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight king, takes on Bud Taylor, veteran Terre Haute, Ind., featherweight over the ten round route.

Primo Carnera takes on another easy one at Portland, Ore., Tuesday night, meeting one Sam Baker of Los Angeles.

Other bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At St. Louis, King Tut, Minneapolis, vs Pinky Kaufman, New York lightweights, My Sullivan, St Paul, vs Jackie Horner, St. Louis middleweights, 10 and John Schwake St. Louis, vs Eugenie Chevriere, Peru heavyweights, 5; At Dayton, O., Mike Dundee, Rock Island, vs Augie Pisano, New York, lightweights, 10.

Tuesday—At Dayton, Gorilla Jones Akron, vs Roy Williams, Chicago, welterweights, 10; at Cleveland, Billy Wallace, Philadelphia, vs Joey Goodman, Cleveland, lightweights, 10.

Wednesday—At Oakland, Calif., Joe Roche, vs Jack McVey, New York Negro, middleweights 10; at Cincinnati Izzy Schwartz, New York, vs Harry Fierre, Chicago, flyweights, 10.

From Mann to Man

Every school boy and girl who has arrived at the age of reflection ought to know something about the history of the art of printing. —Horace Mann.

ELBERT HUBBARD was so impressed by the above words of Horace Mann, the great statesman and educator, that he pasted them in his scrap book and Hubbard put nothing into that book except the things that he considered very much worth consideration.

It is amazing how few people know anything at all about the history of the art of printing and less than nothing about printing itself.

Any good encyclopedia will give you a concise history of the art of printing, but we can demonstrate the art itself. If you have printing to be done, let us show you.

'NIP AND TUCK' DANCE FROCKS WIN FAVOR OF DEBS IN EUROPE

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—It's nip and tuck with the chiffon dance dresses continental debutantes are buying in the southland, according to reports which come back to the base of supply.

The nip takes the form of self material belts which outline but do not accentuate the natural waistline.

The tucks are straight up and down and multiple, confining fulness of chiffon from the shoulders to the knees and permitting it to flare from the knees to the tips of the toes.

A great deal of fulness can be disguised by closely spaced vertical tucks. Sometimes the tuck is inverted, with the ridge on the wrong side of the dress.

Deep pleats, with the fulness cut out on the under side of the fitted portions of the dress, are also used like small vertical pleats.

Courturiers of the exclusive style houses call these nip and tuck dresses "Greek" and sell them in quantities to the very young and very slender.

Belts of crystal, strung on elastic, with matching crystal necklaces and bracelets accompany some of the youthful Grecian line dresses. The majority, however, are notable for the complete absence of trimming or ornamentation in any form.

Youth has taken a sudden fancy for Grecian dance dresses in navy or midnight blue chiffon, according to reports. All-white is also in great demand and pale pink, blue and bright off shades of green are in high favor.

Luncheon

Relish Sandwiches Hot Chocolate
Date Cookies Pear Sauce

Dinner

Roast Beef en Casserole
Bread Plum Jelly
Cabbage Salad
Rhubarb Roll Coffee

Relish Filling for 8 Sandwiches

One hard cooked egg diced, 1-4 cup chopped sweet pickles, 1-4 cup chopped pimento, stuffed olives, 1-4 cup diced celery, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 cup mayonnaise.

Mix ingredients and spread on buttered slices of white bread. Arrange sandwich fashion and cut off crusts.

Roast Beef En Casserole
(Using leftovers)

One and one-half cups diced cooked roast beef, 1 cup diced leftover potatoes, 1 cup cooked peas, 1-2 cup cooked diced carrots, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions, 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 1 cup gravy, 2-3 cup milk.

Mix ingredients; place in buttered casserole. Cover, bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Remove cover and bake five minutes in hot oven.

Rhubarb Roll

Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons lard, 2-3 cup milk, 2 tablespoons soft butter, 2 cups finely diced rhubarb, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg.

Mix flour, baking powder, salt. Cut in lard with knife. Add milk slowly until soft dough forms. Pat out on floured paper until dough is 1-2 inch thick. Spread with butter. Cover with rhubarb and sprinkle with sugar, nutmeg. Roll up; pinch ends tightly. Bake 20 minutes on greased baking sheet. Serve warm in slices.

Chopped cooked leftover meat, fish or fowl, mixed with salad dressing and seasoning makes a good filling for hard cooked egg cases.

HOME ACCIDENT SURVEY BEGUN BY CLUB WOMEN

RALEIGH, N. C., April 20—(AP)—Club women of the country will cooperate with the bureau of standards in trying to reduce the annual number of accidents in the home.

The bureau, which has aided industry for years in lessening its accident toll, has notified Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, that it will gladly aid the home makers of the land in reducing the causes of home accidents.

Mrs. Sippel has asked the club women of North Carolina to conduct a preliminary survey, each woman reporting the injuries from accidents in her home for a month. The information will be turned over to the bureau of standards to serve as a basis in determining how best to reduce such mishaps.

CHINESE TRADITION BROKEN BY WOMEN IN BUSINESS

TSINGTAO, China, April 20—(AP)—The women of China are making the most of Nanking's decree declaring them the equal of men.

More than 70 women candidates for appointment to various staff vacancies in the offices of the Tsingtao to Tsinanfu railway sat for examination here recently and half of them passed, thereby establishing a precedent in China.

The occasion marked the first time in history when a large group of Chinese women have endeavored to obtain executive positions. Railway officials have expressed the opinion that the successful candidates will become useful staff members.

Modernistic Jewels

This modernistic shoulder pin represents two birds in flight, as Paris sees them.

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Paris jewelers are following the trail of modern art.

Angles, simplified planes and unfamiliar arrangements of color, once heard discussed only in art galleries, are now chit chat in rue de la Paix shops with jewelry looking like illustrations from a geometry book.

One of the new brooches is a diamond shoulder pin that is a modernistic representation of two birds in flight represented by faceted and baquette stones. Heads of the birds are made of two half-disc cuttings of emerald.

Pins of this type, the shop owners argue, harmonize well with 1930 styles and are less tiring than conventional designs.

DEBUTANTES PLAN BALLS SIX MONTHS IN ADVANCE

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—With a great-grand-daughter of former President Grant and the daughter of a cabinet member in their ranks, next season's debutantes are planning their coming-out parties.

Clara Grant, daughter of Col. and Mrs. U. S. Grant, III, and Caroline Hyde, daughter of the secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, are among the girls who will be presented to Washington society.

Some of the girls are planning double debuts, one in Washington and one in their home city.

Two Baltimore girls, Louise Brooks and Audrey Barret, are to be presented there and in the capital.

Others among next season's debs are Katrina McCormick, daughter of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick; Martha Garber, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Milton C. Garber of Oklahoma; Mary Corning, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning of New York; Eleanor Calvert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Calvert of Washington, and Beatrice Cotton, daughter of Major and Mrs. George S. Cotton.

PROBE OF UNEMPLOYMENT ON WOMEN VOTERS' SLATE

LOUISVILLE, April 20—(AP)—Because of the present unemployment situation the subject of "stabilising unemployment" will be given a prominent place on the program of the convention of the League of Women Voters here April 28-May 3.

The league's "women in industry" committee has made a special study of this phase of social life since 1923 Miss Avis Ring Ninabuck of Chicago is chairman.

The convention will hear Dr. William Leiserson, professor of economics at Antioch college, considered an expert on unemployment.

AERONAUTICAL PRIZE WON BY YOUNG ENGLISH WOMAN

LONDON, April 20—(AP)—A young woman on the technical staff of the British airship works at Cardington has been awarded the R38 Memorial prize by the Royal Aeronautical society for a paper on "The Strength of Transverse Frames of Rigid Airships."

Hilda M. Lyon, who is devoting her career to the mechanics of aeronautics, has been working in the government offices at Cardington for five years, and made her first flight in November when she went up in the R101 during its earlier trails.

WOMEN PLAN FROLICS FOR BIG CONVENTIONS

LOUISVILLE, April 20—(AP)—Fun and frolic instead of so much serious discussion will hold sway at two big conventions of women's organizations.

The League of Women Voters will make their Louisville convention, April 28 to May 3, a regular jubilee in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the granting of woman's suffrage. A big event will be the "birthday party" on the night of May 2. There will be many other social affairs.

HOT TEMPER DENIED BY TEXAS REDHEADS

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 20—(AP)—Redheaded persons have no more temper than blondes or brunettes if you take the word of "sorrel-topped" students at Texas Christian university.

"We're proud of our red hair," they said in a recent survey made by the student paper, "but we resent the widespread belief that we are more hot tempered than other persons."

"If there is anything at all to this idea of temper and red hair, it is because people overtax the patience of those who are redheaded and make them fussy and quick-tempered," said one of the students.

DANCING DEBUTANTES LIKE RASPBERRY RED

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Raspberry red chiffon dance dresses have been taken up by dancing debutantes here. The word raspberry has lost its sting.

Newer than green, the newcomer among reds is one of the first four choices for evening ensembles.

They rank in their order of importance, according to leading dressmakers, as white, black, green and red.

MRS. GANN FAVORS BLACK LACE GOWN

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Mrs. Edward Everett Gann is wearing a new black lace dinner gown with close-fitting waist and flared skirt.

With it she wears a pearl necklace with emerald pendant and emerald ear-rings to match.

Chic Shirt Waist

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Tailored blouses with butterfly bow ties cut in one with the turnover collar are the last version of the shirt waist.

The bow is a rudimentary affair without loops.

Paris prefers these masculine looking shirts in fine cotton pique. They are also turned out, however, in cravat silk and shantung.

Chinese Quality Mark

HANGCHOW, China, April 20—(AP)—When a Chinese housewife purchases a pair of scissors or a carving knife, she usually looks for the stamp, "Chang Siao Chuan." Although used by a hundred different makers of cutlery in all parts of China, the name "Chang Siao Chuan" is supposed to signify good workmanship.

Italian Educator Honored

ROME, April 20—(AP)—Dr. Maria Montessori, originator of the "Montessori method" of educating children, recently was officially authorized by the Italian Chamber of Deputies to make Italy the international center for teaching her theories.

Small Bouquet Waistline

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—A small bouquet of artificial flowers to mark the normal waistline is used for evening wear by many Washington women. It is worn at the left side.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Baked spinach, flavored with onion juice and grated cheese is fine.

A good souffle may be made with a small portion of stewed apples.

To remove stains from a discolored aluminum sauce pan, cook tomatoes or applesauce in it.

The kernels of apricot seeds give a delicious flavor when used as nuts in candy, cake and cookies.

A strong solution of borax and water boiled in the coffee pot occasionally will keep it sweet.

Keep rubber bands in a tightly closed box and they will retain their elasticity much longer than if exposed to the air.

When preparing for a journey, dip the top of the medicine bottle in paraffin before putting it in the bag. This may avoid ruining a pretty frock.

One teaspoon of cornstarch added to each cup of sugar used in making fudge will make it smooth and creamy with little beating.

To sweeten milk which is beginning to turn, add enough carbonate of soda to cover a dime for each pint and boil. The milk will then be quite sweet and will keep.

When making a stew, place a glass pie plate over the top of the kettle. The stew may then be watched while cooking without lifting the cover or allowing steam to escape.

When making bread and butter pudding, sprinkle each slice of bread and butter with dessicated cocoanut instead of currants, and strew some on the top. This will make a change from the ordinary pudding and will be found very tasty.

Did you ever try cooking prunes in a casserole in the oven? Soak the prunes over night in the casserole, lay slices of lemon on top, sweeten to taste and bake in the water in which they have been soaked in a moderate oven until tender.

KITCHEN REVOLUTION

Spring is the time of year to resolutely throw out all pots and pans that are dented, cracked, burned and chipped. Buy yourself a new lot of up-to-date, pretty kitchen equipment. It will not break the house and it will cheer up your kitchen work immensely.

PINK LINEN

Some of the newest table linen is pink. It makes a delightful color scheme for luncheons or breakfast and is worth a little investment.

CHICKEN GARNISH

Fresh tomatoes, peeled and quartered, alternated with quartered slices of pineapple, make an attractive and appetizing garnish for chicken.

GREASE SPOTS

Don't wash grease spots on linoleum or wood floors with hot water as this sets grease. Wash with soap powder and cold water until the grease comes out.

PREVENT BURN

If you put a little pan of water into the oven when you bake fruit cake or pie that has to bake a long time, it will keep the food from burning and from getting too hard around the edges.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A hot bath lasting just a few minutes or a hot footbath is found restful when one is tired, but the tepid bath is the most restful of all because of the nervous relaxation induced.

When blackheads appear the face should be scrubbed with soap and warm water. A complexion brush may be used for the purpose. Rinse in warm, then cold water.

Drink water while reducing. It is of great value, as it dissolves and carries out of the body the large amount of broken-down material resulting from diet and exercise. It helps regulate proper functioning of the kidneys and digestive apparatus.

Practice deep breathing habitually. It tones up relaxed nerves and muscles, gives better circulation and quickens all the functions. Deep breathing expands the chest. Flat-chested persons do not breathe properly.

TEA

Tea leaves that have steeped for less than five minutes do not release the full flavor of the tea, and when these leaves are thrown away the flavor is thrown away with them. It requires at least five minutes for the tea leaves to fully expand and thereby release the essential oils which give tea its delightful fragrance. Housewives are assured a real tea flavor.

NEW MANICURE SET

A manicure set de luxe is made by a famous perfumer and consists of an oblong of a composition resembling tortoise in which fit bottles of cuticle oil, bottles of orange wood sticks, cotton, etc. This tortoise shell can be lifted out of the box and kept upon the dressing table if desired.

PINKISH PEARLS ARE THE LATEST

Pearls remain steadfast in the mode, yet this season one sees very few of the suntan ones. Creamy pearls and those with a very faint pink tint are by far the smartest, lending as they do the requisite accenting note of white or pink. A clever use of bronzed pearls was seen in the matching of this color with the golden leather trimmed cuffs of gauntlet suede gloves. Many afternoon gloves being of a rosy cast, pinkish pearls further this appealing color note.

JADE GREEN

Just large enough to tuck away in one's hand bag is a delightful little jade green bottle filled with perfume.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Mid-season hats show smart combinations of felt and straw or tricot.

Some of the most adorable party frocks for young girls are made of net this season.

After so many years of pink and peach lingerie, it is pleasant to see silk lingerie in a delicate shade of blue.

A Paris turban and scarf ensemble is made of light blue linen, polka dotted in white, and trimmed with navy blue jersey.

In evening dress the big black bow is anything but inconspicuous, its position varying but its size remaining among the large things of life.

Tweed bags to carry with the tweed suit are both sensible and smart. The shapes are good and the tweed varied enough to suit almost every taste.

A black flat crepe frock, made with an intricately cut molded bodice and tight hipline, has all of its seams made to show the tiniest line of spring green. The yoke and deep cuffs are of green.

Charmingly simple is a suit consisting of a skirt with a few inverted pleats in the front, a cream colored satin blouse, and a short cape, which reaches to the waist. The color is a becoming shade of deep blue.

LEATHER FOURSOME

Paris sends a little ensemble made of checked gray-blue and white supple leather that includes a pouch purse, eight-button length gloves, a tie-scarf and a flared back-from-the-face hat.

BOTTLE GREEN IS POPULAR SHADE

Bottle-green still remains a good shade, among the deeper tones, for spring. It finds its greatest use in street dresses or suits, and when worn with a bit of orange costume jewelry it becomes very striking. Too much orange naturally makes it too striking, but a little seems to enrich the green to a remarkable extent.

POPULAR COCKTAIL JACKET

One of the few styles too practical and pretty to be tossed into the discard is the cocktail jacket. As every woman knows, you must not have sleeves with a formal party dress; yet, on the other hand, many women haven't the arms for sleeveless frocks. The cocktail jacket, of chiffon, lace, or georgette, adds charm to the arm that is beautiful and gives charm to that which is not. Cocktail jackets, which began as waist-length garments, often are longer and roomier today than the original models, reaching sometimes to the knees.

LAUNDRY HINTS

With the Bishop sleeve and other fancy sleeves coming in again, the purchase of a tiny sleeve board is money well spent.

To launder a silk blouse, roll it up in a bath towel after rinsing and iron before it dries out. This makes it look like new.

A good method for removing scorch stains is to rub the stains at once with dry starch and then sponge off. Repeat the operation if necessary.

Instead of buying several blankets, purchase one large blanket and cut it into four parts. Each part will make a nice sized baby blanket. The edges can be bound with ribbon.

PICTURE ARRANGEMENT

It is considered smart wall decoration now to arrange four small pictures alongside each other over a table or desk. Frame them in very narrow frames, perhaps using the lacquer red or Nile green of your color scheme. Little etchings from abroad are good used this way.

SPRING TOUCH

Spring is the time to color up your kitchen colorfully. If you do not want to paint your pantry shelves and your table and chairs, you can at least hang up colorful cool curtains. And there are colored oilcloth shelf papers that add a bright note.

ATTRACTIVE LAMPS

Stunning lamps that fit in with the panelled room of eighteenth inspiration, are old brass or copper jars wired for electricity and shaded by large parchment shades through which the light comes with a mellow glow.

SO INFORMAL!

Nothing could be more charmingly informal for wear with the spring suit than a blouse with very short sleeves made of dotted swiss and trimmed with tiny ruffles of the same material. Another equally feminine blouse is of batiste in white, maize or orchid.

THE SERIOUS GIRL'S ROOM

In the room planned for the more serious girl who loves books, the walls are painted a pale green which sets off the mahogany furniture perfectly. The impression of severity which plain painted walls might give has been overcome by a two-inch rose garland border of wall paper carried around the molding and the door frames. The curtains are made of pink cotton voile, with a two-inch band of green voile hemstitched to the front and bottom. They hang very full. The window-nook is filled with a broad-cushioned seat which makes an inviting place for reading and studying. The floor is covered with a woven wool rag rug in a green, rose, and black hit-or-miss pattern. On the bed is a voile spread, which matches the curtains; but a candlewick spread with pink or green tufts, or a patchwork quilt in harmonious colors would be equally effective. Other interesting features of such a room are the dressing table, really a small old-fashioned stand with drop leaves; the long mirror at the foot of the bed and the built-in bookcases.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Women are denied ordination as pastors or election as elders in the Presbyterian churches in Philadelphia.

The Girls' Service League in New York city assisted 6,135 girls, mostly between the ages of 15 and 18, who were unemployed, homeless, ill, and stranded in 1929.

At least 75 per cent of the rag-pickers in Paris, France, are women. They are often controlled by a "boss," usually a woman who has herself grown rich from the rakings of ash-cans and has established a monopoly.

Despite all the handicaps in the form of tradition and prejudice which confront them, there are today 6,000,000 more women gainfully employed in Germany than there were 20 years ago, while the increase in the number of men employed has been only 4,000,000.

NOVELTY CLOTHES-BRUSH

A clothes-brush with a touch of originality has a long handle painted in blue, rose, etc., with touches of gilt.

READY FOR SUMMER

A huge watering can of brass is sure to delight the heart of the garden lover, for it is large enough to water any number of plants.

FURS

Furs should never be hung out in the sun in the spring before putting them away for the season. The moth miller is apt to visit them while thus exposed.

LINGERIE TOUCHES

Most of the new imported clothes have lingerie collars and cuffs. Pique is still a favorite, with batiste not far behind.

JUST BETWEEN

The nicest handkerchief of all are of sheer linen in pastel shades which come in a size that is larger than the average woman's handkerchief and smaller than that of a man

RECIPES

Hot vegetable loaf: Run some cold boiled potatoes through a meat chopper, also some cooked carrots and beets in any liked proportion. Add a few cooked peas, string beans, or small shell beans. Season with salt, pepper, paprika and celery salt, and moisten with milk or thin gravy or both. Add a tablespoonful or two of melted butter and pack into a well buttered bread pan or other mold and bake in a good oven until a brown crust is formed all over. Tip out carefully onto a hot serving dish, surround with a ring of sliced beets, or hot hard-boiled eggs, or simply garnish with parsley.

Rich applesauce cake: Cream together one cupful of sugar and half a cupful of shortening and add one-fourth cupful of unsweetened apple sauce into which two teaspoonfuls of baking soda have been beaten. Then add two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with one and one-fourth teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a teaspoonful each of nutmeg and cloves, reserving a little to dust over half a cupful of seedless raisins and half a cupful of chopped walnut meats, which should be added last. Beat well and turn into a well greased pan, baking for about 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Ice with a butter icing made by blending one-fourth cupful of butter with one cupful of powdered sugar, one tablespoonful of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla.

Name Woman For Honor Roll.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, founder of the Washington College of Law, has been nominated by the District of Columbia branch of the League of Woman Voters for the national roll of honor soon to be established as a memorial to noted woman.

D. A. R. Has Rome Chapter

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—A chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution has been organized in Rome, Italy.

"WELCOME" EXPRESSED IN ENTRANCE HALLS

Dignity With out Ostentation

By ELSIE DREW KENNEDY

We no longer write welcome on the mat.

We express it in our entrance halls in such a way that the guest will feel at once the warmth of our hospitality.

A woman's home is her castle.

The stranger at her gates must know the spirit that resides within.

If it be friendly, there is no need for a "Welcome" inscription—for the first step within the portals will tell him that he is not a stranger, but a friend.

In planning your home, take into consideration the first impression that is going to be made on anyone entering it. Let your entrance hall be as cordial as the living-room. There is as much need for a good comfortable chair, a table, a lamp and knick-knacks in the entrance hall as in the rooms beyond. "Livableness" should begin at your front door.

Provincial French furniture of the 18th century fits particularly well into the spirit of the 20th century hospitality. There is about it the qualities of the fine old provincial French families who first used it—people who possessed the vigor and shrewdness of the French peasant and the amiable qualities of the French gentlemen, his delicacy and nicety of feeling in the matters of art and living.

Of course, most of us cannot have authentic antique pieces, but we can do what the people of the 18th century did. These folk of the provinces, although eager to have the fine things of the Parisians, could not quite bring themselves to buy the costly tapestries and bric-a-brac of the times. Instead, they had them faithfully copied. This same thing is happening now. In our American homes the precious pieces from older times are usually a little out of place. A copy is more suitable to the combination of formality and simplicity which we affect.

The entrance hall in the sketch shows a stairway with a gracious upward sweep, with a railing of wrought iron that at once suggests dignity without ostentation. The Louis XV provincial table of fruitwood finds a niche for itself in the bend of the stairway, and on it are placed the little personal belongings that make the entrance hall something more than an entrance hall. The chair is surely an invitation for the caller to sit down and stay awhile, and the lamp completes the restful grouping and sheds a soft light that says "Welcome" as surely and much more graciously than could any mat

Guiding Your Child

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Checking on Yourself

If there is one thing that people who deal with children in a professional way have come to realize, it is how often parents fall short of their own standards in handling their children.

Doctors and teachers are always listening to stories of children who will not eat what is set before them, who will not go to sleep on time, who persist in temper tantrums and misconduct of all sorts.

To these parents they give hours of excellent advice. Often they tell them things which the parents have long known and which they declare they have faithfully tried and found unsuccessful. And right there is the hitch. A mother may honestly think, for instance, she has conscientiously observed her child's nap hour when in reality she has slipped upon it three days out of seven.

It is a rare mother who admits to herself or even realizes at all how often she fails to do the thing which she knows to be wise and consistent. There is, however, one very good way in which the mother may check up on herself, and that is to keep a written record of what she actually does each day in relation to any particular problem. Such a record need not be elaborate.

If for example the problem is one of getting the child to bed on time, it is only necessary to put down each day the exact time when the child was actually put to bed.

A record conscientiously kept brings us face to face with our own delinquencies and often helps to show us where the difficulty lies.

Until we have done our part, we can scarcely expect the child to do his.

HOOVERS ENJOY CHILDREN AS WHITE HOUSE GUESTS

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Children are frequent visitors at the white house.

Both the president and Mrs. Hoover are fond of them and while their own grandchildren have not yet visited them, they often invite children of relatives or near friends.

Sometimes there are special children's parties. Again the little ones are invited to come with their mothers. On such occasions they are seated at a small table in a corner of the family dining room and served by a butler.

Little Margaret Ellen Hoover, aged 2, and her sister, Charlotte Anne, aged 6, of Fairfield, Iowa, were recent guests. They are the granddaughters of a cousin of Mr. Hoover—George Hoover, a Washington attorney.

Paris Belt Minded In Suede Leather

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Record sales of belts are reported here. Not only dresses but coats are generally belted in new styles.

Suede is the favorite fabric. Next comes polished leather from one to three inches wide.

Sport belts have buckles of wood, self-cover or metal. Strasse buckles are preferred for afternoon and evening.

Washington Likes Its Shoes Green

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Two-toned green shoes are gaining favor as spring advances. Of medium heel, with eyelet holes punched in the toes, they are suitable either for street wear or sports. Bronze kid slippers, worn in the evening, are ornamented with small bows of bronze metal.

Establish George Sand Prize.

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Mrs. Aurore Sand, granddaughter of the novelist, George Sand, has established an annual prize of $400 in conjunction with the Friends of George Sand society for annual recognition of the work by a woman novelist which best approximates in spirit and workmanship the romantic novels of 100 years ago.

Gay Marocain Suits

PARIS, April 20—(AP)—Printed marocain coat-dresses and suits for summer promise to be newer and smarter than the crepe de chine prints of other seasons.

Marocain costumes in black, white and chartreuse, beige brown and cherry red, green and yellow and green and white are particularly smart.

Youth Rules Cape

Capes have a youthful tendency this spring, and usually are to be found with the coat suit.

GIRL OFF TO X-RAY FISH IN TROPICAL OCEAN DEPTHS

Gloria Hollister, attractive girl scientist, who will photograph fish in ocean's depths for Beebe expedition off Bermuda.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Gloria Hollister, 22-year-old brown-eyed blonde, is making another trip to Bermuda to photograph fish in the depths of the tropical ocean.

At a time when other girls were planning spring wardrobes Miss Hollister was absent-mindedly stuffing shorts and shirts into her traveling bag.

A diver's helmet is her Easter hat. She is the only permanent woman member on the staff of Dr. William Beebe, famous scientist-explorer.

She is accompanying him on the 12th oceanographic expedition of the department of tropical research of the New York Zoological society.

Miss Hollister won the commendation of the eminent scientist by developing a method of taking X-ray photographs of fish. The scales and body are made invisible and the skeleton is stained scarlet.

Even as a little girl Miss Hollister did not care for dolls. She preferred to dissect frogs. Later she became interested in raising poultry. In preparatory school she specialized in biology and after graduation entered the School of Pure Science at Columbia university.

She first became associated with the New York Zoological society as technical assistant in the tropical research department.

Her father is a New York physician. She often accompanies him on big game hunts to Wyoming and British Columbia. When not shooting game or photographing fish she lives in New York.

The winter use of automobiles is increasing and their summer use is decreasing, a recent study made by A. N. Johnson, dean of Maryland State college, shows. Johnson's figures on traffic density for two periods practically ten years apart were taken in Maryland, and it is regarded as safe to assume that conditions over the country have experienced a similar change. A summer peak of 160 per cent. normal traffic for 1917-1920 has fallen to 125 per cent normal for 1926-1928 and winter travel of less than 50 per cent has increased to about 70 per cent normal.

POETRY

The Living Hope

1 Peter, 1:3-5

Blessed be God, our Father,
And blessed be His Son,
That through their wondrous mercy
Eternal life is won.

Not in the midst of darkness
As blind men do we grope.
In Jesus' resurrection
We have a living hope.

A heritage awaits us
That never knows decay,
That cannot be corrupted,
That ne'er can fade away.

There are the many mansions,
There Jesus doth abide.
Within their ample shelter
We shall be satisfied.

—By Lewis W. Hicks

The New Planet

A planet new! Minerva to be named?
Predicted but unseen till now revealed
To human eye! No longer is concealed
Your playful magic on old Neptune famed;
A welcome, wandered, so long unclaimed,
Move with your sister planets round the sun.
With modesty accept the homage won
And to the finder guerdon be acclaimed;
Companions have you far beyond compare.
Fragment of star-dust grown to splendid hue.
Obedient to Him who rules your course;
Teach us the way to paths that are more fair,
Teach us the mystery well known to you
Since we claim, too, our life from that same source.

—Arvilla Harrison Cheyne, in Boston Transcript.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"I am not thin-skinned. I'm the first to laugh at my own foolishness."
"What a merry life you must lead!"
—U. P. Magazine.

Hubby—If I can't return for dinner tonight I'll send you a note.
Wife—Oh, you won't need to bother. I've already found that note in your coat pocket.

The Counselor—You've been indicted for attempted manslaughter.
The Prisoner—That oughta be easy to defend, 'cause it wasn't man but a dame that I beat up.

"You've saved my life and I'd give you ten shillings, but, unfortunately, I have only a pound note."
"Never mind—jump in the river again." —Friegende Blaetter.

Nice Kid (at his first circus—Oooo, there's an elephant.
Newsy—N' elephant, that's all you know! Ain't I seen them things in the papers every day wid GOP right on 'em. I tell ya, it's a gop.

Bettie (just home from a holiday in Egypt)—And, Auntie, it was so interesting; the tombs and pyramids and things were all covered with hieroglyphs!
Aunt Louisa—Oh, dear! I hope you didn't get any on you, child.
—Everybody's Weekly.

A colored boy was strolling through a cemetery reading the inscription on the tombstones. He came to one which read, "Not dead, but sleeping." Scratching his head, the Negro remarked "He sure ain't foolin' nobody but hisself." —Right Way.

A teacher sent a small girl for six pennyworth of plums, telling her to be sure to pinch one or two to see if they were ripe.
The child returned and said: "'Ere, teacher, 'ere's your sixpence. The man wasn't lookin', so I pinched the lot."
—Tit-Bits.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Voices of crooning ranchers gathered around campfires on the desert's edge—scenes of pasturelands with thousands of cattle—Indians in gay blankets and feathers, Spanish beauties, rose-covered haciendas, coud formations, trees, shimmering waters, all reproduced in exquisite color and sound—these are among the features of "Under a Texas Moon," now playing at the Palace theatre.

"Under a Texas Moon," is Warner Brothers' and Vitaphone's first 100 per cent. talking, singing, outdoor picture in technicolor. Frank Fay as Don Carlos, heads a long cast of notable stars, among whom are: Amida, Myrna Loy, Raquel Torres, Noah Beery, Mona Maris, Betty Boyd, Tully Marshall, Charles Sellon, Georgie Stone, George Cooper, Fred Kohler, and Jack Curtis.

Whimsical, swaggering, hard-riding is Don Carlos, wandering love-maker. Always on the alert for beautiful girls, he woos, wins and departs, leaving a trail of broken hearts as his only token. Hired by Jed Parker to restore stolen cattle and if possible capture the thief, Don Carlos and his two confederates arrive at the Lazy Y ranch. Immediately Carlos falls in love with two sisters, Dolores and Raquella. He pledges his heart to each and departs for the desert. But there are too many lovely senoritas and soon he forgets about the cattle and were it not for his two peons they might never have been recovered.

In his love-making Carlos angers many men and when he tires of his adventures he returns to the ranch to find that they have gathered to punish him. But he is no ordinary person and soon he vanquishes his enemies, takes the reward for his henchmen's work and is on his way.

"Under a Texas Moon" will be shown at the Palace for the last time on Tuesday. Beginning Wednesday and continuing through Friday a new double feature bill combining "Officer O'Brien," a thrilling and amazing underworld drama starring Ernest Torrence and Dorothy Sebastian with "Notorious Affair," will be shown.

Wednesday night will be ladies' award night instead of Monday night. Jade green boudoir sets will be given away each Wednesday night.

Chintz Cottage At Norwich Town.

Under the auspices of Norwich grange Chinz Cottage, a three act comedy, written by Beulah King, will be presented at Grange hall, tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at 8. This is an unusual evening's entertainment and well worth seeing. Following is the cast:

Minty, a charmingly attractive girl of 20, played by Mrs. William Wyman and bored with society, comes from the city to rusticate in the remote village of Meadowbank. She brings with her a maid, which part is played by Mrs. Louis Allen and settles down for a stay of peace and quiet. Then the lid blows off and one exciting event falls on another to start the climax. Minty does not rest but gets a change and incidentally falls heir to a husband. Then there is Minty's aunt, Miss Tillington, played by Miss Bly Patridge, "a boss" with a matrimonial eye on Mr. Kent. The part of Mr. Kent is played by William Spencer, well known local contractor, Peter, played by George Phillips, is the innocent cause of most of the trouble while his sister, Grace, played by Mrs. John Kingston, helps him in and out of several predicaments. Mrs. Dean, Mr. Kent's sister-in-law is played by Mrs. Henry Jatkowske. Mrs. Dean's part, though short, is an excellent hit.

Don't miss seeinf this comedy. Tickets can be obtained from grange members or at the door.

Broadway Theatre.

Crowds, crowds and more crowds stormed the doors of the Broadway Saturday and yesterday at the opening of the triumphant all-technicolor musical drama, "The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King, the peer of singing stars. With identically the same production as shown in Boston and New York at two to five dollars admission, small wonder that enthusiasm ran high, or that the patrons left, delighted with the production. A tremendous cast of over 3000 is required for this great feature, and the principals include the best of stage and screen stars, among them of course, King, himself, lovely Jeannette Macdonald, O. P. Heggie, as the querulous King Louis XI, exotic Lillian Roth, sinister Warner Oland, and a host of others. Swift, ruthless action, street and cafe battles between the vagabonds and the King's soldiery, brilliant court scenes, and vivid replicas of the resorts of old Paris of the 15th century, make for a colorful and exciting photoplay, and the soul-thrilling voices of King and Miss Macdonald, against the background of over 500 voices in "The Song of the Vagabonds," are stirring to the last degree. The Broadway's superior sound system is responsible for much of the additional enjoyment of the program. An added feature is Eddie Cantor's latest laughfest, "Getting a Ticket," which will appeal to everyone who ever met a traffic cop. The latest Paramount sound news completes the program, which continues through today and tomorrow, giving way on Wednesday to the "Virginian's," only rival, Zane Grey's exciting outdoor classic, "The Light of Western Stars," starring Richard Arlen.

Superior craftsmen on a New York building were awarded gold buttons.

DIOCESAN BUREAU MEETING AT NEW HAVEN

Right Rev. Maurice F. McAuliffe, D. D., and Rev. Karl J. Alter, LL. Breed Theatre.

No mental picture can be drawn of "Happy Days," all star, all talking Fox Movietone song romance which began an engagement at the Breed theatre yesterday. It is the most lavish picture yet to reach the screen and the cast includes such well known personages as Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Walter Catlett, George Jessell, William Collier, Sr., Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, J. Harold Murray, El Brendel, Warner Baxter, George MacFarlane, Ann Pennington, Marjorie White, Sharon Lynn, Dixie Lee, Richard Keene, James J. Corbett and a host of other celebrities.

The story concerns a minstrel troupe that plays the locale opera houses along the Mississippi river, traveling by steamboat. Colonel Billy Batcher, a lovable old character, owns the show and when it goes on financial rocks the colonel's old friends, stars on Broadway, come to his aid and put on a minstrel show that rehabilitates his fortune.

Charles E. Evans, dean of American comedians, enacts the role of the colonel and the love interest centers about Marjorie White and Richard Keene.

Benjamin Stoloff was director-in-chief of this amazing and lavish spectacle. The credit for its staging goes to Walter Catlett, Broadway's droll jester.

Tonight a handsome Bobbie comb will be presented by the management of the Breed theatre to every lady attending tonight's performance.

GREENEVILLE

EASTER SUNDAY OBSERVED AT ST. MARY'S MEM. CHURCH

On Sunday which marked the Feast of the Resurrection of Our Lord unto heaven at St. Mary's Memorial church, a congregation which taxed the seating capacity of the church with an overflow in the auditory at the 9 o'clock mass, was present. Handsomely decorated altars with choice flowers, the Easter lily predominating and with palms arranged in the sanctuary gave a beautiful setting to the day's feast. The vestments worn by the priests were white with gold bordered effect. At the gospel side of the altar the Easter candle shone brightly.

The low mass at 7:30 was offered by Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. McCormick of the Catholic university, Washington, D. C., the 9 o'clock or children's mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. George J. Donahue, and the high mass at 10:30 by Rev. Arthur B. Sullivan.

At the two early masses hundreds received the sacrament of the holy eucharist requiring the attention of two priests at each service.

Preaching at the three masses for the day Father Donahue, the pastor, portrayed in his usual eloquent manner the glories of the resurrection and what it meant to us. He termed it the cornerstone of the Catholic faith, for without the resurrection our faith and all good works are in vain, says St. Paul. The great trouble with the world today, said the preacher, is that it is spiritually blind in its race for maddening pleasure, luxury and greed. To those thus afflicted who even doubt Christ's victory in the resurrection he would refer them to the life of St. Paul; for example, who though he had never seen the risen Christ, proved himself to be the greatest character in history for the salvation of souls. The special offering taken for the day went for the support of Bishop Nilan's diocesan charities and proved to be of a very generous nature.

The Greeneville N. M. Sewing Circle members were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William Day on Boswell avenue with a large class present. The first period of the evening was devoted to sewing and lampshading. Vocal and piano solos were rendered. Refreshments served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Richmond and Mrs. Harold Wichham, consisted of assorted sandwiches, fancy cookies, cakes, fruit, candy and hot chocolate. The dining room was very prettily decorated in the class colors of red and white. Easter lilies and potted plants also added to the effects.

The K. B. Sewing circle of the A. O. H. Division auxiliary, were entertained Thursday evening by Miss Nellie Gleason. Lampshading and sewing of fancy articles occupied the evening. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Resting Comfortably

The many friends of Mrs. James Murphy of Thirteenth street will be pleased to learn that she is resting as comfortably as can be expected, after undergoing an operation for appendicitis at the W. W. Backus hospital Friday.

Miss Catherine Brennan, a student at Willimantic State Normal school, is spending the Easter recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brennan, of Prospect street.

Vincent Brophy, a student at Fordham university, is spending his Easter recess at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Brophy, on Central avenue.

Upon the theme, The Changed Outlook of Life, Rev. E. R. Norris delivered his Easter sermon at St. Andrews' church Sunday morning from the text, "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above." Colossians 3.1.

How are we going to set about it, he asked. This drastic revision of our outlook on life? It involves effort and thoughtful effort. We must begin with a motive which will make us begin; something to make "the things above" seem worth the climb to them, and the things on the earth easy to leave behind. And there is only one motive that will do this thoroughly, the love of the Christ.

The motive for beginning, then, is our first need. The power to go on is our second. And the power is there in the very fact that the Christian's life is the life of Christ, and shares in all the powers of that life. The power to live means the willingness to die. Our rise to higher things is ever on stepping stones of our dead selves. It was so with Christ Himself, who only attained to the larger life of the resurrection through the grave and gate of death. We believe in the resurrection and from that faith all this inevitably follows. Our proclamation is not in vain. It is vital with the very life of the risen Lord. Our faith is not in vain. Believers in Christ Jesus you are the companions of the Lord, you have been saved by His grace, you are being strengthened by His fellowship. Your horizon shines with the light of eternal hope. The glory of the resurrection is yours.

TAFTVILLE

FUNERALS

Mrs. Henry Suprenant

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Suprenant were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. William LeClair, Saturday morning, followed by a high mass of requiem at which Rev. Ludovic Paradis was celebrant, at St. Joseph's church at 9:30 o'clock. The service was largely attended and there were many beautiful flowers. The bearers were John Owens, Edward Boucher, Treffle DeMers, William LeClair, Fred Prive and John Lefebre. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery in Baltic, where Rev. Father Paradis read the committal service. Undertaker George G. Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Antonio Caron of Baltimore, Md., is spending the Easter recess at the home of his mother, Mrs. Joseph H. Caron, and family, of School street.

August H. Krodel

Funeral services for August H. Krodel were conducted at his late home, No. 14 North B street, Taftville, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Karl Storek, pastor of the German Lutheran church. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery and Rev. Mr. Storek was in charge of the committal. The bearers were: P. Fougarty, George Taylor and J. Fletcher of the Court Wequonnoc, Forester of America; J. Hurd and Edward Barnes, representing the Taftville Mule Spinners' association, of which Mr. Krodel was a member, and John Heibel. The love and esteem in which Mr. Krodel was held was shown by the large gathering of relatives and friends at the services and many beautiful floral tributes, among which were the following: Pillow, "Husband," from his wife; large basket bouquet, from his children; wreath, "Father," Mrs. Robert Schmidt, Miss Fideleis Krodel; heart-shaped wreath, "Son," Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Krodel; pillow, "Brother," from his sisters; wreath, "Brother," Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krodel; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. August Krodel, Sr.; spray of carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bradlaw and family; spray of lilies and tulips, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Atchison and family; spray of snap-dragons, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Williams and family, Harry Kent; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parkhurst and family; spray of lilies and hyacinth, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bradlaw and family; spray of hyacinth, Albert Gaffney; spray of calla lilies and tulips, Mr. and Mrs. J. Heibel and family; spray, snap-dragon, Dr. and Mrs. Paul F. Gadle; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayor; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schmidt; wreath, Ct. Wequonnoc No. 88, Foresters of America; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Romain Beauregard; basket of cut flowers, Loyal Victory lodge, I. O. O. Ladies, M. U., No. 4; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gadle and son; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friese and family; wreath, Taftville Mule Spinners' association, spray, Mr. and Mrs. James Fraser; spray, Leon Parkhurst and Clarence Parkhurst; wreath of roses, Mr. and Mrs. August Friese and family.

Friends and relatives were present from New London, Danielson, Newark, N. J., and Pawtucket, R. I.

Surviving Mr. Krodel are his wife, Mrs. Emma Krodel; Miss Fidelis Krodel, Miss May Krodel, Miss Constance Krodel, Master Raymond Krodel, Master Robert Krodel and Mrs. Robert Schmidt, all of Taftville.

Undertaker George Grant of Taftville had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Peter Lukoff of North Third avenue and Stephen Patrylo of Voluntown spent the holidays in Blackstone, Mass., where they visited Daniel Patrylo of Georgetown university, who is at his home in Blackstone for the Easter vacation.

The town school committee has arranged for a meeting at Ponemah hall, to explain to the Taftville people the proposition of the junior high school organization for the town of Norwich. The meeting will be held Tuesday evening, April 22, at 8 o'clock.

All the masses at Sacred Heart church on Easter were largely attended. Beautiful flowers and potted plants ornamented the altars and sanctuary. At the solemn high mass, a string orchestra played, accompanied by Miss Alice Frechette, the church organist. The choir had been trained by Rev. Omer T. Mandler. On Saturday, large congregations attended the service of the blessing of the Easter water, the new fire and the Paschal candle.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Horoszko and their children, Stephania, Stanislas and John, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Patrylo and family in Voluntown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stuart Marthers and children have been holiday guests of Mrs. Marthers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Yerrington, and family, of South Second avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Pingree and son, Harold, Jr., of Goodyear were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pingree, and family, of North Third avenue.

The floral decorations at the morning service at the Taftville Congregational church were especially beautiful. The choir anthem after the offertory was "Hosanna to the Prince of Light," and Miss Flossie M. Meyer had the soprano solo, "Hosanna" (Granier). The pastor, Rev. William Penner, officiated and the music was under the direction of Miss Nellie S. Howie, the church organist and choir director.

GIRL SCOUTS HIKED TO MOHEGAN PARK

The Girl Scouts of Norwich Troops 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, hiked to Mohegan park Saturday. The original hike was planned to Fort Shantok, but owing to the weather, they went to Mohegan park instead.

Arthur L. Peale, scout commissioner, helped the girls in building fires, etc., and all enjoyed a lunch of hot dogs, rolls and marshmallows. There was an attendance of 93.

WILLIMANTIC MAN ARRESTED AFTER MOTOR CRASH ON MILITARY HIGHWAY

Striking two cars whose drivers had brought them to a standstill, a Dodge coupe, with Connecticut registration No. 91-536 which Amadee Martineau, 28, of 100 South street, Willimantic, was driving on the Military highway about 4.15 Sunday afternoon at a point a short distance south from the Popuetanuck cove bridge, whirled across the road and into a highway fence, after it had turned a rolling somersault that brought it back on its wheels.

According to witnesses of the accident, the Martineau machine, which was proceeding southerly, came careening around a curve at fast speed and first sideswiped the Nash sedan of George F. Ring of 35 Lafayette street, this city, which Mr. Ring had brought to a stop when he saw the other car approaching and judged it was out of control of its driver. Behind the Ring car, Miss Mildred Cummings of Willimantic had brought to a stop the Nash sedan she was driving and this was also sideswiped by the Martineau machine, which turned sharply to the right, rolled over and brought up against the highway fence. Hitting the fence saved it from a plunge down a steep bank into the fields.

Another man in the machine with Martineau was reported to have jumped out of the car after it stopped and left the scene.

Considerable damage was done to running boards, mudguards and rear wheels and axles on the left side of the Ring and Cummings' sedans, while the Martineau machine had broken glass, broken top and crushed mudguards.

Martineau was arrested by State Policeman Bush on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor and is to be presented in the Ledyard justice's court. He was brought to Norwich police headquarters.

Hit Pole in Montville.

Sunday afternoon on the Norwich-New London highway in front of the residence of Dr. H. N. Rasmussen in Uncasville, the Chevrolet sedan driven by Mike Demdinski of Colchester, started to make a complete turn on the state highway while a car driven by Tony Worobey, of 11 Richards street, New London, was approaching at a high rate of speed. The New London car hit a pole in trying to avoid running into the Colchester sedan.

Mr. Worobey sustained serious injuries, a deep cut over the left eye, requiring four stitches to close, two cuts on the left side of the chin requiring two stitches each, a cut inside the lower lip, requiring two stitches to close and abrasions on the left side of the cheek. His son, Alec Worobey, sustained a sprained ankle. Gurman Kofishuck received a slight injury on the left eye.

Police Officer Howard Lamphere of Montville investigated the accident and found that the new Hubmobile driven by Tony Worobey, slid 75 feet after the brakes were applied. He arrested both of the drivers on a reckless driving charge and both will be presented in the deputy court of Montville this (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock.

Sedan Tipped Over.

A Dodge sedan driven by George B. Lockhart of New York city, who was accompanied by his wife and by Mr. and Mrs. Royal Laighton of New Haven, turned over Saturday night about 10 o'clock on the curve on Laurel Hill avenue at the Clay block. Mr. Lockhart and Mrs. Laighton both received severe cuts, each over the right eyebrow, and Mr. Laighton had one rib broken. They were all attended by Dr. Paul Gadle, who was called and had them conveyed to the Backus hospital. Eighteen stitches were taken in the cut on Mr. Lockhart's face and it took 15 stitches to close the cut Mrs. Laighton received. Both remained in the hospital, but Mr. Laighton was able to leave after being bandaged up.

Officer Patrick Shahan took the injured persons to the hospital in the police patrol wagon and Lockhart is to appear before the city court on the charge of driving without having his license with him.

Two Arrested After Crash.

After a collision Saturday afternoon at the junction of North Main street and Central avenue above the car barn, the drivers of the two cars involved were arrested and are to appear in the city court. Dan Durso of New Rochelle, N. Y., is accused of failure to grant the right of way and Alphonse Desauliers of Moosup has a charge of transferring markers made against him. The arrests were made by Officers Clifford Crary and P. Sullivan.

Leo Bellevance of this city who was operating a motor truck Saturday night was arrested by Officer Crary on the charge of having no reflector, no taillight and no registration.

Andrew Snurkowski, 23, of this city, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested Saturday night by State Policeman Arthur Whitmarsh and Sergeant Matthew Delaney, when he was found in an automobile which had become stalled in Thames street, crosswise of the street, as he was trying to turn it around.

HENS IN STORRS CONTEST SLACKEN UP

Maybe it was discontinuance of the night meals a fortnight ago or maybe it's the onset of broodiness, that constantly recurring phenomona at this season of the year, but anyway the hens in the Storrs egg laying contest have again let up just the least little bit.

During the twenty-fourth week the total production for all pens amounted to 5,307 eggs or a yield of 75.8 per cent. Although this is 484 eggs more than were laid the corresponding week a year ago, it is nevertheless a drop of 28 eggs when compared with the previous week's production.

Two pens of Barred Rocks and two pens of Rhode Island Reds battled to a tie in their efforts to place first for the week. The Rock pens are owned by James Dryden of Modesto, Calif., and R. C. Cobb of Little, Mass., while the Red pens are entered by Pine Hill Poultry farm of Weston, Mass. and F. H. Sampson of Springfield, Mass. All of them laid 65 eggs each. Two other pens of Reds, both from Massachusetts, tied for second place with 64 eggs each. They were bred by George B. Treadwell of Spencer and Scott Poultry farm of Groton.

Pratt Experimental farm of Morton, Pa. sponsoring Barred Rocks and Hollywood Poultry farm of Woodinville Wash. with its Leghorns likewise tied for third place with 63 eggs each. Lewis farms of Davisville, Rhode Island that is backing Barred Rocks, W. Otis Day of Westford, Mass. who banks on Reds, and Tolvonen Leghorn farm at Girard, Pa., that pins its hopes on Leghorns all tied for fourth place with 62 eggs each. Thus one notes that the maximum margin between the eleven leading pens is a scant three eggs.

White Wyandottes — The Locusts, West Cornwall, Conn., 1326; Fisher P. Farm, Ayton, On., Canada, 1132.

Barred Rocks—R. C. Cobb, Littleton, Mass., 1286; R. Walter Bishop, Guilford, Conn., 1272; Spring Brook P. farm, So. Wethersfield, Conn., 1,-239.

White Rocks—E. H. Rucker, Ottumwa, Iowa, 1136; Harold F. Barber, Valecroft, Dover, Mass., 1044; Kalerok farm, Westford, Mass., 1037.

Rhode Island Reds—Harold G. Colt, West Hartford, Conn., 1458; Edward N. Larrabee, Peterboro, N. H., 1404; Donald I. Goodenough, Torrington, Conn., 1393; F. S. Chapin, Longmeadow, Mass., 1380.

Backus Hospital Dismissals.

Patients discharged over the week end at the W. W. Backus hospital were the following: Mrs John Kelly, 92 Boswell avenue; William Yolz, 70 Spring street; Mrs. Lyman B. Smith, R. F. D. No. 7; Miss Alice Glassbrenntr, R. F. D. No. 1; Mrs. William MacShane, 77 River street, Baltic; Antoinette Couture, 10 Thames street; Leon Tyler, Sterling; Mrs. Raymond Muttart, R. F. D. No. 1; Helen Laputsh, Fitchville; Mrs Arthur Powell, 33 Gardner court; Wesley Caulkins, 555 Main street; Mildred Mondor, 88 Mathewson street, Jewett City; Royal Laighton, New Haven; Mrs. Irving Browning, Norwich Town.

President of Beekeepers

Telley E. Babcock of this city was re-elected president of the Connecticut Beekeepers association at its annual meeting at Hartford Saturday and Rev. S. A. Icick was elected director from New London county.

MONROE STREET FIRE BRINGS BELL ALARM

Box No. 36, Yantic street, foot of Sherman street, was rung in at 3.15 o'clock Sunday afternoon for a grass fire off Monroe street that had been started by boys playing with matches. Pump cans and brooms were used to extinguish the blaze. Squad A, Engines 3 and 5, Truck 1, and Acting Deputy Chief John E Blackburn responded. The property is owned by the Falls Mills company.

An earlier run was made by the department at 12.17 o'clock in response to a telephone call for a supposed blaze in the house at No. 13 Bushnell place. Lint on top of the heater smouldered, creating a large volume of smoke. As there was no fire, Acting Chief Denns J. Brennan, Acting Deputy Chief Blackburn, Engine 6 and Squad A returned to their stations after investigation. The building owned by George Bloom and Sanford Kramer is a one and a half story frame and is occupied by Edward Harper.

CHILDREN'S EASTER SERVICE AT CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The children's service at Christ Episcopal church Sunday morning at 9.30 o'clock had an attendance of approximately 125. An interesting part of the hour was the singing of Easter hymns by the gathering and the selections by the girls' choir. After representatives from each class had presented the mite boxes, savings of the children for the Easter offering, the rector, Rev. Thomas Rickey, offered a prayer of dedication.

At the conclusion of the service each child of the primary department was presented a small potted plant. The children of the other departments did not receive plants, as in former years, but, at the suggestion of the rector, the money used in purchasing them was added toward the Easter offering.

NORWICH TOWN

JOYOUS EASTER FESTIVAL AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The beautiful weather Easter brought out large congregations to all the Norwich Town churches, to hear inspiring sermons, special music, also to enjoy the beauty of the attractive floral decorations.

At the First Congregational church, the floral offerings on the altar were the gift of Mrs. Maurice E. Wallen, of Hartford, in loving memory of her mother, Mrs. Julia Lathrop Potter, a helpful member of this church for many years. These comprised Easter lilies, hyacinths, spirea, ferns, and showering palms. This custom has been carried out by Mrs. Wallen since the death of her mother, who in life provided flowers for the church. The pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey preached on "Immortality Assumed." The text was from the 14th chapter of John, "If it were not so, I would have told you." The choir under direction of Organist Herbert L. Yerrington sang for the anthem, Christ The Lord Is Risen Today. The offertory solo, "Easter Triumph" was by Oscar J. Heinrich. Members of the choir were Misses Bernice Underwood, Louise Sterry, Eleanor Smith, Eleanor Moore and Frank E. Sterry and Mr. Heinrich. Following the young people's C. E. service Sunday evening, when the topic discussed was, Why We Believe We Live Forever, with Scripture references in John and Mark, under the auspices of the church choir, an Easter cantata, The King of Glory, by R. S. Morrison was given, in the following order:

Part I—Prologue. Organ prelude, chorus, "This the Day"; soprano solo, "O Lord, Thou Art My God", chorus, "Sing Unto the Lord"; duet, tenor and baritone, "I Shall Not Die, But Live"; "Who is the King of Glory?" men's chorus, women's chorus, mixed chorus.

Part II—The Resurrection. Organ prelude; women's chorus, "In the End of the Sabbath", bass solo, "Behold, There Was a Great Earthquake"; tenor recit., "His Countenance Was Like Lightning", men's voices; tenor recit., "And the Angel Answered," quartette, with obligato, "Fear Not Ye"; full chorus, "He is Not Here." Alto solo, "Come See the Place"; Christ the first fruits: Chorus, "Now is Christ Risen," soprano solo, "There is No Death"; chorus, "Death is Swallowed Upon Victory"; tenor recit., "Jesus Came." Trio: soprano, alto and tenor, "All Power"; chorus, "Lo, I Am With You." Full chorus, "Behold the King."

At Sacred Heart Church

Easter was observed at Sacred Heart church with festival music under direction of the organist, Mrs. William A. Murphy. Both masses were largely attended. At the first mass when the junior choir sang the hymns in harmony, several hundred received holy communion. Bouner's mass was sung at the 10 o'clock service, the solo parts being taken by Miss Mary Buckley and Charles McNally. The pastor, Rev. Edward J. Quinn wished his parishioners a happy Easter prior to his sermon, before reading the gospel of the day from Mark 16:1-7. Typical of the light that shone among the Gentiles was the Paschal candle at the gospel side of the altar.

The purple vestments worn by the priest during Lent were replaced by those of white, embroidered in gold. Altar and sanctuary were especially beautiful with Easter lilies, roses, carnations, daffodils and palms, the artistic arrangement of the Altar society. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament concluded the service.

Methodist Episcopal Church

Rev. George Warren Potter at the Methodist Episcopal took for the text of his Easter sermon Sunday morning John 20:2, "She runneth therefore." He said in part, She runneth. Small wonder that she did. The fact of the resurrection struck Mary with a force that carried her along as though she were hurled by a gun. Every few months we read in our newspapers of some new explosive that will hurl many tons through the air, the tonnage and mileage increasing with each announcement. But that is all newspaper exaggeration. For the most explosive force known to man is the impact of the idea of the resurrection of Jesus as it strikes the heart and mind of humanity. It has thrown men by its force twenty-five thousand miles around the globe and has shaken the earth for nineteen centuries. It is no accident nor mere coincidence that in every one of the four Gospels the story of the resurrection is the story of a footrace. When we bring all the Gospel accounts together we have a swift succession of foot races. The thrill of the glad news even before the heart was sure it was true was so overwhelming that it started everyone that heard it running. The finest picture of the first Easter which the imagination has ever conceived is not the picture of the empty tomb or even of the risen Christ. It is the picture of the faces of Peter and John as they raced to the tomb. Into their strained eyes filled with wonder there seemed compressed the trembling hope of the whole world. Those Easter footraces of the disciples well portray the most significant fact about the resurrection—that it brings a new impulse and movement to life. When the meaning of the victory of Christ breaks over the mind, life is no longer a walk. It leaps and bounds. Great news simply cannot walk.

The word Marathon suggests not so much the battle in Greece as the runner who sped forty miles with the news, well content to drop dead at the end, if he could but gasp out the word, Victory. Our hearts rush out to grasp the assurance of endless life which the resurrection of Christ brings. When Mary made her way to the sepulchre, still engulfed in the gloom of Calvary, the startling wonder of the empty tomb quickened her step. "She runneth therefore" the Gospel of John tells us. How could she help it? So the heart leaps to meet the news of Christ's victory over death. We go back to life from the open tomb with a new exhilaration and a new power for daily living. A new thrill of movement comes into life as we return to it with the experience of the risen Christ in our hearts. The news is so great and so glad we must run to tell it.

The same irresistible impulse that set the disciples' feet flying along the roads puts every life which discovers the meaning of the resurrection into swift motion. We must break into an apostolic stride, with Peter and Mary and John and with eager hearts and flying feet carry to the last and the furthermost of God's children the news of the eternal victory of Christ.

FRANKLIN DAIRY CLUB ELECTS ROUND-UP DELEGATE

Friday evening at the home of the local leader, Jason H. Kingsley of the Lebanon road, the Franklin Dairy club held its regular monthly meeting. This marked the second anniversary of the club, which was organized in April 1928. Two topics, "Succulent Foods" and "Proper Grains," were freely discussed by the members under the capable leadership of Arnold Manning, who is assistant leader of the club.

William Browning, the club's secretary, was chosen as delegate to the 4-H club State Round-Up, which is to be held in Hartford, May 2 and 3.

As Franklin, with its many clubs, is one of the four towns in the state to take part on the "Round-Up" program this year, Nathaniel Manning and Harold Breslin, president and vice-president, respectively, were voted as representatives for this work.

Nathaniel will speak on "Personal Experiences in Dairy Club Work," while Harold will take for his subject, "The History of the Franklin Dairy Club."

Club Observed Two Birthdays.

The Where-Next club met last week with Anna Nicholson of Division street. It being the birthday of two of the members, Rachel Peterson and Grace Saunders, each received a nice tea set from the members of the club. The hostess, assisted by Louise McGee, served most attractive lunch, Easter basket salad, sandwiches, cake and coffee.

In whist Margaret Seidel won the prize and in pinochle Marie Lavalle. The club will meet this (Monday) evening with Vera Sterry of Summer street.

Christ Church Service.

The service, which had originally been planned for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at Christ Episcopal church, same time. There will be no service will be held Tuesday morning at the Thursday.

MORE THAN 300 DEATHS WERE CAUSED BY FIRE AT OHIO PENITENTIARY

Most of the Dead Were Convicts, Who Were Trapped In Their Cells—Over 100 Others Were Seriously Affected By Smoke—Regular Troops, National Guardsmen, Prison Guards and Columbus Police Are In the Prison Yard to Cope With 1,000 Convicts, Who Are Believed to Have Set Several Fires In the Prison Cotton Mills—State Fire Marshal Believes the First Fire Was Incendiary—Damage to the Prison Was Only About $11,000.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21—(AP)—More than 300 men, confined in Ohio penitentiary here, met death tonight when a disastrous fire swept four cell blocks in the prison yards. Most of the dead were convicts, who were trapped in the tiers of cells. More than 100 others were affected seriously by smoke and it was feared more would die.

Regular army troops, national guardsmen, prison guards and Columbus police were on duty in the prison late tonight attempting to maintain order among more than 1,000 convicts who were loose in the prison yards, and who, it was believed, had set several fires in the prison cotton mills, had cut fire hose and had threatened firemen.

The penitentiary yards resembled an armed camp after a pitched battle.

Lying on the grass were the bodies of some 200 victims of the blaze, most of them killed by dense smoke.

In the prison hospital basement lay almost 100 other dead.

A few dead were known to be in G and H cell blocks where the fire burned furiously for several hours after it started in an adjoining block and spread rapidly under a stiff west wind.

The loose convicts were being driven into the dining halls. Troops were having trouble controlling the men who, earlier in the excitement, had pitched in and aided in rescue work.

The first intimation that the first fire was of incendiary origin came from State Fire Marshal Ray Gill. He said he believed the fire was set in several places simultaneously, in the I and K cell blocks. The later fire in the cotton mills were incendiary, he said.

Chief of Police Harry E. French of Columbus, helping to command the situation in the prison enclosure, ordered all women nurses from the penitentiary at 9:45 p. m. He said he issued the order to insure safety for the women.

The convicts in the yards, prodded by soldiers and guards, were thinning out and it was believed all men would be in their cells within an hour.

2,000 Convicts Milling Around

Later in the night some of the convicts cornered in dining halls again got loose in the yards and at 10:15 it was estimated that about 2,000 of the more than 4,000 men in the prison were still milling about in the enclosure.

Fire department officials believed all the fires were incendiary. The first fire, on the I and K cell block roofs, was near the spot where men had been working during the day with an oil preparation to repair the roof. This, it was believed, was used to start the blaze. Other places, fired with oil soaked cloth, included the Catholic chapel, cotton mill and woolen mill.

The fire was started in a manner much the same as the Junction City prison brick plant blaze, when some twenty convicts were burned to death.

Convicts slugged three firemen and injured another, while the men were attempting to get a line of hose on the flames. All four injured firemen needed the attention of a doctor.

Damage About $11,000

The great toll of life was not reflected in the estimate of property damage by the fire. Prison officials and fire department heads said the damage would be about $11,000.

Chief Ijams, of the Columbus fire department, was among the first outsiders to get into the blazing cell blocks. He said the fire spread so rapidly that guards on duty there had little or no opportunity to unlock the cell doors. Warden Thomas rushed four guards to the blocks with cell keys but before they could get to work on the doors they were overcome by the dense smoke and carried out by convicts.

The fire chief said there was no electric wiring in the block, and he felt confident the blaze was of incendiary origin.

SOLDIERS AND GUARDS IN CONTROL OF THE SITUATION

COLUMBUS, O., April 21—(AP)—Soldiers of the regular army, Ohio national guardsmen, city police and prison guards were in control of the situation shortly before midnight tonight in Ohio penitentiary where more than 300 convicts met death in one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the country.

STORY OF THE DISASTER TOLD BY AN EYE-WITNESS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—(AP)—Death spread by the fire fiend through the tinder-like cell blocks of Ohio penitentiary here tonight, reigned supreme in the prison yard, where the bodies of at least 300 men lay stiff and silent, victims of one of the worst disasters in the history of the state.

A sudden burst of flame, followed by a dense cloud of smoke, heralded the beginning of the catastrophe. The flames first appeared in a cell block where a new structure within the prison walls was being erected. Quickly the fire spread toward tiers of cells occupied by convicts.

Wind Spread The Flames.

The wind conspired with the flames to spread death, and soon many prisoners, trapped in their cells, were beyond human aid. As prisoners and guards fought heroically to rescue the trapped men, guardsmen, regular army soldiers and reserve guards, the scene within the prison walls was one of utter disorder. Convicts still in their cells, feared the fire would reach them and they sent up a mighty crescendo of screams.

Within a few minutes, scores of convicts not locked in, were staggering onto the damp grass in the prison yard from the smoke-filled cell tiers. They would walk a step, totter, then drop in their tracks. Others overcome within the blocks, were carried out by convicts and laid on the grass, where artificial respiration methods were tried by prisoners. When it became evident that a man was beyond human help, he was quickly covered with a blanket and the rescurer passed along to another victim.

Soon police reserves and firemen were on the scene and within a short time fire lines were established and water was being played upon the giant flames as they swept heavenward from the west gate of the west cell tiers. Then soldiers came to augment the guards both within the prison and on the outside.

Doctors by the score followed, and they were rushed into the prison yard, to work on the stricken. Most of these men were clad in their white hospital clothes, and as they made their way through the long lines of unconscious and dead, working heroically to revive some of the victims, the onlookers were reminded of scenes on a battlefield.

At Least 600 Convicts Loose.

At least 600 convicts were loose in the smoke-filled prison yard. And be it said to their credit—they created no disorder, but labored hard to aid in the rescue work and succor their stricken fellow-prisoners who were trapped in the ill-fated cell blocks.

The hospital produced many tragic scenes. Fifty unconscious men were dragged in, and the doctors and attendants gave what aid they could. As a man died convicts removed his body to the basement, and within a very short time the hospital floor was covered with victims. At the outset of the disaster, and before the grave seriousness of the fire was discovered, it was feared that a general delivery of prisoners had been attempted. Guards rushed here and there, picking up machine guns and shot guns, shouting for ammunition, and adding to the general disorder. Outside grim faced guards trained their guns on the walls. Inside, a score of guards kept an eye on the loose convicts, fearing there would be a break. But when it was learned that men were trapped in the blazing cell blocks, guards and convicts forgot their positions, and joined hands in the common effort to save the men who were trapped like rats. The screams of the dying, and those who had been seared by the flames, were heart rending.

Convicts In Rescue Work

For once in the history of the penitentiary, convicts handled ropes, axes, hammers and other rescue equipment, which, in other days, would have been kept from them. There ran a Negro convict, with a piece of white cloth over his nose. He carried a rope and a hook, and he made valiant efforts to throw the hook into a barred window. Finally he succeeded, and soon he was shinning up the rope in an effort to gain entrance to the burning section. Here another convict carried a sledge hammer, and amde an assault on a locked door.

Only in the east cell blocks, where are confined a thousand men, including Company K, the "bad men" of the prison, did the convicts cause any disorder. Here they shouted and screamed and hammered on their cell doors. Some one reported that the key to this block had been lost. When the chief warden could not find the key he took in sledge hammers to loose the men if the flames threatened the block.

SIDELIGHTS ON FIRE AT OHIO PENITENTIARY

COLUMBUS, O., April 21—(AP)—With Warden Thomas inside the prison walls during tonight's death dealing fire in Ohio penitentiary, the was handled by Miss Amanda Thomas, his daughter. This young woman ordered guards to their posts, issued machine guns and ammunition, called doctors and nurses, summoned troops and performed many other duties. She was calm and collected until the fire threatened her home in the penitentiary main building. Then she turned her attention to the house, ordering her valuables removed.

At the height of the fire someone shouted that the flames were spreading toward other cell blocks in which some 500 men, including condemned prisoners, were housed. Then it was discovered that the key to these cells had been misplaced. The chief deputy warden took command of the situation, and ordered guards in with axes and sledge hammers to open the cells if the fire spread further.

Company K in Ohio penitentiary includes all the bad men, mostly long termers—men who refuse to be disciplined. A half dozen of these got loose during the excitement, and until they were cornered fires broke out in the cotton mills and fire hoses were cut. To them was attributed the trouble among the thousand convicts loose in the yards.

One hard boiled Columbus fire captain does not fear convicts. He had to pass through a cell block of loose prisoners in order to get lines of hose on the roof. Warned by prison guards that the convicts might be "nasty" he shrugged his shoulders and went in. Within a short time he had fire lines on the roofs.

"Big Jim" Morton, notorious Cleveland bank robber, was a hero of the fire. Big Jim, loose in the yard when the fire started, rescued a score of men

PROGRESS OF CONFEREES ON TARIFF REVISION BILL

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—The tariff bill conferees, working with dispatch but acting only upon secondary differences, today adjusted a large block of amendments to the administrative provisions of existing law over which the senate and house were in disagreement.

The senate provision liberalizing present restrictions against importation of foreign literature regarded as seditious or obscene by placing in the federal courts instead of customs officials the power to pass final judgment on entry was among the many changes approved.

The conferees, however, eliminated the senate amendment to create a consumers' counsel in the tariff commission with power to participate in and initiate proceedings before that body for tariff rate changes.

The report debenture, legislative flexible tariff, tariff commission reorganization and prohibition against entry of goods made by forced or indentured labor were all passed over after brief discussion of each provision. The senate conferees have promised not to recede on the debenture and executive flexible tariff repeal amendments without coming back to the senate for instructions.

So much progress was made by the tariff adjusters in composing their less controversial differences that predictions were made that a report might be made to the two houses this week.

"NEW LABOR DAY" WAS CELEBRATED IN ROME

ROME, April 21—(AP)—Rome today celebrated its "New Labor Day" holiday with the opening of new museums and recently prepared archeological discoveries, and by the official inauguration of the Fascist National Council of Corporations.

Premier Mussolini spent a busy day of varied activity, presiding at the ceremony opening the council and the visiting museums and monuments recalling the grandeur and splendour of ancient Rome.

The Duce opened the new historical museum of the "Fasces" where are gathered documents recounting the uses and adventures of the symbol of the "Fasces" of ancient Rome from a century before Christ to the end of the 19th century.

Afterward the premier went to the Marcellus theatre, newly disengaged from sordid surroundings by the demolition of many small buildings around it. It is now a superb monument to the grandeur of Rome.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK, April 21—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson made an address via radio from London and President Hoover sent his greetings from Washington today to the luncheon of the Associated Press, held in connection with its annual meeting at the Commodore hotel.

Frank B. Noyes, of Washington, president, was toastmaster at the luncheon, which also was addressed by Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press.

President Hoover, who sent his message of greeting to Mr. Noyes, said, "I would appreciate it greatly if you would extend my greetings to the annual meeting of the Associated Press. It is a great institution which daily renders intellectual service to the American people with that fine impartiality and reliability that has given it high distinction."

KILLED HIS FIANCEE; THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE

NORWALK, April 21—(AP)—Antonio Napolean, 26, Wilton avenue, shot and killed his fiancee, Millie Cavalese, 22, telephone operator living at 261 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and then committed suicide near the Shore Haven Country club in East Norwalk late today.

Napolean apparently shot the girl in the back as she ran from his automobile, and then turned the revolver on himself. The bodies were found at 6:30 o'clock tonight by Charles Myers, of Wilton. Medical Examiner William W. Tracey said the couple had been dead about two hours.

TO REPORT TO GENEVA ON DISARMAMENT PROBLEMS

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—The first step toward continuing at Geneva the disarmament work not completed at the London naval conference was taken today by the transactional committee of experts.

The experts met to report to Geneva the progress on disarmament problems achieved at London but not accepted as a part of the London treaty because of numerous reservations.

DEATH OF GEN. FRED'K GORDON GUGGISBERG

BEXHILL, Sussex, England, April 21.—(AP)—Brigadier eneral Sir Frederick Gordon Guggisberg, who resigned as governor of British Guiana last month, died here today. He was one of the best known British colonial administrators and was governor of the Gold Coast eight years.

General Guggisberg, who was 60 years old, also had a distinguished military career. He was born in Toronto.

TOUR OF INSPECTION OF CONN. SCHOOL FOR BOYS

MERIDEN, April 21—(AP)—John A. Tinsley, of Woodbine, N. J., prospective successor to Edward S. Boyd as superintendent of the Connecticut School for Boys, made a tour of inspection of the institution here today, accompanied by a sub-committee of the board of trustees. Whether Mr. Tinsley will accept an invitation to take charge of the school, will be made known after another meeting of the trustees tomorrow.

Communist Leaders Sentenced To Prison

William Z. Foster and Four Lieutenants Given One Day to Three Years.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)— The five communist leaders who conducted the "Red Thursday" unemployment riot in Union square last month, received prison sentences today when they came before the court of three general sessions judges who convicted them of unlawful assembly in a verdict handed up April 11.

William Z. Foster, communist leader in America, and three of his chief lieutenants, received indeterminate terms under the law from one day to three years, and the fifth, described by the court as an "instrument in the hands of the others," was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Robert H. Elder, attorney for the five men, said that they would take an immediate appeal. The communists were returned to the Tombs where they have been held since their conviction.

All five demanded to be heard before sentence was passed upon them, and hurled charges of injustice at the court until the judges declared they had been insulted and made them stop.

Besides Foster, Robert Minor, editor of a radical paper; Israel Amter, district organizer, and Harry Raymond, and aid, received indeterminate sentences. The state parole board considers these cases, usually after the prisoners have served six months in jail. Joseph Lester received the 30 days sentence.

The general sessions court was guarded by a heavy police detail today but there was no demonstration on the part of communist sympathizers.

HOOVER WARNS AGAINST HEAVY APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—President Hoover has sent letters to the chairmen of the senate finance and the house appropriations committees which are understood to warn against the formulation of excessive appropriation measures during the remainder of this session of congress.

Although neither Chairman Jones of the senate finance committee nor Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, would make the letters public tonight, both said they had received communications relative to appropriation matters.

Senator Jones said he probably would make the letter public tomorrow, because he felt the information should be given to the people.

This is the second appeal President Hoover has made to congress in recent weeks. In a statement, he called attention to the condition of the national treasury and admonished congress to keep the appropriations as close as possible to the budget estimates to avoid a deficit.

The supply bills formulated in the house have exceeded those of recent years. In addition to the $160,000 tax reduction program effected this season, measures providing for large public building outlays, increased federal highway aid and funds for farm board have been enacted.

117 FOREST FIRES DURING THE WEEK ENDING APRIL 19

HARTFORD, April 21—(AP)—Nearly as many forest fires have been reported to April 19 this year as during the entire 12 months of 1929, State Forester Austin F. Hawes announced today. Forest fires reported during the week ending April 19 totaled 117, raising the total number of fires this year to 532 as compared with 591 during the entire year of 1929. More than a thousand acres were burned over last week, raising the total acreage for the year to 10,878.

Twelve forest fires in Ansonia have been set by children this year, and children are reported to be responsible for many more fires in the Naugatuck valley.

The department is having considerable difficulty in obtaining co-operation from the courts in enforcement of the state fire laws, it was said today.

ROY MADE TEMPORARY PRESIDENT OF HAITI

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 21—(AP)—The council of state today chose Eugene Roy as temporary president of the Republic of Haiti, thereby following the recommendations of the Hoover commission.

He will take office next month at the expiration of the term of Louis Borno, and will serve until regular elections are held in the fall.

Roy received all 21 votes of the council of state on the first ballot, although the names of Joseph Justin, Manuel Thezan and Andre Chevallier also were before the body.

PRESBYTERIANS MAY STUDY DEFINITION OF MARRIAGE

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—(AP)—Announcement was made through the official blue book of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., that the special commission on marriage, divorce and remarriage will recommend to the general assembly of the church at Cincinnati, June 2, the elimination from the confession of faith the objection to Presbyterians marrying Roman Catholics.

The commission will also submit to the general assembly for "thoughtful study" a new definition of marriage.

SEN. KNIGHT HAS CHANCE FOR COMPLETE RECOVERY

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 21—(AP)—With his constitution and general good health fighting in his favor, Senator John Knight, seriously injured in an automobile accident Saturday, tonight was accorded an excellent chance for complete recovery by his attending surgeons, who tonight were concentrating their attention on efforts to save the senator's right arm, which it was at first feared would require amputation.

TO CHECK UP ON REP. PRIMARY CAMPAIGNS

WASHINGTON, April 21— (AP) — Secret agents were ordered into Illinois and Pennsylvania today by the senate campaign funds investigating committee to check up on complaints of excessive expenditures in the republican senatorial primary campaigns.

LONDON NAVAL PACT READY TO BE SIGNED AND SEALED

Document of About 7,000 Words Now Rests At St. James' Palace, Where the Final Plenary Session Will Begin Today—It Is Expected That the Treaty Will Be Signed Today Between 6 and 7 A. M., E. S. T.—Special Fountain Pens Will Be Available For the Signing—One Signature By Each Delegate Will Complete the Treaty.

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—The London naval treaty is ready to be signed and sealed tomorrow.

Three months ago today the five-power disarmament negotiations were inaugurated by King George and tonight the results are contained in a document of approximately 7,000 words which rests at St. James's palace, where the final plenary session will begin tomorrow morning.

As final arrangements were made this evening for the wind-up session, Col. Henry L. Stimson broadcast from London his interpretation of the parley's accomplishments, his words being directed to the luncheon of the Associated Press in connection with the annual meeting and being carried over the United States by a radio network.

Colonel Stimson stripped disarmament of technical terms on tons and guns to probe deep into the underlying problems of world diplomacy and the progress of civilization in relation to national defense.

"The past fourteen weeks have given me more confidence in my belief that peaceful methods of diplomacy can eventually take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last war drew to a close," he said.

As he saw it, the "result of the conference has been to clarify issues and make their solution in the future more possible. In this way a long step forward has been made towards ultimate limitation by those nations which have not yet agreed on a complete limitation of their navies."

When the moment comes for signature of the treaty tomorrow, expected between noon and 1 p. m. (6 to 7 a. m., E. S. T.), Colonel Stimson, as chief American delegate, will lead the line of envoys who will pass to the table on which the treaty rests— the "horseshoe" conference table in the great drawing room of St. James's.

The Americans will sign first, in this order: Colonel Stimson, Ambassador Dawes, Secretary Adams, Senator Robinson, Senator Reed, Ambassador Gibson and Ambassador Morrow. Then will come Foreign Minister Briand and his colleagues of France, the next nation in alphabetical order.

British empire representatives will follow, Prime Minister MacDonald and others ofthe United Kingdom delegation to be followed by delegates from the dominions and India. The Italians, headed by Dino Grandi, will be next, and last will come the Japanese under Reijiro Wakatsuki.

Special fountain pens will be available for the signing but delegates who prefer ordinary pens or even the old-fashioned quills will be provided special ink pots of the Queen Anne period, brought from the offices of the privy council.

One signature by each delegate will complete the London treaty, there being no special endorsement necessary for the three-power pact among the Americans, British and Japanese, which is included within the five-power pact. The statement that this arrangement applies only to those three powers is contained in the treaty itself.

Although the public will not be admitted to the final plenary session, more reporters will attend this than previous sessions because the departure of many technical experts has made more room available.

Prime Minister MacDonald will preside and deliver a review of the London proceedings. Then heads of the delegations will speak as they did at the opening meeting, Colonel Stimson making the next address. The speeches are expected to take about an hour and a half.

The treaty is printed on special parchment and consists of a preamble and 26 articles in five parts, the text being in English and French. The copy which will be signed will be deposited in the archives of the British foreign office. Certified copies will be sent to the governments concerned, while other copies later will be deposited with the League of Nations.

And after it's all over the American delegation will have the afternoon free for catching a boat train to Southampton. The Americans plan to take the Leviathan homeward about 8 p. m.

MRS. HOOVER WATCHED EGG ROLLING CONTEST

WASHINGTON, April 21.— (AP) — The 1930 Easter egg rolling on white house knolls will go rolling down in history as something new and different—due to Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

The thousands of children who came carrying colorful Easter baskets did not see Mrs. Hoover because she has a sprained back. But, reclining by an upper window, Mrs. Hoover saw them, and watched their enjoyment of the spring pageantry she had planned for them.

May poles, with big Easter bunnies on top, stood in their roped-off squares —Mrs. Hoover's thought for an Easter Monday falling so close to the first of May.

Gala centers they made for the Morris dances of the Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A.; the costumed Hungarian czandas of Neighborhood House; the fairy phantasy of Friendship House; and the Russian dances of Mrs. Hoover's own Girl Scouts.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR DROWNING DEFORMED SON

MANDAN, N. D., April 21.—(AP)—Pleading guilty to first degree murder, a charge brought after he had confessed to drowning his four-year-old deformed son in the river, Gus Reinhold, 40, a farmer living near Stanton, was sentenced today to life imprisonment.

Reinhold confessed, according to State's Attorney John Moses of Mercer county to tossing the baby in Kife river April 8. He gave no motive except that he had been drinking.

Although he pleaded guilty, Reinhold, who was not represented by a lawyer when he appeared in court, insisted that sentence be deferred until the body of the drowned boy had been found, but Judge H. L. Berry denied his plea.

CONFIRMATION OF JUDGE PARKER BECOMES DUBIOUS

WASHINGTON, April 21.— (AP) — Little hope for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to the supreme court was held tonight by senate leaders after the judiciary committee today voted ten to six against the nominee.

A majority of both republicans and democrats on the committee voted against Parker, including three administration regulars. Previously, the committee by a vote of ten to four, refused to extend an invitation to the nominee to subject himself to examination on the protests against him.

Despite the committee vote there was no indication tonight that President Hoover would withdraw the nomination or that Judge Parker would ask that his name be recalled from the senate.

GUGGENHEIM TRAVELING BY PRIVATE AIRPLANE

HAVANA, April 21—(AP)—Harry F. Guggenheim, United States ambassador to Cuba, left here this afternoon for Washington aboard his private airplane. He was piloted by Lieutenant Phillips Melville, aviation attache at the embassy.

Mr. Guggenheim is flying to Washington on official business.

TO ERECT MONUMENT FOR FERDINAND MAGELLAN

LISBON, Portugal, April 21.—(AP)—The cornerstone of a monument to Ferdinand Magellan, discoverer of the strait bearing that name, will be laid on April 26. Vidala Jara, Chilean charge d'affaires, will preside at the ceremony

CONFESSED MURDER OF DAUGHTER FIVE YEARS AGO

CHICAGO, April 21—(AP)—Five years ago Mary Cutler, 35, was found dead in her gas-filled home. She had been sucering from heart disease, a coroner's jury returned a verdict of "suicide while despondent over ill health."

Tonight Charles Cutler, 70, father of Mary, walked into a police station and confessed that he had killed the girl.

"I can't stand it any longer," said the aged man, "for five years it has preyed on my mind, obsessed my thoughts, tortured every moment, waking or sleeping.

"I murdered her, she was sick-suffering. I couldn't stand to watch her agony. Once she tried to kill herself, driven almost mad by pain

"Then one morning she was asleep in her room. She had taken a sleeping potion. I closed the doors and windows. I opened the gas jets and left the house.

"I worked all that day with the thought of her lying dead at home. I went home at 6 o'clock. Then I called the police and told them I had found her dead."

Cutler, a chef, is held by police, charged with murder.

BERLIN POLICE MOBILIZED TO COPE WITH COMMUNISTS

BERLIN, April 21—(AP)—The entire available detective force of Berlin, reinforced by numerous bodies of police, was mobilized on the outskirts of the city tonight to intercept a long line of motor trucks in which more than 2,000 communists were returning from a communist youth convention at Leipsic.

Among the communists on the trucks were reported to be several that had shot members of the Leipsic police force during a demonstration in the center of the city yesterday.

Despite the heavy Easter automobile traffic, the detectives thoroughly searched vehicles arriving from the direction of Leipsic. All the returning communists were put through a severe examination, and 18 unable or unwilling to account for themselves and their time were arrested.

Police also awaited the arrival of 500 communists returning by special train, searching each for concealed weapons.

Attempts of communists in Berlin to demonstrate in various points of the city were nipped in the bud by rapid police action, and 62 were arrested.

UNEMPLOYED WOMEN ON MARCH OF PROTEST

LEEDS, England, April 21.—(AP)—Thirty unemployed women textile workers from Bradford reached Leeds tonight, footsore and exhausted after one day of their march protesting unemployment. They are due in London April 29.

When the women reached here their silk stockings were torn and their low-cut shoes filled with mud. Members of the local communist party gave them tea, ointment for their feet, and accommodations for the night. Later they held a public meeting, appealing for heavy walking stockings and knapsacks for the demonstrators.

TAXPAYERS ASK FOR ANOTHER TOWN MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 21—A petition from the Taxpayers' Protective association of Windham for another special town meeting to take action on the matter of causing a thorough examination and audit of the town books by a certified public accountant was filed today with the board of selectmen. First Selectman William A. Buck said that he would call the special meeting for about May 1.

The petition, as signed by Dr. George E. Wilcox, president of the association and 56 others is mainly a copy of the one previously filed for the special meeting held early in April for the same purpose, except that it is more specific on the matter of whose books shall be audited by stating that the audit of town books shall include those of the treasurer and collector of taxes. The petition further specifies that a committee consisting of Dr. Wilcox, Attorney William A. Arnold and Henry A. Bugbee be authorized to select the certified public accountant, with whom the selectmen will draw up a contract. The same appropriation of $10,000 or such part as may be necessary, is called for, with the selection to borrow the amount specified.

Mrs. H. A. Phillips, 66, of Andover, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, suffering from a severe fracture of the leg sustained this forenoon about 11 o'clock when the limb was caught in the trap-like jaws of heavy metal doors over the sidewalk elevator of the F. W. Woolworth & Company store on Main street. The woman had just emerged from the store when she stumbled over the partly opened doors and as the doors dropped to a closing position her leg became caught. Officers John Killourey and Peter Marrotte extricated the woman and rushed her to the hospital.

Stafford Springs

Special Easter music coupled with ideal weather attracted unusually large congregations at all local churches Sunday morning. A service of worship at the Congregational church at 10:30, with musical numbers by Mrs. Grace Root Merriman, soprano; Louis Perlmutter, violinist and cornetist, and chorus choir, with an inspiring sermon by Rev. Charles D. Kepner on "The Hope of Easter Morn," was followed by the Easter service of the church school including a pageant of lilies at noon, in which all departments participated. At 4 o'clock the church was crowded at the singing of Stainer's cantata, "The Crucifixion." Bernard L. Mullins, a member of the Apollo Male quartet, of Hartford, who is a native of Stafford Springs, was heard to advantage as bass soloist. Watson Woodford, tenor, of Hartford, and Percy Cooley, baritone, of Rockville, were the other solists. The cantata was under the direction of A. E. Waite. Mrs. May Chapman Holt was at the organ.

At the Methodist church, the morning program included a special Easter service with an inspiring sermon by the pastor, Rev. T. Arthur Mosley. The choir gave an anthem and Mrs. Mosley sang "The Angel's Message" (A. F. Loud). In the evening the cantata, "The Scene on Calvary," by Frederick W. Peace, depicting the trial and crucifixion of Christ, with its triumphant finale, "He Must Reign Forevermore," was beautifully rendered.

At Grace Episcopal church there was the festival holy communion at the 10:45 service, with a special sermon by the rector, Rev. George D. Wilcox. The full program was: Processional hymn, "Come Ye Faithful"; introit, anthem, "Christ Our Passover"; Kyrie; Gloria Tibi; Gratias Tibi; hymn, "At the Lamb's High Feast We Sing"; sermon; offertory hymn, "Welcome Happy Morning"; Doxology; Sanctus; Gloria in Excelsis; Nunc Dimittis; recessional hymn, "He Is Risen, He Is Risen."

St. Edward's church, which always has a large attendance, seemed to have even larger congregations than usual at each of the three masses Easter Sunday. The first mass was read by the pastor, Rev. Felix J. O'Neill, who gave an instructive and inspiring sermon on the importance of the day from a religious standpoint. Rev. John J. Weldon read the 9 o'clock mass, also sang the high mass at 10, giving a very eloquent sermon at each service. At the last mass, Miss Helen Gilligan of New York, who has a leading part in the musical comedy, "Strike Up the Band," and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher G. Gilligan of Stafford Springs, sang very beautifully Gounod's "Ave Maria," also "Regina Coeli."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Peter Remembers Just in Time

Think quickly and as quickly do
The thing that seems most right to you
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had been over to the Smiling Pool. Now Peter was on his way to the little swamp above the Smiling Pool, following the Laughing Brook to the Green Forest. Suddenly a Merry Little Breeze wandered Peter's way and tickled that wabbly little nose of his. Peter stopped abruptly. That Merry Little Breeze had tickled that wabbly little nose with a scent that was not at all to Peter's liking. You see, that scent was the scent of Reddy Fox. So Peter did the wise thing. He froze, as they say. That means that he stopped and kept perfectly still.

The Merry Little Breeze had gone on. Presently, however, another Merry Little Breeze came dancing along. This one blew in Peter's ears and ruffled his fur and tickled his nose and then danced away. Peter no longer sat still. You see, this Merry Little Breeze had danced off in the direction of Reddy Fox and if, as Peter suspected, this Merry Little Breeze was carrying some of Peter's own scent, it wouldn't be long before Reddy Fox would be looking for him. So Peter took to his long heels. It was no longer safe to "freeze."

Almost at once Peter knew that Reddy Fox was after him. Peter then thought quickly. He knew he couldn't outrun Reddy Fox. He might outrun him for a very short distance and he might outdodge him for a little while, but the only sure way of saving his skin was to find a place for safety and find it quickly.

So as he ran Peter was doing some fast thinking. He knew of a certain little bramble tangle not far away, but it was a small tangle and he knew that he wouldn't feel really safe there. He remembered a hollow log big enough for him to get into, but too small for Reddy Fox to get into. However, this was quite a distance away. It was farther than Peter felt like running. Then he remembered a certain hole. One of Johnny Chuck's family had dug that hole a long time before. It wasn't used now and the entrance was half-filled with dead leaves. But it was a good hole. Peter knew that, for he had been down in it. Moreover, there was a hidden backdoor, in case there was need to use it. So Peter decided that the sooner he reached that hole the better it would be for him.

Lipperty-lipperty-lip ran Peter, as only Peter can run. After him and not very far behind him, came Reddy Fox. Peter's ears were laid back and he was running with all his might, lipperty-lipperty-lip. Then all in a flash Peter remembered something. He remembered that just ahead of him was the nest of Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Duck. He didn't know whether Mrs. Quack was on that nest, but he suspected so. He hadn't seen her in the Smiling Pool and so he suspected that she was on her nest. If he kept on the way he was headed now, which was in a very straight line for that hole, he would have to jump right over Mrs. Quack.

Almost at once Peter knew that Reddy Fox was after him

"This won't do," thought Peter "Reddy Fox will be sure to find Mrs. Quack and he probably would rather have Mrs. Quack than be would to have me for dinner. Oh, dear, what shall I do? I can't have Mrs. Quack caught through any fault of mine. I wish I had started for that hollow log instead of for that hole. I'll have to do it now and I shall have to run for all I'm worth to get there."

Peter abruptly changed direction in that sudden way of his, and away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, lipperty-lipperty-lip. With every jump he was going away from Mrs. Quack and her nest; whereas, before, with every jump he had been going toward her. He was out of breath when he reached that hollow log. He was out of breath and he reached it just in time. The teeth of Reddy Fox snapped together at his very heels as Peter dodged into that hollow log and was safe. And back there on her nest Mrs. Quack was very, very grateful. You see, she had seen Peter when he dodged.

Barn and Contents Burned

At 12:10 Monday morning both fire companies answered an alarm for a fire south of the village at the old Stringer Tavern, owned by Mr. Vaviere. Flames were shooting through the roof of the barn when the fire was discovered. A bucket brigade was formed by neighbors and passing motorists, who saved the house. When the fire companies arrived one tank of chemical and four hand chemical tanks were used on the shed. The barn with its contents was a total loss. This included two automobiles, also a horse and meat cart belonging to Mr Bessette.

NO. GROSVENORDALE

Burglars entered the home of John Demetry early Saturday morning. When Mr. Demetry's brother, Pando woke Saturday he found the door open and his clothes strewn about the floor. He woke his brother who notified the state barracks in Danielson. This is the second break in the Demetry home in the past three months. Each time the burglars have taken only clothing. Mr. Demetry, better known to people in this section as Johnson, was asleep in the room adjoining the one burglarized. The loss is estimated by Mr. Demetry at about $200. The thieves got two suits, two hats and seven shirts. State Officer Royal Scranton investigated. This is the second robbery during the past week. There were minor breaks at the home of Telesphore Biron and Peter Murphy, but nothing of value was reported missing.

Joseph Laliberty, arrested Friday by Officer Raoul Blanchette for drunkenness, appeared before Judge P. P. Tourtellotte Saturday. He was fined $7 and costs and being unable to raise the money was sent to Brooklyn jail.

St. Joseph's Easter Program.

The first and second masses were low masses at St. Joseph's church Easter morning. The 10.30 high mass was sung by Rev. John C. Mathieu, who preached on The Life of Jesus Christ, speaking both in French and English. Rev. Father Lavallee read mass at the mission in Quimbaug and his sermon was on Christ's Passion.

Sunday afternoon at solemn Easter vespers, Rev. Father Ubald Laurion, a local boy recently ordained to the priesthood officiated, assisted by Rev. Fathers Mathieu and Lavalle. He also gave a short sermon.

There was an Easter program at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night given by the Sunday school class.

St. Joseph's parochial school will open on Wednesday instead of Tuesday, as announced by Father Mathieu Sunday morning.

There will be a nuptial high mass this (Monday) morning at St. Joseph's church when George Houle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houle weds Miss Angelina Lariviere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lariviere.

ONECO

Friday evening, twelve members of the L. A. S. of the M. E. church gave Mrs. Mary E. Burdick a surprise call. They presented her a purse of money in honor of her 71st birthday, also in recognition of her work in the society for a long period of years. Sandwiches, cakes and coffee were served and dainty favors of pink Easter baskets were provided for each guest.

Eczema in Blisters on Child's Head and Face. Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out on my daughter's head and face in small blisters. When the blisters broke water came from them and sore eruptions formed. The itching and burning were so severe that she used to scratch until the eruptions would bleed. She used to cry and was very restless, and I had to walk the floor night after night with her. Her hair all fell out. I was ashamed to take the child out.

MR. AND MRS. J. P. BARBER OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 21.—This afternoon at their home on Prospect street, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Barber observed the golden anniversary of their wedding. They were married 50 years ago today at Mashapaug. Before their marriage Mrs. Barber was Miss Anna Arnold. They received from 3 to 5 p. m. today and during the two hours about 50 of their friends came to congratulate them. In attendance were three of their children, Mrs. Albert H. Willey of South Woodstock, Mrs. Charles J. Washburn of Springfield and Miss Elsie Barber of Passaic, N. J. Their son, Byron R., of Pittsburgh, was unable to be present. Four of their ten grandchildren were among those to congratulate them on their anniversary. They received many gifts, including a basket of 50 yellow roses from their children and flowers and gold from members of the Methodist church. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The first 25 years of their married life, Mr. and Mrs. Barber lived in the Barber homestead in Woodstock. The past 25 years they have been residents of Danielson.

BEDARD IS A GRAND JUROR RULES SUPREME COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 21.—Frank M. Bedard of the West Side has won a final victory over the town of Brooklyn in the matter having to do with whether or not he was entitled to be declared elected a grand juror of that town at the annual town meeting last October. The supreme court of errors of the state says that he was in a decision just handed down and signed by Justice Banks. The case, originally heard by Judge Allyn Brown in the superior court at Norwich, was appealed to the supreme court in the interest of the town of Brooklyn, and now that tribunal has said that it finds no error in Judge Brown's decision.

Mr. Bedard, very much elated at what he considers a moral victory over the town in which he is resident, said this afternoon that he would qualify at once.

Upon announcing the results of the balloting in Brooklyn last October, Moderator F. E. Cunneen did not declare Mr. Bedard, a candidate on the republican ticket, elected because the warning for the meeting specifically set forth that only five candidates for grand juror should be elected, though there were six candidates for the place. Mr. Bedard received the smallest number of votes of any of these candidates.

However, through his counsel, Attorney E. L. Darbie, Mr. Bedard contended that it had long been the practice in Brooklyn to elect six grand jurors, and this arrangement could not be legally changed until such change was authorized in a town meeting, which had not been done.

This contention now has been upheld both in the superior court and in the supreme court and Mr. Bedard gets a listing as a grand juror of Brooklyn. No similar case is recalled to have arisen in territory hereabouts, and the outcome of the matter has been awaited with special interest, both in Brooklyn and in Killingly.

WEDDINGS

Forcier—Magrey

There was a pretty wedding at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church in Dayville when Miss Louise Marie Magrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Magrey of 420 Litchfield avenue, Goodyear, was united in marriage with Valmore Henry Forcier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alma Forcier of Goodyear.

The pastor, Rev. Ignatius Kost, performed the marriage ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frank Sarult, as matron of honor, and the best man was Lafayette Forcier, brother of the groom. The bride's gown was of white satin and her bouquet of calla lilies. The matron of honor wore a gown of peach satin and her bouquet was of tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Forcier are spending their honeymoon in New York city, and upon their return there is to be a reception Saturday evening, May 3, at the home of the groom's parents. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

Rodman—McGovern

Another charming wedding ceremony at St. Joseph's church in Dayville this morning was that of Miss Ruth Estelle McGovern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McGovern of 118 State avenue, Goodyear, and Alexander A. Rodman of Goodyear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodman of Brooklyn, N. Y. Relatives and many friends of the contracting couple were at the church. Rev. Ignatius Kost married them and was celebrant of their high nuptial mass.

Miss Grace McGovern, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and George Sarsult was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white satin. Her veil was of lace, caught with a spray of orange blossoms and her bouquet of Easter lilies. The bridesmaid wore a yellow satin and tulle gown, with picture hat to match, and her bouquet was of pink roses. Gifts to the wedding attendants were a birthstone ring and a tan and brown outfit.

After a wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Rodman are to make their home in Goodyear.

Today Coroner Arthur G. Bill began his inquest in the case of Leon R. Chatelle, the little boy who last week was struck by an automobile operated by Stephen Suboliski of the neighboring town of Foster, R. I., and died a few hours later at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam. The accident happened on the state highway near the child's home in Attawaugan last Tuesday evening. At the time Suboliski said that the child ran out unexpectedly from the side of the road, and he was unable to stop the machine before the little fellow was struck. Coroner Bill was inquiring carefully today to determine whether that was negligence on the part of the operator. A finding is expected within a few days.

This evening at the home of Mrs. P. F. Murray, Academy street, a party of 16 of her girl friends attended a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Mary Mahoney, member of the faculty of Plainfield high school, where Miss Helen Cronin, niece of Mrs. Murray, also teaches. Bridge was one of the diversions of the evening and the affair was one of the prettiest of the Easter season here. Refreshments were served. Miss Mahoney, who is a resident of Norwich and who will resign from teaching at the end of the present school year, received many useful gifts.

Wednesday evening Brooklyn grange is to hold a meeting in Grange hall in that place to take up the state-wide movement for better dirt roads. This meeting is in line with the one to be held at South Killingly Tuesday evening and will be open to the general public, as it is in the interest of the public at large. There will be discussion of the road problem, and it is expected that delegates will be elected to a state gathering to be held in Hartford within a few days.

August Friese, Bert Hammond, Gertrude Schroll and Janet Kennedy were the leaders at the Hi-Y-Tri-Y sunrise service held Easter morning at 6 o'clock. Raymond Allen was the speaker. The choir, which consists of Tri-Y girls, sang Easter songs, accompanied by the organist, George Seaver, and the pianist, Cora Brown. The attendance was good.

The home of Peter Ennis of Lewis boulevard was raided at noon today by a group of state officers from the Danielson barracks, only a short distance from the Ennis home. As the officers entered one door Mrs. Ennis ran out another door with a bottle containing an alleged intoxicant, but she was overtaken and the bottle seized. A batch of beer was also taken in the raid. Ennis, who will be making his third appearance for violation of the liquor laws, will be in the town court Tuesday.

Warden Linscott of the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston, who so narrowly escaped death Saturday afternoon in the sensational attempt at a wholesale delivery of prisoners to freedom by a trio of gangsters, is well known to the members of the Danielson Rotary club, which organization he has visited in Danielson several times, to be with them at their meetings, and has addressed them.

Edward Hart of Providence left a motor truck parked at a hydrant in the business section today, and Chief John McFarland tagged the machine. Hart emerged from a restaurant, inquired what the tag was all about and then nonchalantly went back to finish his meal, without moving the truck. And that was why Hart came to court this afternoon and was fined $1 and costs by Deputy Judge Charles S. Francis for violation of the parking regulations.

PUTNAM

CONG. CHURCH VOTES TO RAZE TENEMENT HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 21—The trustees of the Congregational church have voted to tear down the tenement owned by the church on Livery street, in the rear of the edifice, which for years has been a landmark in that section of the city. The structure is in poor condition, and in consideration of this fact, the committee in charge of the real estate thought it advisable to eliminate the property entirely, rather than to expend the large sum necessary to recondition it. It was said today that the site and surroundings might possibly be leased to some party for a parking ground, since the location is ideal for such an enterprise. It has also been suggested to the committee to convert the property into a church play-ground. It has been said that the site could be easily utilized for this purpose.

A call posted today by the trustees of the Congregational church announced that formal action would be taken by the committee in charge on the resignation of Rev. James F. English, pastor of the church for five years, whose resignation was presented last Wednesday, at a meeting to be held Thursday evening. At this meeting a committee will be named to select a successor to Rev. Mr. English and to extend a call to the pastorate of the local church to him.

Rose M. Raynsford, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Raynsford of Pomfret, died at her home there Saturday following a brief illness. Miss Raynsford was born in Pomfret November 23, 1913, and lived practically all of her life in the town of her birth. She was employed in silk plants hereabouts as an operator.

Toussaint Larose, 66, for many years a resident of this city, died Sunday following a prolonged illness at his home on 363 Main street. Mr. Larose was born in L'Ange Garden, Canada, on March 23, 1864. He came to this country as a young man working in various places in this part of the county as a laborer. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Agna Larose of Main street.

The dramatic interpretation of the biblical story, "The Rock," presented at the last of the friendly evening services at the Congregational church Sunday night was an excellent portrayal of the first Easter. The character roles were enacted by members of the Young Peoples' Forum of the church who are to be complimented for their work.

Eight members of the A. Wilder Merriam Camp, United Spanish War veterans attended the annual banquet of the state organization which was held Saturday evening in Manchester.

Terence J. McGarry, student at the General Electric school, Lynn, Mass., spent the week end at his home on Grove street.

Frank Donovan, is spending the Easter recess at his home on Lyons street. He is a student at St. John's Prep in Danvers, Mass.

Lake salmon caught in Maine waters were exhibited in the windows of the A. Gilman company store Saturday evening. The catch of three fish, with a total weight of more than fifteen pounds, served to attract much attention from shoppers.

The post-Lenten season saw the revival of social activities in this city tonight. The 37th annual Easter Monday ball of the Cargill council, Knights of Columbus was attended by large numbers who have been socially inactive since the beginning of Lent.

Members of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Alban's church assembled at the parish house here early this evening and then proceeded to Plainfield for an evening of recreation at the Community house.

James R. Walsh began the collection of town taxes for the year today. He will be regularly engaged with the work for the next month, after which time interest will be charged on unpaid tax bills.

Miss Gertrude Reynolds, student at Mt. St. Vincent college on the Hudson, is spending the Easter recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reynolds.

A meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce was held Monday evening in the C. of C. rooms on Main street.

Easter pageants presented in the various churches of the city Sunday evening attracted large audience.

Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin is away from the city this week on business pertaining to the management of the school department.

Fishermen continue to report an abundance of the species of brown trout being taken from the waters of the Mashamoquet brook in Pomfret.

Attorney A. Macdonald Jr., chairman of the railroad service committee of the chamber of commerce, leading the movement for the restoration of mail, passenger and baggage service on the Norwich and Worcester branch of the New Haven railroad, said today that no important developments in the crusade have transpired since the passing of a resolution by the common council a few weeks ago, in which the council approved the work of the committee.

JEWETT CITY

8 FALSE ECONOMY TO SKIMP ON NEW HIGHWAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, April 21.—An engineer was in the borough Monday, a resident of one of the smaller cities in this end of the state. The visitor holds briefs for neither the state, the construction company, now the borough of Jewett City. Being thus disinterested, he expressed these opinions, based on unbiased knowledge, as he looked over the present local road situation. Now, he said, is the opportune time for the borough of Jewett City to advance itself fully 15 years, all in a single summer. He characterized Jewett City as the recognized leader in communities of its size, and even much larger, in possessing, among many natural advantages, a system of macadam highways that extend throughout its entire street system. He spoke of the fine vision and forethought of a former warden, Joseph H. McCarthy, under whose administration these important improvements were completed. Here is the situation, he said. A cement road only 20 feet in width is to be built through the borough's main street, which will leave several feet of soft shoulder on either side. Now then, by cooperation with the state in the payment of $7,000, Jewett City can arrange for a cement highway extending from curb to curb, in one broad sweep from Slater avenue to the north borough line. Cement gutters, easily cleaned of snow and washed free from the usual side collections of bits of rubbish and impurities. Take it at points above Tracy avenue, citing such beauty spots as David Hale Fanning park and that handsome piece of architecture, the St. Mary's school; the enhancement here which would be given by a curb-to-curb cement road is hardly to be reckoned by the comparatively small amount for which the state of Connecticut will complete a highway through this borough, that must inspire that civic pride which Jewett City is anxious to promote and maintain. What he said about the park and school, goes for the churches, banks and business blocks that front on this main artery of trunk line traffic. Again, the city man called attention to the impressions a visitor to Jewett City is to receive, when he sees only a ribbon of cement running through the town. The man also had something to say of further importance, when he remarked that Jewett City was known all over the state for its business interests, up-to-date ideas, and, more than that, for its progressive board of borough officials, whom he said he believed would not be slow in grasping this unsurpassed opportunity to advance in this outstanding particular, of securing model highways, which cannot fail of being a lasting benefit to the community. Warden E. J. Jodoin and Treasurer John F. Barnett of the borough of Jewett City were seen today and it is learned that the $7,000 needed to make good with the state would not need to be borrowed. Local attorneys point out that even in the event that a temporary loan was necessary, the interest of $420 annually would be a negligible amount as applied to the borough tax rate.

Norwich Case Continued

Upon complaint of Grace Rys of Jewett City, Steve Kiecolt of Norwich was before the Griswold town court Monday morning on a bastardy charge. The case was continued to May 3, upon request of Attorney Earl Mathewson of Norwich, counsel for Kiecolt.

BELLEFLEUR AND SEARS TO ADDRESS AM. LEGION

This (Thursday) evening there is to be an open meeting of the American Legion. Commander W. H. Payne and assisting officials are trying to boom this most important organization. There are two outstanding helps—the members of the Legion are interested and enthusiastic and the townspeople are ready with sympathetic cooperation. The speaker this evening will be Thomas Sears, state liaison officer of the 40 and 8, of Taftville, and Joseph Bellefleur, Fifth district commander, of Norwich.

Miss Anna Bugbee is the first to report finding Dutchman's breeches, spring beauties, adder tongue and spice bush.

Mrs. James Walsh entertained Mrs. Francis Campbell at supper Sunday evening, to celebrate both her birthday and that of her daughter, Eileen Walsh. A large birthday cake frosted in pink and white was ornamented with candles in number corresponding to both ages. Miss Eileen received a white-gold wrist watch from her father. The two families were neighbors for several years, and Mrs. Walsh has always celebrated the two birthdays.

The Easter cantata, "Life Eternal," seemed to be very popular this year, for it was given in the Jewett City, Colchester and Canterbury Congregational churches and Willimantic Methodist church. Several from Jewett City attended the Canterbury service Sunday evening.

Within the space of 16 hours, the big steam shovel has cleared the new road survey down to grade, from Slater avenue nearly to Ashland street. The rough trap rock is left in the roadbed and it is sure something to drive over. One local merchant remarked to one of the construction men that it was pretty tough sledding. The driver felt cheered when the workman replied, "Boy! you ain't seen nothin' yet!"

The Jewett City Badgers defeated the Aspinook Sluggers in an exciting ten-inning game, 10 to 8. The game was featured by the hitting of "Nap" Carroll, who hit two doubles. The line-up for the winners was: N. Carroll, c; J. Larrabee, p-ss; O. Carter, 1b; D. Wechsler, p-ss; J. Marrenello, 2b; W. Purdon, 3b; E. Fawcett, lf; D. Rourke, cf; E. Lefevre, rf.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK

Through appeals which are made by organizations which are specially interested therein and proclamations by governors, attention is directed to the observance of Be Kind to Animals week which is now with us.

As in so many instances, much stress is laid upon teaching children the principles of humanity and universal benevolence. It is recognized that if such thoughts can be implanted in the minds of the children so that they will be disposed to show kindness to animals even as they do to their brothers and sisters and playmates, it will become the basis for a greater degree of justice and mercy for all living things. And certainly when we stop to realize the vast amount of cruelty that is practiced, the neglect that exists and the great lack of humane consideration, there is good and sufficient reason for widespread backing to the movement for kindness.

During the early days of this country, recognition was given to the importance of giving protection to animals by the establishment of laws which provided penalties for those who mistreated animals. Thus it is by no means a new idea and certainly it is not a fad. Because animals are in so many instances tolerant, and because many seem to think that it is necessary to abuse them in order to secure obedience, there are the inconsiderate and merciless individuals who carry the idea that dumb animals are simply targets for harsh treatment and fail to appreciate the fact that they have feelings and become less valuable and less responsive because of the brutal treatment received.

It cannot be believed that such persons ever were taught the right kind of a lesson in regard to kindness to animals. They have continued to give thought to the matter chiefly because they fail to understand the animal's method of resentment. Because they do not respond in like method and cannot talk back in language which the human brute will appreciate they are made to suffer. There are vicious animals, but there are not many of them but what would give proper response to kind treatment and the effort to develop greater thought in that direction is a most commendable one.

ANTIQUE SWINDLERS

While there may be a feeling that there are already laws enough, there is always plenty of sympathy for the effort that is directed to the prevention and punishment of swindlers, cheats and fakers.

Where the swindler is involved it is easily recognized that he gets a chance to carry on his business through misrepresentations, through alluring tales and through the gullibility of the public. Prevention to a large degree rests with the people. In view of the experience with such underhanded persons the public has reason to suspect that which seems improbable even though personal enrichment is the promise. That, in itself, is enough to arouse suspicion and to induce the person approached to seek the advice of those who can be trusted and those who know what is what.

But in spite of all the laws that exist under which swindlers can be reached, it is the belief of Senator Wagner of New York that there is not sufficient law to reach the swindler in antiques, and it is his proposal that the need be met. He has no objection to dealings in legitimate antiques but he wants it set forth that an antique, to be so termed, must have been in existence for 100 years or more. He would surround the buyer of antiques with federal protection. He would give them the benefit of legislation which would create no terror for the dealers in the real articles, but would put an end to the business of making reproductions, even to the extent of putting in the discolorations, worm holes and other tell-tale points, and passing them off as "antiques," for which big sums are collected.

This may seem like surrounding the antique buyer with a protection which he ought to secure for himself by dealing with honest handlers of such goods or consulting experts. It is a move which will, nevertheless, make a strong appeal to many persons who have felt the sting of the swindler, although there are probably many who have bought modern "antiques" because they got what they were looking for and are perfectly satisfied with the bargain. It is against such faking, taking advantage of an easy public, that the effort is directed.

THE INDIAN SITUATION

The British have for a long time had their troubles with India. They have not been the easiest to overcome and they have not all been minor in character. With changing conditions new demands are made and at the present time the Gandhi movement is giving it cause for much concern.

This is a nationalist movement in which the natives have been aroused to revolutionary tactics. They have been urged to resist the police, although with as little violence as possible, the aim being to have the authorities display the aggression as much as possible, for the effect it will have upon the rest of the natives. Already many jailings have served to arouse sympathy for the cause and it is a question how long the Gandhi influence will serve to restrain his followers from more serious acts.

That the British are much concerned over the developments there is indicated in various ways. They have reached the decision that while the arrest of certain of his followers has been necessary the taking into custody of Gandhi himself would be a mistake. They know his influence and they appreciate what the effect would be should he be seized and jailed. Such a method on other occasions has served to make a martyr of individuals. Evidently there is no intention of helping the Gandhi cause in any such manner, but while there appears to be a disposition to ignore the leader, Gandhi is not losing any opportunity to rally support in his behalf.

Thus far there appears to be no other response to the Gandhi demands on the part of the British than to arrest certain supporters and to make certain that the military strength is kept at an impressive figure without actually bringing it into use. Whether the intention is to use that as a means of suppressing the trouble-makers, or to provide some additional advantages in the way of self-government, has not been revealed. Some significance may be attached to the fact that little if anything has been heard from the report that was made by the commission that investigated conditions in India something over a year ago.

CITY STREETS FROM GAS TAX

In the use of funds which are received from the tax on gasoline, the view has often been advanced that a certain portion of the revenue should be turned over to the cities for highway construction and maintenance, or that the state should provide for a certain amount of street improvement in the cities each year. In suggesting such a thing, attention is directed to the fact that it is from the residents of the cities that a huge share of the gas tax is received and that some of it should be devoted to the betterment of city streets.

The plea, is of course, in keeping with the claim of residents of the country that more of the gasoline tax money should be devoted to the improvement of the country roads so that they will be fit for use throughout the year. That plea is also accompanied by the claim that residents on such roads ought to get this consideration in view of the taxes they pay.

Whether it is wise for any such construction to be done by the state when city streets are involved may be open to question. If a state is going to turn over funds for such work to a city, it may insist upon building the new road itself and then leaving the maintenance to the city, thus getting a standard job. But it can hardly be expected that cities will give up control of their streets without a thorough understanding as to where authority begins and ends under any plan of the kind.

An opportunity to note how such a move will work out is furnished by the action of the Rhode Island legislature in including an important avenue in the city of Pawtucket in the state system. The state is to make the needed improvement. Being in the state system, the state will probably be looked to to maintain it. It will relieve the city greatly if it keeps it cleared in the winter and policed throughout the year.

AMERICAN RUBBER

Among the rubber growers the situation is not entirely satisfactory. Prices are not what they think they should be, so the British and Dutch rubber interests have reached an understanding whereby there will be a let-up in tapping for a month, commencing with the first of May. This will reduce the supply of raw rubber and it is expected it will have the effect of increasing the price.

This is a different expedient than was resorted to a few years ago when the British placed restrictions on exportations so as to reduce the supply of raw rubber coming to this country and, therefore, forcing the reduced supply to advance the price. It wasn't what could be called a successful scheme. A way was found to beat it, but it so revealed the rubber situation that American growers began production in rubber regions which are calculated to make this country independent of foreign sources.

To augment that development, Thomas A. Edison has been devoting much study to the goldenrod as a source of rubber. Mr. Edison declares that he hopes to cross breed his golden rod with a variety containing a high percentage of latex so that an emergency supply of rubber can be grown by the farmers of this country and harvested in a period of six months.

This experiment has developed keen interest in countries other than the United States. But, while it gives promise of satisfactory results, information is given that the cultivation of certain types of plants containing far more rubber than the goldenrod has been accomplished in this country. This may operate to place a damper on the continuation of the Edison experiments, if the report is backed up by results, but it will be a big thing for this country if it can become independent of other countries for its raw rubber supply.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The chief trouble with housecleaning time is housecleaning itself.

The man on the corner says: We'll need a new coal bin if we can't stop scraping soon.

It will be time very soon to make a list of those who have been skipped by the census enumerator.

A Worcester man barricaded himself in the cellar to dodge the census man. Some people are easily frightened.

Believe it or not, there remain only a few more days in which those who observe the R rule will eat oysters until fall.

It has dawned upon some that if they don't use Jamaica ginger as a beverage there is no danger of "jakey" paralysis.

"Held for fatal auto accident" is a frequently used headline. How much better it would be if they would hold themselves before an accident occurred.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, April 21—Connecticut stood in the foremost rank of the D. A. R. Congress held during the past week, in both an official and a social way. Not only were Connecticut women placed in positions of high responsibility, but many social affairs were given in their honor.

They made a fine showing among the 6,000 women attending the congress, as delegates, alternates, or "just daughters."

Politically Connecticut has taken its full share of publicity coupled with hard work.

Floor Leader Tilson is bearing the brunt of requests for places on the house program, many of which it will be impossible for him to grant, the program being already pretty full.

The end of the tariff conference is in sight, and then certain controversial schedules will be taken to the floor of the house for debate and action before the bill goes back to the senate for action in that body.

Senator Bingham refused, with good reason, to become a member of the newly appointed investigation committee, assigned to look into the expenditures of candidates in their senatorial primaries. Mr. Bingham, in addition to his already too full schedule of committee assignments, will spend the summer as chairman of the Samoan commission appointed by President Hoover. The committee will sit during the summer, so Senator Bingham of course could not accept a position on it.

Senator and Mrs. Walcott hurried back from South Carolina where the senator went as member of the senate committee to take part in the 250th anniversary of the settlement of Charleston, in order to be here when the D. A. R.'s of Connecticut came for their congress. Senator and Mrs. Bingham gave a tea in honor of their Connecticut visitors, which was attended by members of the congressional delegation. It was held at the Bingham residence, which is President Hoover's home, when not in the white house. It was from the present Walcott residence that Mr. Hoover went forth the day of his inauguration little more than a year ago, so the visitors from Connecticut had a double interest in the ocassion of the Walcott tea.

"Stand right still, where you are, lady, and I'll take your picture. A real old fashioned tin-type, finished in three minutes while you wait." And the camera man beamed on the "lady" as she passed on, head high in the air, on her way to the D. A. R. congress. No, "lady" didn't want a tin type. Sometimes she was too young to know what old fashioned tin types are; sometimes she was old enough to remember tin-type days, but wanted to forget it. Somehow they didn't seem to match up with bobbed hair, short skirts and the bloom of bottled or boxed youth on her cheeks.

At every corner, leading from the Avenue to Continental hall were itinerant camera men, venders of flowers, which they guaranteed would "make you look even more pretty than you now is" as they held up pink, red and yellow roses, jonquils and violets.

Cherry blossoms, Japanese maidens and the gathering of 6,00 valiant descendants of men and women who fought and prayed for the independence of the United States, marked the week just closing. Moreover, even though it was Holy Week, and so observed by churches, the long period of mourning ordered by President Hoover in honor of the late Secretary of War Good, coupled with the coming of the D. A. R. put social activity to the foreground, a week ahead of scheduled time.

Perhaps one of the most notable evidences that all society women are not "spoiled" by prestige and power was shown by Mrs. Gann, sister and official hostess for the vice president. It has long been recognized that from a social and official standpoint, Mrs. Gann stands second in rank only to Mrs. Hoover.

Here is a little incident I personally witnessed, which shows Mrs. Gann to be one of the most tactful, amiable and truly courteous women in Washington's official life.

It seems that during the closing hours of the recent republican school of politics, a reception was given late in the afternoon with Mrs. Gann as honor guest. It was a small affair and ended somewhat ahead of scheduled time. Your correspondent was the last guest to arrive. There sat Mrs. Gann, with only one woman as a companion, calmly waiting while a much flustered high official of the school, scurried out to hunt up a bouquet of sweet peas that somehow had failed to get there in time to be presented to the guest of honor, leaving Mrs. Gann with one lone woman as a bodyguard.

Mrs. Gann greeted the latest comer with a cordial smile made no reference to what must have been a novel and rather trying situation for the "Second Lady of the Land," who was due at another reception at the moment. Then the flustered high official returned, bearing a box of belated flowers. Mrs. Gann took the box with a smile, untied the ribbons, said a pretty word of admiration, then left, as if she had not been subjected to any unusual or annoying experience.

Somehow that showed Mrs. Gann in a light that reflects a halo of good breeding ability and sympathetic warmheartedness in relieving the troubled hostess from embarrassment.

Mighty few women in high society would not have resented being left to "sit out alone" the last quarter of an hour at a reception given in her honor.

I can fancy the impulsive Alice Roosevelt Longworth, or her running mate the imperious Ruth Hanna McCormick in such a situation.

One of the prettiest pictures of the week was when the four visiting Japanese women, scarcely out of young girlhood, stood in native costume under the Japanese cherry blossoms down in Potomac park.

During their good will stay here the Japanese flag flew side by side with the American flag, on the Red Cross and many other public buildings. The girls came from Japan to express the thanks of the people of that country for aid rendered Japan during the earthquake of 1923.

President Hoover moved back to the white house offices, now entirely rebuilt at a cost of $200,000 instead of the estimated $75,000 as was announced soon after the Christmas eve fire that demolished the building.

General Pershing, whose offices in the war department were used by the president during the winter, is now in France, and will not return until summer. In the meantime his former offices are being restored to their former appearance. All war-like reminders of the general and the World war were taken away during the president's occupancy of the Pershing quarters—now they will be put back in place, so when Pershing returns, it will be to same surroundings, as if they have never known presidential occupancy.

Speaking of the war department, an order has recently been issued to the cavalry, that extends in part, to infantry officers as well. Hereafter cavalry officers must be expert horseshoers. Their instruction require them to be of "sufficient character to insure proper shoeing under all circumstances." Even infantry officers must hereafter know enough about horse shoeing to "know when a shoe fits."

People here are making much over the coming of Sir Ronald Charles Lindsay, the newly installed British ambassador. He stands 6 feet four, is of ample proportions as to width, is fond of tennis, quick of humor, in a dry sort of way, and says he is certain he will enjoy his position here. Mrs. Lindsay is an American woman, and they will soon move into the magnificent new embassy building, nearing completion.

ACCOMPLISHING RESULTS

The words stood out. "If," declaimed the essay on "Prohibition" by the professor, "you actually wish to do a thing, you will make the requisite amount of time. Never claim that you have not time enough to accomplish a certain result."

That settled it. Her family smiled tolerantly when she asserted that she was going to be a writer and as for Spencer, he waved his arms, turned crimson and choked when he tried to convince her that a kitchenette should be her fate with himself using the latchkey at 6.15 each evening.

"Why can't you be a great writer if you are married?" he wanted to know, indignantly. "What has matrimony got to do with it? And anyhow—how do you know you're going to be a great writer?"

At this point Cordelia wished she might fly into a rage and retort splendidly. But she continued to smile palely and explain to Spencer that if she were married she never would have time to evolve masterpieces. As it was, she never seemed to have time to write the stories which surged through her brain. Something invariably interfered.

However, she realized that if John Jasabo, the millionaire inventor, had studied all his mechanical and scientific books during the fifteen-minute intervals before his employer arrived at his desk, there really was no reason why she should not grab half hour periods here and there and accomplish something. Besides, she yearned to wipe the tolerant smiles off the faces of her family and to stand on a glittering height waving a publisher's check in the face of Spencer, who would not take her art seriously.

They turned on the heat machine to dry out her hair at the beauty shop that day and she settled back tensely to get a plot worked out. Odd, how all her imaginary heroes looked like Spencer. Well, that was because he was so fine-looking. If only he were not so set on having things his own way and so secretly skeptical about her beings called to literature.

"Don't you think," broke in the woman in the next chair, "that this extreme heat makes the hair brittle? Why, my daughter—"

"Is everything all right," the solicitous attendant wanted to know for the third time. "Let me show you this new brilliantine. And I want to explain our new facials."

Her hair finished, Cordelia fled to the waiting room of a big store. In some dim corner she would get that plot penciled out or know why not.

"My grief—Cordelia!" trilled a voice from the next chair as she relaxed, pencil in hand, to straighten out her thoughts. "I haven't seen you all summer! Did you go to the lake? And was Herbert up there this year?

Did he ask after me? My, but I'm glad to meet you here!"

Rather grimly, Cordelia arose from the family dinner table that night. "I have work to do," she told them loftily. "I am going to my room and I do not want to be interrupted. Tell any telephone callers I'm out and if anyone dares try the front door, repeat a little of the same!"

Five minutes alone in her room and then the door opened and her sister entered. "I know it, I know it!" she warded off sharp reproaches. "But we just had a telephone call from Aunt Gertrude—she's been waiting over two hours at the depot and wants all of use to come down and help her wait and you know perfectly well that what an elderly lady with $500,000 wants, she gets! Hop to it, old girl!"

With a pad of paper in her coat pocket, Cordelia boarded the suburban train for the city the next morning. Her intentions were to snub her best friend if such a friend interfered with her solitude. She would work at top speed and accomplish something. A gray tweed form slid into the seat beside her.

"Hello," said Spencer. "Glad I saw you because I want to tell you something. I've found a kitchenette that's a knockout and I'm taking you to see it the minute this train strikes town. Let bricks and stones say what I cannot seem to say—whachu doing there, Cordelia?"

For a long minute Cordelia regarded him. Suddenly she began to wonder what life would be if Spencer spent the rest of his life looking as he was looking this minute, at some other girl, while she published books.

"Nothing much," Cordelia said, tearing up the scribbled lines. "I just don't get time to do anything in the writing line. I guess you're right. Wh—where is this flat?"

"Why, you'd have loads of time between breakfast and dinner," Spencer assured her joyously. "You can write all you want to, honey. What on earth would there be to do after breakfast was over and I was gone to work? You—why, you'd have time to burn!"—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ideals

Mr. Editor: Some there are who have said to me: How do you manage to recall all these old time themes that you are writing about, for with the lapse of years it is strange you do not forget. What can I answer to this? Only this, and nothing more: We know we collect much material during life, and we notice many things as we travel on, perhaps without a thought or any definite idea that we may use this later on, but when the occasion arrives there is some happening or some incident which occurs that recalls something that we have seen before, and we seize upon it, and this inspires one to try and bring it out so others may read and be interested. It carries us back to those things that we think are real and worthwhile. It is a real diversion for it is an exercise for our minds, so we try to interest and reach out to those things that are essential to our lives, our being and our happiness. Thoreau said you might try a thousand themes before you get the right one. As nature makes a thousand acorns to get an oak so we wander back into the dim and misty past for our ideals to recreate those days that we love to recall. This becomes our theme. It is a fact and cannot be disputed that a great part of every person's life is devoted to the collecting of something that is worthwhile. We recall many happy incidents that appeal to us. It may be the recollection of a happy hour spent beneath the roof of some dear old farm house where you meet some of your friends. With stories or perhaps a song some one will entertain which helps to pass away a happy hour. Here is comfort and real happiness. You think of this and it gives you an inspiration. All this comes to others as well as me, for we recall the theme by Robert Morris when he says I know the beds of eastern princes and the luxurious coaches of Occidental plutocrats. But under the roof of some old farm house where the mudwasp nest answers for a Rembrandt, and the cobweb takes the place of a Murillo. There is a featherbed into which one softly sinks until his very soul is soothed and fitted, and here he settles down and farther down falls into sweet slumber while the screech owl and the whip-poor-will call to their mates from the shadows of the dim lit woods. You listen and slowly but surely fall asleep. Stocks may go up or down and panic seize the town but here is one man who is at peace with all the world. While the all-seeing eye is watching over the world until the coming of another day when you once again go below to meet your friends, these are some of the many things that come to us and are the ones we love to recall. So, too, this is my heritage and yours as well. There is no question that when we are young we are thoughtless, but as we grow old we look upon everything from a different angle. We see some whom we have known who have moved on and prospered and have accumulated much of this world's goods. Perhaps we are a little envious, and still if we search our inmost soul we find we could have had the same prosperity, for perhaps we may have led a butterfly existence while the successful ones were up and doing. There is no question that every man is the architect of his own life and being, and every one is imbued with the one desire to reach that pinnacle in life. At least to reach that point where when that old fellow with the hour glass says we are through, we can at least pass on, leaving behind us at least enough for those who have been dependent upon us so they will not be a charge upon their relatives who no question have a hard enough struggle to take care of themselves. We are all in search of an ideal in life. Some there are who search for political advancement and that they may be honored among men. Others are in a mad scramble for money and they do not care how they get it. When night overtakes them there are many who lie down with an uneasy mind, not to sleep but to lie there and toss and worry until the coming of another day, ever fearful of detection. Their day is begun without too much thought as to how they succeed even though they bring suffering upon others. Such an ideal is wrong.

Carl Schurz has said: Ideals are like stars. You will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but, like the mariner, you take them as your guide, and, following them, you reach your destiny, for there is a destiny shapes our ends rough hew them as we may.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—It is often said that every business organization must have one man in it so hard-boiled in his outlook that nobody ever thinks of appealing to his sympathies. He's a sort of office goat.

Other executives, shirking responsibility for unpopular rulings, just shrug their shoulders and blame them on this cog in the machine.

Even congress has its self-constituted treasury watchdogs. It always has had them. Usually leaders of the party in power more or less encourage a publicity hound across the aisle in senate or house to get on the job and object to bills on consent calendar days.

To assume that role, a legislator must be rather thick skinned and avoid putting in small bills himself against which there would certainly be reprisals.

Many Rows

Uncle Sam's government has two such positions in the executive branch. Both the budget director and the comptroller general have very unpleasant tasks to perform. Neither position makes for popularity. Cutting anybody off at the purse-strings is not a job for the hail-fellow-well-met type.

Probably that's one reason congress made the comptroller general's job a 15-year hitch. He has to do so many unpopular things he could never get a reappointment.

Look over the nine-year record of Comptroller General James R. McCarl, who was appointed by President Harding, and you will find it bristling with rows with cabinet officers and things like slicing down pay or claims on legal grounds.

Power

General McCarl holds that only congress has greater power than that vested in him. Even the president would have to go to court or to congress to override a comptroller's ruling. And, naturally, howls of anguish have been frequent. Mr. McCarl easily could make claim to being the most unpopular government official.

So it must have been refreshing for him to have such pleasant things said about him in the senate as came up during the ruction over the St. Paul commercial post office station lease.

Senator Norris, who brought McCarl to Washington as his secretary years ago when the Nebraskan first came to the house, started it. They come from the same home town and Norris said, backed by Fess of Ohio, whose secretary McCarl also was for six years, it was impossible even to suspect him of complicity in any irregular or improper proceedings.

Blaine of Wisconsin, who had brought in McCarl's name, was prompt to say he had no intention of implying discredit to the comptroller general.

"I doubt if there is a member of congress, and I know there is no member of an administrative department who can obtain from General McCarl approval of a project by back-door methods," Blaine said. "He does not do business that way."

Which is rather a fine tribute to nine years' work, no?

YOUR HEALTH

ARE YOU AFRAID OF A HOSPITAL?

By CLARK D. BROOKS, M. D., Detroit, Mich.

(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

There is no question in the minds of experienced physicians but that many times patients lose their lives because they are afraid to go to a hospital. This fear has come down from the past ages when hospital care was only sought by those in a very serious or dying condition. When they did not survive, many of their friends would associate their death with the hospital, when as a matter of fact death might have been prevented by seeking the best hospital and medical care earlier in the disease.

The hospital is an institution carefully equipped at great expense, with all things necessary for the care and comfort of the sick. Its staff is made up of competent physicians experienced in the care of the sick, and conscientious nurses who are carefully supervised by a training director of nursing.

All well equipped hospitals have everything necessary to handle emergencies and all cases in which delay in treatment may be followed by serious consequences.

Many a mother in childbirth might have been saved if she had had hospital care when her baby came, as she could have had expert nursing and all the attention which must be obtained quickly in these cases. Blood must often be given to a patient quickly and this is much more easily handled in the hospital. Special splints and apparatus are available in fractures with the use of X-ray; there is the equipment for making cultures and for the examination of tissue before operations. Many tumors of the breast can be removed locally and examination made immediately, so that patients will not need to undergo a larger operation unless the tumor is malignant.

It is unnecessary for so many patients to die from so common a disease as appendicitis. Nearly all such patients could have been saved by early operation, best performed in a hospital. The high death rate in cancer is due in large measure to the fact that the victims did not present themselves to their physician or surgeon for early advice, or did not take his advice to come into the hospital for early removal of the growth, so that the tissue might be examined.

In these modern days the hospital is the best place for the sick patient who needs constant and intelligent nursing and watching. Fear of a hospital is no longer justified by the facts.

MENTAL HYGIENE COURSES AT CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

Details of the courses to be given this summer at the Mental Hygiene institute to be held at the Connecticut college, from June 20 to July 19, under the auspices of the state department of public health, are made public in a special bulletin mailed by the department to persons interested.

During the three weeks' period 65 hours of lectures and seminars will be given, but there will be ample opportunity for social affairs and recreation, as there will be but four lectures each day, ending at 4 p. m. Dr. James L. McCartney, chief of the division of mental hygiene, state department of health, will have charge of the course, assisted by a staff of 30 or more authorities in the field of mental hygiene.

The course of lectures is divided into four sections as follows:

Fundamental principle of human nature normal and deviating, covering the broad point of view of human behavior, the biological background of human behavior, instincts and emotions, conflicts and need for adjustment to society, emotional development.

The mental hygiene approach to social service work. Review of fundamentals of social work.

Applied principles of mental hygiene. Mentol hygiene of infancy and early childhood, attachments, parental love, parent-child relation, later childhood and adolescence, emancipation, social adjustment, establishment of adult sexuality, marriage and sex adjustment, parenthood.

Community problems. Methods of community organization, administration of social agencies, social surveys and community studies.

RELATIVES REFUSED TO GIVE AUTOPSY PERMISSION

Acquaintances of Antone Koledo, 34, late of Thames street, whose funeral was held Monday, were reporting that his death had been the result of poisonous liquor. Koledo died last Friday at the W. W. Backus hospital, to which he had gone as a patient of Dr. John Suplicki. It is said there was a suspicion that bad liquor was a contributing cause of death but this could not be determined definitely because relatives refused to give permission for an autopsy. Dr. Suplicki could not be reached Monday night as telephone inquiries to his home brought the answer that he was out of town and would not be back until today (Tuesday).

Coroner E. G. McKay stated Monday night that he proposed to follow up the reports of poisonous liquor having caused the man's death, which he had not previously heard of.

The funeral was held Monday morning at 8:20 o'clock at the home of Michael Koledo, brother of the deceased, at Uncasville. At 9:30 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Nicholas Orthodox Russian church in this city, the mass being celebrated by Rev. Wladislaw Nickolsky. Several hymns were sung by the church choir. The burial was in the family plot at St. Nicholas' cemetery. The bearers were Aniderlcz Borys, Stanley Bulka, Joseph Mikulicz, Bantley Mironski, Alexander Szulka and Andrew Horelicki. Rev. Father Nickolsky conducted the committal service. There were many beautiful floral tributes and mourners were present from New London, Worcester, New Britain and Plainfield. Undertaker Julian Wojtkowski had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Koledo is survived by his wife and four children in Russia and a brother, Michael Koledo in Uncasville. He had lived in Norwich about two years and conducted a restaurant at the West Side section of the city.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Wilfred Tortoiseshell.

At 9.30 o'clock Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Wilfred Tortoiseshell was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Reginald Laubin, No. 145 Maple street. There were many relatives and friends present and there were a number of beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Percy A. Kilmister, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the service. The bearers were George Alstadt, Eugene Rivers, Jean Kieffer, Lawrence Collins, Harry Clarke and Walter Wyman. The body was sent to Pattison, N. J., where burial will take place Tuesday. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the local funeral arrangements.

The death of Mrs. Tortoiseshell occurred Friday evening after a long illness. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rivers and was born at Blairstown, N. J. She was married at Paterson in 1906. Surviving are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Reginald Laubin and Mildred Tortoiseshell, both of Norwich, and two brothers. Mrs. Tortoiseshell, a devoted member of the First Baptist church, also leaves a wide circle of friends who held her in the highest esteem because of her many fine qualities.

Mrs. Oliver Eccleston

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet A. Hewitt Eccleston, widow of Oliver Eccleston, of No. 53 Lafayette street, was held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the parlors of Undertakers Church and Allen, Main street. There was a large gathering of mourners in attendance and the floral tributes were beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, D.D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, who also read the committal service at the grave in Preston City cemetery. The bearers were Harold S. Burt, James Coggins, Gilbert S. Raymond and Emery H. Davis.

WEDDINGS

The maid of honor was Miss Stella Drazek, sister of the bride, the bridesmaid was Miss Bertha Staub, Charles Lewandoski was the best man and the usher was Ted Hanna.

The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and carnations. The maid of honor wore a gown of pink crepe de chine and the bridesmaid was gowned in peach colored crepe de chine.

There was a wedding breakfast and reception at the home of the bride's parents. The bride and groom will reside at No. 162 High street.

CONTACT CLUB WELCOMES WOMEN'S COLLEGE PRESIDENT AS GUEST SPEAKER

The Contact club made its noon luncheon Monday at the Wauregan hotel one of the biggest events of its spring season, having as the guest speaker Miss Katharine Blunt, president of Connecticut College for Women, and in her honor inviting to the meeting the members of the Women's City club and the Business and Professional Women's club.

President Blunt was escorted here from New London by Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr., and Miss Lucy B. Abbott, who had been invited to act as reception committee for the speaker, and the luncheon gathering in the ballroom at the hotel numbered about 70.

Seated at the head table with Miss Blunt and the reception committee members were Ernest O. Rodier, president of the club; Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, Principal Henry A. Tirrell of Norwich Free Academy, Abner Schwartz, vice-president of the club, and Francis T. Diggins, chairman of the programme committee, and Mrs. Diggins. With Henry J. LaFontaine at the piano, the meeting opened with a verse of "America" and Monsignor May, pastor of St. Patrick's church, said grace. During the luncheon hour, Secretary John Richardson of the chamber of commerce was song leader, and two soloists, Frank R. Murdy and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, were heard in charming numbers. Mr. Murdy's fine baritone selections were "Dawning" by Cadman and "Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert, and Mrs. Buckingham's sweet soprano voice was heard in "Take Joy Home" by Bassett and "Pierrot" by Ormond.

MISS KATHARINE BLUNT
President of Connecticut College

After the menu had been served, President Rodier addressed the gathering, expressing appreciation of the attendance of the ladies and introducing Miss Blunt as "a great woman educator from a great woman's college in our own great state of Connecticut."

College President Speaks

President Blunt was given a rising greeting of applause as she arose to respond and spoke in part as follows:

I am full of appreciation for the cordial reception of the Contact club of Norwich and that of the organizations which this club has invited to meet here today. I also was happy to be brought here by the three ladies who came for me.

I consider this hospitality a very significant expression of your interest in Connecticut college. Let me quote a sentence that shows that others have this same sense of affiliation with the college that you have: Connecticut college "owes its foundation to the wish and purpose of people of Connecticut to provide within the state adequate facilities for the higher education of women." That is the first sentence of the first college catalogue. Plainly it says that the college is founded by the people of Connecticut, that it belongs to them in as real a sense as if it were supported by the state funds.

I was pleasantly surprised at where I discovered this sentence the other day—in the new Encyclopedia Britannica! The article therein on higher education of women is written by President Woolley of Mount Holyoke college. She gives considerable space to our college, emphasizing this particular point of the interest which Connecticut citizens have in it.

I have been conscious of this friendly interest ever since I came. I am not sure, however, that I have not a higher sense of the standing of the college than you who have known it from its beginning. A person coming from the outside can see both good and bad points oftentimes more clearly than you can. I was glad to have President Woolley confirm my ideas not only by this quotation but in another article point as well. In her article she divides the history of women's higher education into three periods: A period of beginnings before any real college started; a period when the colleges were being founded and were becoming secure; and a period that we now are in. This latter she makes start in 1915 which is the date of the opening of Connecticut college. While she does not say that it was initiated by us, she gives no other definite reason for making this her dividing line.

E. O. RODIER
President of Contact Club

Before I happened to read her article, I too was thinking of three somewhat similar periods, and I was venturing to think that the initiation of Connecticut college might mark the latest period. In the beginning a few courageous men and women worked against prejudice to found institutions for women which they vainly dreamed might approximate other colleges. Then came the period when Vassar, Mount Holyoke, Wellesley and most of the others really did start as colleges, equal to those for men, and with much care kept their curriculum similar to the curriculum of the men's colleges.

In the third or present period the foundation work has all been done, and it has been proved beyond dispute that women can do college work with entire success. Now the opportunity has come for experiment. Connecticut college in particular, and also some of the other colleges, are not afraid to develop courses particularly for women. We see women with needs identical with men, and also others somewhat different. We believe that women have special responsibilities in community, household, and professions that may be somewhat different from those of men, and we endeavor to train them for this. At the same time we wish to give our students broad understanding of history, science, literature and art, to make their lives as rich and interesting as possible. It is this double kind of interest that Connecticut college particularly stands for.

I am greatly struck with the college's progress in its fourteen and one-half years of growth. I see many needs and incompletenesses, of course. I see that we need dormitories, an auditorium, and other buildings, but most encouragingly I see some of these needs met by our new Fanning Hall, the classroom and administration building which will be ready for occupancy in September. I see the great importance of having more scholarships, but here too we are having some slight encouragement. The Robinson bequest will give us three or four scholarships next year, not large, but larger than any of the ones which we now have; our most encouraging gift from the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution will give us still another; and one of our trustees is helping us with another. Next year, therefor, I am happy to say, instead of giving only the very slight average of $125 to a small number of students, a very slight proportion of the $1,025 which the students must pay, we shall be able to do a little better, though not by any means what we should.

Further, I see that, as in most colleges, we need to make constant effort to keep our intellectual life at a high level. The only way to do this is by unremitting vigilance, and we are now making progress here too. Most fundamental of all, I am conscious of a youthful vitality, a power of growth that is our most precious possession, and will lead us to great things in the future.

Every college dreams of development, but our dreams it seems to me are based on firm realities.

Miss Blunt mentioned also that there are now 560 students at the college and that the applications for entrance next year have already reached over 450, but the college has places for only 175 new students.

Mayor Presents Gift

Mayor Robbins represented the club in making the gift of a Thermos carafe to Miss Blunt, presenting it with a graceful speech in which he facetiously remarked that the college had been located at New London with the permission of Norwich people who still held a string on it because it was on our Thames river and that the ultimate growth of the college could be in only one direction, northward, which would bring it back to Norwich, where it belongs.

Referring to the well-known quality of Thermos bottles in preserving the temperature of whatever is put into them, he presented the carafe, which he declared was full of our warm love.

Miss Blunt responded pleasantly and the meeting came to a close as President Rodier expressed his appreciation of having the college president as the guest of the club and called for a rising vote of thanks.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE AGAINST UNCASVILLE MAN

Peter Krzewski of Uncasville was arrested about 7:20 Monday evening by State Policeman Arthur Whitmarsh on a reckless driving charge after the man's automobile had hit another and gone through a fence on the Norwich-New London road near Connecticut college.

One of the broken rails from the fence went through the front of the Uncasville man's machine and out through the back but missed hitting either the driver or two men who were in the car with him.

The Krzewski car came up behind the machine of George P. Edwards of Niantic, ahead of which was a horse-drawn wagon, which obliged Edwards to slow down. In turning out to pass Edwards, the Uncasville man met another car coming towards him and he struck the left rear fender of the Edwards car before going through the fence on his left. The accident happened in the town of Waterford and the Uncasville man will be brought before a justice of the peace there.

NORWICH MAN OWNER OF FAMOUS MOLASSES DOCUMENT

In the Norwich opening broadcast Friday evening from Station WTIC, Hartford, reference was made to one of the documents issued by the committee of safety at Norwich in regard to the molasses that was landed at Stonington and later captured by a Norwich vessel. Adams P. Carroll of this city is in possession of this document.

There was also reference to the original Fort Sumter flag, which is the property of Archa W. Coit, of New London, formerly of Norwich. His grandfather, the late Capt. William W. Coit of this city, who was aboard the boat, The William W. Coit, was at the fort the day it surrendered in 1864. The ship's flag was loaned by the captain to fly over the fort on that day. It was later returned to the captain by the government.

SCOUT SAVINGS FOLDER PROVES POPULAR

The Boy Scout stamp savings folder furnished all Boy Scouts in the city of Norwich is proving popular, according to the local scout headquarters, boys from every troop indicating a determination to get their folders full by the end of June that they may register for camp. The folders are furnished by the Norwich Savings society and the stamps are the same as those which are used in the schools.

Every troop is on its toes, working on the coming Jamboree. "I can hardly wait," one scout expressed it, "for my troop to win that Jamboree. Practice periods this week will be conducted at the local scout headquarters, as follows:

Fire by friction, headquarters, Monday, April 21, 4 to 5 p. m.; knot tying, headquarters, Tuesday, April 22, 4 to 5 p. m.; dressing race, headquarters, Wednesday, April 23, 4 to 5 p. m.; first aid, headquarters, Thursday, April 24, 4 to 5 p. m.; signalling, headquarters, Friday, April 25, 4 to 5 p. m.

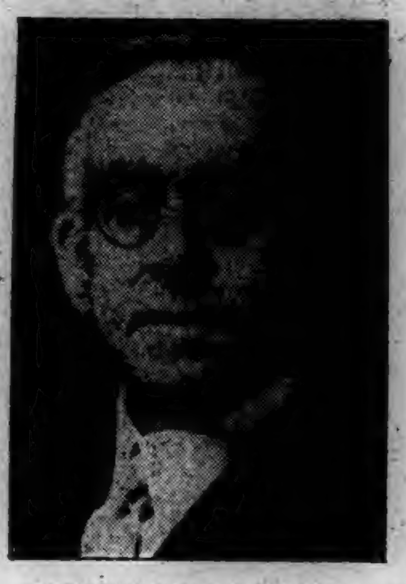
The next session of the court of honor will be held Wednesday evening, May 7, 1930, at 8 p. m. All second class and first class scouts must appear before the board of review at 7 p. m. A special feature of the court will be the awarding to a dozen Putnam scoutmasters their certificates. The patrol leaders training course will have something special to put on before the court. Several other interesting features are promised.

For the month of March, troops 1, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 12 have won streamers. Every troop, it is hoped, will win streamers for the month of April. Deputy commissioners have promised to visit every troop and give them a thorough inspection.

OBITUARY

Frederick C. Crowell

Frederick C. Crowell, prominent citizen and well known merchant of Norwich, died Monday morning about 11 o'clock at his home, No. 35 Elmwood avenue. Mr. Crowell had been in ill health for about a year and a half but had been seriously ill only since last Friday when he suffered a shock.



FREDERICK C. CROWELL

He was a native of this city and was born April 30, 1857, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zadoc C. Crowell. He attended the public schools and the Norwich Free Academy and at the age of 17 became a clerk in a drug store conducted by William A. Shew.

Three years later he purchased this business which he conducted for three years. Disposing of the business Mr. Crowell went to work for his father who was engaged in the contracting and building trade and the paint and oil business with M. P. Lewis, under the firm name of Crowell and Lewis. The store was located at No. 87 Water street.

After the death of Mr. Lewis, Frederic C. Crowell purchased his interests and conducted the business for 50 years at the same location. Frederick S. Crowell, a son, is conducting the business at present. Mr. Crowell was a republican by political faith and attended the United Congregational church.

Mr. Crowell was twice married. His first wife was Adelaide Spicer whom he married December 28, 1893, at Hopkinton, R. I. One son, Frederick S. Crowell, was born to them. Following the death of his wife in September 1914, he married Annie M. Browning of Preston. He is survived by his wife and son, Frederick Spicer Crowell, and three grand children, Fred Crawford Crowell, Ruth Adelaide Crowell and Mary Elizabeth Crowell of this city.

Mr. Crowell was highly respected by his many friends and acquaintances who are deeply grieved to learn of his death and who extend heartfelt sympathy to the family.

FATHER-SON BANQUET BY PARK CHURCH MEN

The Men's club of Park Congregational church was the host Monday night at a father and son banquet, held in the Osgood Memorial with an attendance of 64, of whom 32 were fathers, each with his own son or another boy adopted for the evening.

The menu served under the direction of William A. Lund consisted of fruit cup, meat loaf, escalloped potatoes, string beans, cabbage salad, pickled beets, rolls, ice cream, wafers and coffee.

At 7 o'clock the entertainment began when Amos 'n Andy were heard over the air through a radio loaned by the Radio Salon. Lyle Fillmore, president of the club, gave a greeting to the boys and there were two brief talks, one to the sons by Dr. R. R. Agnew and one to the fathers by Robert Agnew. Mayor Lee Roy Robbins also spoke briefly after which there was a demonstration of first aid work by Troop 12, Boy Scouts, and Principal H. A. Tirrell made the address of the evening, speaking in a most interesting way for both the fathers and the sons.

The Star Spangled Banner was sung in closing.

WAY FOR STENOGRAPHERS TO SPREAD NORWICH BROADCAST

Secretary John Richardson of the local chamber of commerce is making the suggestion that where possible all the stenographers of Norwich include the following line in all letters sent out of town, with the permission of their superior officers of course, "Hear the Doctor 'n Schoolmaster every Friday night at 10 o'clock over WTIC, Hartford." This line at the bottom of the letters leaving Norwich every day would be an invitation that would bring the Norwich broadcast before hundreds of people and in turn it is reasonable to expect would increase the radio audience and be a very effective piece of advertising for the city.

COMMON PLEAS JURY CASES ARE ASSIGNED

Five of 12 cases claimed for jury trial in the court of common pleas were assigned by Judge Charles B. Waller for Tuesday, May 6, at an assignment session of the court here Monday morning. The cases assigned were as follows:

Daniel O. Connell of this city against William Witschelkowski and others of this city.

N. B. Maloof of New London against Peter Ceccarelli of that city.

Pierce, Butler & Pierce against Robert Tetrault, both of New London.

Morris Paster of Preston against Louis Bloschinskey of Norwich.

Christopher Hansen of Norwich against the New Haven railroad of New Haven.

Cash Bond Of $25 Forfeited.

A cash bond of $25 put up by Dan Durso, of New Rochelle, N. Y., was forfeited in the city court Monday morning when he failed to appear to answer to the charge of failure to grant the right of way. His automobile was in collision Saturday afternoon at the corner of North Main street and Central avenue with a machine driven by Alphonse Desauliers of Moosup.

Desauliers was found to be operating an automobile with improper markers, but the case against him was nolled when it was found he had made application for a new set.

MOTHER SEEKS SUPPORT FOR SELF AND CHILDREN

Seeking support for herself and her six minor children, Mrs. Mary Petka of this city has brought suit in the superior court against her husband, Walter Petka, also of this city. The children range in age from two to 17 years.

It is alleged in the suit that Petka has been habitually intemperate since Jan. 1, 1927, has been intolerably cruel to his wife and has abandoned her and the children failing to provide anything for the support. Because of this, Mrs. Petka has expended from her separate estate the sum of $5,000 in providing board, food and clothing for herself and the children. She asks for their custody.

In her complaint Mrs. Petka alleges that he is able to and does earn $25 a week as a cotton weaver and that he owns an undivided half-interest in certain real estate on the easterly side of the new Canterbury turnpike.

Dismissals at Backus Hospital

Patients dismissed at W. W. Backus hospital on Monday were the following:

Mrs. Delphis Sadignac and infant son, Beauregard street, Taftville; Mary Kowoleko, 19 Roosevelt avenue; Victoria Carnathan, 105 Hobart avenue.

Attending Superintendents' Meeting.

James F. Connolly and Edwin B. Floyd, field supervisors of rural education, left on Monday for New Britain to attend the spring meeting of the school superintendents of Connecticut which is being held at the state normal school, April 21-23.

JOHNNY KOP CONFIDENT OF WINNING HIS BOUT WITH TOMMY KING

Johnny Kop, local boxer, wound up his training last night and is ready for his bout with Tommy King of Fall River at the Shyma club show at Parish hall on Wednesday night. Kop is very confident of winning over King and hopes to put King away before the end of the sixth round.

In his last bout with Joe Barre, who meets Ero Peterson in the semi-final, Kop made the best showing that he has since entering the professional ranks. While Kop did not win he showed a decided improvement in his boxing. Kop can hit hard, as hard perhaps as any boy of his weight. In fact, Barre, who has fought better than a hundred fights, remarked after the bout that Kop was the hardest hitting boy that he had ever met and that he had rather fight Koziol than Kop any day. What Kop needs is experience and should fight more often than he does. One bout a month does not keep him in trim and he has to work too hard to get into condition with such long layoffs.

In his training for the coming bout Kop has shown more ability than before and his timely hitting has improved a good deal. Kop is inclined to waste a lot of punches but he is being trained to conserve his energy and shoot them in where they do the most good.

King is no set-up for Kop and the local boy will have to work to gain a verdict but Kop enters this bout with more confidence than ever before. The local boy has had the very bad habit of worrying about his fights many days before the bout which has not done him a bit of good. He is getting over this habit and local fans will see a decided improvement in the local youngster.

Al Beauregard of Taftville, who meets Willie Rose in the final, is ready for his battle and has been doing only light work for the past two days.

All the other boys on the card are in perfect condition for their bouts and the card Wednesday night, the last of the indoor season, looks as good as any that has been staged by the popular Shyma club.

ACADEMY TRACKSTERS SHOW MUCH ABILITY IN MEET

The summaries of the inter-class track meet held last week at the Academy reveal the fact that the Academy has much talent that has not come out for the team but will do that thing in a few days. There were some boys in school who thought they didn't possess enough talent for the varsity squad but now after impressive performances in this meet, they are much encouraged and will put in an appearance shortly.

Berkman and Lenkiewicz were the senior's stars, Agnew, Wood and Sera for the upper middlers, Mahoney for the lower middlers and Burke for the juniors. The seniors won the event.

Summaries:

One mile run—Wood (UM), Yakubowski (UM). Time 5 minutes, 9 seconds.

100 yard dash—(first heat)—Lenkiewicz (S), Sargent (UM). Time 11 1-5 seconds.

100 yard dash—(second heat) Berkman (S), Sera (UM). Time 11 1-5 seconds.

880 yard run—Mahoney (LM), Fritz (LM), Welden (UM). Time 2 minutes, 21 2-5 seconds.

100 yard dash—(Final)—Berkman (S), Lenkiewicz (S), Sera (UM). Time 10 4-5 seconds.

Broad jump—Berkman (S), distance 18 feet, 1 inch. Second—Sera (UM) 17 feet, 6 inches. Third—Lenkiewicz (S) 17 feet.

440 yard run—Berkman (S), Agnew (UM), Holden (S). Time 58 seconds.

Pole vault—Bolduc (UM), Caulfield (LM). Height 8 feet.

GLENNA AND HER TEAM HAVE SHORT PRACTICE ROUND

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 21.—(AP)—Glenna Collett, women's national golf champion, and 12 members of the team she will take to Europe for matches in England and France, brushed up on their game at the Knollwood Country club today.

The players teamed up in Scotch foursomes but did not go through the formality of keeping scores. There was a biting wind and the weather was too cold for low scoring.

In addition to Miss Collett, the players included Marion Bennett, Mrs. Leo Federman, Fritzi Stifel, Bernice Wall, Virginia Holzderber, Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Mrs. Hazelle P. Martelle, Mrs. Leo Mida, Peggy Watties, Rosalie Knapp, Mrs. O. S. Hill and Louise Fordyce.

The team is to sail aboard the Berengaria at midnight tomorrow, bolstered by the presence of Virginia Van Wie, Helen Hicks, Edith Quier and Mrs. Burch Foraker. Maureen Orcutt, the metropolitan and eastern champion, who also is a member of the team, sailed for Europe on Saturday.

CANADIAN RUNNERS ARRIVE FOR PENN RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA, April 21. —(AP)— Ten Canadian runners from the Hamilton Collegiate institute of Hamilton, Ontario, arrived here today for the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival Friday and Saturday.

The young Canadians, in charge of Captain Cornelius, coach of the 1924 and 1939 Canadian Olympic team, are entered in the interscholastic medley, one and two-mile races.

Announcement was made today that Dr. Paul Martin, Swiss middle distance star, who requested that the series of special races be arranged in connection with the carnival, will not compete, as he has left New York for Bridgeport, Conn., to accept a position in a hospital.

LEADER MAKES TWO MORE CHANGES IN VARSITY BOAT

NEW HAVEN, April 21.—(AP)—Instead of announcing as he had promised the make-up of his varsity crew as it will row in the first race May 3, Coach Ed Leader of Yale today made changes in the boat and said his final lineup would not be made public for several days.

Walter Garnsey, a letter man of last season, was again shifted from number 4 in the junior varsity to the same position in the varsity. Lyman Goodbody was changed from number 4 to number 2, replacing Everett Esselstyn, a sophomore, who was sent to the third boat.

LYONS PITCHES BRILLIANT GAME AGAINST BROWNS

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP) — Teddy Lyons pitched a beautiful game against the St. Louis Browns here today, giving out five hits in ten innings and started the White Sox rally with a triple against the right field wall in the tenth that was responsible for his 3 to 2 victory. Ernie Smith poked a single to right to drive in the winning tally.

It was a tough game for Alvin Crowder to lose for he was very effective, letting out a scant seven hits and holding the Hose hitless until the sixth.

Willie Kamm's home run into the left field stands was the feature clout of the game. Jim Moore was on the paths at the time.

INDIANS GET EARLY START TO DOWN TIGERS

DETROIT, April 21.—(AP) — The Cleveland Indians batted around in the first inning, accounting for four runs with five hits, two sacrifices and an error, then held Detroit to a lone score and won the last game of their series here today, 6 to 1.

Clinton Brown allowed the Tigers five hits. Two of them came in the opening inning when the only Detroit score was made.

WASHINGTON HANDS ATHLETICS FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP) — The world's champions Philadelphia Athletics suffered their first defeat of the season today losing to Washington by a score of 6 to 3.

The Mackmen got off to a 2 to 0 lead by bunching their hits on Bumps Hadley in the first inning but the Senators tied the score by the third inning and in the fourth Earnshaw's wildness forced two more runs over the plate.

Howard Ehmke, World's Series hero, made his first appearance in the box this year as Earnshaw's rescuer in the fourth inning. In the fifth inning Cronin hit Ehmke for a homer with one on base and cinched the game for the visitors.

Challenge

The Jewett City Badgers wish to challenge any ball team in this section in which the ages of the players average 16 years. Kindly answer through The Bulletin or to Oliver Carter, Jewett City, Tel. 64-12

If the boy friend shows a sudden change of technique in his petting it's a ten to one bet that he has been taking his talkies seriously.

Yes siree, these talkies are going to make a lotta difference in the young men. The talkies may not teach them anything new in the way of love-making but there is bound to be a lot more technique.

Now when the boy friend calls and the parlor lights are dimmed and the old folks are tucked snugly in the quilts don't be surprised if he don't grab you and say "Come on, baby, give me a kiss," like he used to.

He'll probably look at you with fish-eyes and murmur, "Oh, fair one, may I imprint a kiss upon your rose-like cheek?" Don't think he's gone goofy. It's the effect of the talkies.

And instead of going into a clinch he drops to one knee and kisses your hand, don't think he's been drinking. It's the talkies.

And when he says, "Can I have the pleasure of your company at the dansant the 28th instant" instead of telling you that "you and him is going to shake a mean hoof at the hop," don't call in a brain specia'ist. It's the talkies that did it.

The young man of today is learning a lot about the fine points of love-making from the talkies. Now he knows how love is made by the best people and he is no dub for the best is none too good for him.

In the days of the old silent drama the young man just imagined what was being said and it was always what he would say himself under such circumstances. When he saw the lover propose to the heroine he mentally supplied the proposal in such words, "Come on baby, let's you and me get hitched." Now he knows that's not being said.

Yes, he's learning new terms all the time. Before long he'll be talking like a Harvard student.

The talkies are a great institution.

PIRATES MAKE CLEAN SWEEP IN CARD SERIES

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—(AP) — The Pirates made better use of their hits today and defeated the Cardinals, 6 to 4, making it a clean sweep of the series. The Cardinals outhit the Pirates 9 to 7.

Adam Comorosky hit a home run for the Pirates, his second in the series.

Hill, the Cardinals starting pitcher, was wild and retired in the fifth inning, Haid taking his place.

Brame hurled well for the Pirates until the ninth when the Cardinals scored two runs. Brame fanned Bottomley in the eighth with the bases full.

FOUR HOMERS HELP GIANTS TO BEAT BRAVES

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)— Four home runs, two by Travis Jackson and one each by Fred Leach and Bob O'Farrell, paved the way for the New York Giants 8 to 6 victory over the Phillies today. The triumph gave the New Yorkers a clean sweep of the series.

Bill Walker, who went the route for the winners, was hit hard in spots but managed to set the heavy slugging Phillies back when hits meant runs. Claude Willoughby, ace of the Phillies hurling squad, started for Philadelphia but was knocked out in the fourth inning when the Giants bunched five hits for two runs. Ray Benge and Ace Elliott followed Willoughby on the mound.

McCARTHY ROBBED OF DECISION IN BOUT WITH RALPH AQUINO

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEWARK, N. J., April 21.—Tommy McCarthy of Norwich, Conn. was robbed of a decision over Ralph Aquino of Newark in a six-round bout at the Laurel arena here tonight. In fact the decision was so absolutely poor that the fans halted the show with the booing and it was several minutes before the following bout could be announced.

McCarthy had the better of the bout from the start to finish and clearly outpointed Aquino, former New Jersey amateur featherweight champion. In the first round McCarthy dropped Aquino to the canvass twice, once for a count of five and again for a count of eight. After the first round the bout was a torrid affair, Aquino staging a great comeback and fighting gamely through the five rounds.

The Norwich boy was in fine form and was fast, hitting hard and clean which gave him a decided advantage. McCarthy came through the bout without a mark having absorbed little or no punishment from Aquino. When the referee raised Aquino's hand there was a storm of boos from the fans that lasted for several minutes.

The promoters of the Laurel Garden immediately signed McCarthy and Aquino for a return match at the Garden in two weeks. McCarthy is now managed by Freddie Freda of Newark, former boxer who has turned manager.

LUQUE PITCHES DODGERS TO FIRST 1930 WIN

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Adolfo Luque, starting his seventeenth major league campaign, pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their first victory of the season today, defeating the Boston Braves 15 to 8.

A line drive off Sisler's bat in the ninth crippled the Cuban hurler's pitching hand and forced him to retire but not before his teammates had piled up a lead that gave him the victory. The Braves started a rally off his successors, Moss and Faulkner—which netted five runs.

Del Bissonette was the big gun of the Dodgers attack, driving in seven runs with a home run and a triple, both when the bases were loaded. The circuit drive came in the first inning while the triple was connected with the eight run rally put on by the Dodgers in the seventh.

LABARBA RALLIES TO WIN OVER TAYLOR

CHICAGO, April 21—(AP)—After narrowly escaping a knockout in the first two rounds, Fidel LaBarba of Los Angeles, challenger for the featherweight championship, came back to win a close decision over Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute terror, in ten thrilling rounds in the Coliseum tonight.

LaBarba displayed championship class by picking himself off the floor to win the verdict of the judges and referee. He was floored for a count of eight at the start of the first round and was knocked staggering across the ring with another right hander in the second round. Due to his splendid defensive skill he frustrated Taylor's attempts to finish him. After losing the first four rounds on points LaBarba began to move ahead in the fifth. He appeared to possess too much speed for Taylor and continually popped him in the body and on the head with left hooks and stiff right-hand punches. He chased Taylor to the ropes frequently under the weight of furious assaults.

Taylor weighed 125 and LaBarba 124.

STONINGTON-BULKELEY GAME OFF: TECH LEAGUE LEADER

The Stonington-Bulkeley league game that was scheduled for Monday afternoon at Stonington was again postponed. It was originally slated to be placed Saturday but was put off because of the weather. It will be played later in the season.

This leaves Chapman Tech as the leader of the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island Interscholastic league by virtue of its victory over Westerly last week, 8 to 4. The Academy will have a chance to tie the Whalers when they play Stonington here Wednesday. Saturday Tech and N. F. A. play here and the setting would be ideal for their game if the Wildcats can only turn back Coach Joe Smith's outfit tomorrow afternoon.

The Academy's pitching selection will probably be Chuck Lavarge, the young right-hader who trimmed Killingly in easy fashion last week, 15 to 2.

DAWSON SAYS HE WILL NOT PLAY PRO GOLF

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—John Dawson is sailing tomorrow night for the golfing meadows of Great Britain and the continent, a bag of clubs across his chunky shoulders and a great longing in his heart. But he will play no tournament golf overseas.

The red cheeked, blonde curly head from Chicago has been ruled ineligible as an amateur by the United States Golf association for the golfing crime of selling sporting goods.

"I will never play professional golf," he told the Associated Press today. "And as long as the U. S. G. A. feels as it does about my amateur standing I will not play in tournaments of any kind. I do not intend, either, to change my business connections. Rather than risk the embarrassment I suffered at Pinehurst again I'll never play in another tournament. The game isn't worth it."

Dawson hopes for reconsideration of the verdict so that he may again match sticks with amateurs in good standing.

He believes that the Walker cup team will conquer the British again but sees increased opposition from youngsters now developing in British and Scottish fields.

He thinks Bobby Jones is playing the finest golf of his great career today and has a "marvelous chance" to win both the amateur and open titles.

The general acceptance of steel shafts at home and aboard will greatly benefit golf and scoring, Dawson believes. Whereas the best golfers used to get the pick of the hickory shafts while ordinary players took what was left, all start from scratch now with equally good equipment. That, he says, is a great thing for the game.

"After all," said Dawson, "that's all golf is, a game. I can get more fun out of playing in a foursome with friends than I can in any tournament."

Still he seemed none too happy about it.

CARNERA BARRED FROM CALIFORNIA RINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.— (AP) — Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, today was barred from appearing in California rings, and his license and that of his manager, Leon See, of France, were revoked.

Action in banning the heavyweight and his manager was taken by the California athletic commission as a result of the fighter's recent unsatisfactory bout with Leon Chevalier, Negro in Oakland.

The commission also suspended indefinitely Frank Churchill, of Los Angeles, manager of boxers and Carnera's representative in California, Tim McGrath, manager of Chevalier, and the Negro's two seconds, Robert Laga of San Francisco and Robert Perry of Hollywood.

During the investigation the purses of Carnera, amounting to $13,239, and Chevalier, $1,500, were held up but the money will be paid to the fighters. The commissioner decided it had no legal commission decided it had no legal right to withhold the money inasmuch as the fighters had carried out their part of the bargain. At no time did the commission implicate either of the fighters in any questionable action.

BOROTRA FALLS BEFORE MEDIOCRE FRENCH PLAYER

BIARRITZ, France, April 21. —(AP)— French hopes for another successful tennis campaign this year suffered one more jolt today when Jean Borotra, the "bounding Basque" was beaten by Raoul Rodel, 16th in the French ranking, in the semi-final round of the Biarritz tournament. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 8-6.

With both Rene Lacoste and Henri Cochet out of the picture so far as the French and British championships are concerned, France had counted upon Borotra to carry the burden in these two classics but the veteran has displayed nothing like his usual form this year. Lacoste, who has been ill for more than a year, will play no tennis this year. Cochet is definitely out of the French championships and may pass up the British championships as well.

Cochet has announced that he "must work for a living" and cannot afford to spend the entire months of May and June playing in Paris and London.

B. C. Beats Marines

QUANTICO, Va., April 21.—(AP) — Boston College defeated the All-Marine baseball team here today, 6 to 2. Due to errors by the Marine inner defense on hard chances in the first inning the Maroon team scored four runs which was their margin at the end of the contest.

Score:

Boston College	410 010 000—6;9;0
Marines	011 000 000—2;6;0

Herman and Colbert; Smith and Cather, Lusignan.

Fields Kayoes Grace

Wales Beats France

PARIS, April 21.—(AP)—Wales today defeated France in an international rugby match that brought the championship to England. If France had won, she would have captured the title, for her team had already defeated Scotland and Ireland. The game drew 60,000.

The score was 11 to 0, and the match was so rough that the referee stopped play and held a conference with the players, cautioning them to respect the rules.

A Challenge

The Young Hawks would like a game with the Silver Bullets or White Hawks at the Hollyhock Island Sunday at 2 p. m. If challenge is accepted answer through this paper.

MARDI GRAS HONORS FOR MISS BARBARA CASSIDY

Miss Barbara Cassidy, daughter of Comdr. R. E. Cassidy, head of the New Orleans navy yard, and Mrs. Cassidy and a granddaughter of the late Dr. Patrick Cassidy, formerly of this city, was queen of one of the important balls held at the annual Mardi Gras in New Orleans this year. In addition she was a member of the queen's court in three other balls on the festive program.

Miss Cassidy was queen of the ball at the ball known as the Prophets of Persia. She was on the queen's court at the ball known as the Krewe of Mystery, at the ball of Osisis and the Mystic ball, at which she was also honored as a debutante.

The Prophets of Persia ball was held in the Athenaeum and reproduced the court of Louis XIV whose reign was one of the most brilliant in all the history of France. The gift to Miss Cassidy, as queen, was a massive imported period necklace with rhinestone jewels and a fleur de lys pendant

The entire court of Louis XIV was reproduced in all its splendor. That famous ruler was known as "the grand monarque" of France whose reign was the epitome of all that was splendid in literature, arts and social life. The Prophets of Persia ball was the first of the great festivals of night which Louis XIV gave to Marie Therese, his queen, and was revived in all the splendor of the times with Miss Cassidy as Marie Therese.

Miss Cassidy wore a reproduction of one of the famous Marie Therese gowns. It was gold cloth over turquoise blue, embroidered with pearls, lined with ermine, and caught with loops of gold ribbons. The skirt was bouffant with a tight basque while about her neck was a massive necklace with a fleur de lys pendant which was the krewe's gift to her in honor of the occasion.

ARNOLD DIVORCE IS SET ASIDE IN GEORGIA

The marital position of Lieut. Leslie Arnold, former army round-the-world flier and a native of New London was further complicated Monday when the Georgia supreme court upheld a decision of the Fulton county, Georgia, supreme court which set aside the divorce granted Arnold from Mrs. Mildred Avery Arnold of Groton.

The divorce was characterized as a fraudalent one last June when it was made known that Mrs. Arnold had not been served with the divorce papers when the suit was filed in March, 1925. Arnold sued on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Arnold later said that she first heard of the divorce from Lieutenant Arnold who wrote her in Groton. He did not tell her upon what grounds the divorce had been obtained, she said, but she later got this information from the war department.

Shortly after the divorce in question was granted, Lieutenant Arnold married Priscilla Dean, motion picture actress. This ceremony took place in New York in September, 1928.

Lieutenant Arnold and his first wife were married in 1917 shortly before he left for France. The couple never lived together after the war and Mrs. Arnold said she could give no reason for the estrangement.

While on a visit to Hartford after the notable trip, Lieutenant Arnold was presented a sabre by the general assembly, the presentation being made by Governor Trumbull. He was also given a dinner at Hartford by the 118th Observation Squadron at the Hartford club.

YACHT CLUB WILL BUILD WHARF AT GARDNER LAKE

The Gardner Lake Yacht Club, Inc., will build a wharf and float at the lake for use by club members and race participants, it was voted at the organization's first meeting of the season Saturday night at the lake cottage of A. Frisbie Mitchell, commodore of the club. The wharf will extend 60 feet into the lake, with a float 12 by 40 feet, at the end. Steel drums will support the structure.

The club voted to rent the A. Chester Brown cottage for headquarters. Julian L. Williams, a member, donated a loving cup, which will be offered in Class B outboard events.

It was voted that the club affiliate with the Connecticut Outboard association.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Race—George Chase, Julian L. Williams and Harris Waters.

Wharf—A. Chester Brown, Robert A. Billings and Harold M. Billings.

Besides Commodore Mitchell, the officers of the club are: Vice commander, A. Chester Brown; secretary and treasurer, Harris Waters; directors, Harold M. Billings, George Chase, Douglas Sevin and Robert A. Billings.

BEEKEEPERS WANT TEETH IN REGISTRATION LAW

Declaring that the Connecticut law requiring the registration of bees by their owners is practically a dead letter because of non-enforcement, members of the Connecticut Beekeepers' association, at their 39th annual meeting held in Hartford Saturday, voted to instruct the legislative committee of the organization to endeavor to have included in the law effective means of enforcement.

Under the present law, members pointed out, a fine of $5 is provided for failure to register, but no particular official is made responsible for seeing that such registration is made. The result is that but one prosecution under the law has been made since its passage in 1919, although many of the beekeepers of the state have failed to register.

Telley E. Babcock of Norwich was reelected president of the association, and Charles J. Rost of Meriden, secretary and treasurer. The following county vice-presidents were elected: Hartford county, A. W. Yates; Litchfield county, E. G. Converse; Tolland county, Miss Gertrude White; Fairfield county, H. W. Coley; Windham county, Ernest Bryant; New Haven county, A. A. Adt; Middlesex county, C. H. Clark; New London county, Rev. S. A. Iciek.

Continuing opposition to the federal farm board and the agricultural marketing act, officials of the Minneapolis grain exchange revealed that they have started a campaign among all grain, produce and commodity exchanges of the country to bring an expression of condemnation of these federal agencies from the United States chamber of commerce.

Funeral services for Benjamin Pickhover, former Pawcatuck resident who died in Pawtucket, R. I. April 18th, were held at 2 p. m. Monday at Christ Episcopal church, the service being read by the rector, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin. There were many sorrowing relatives and friends present and beautiful floral emblems. The hymns were sung by Mrs. Jessie Davison, the church soloist. Masonic committal services were conducted at River Bend cemetery by Pawcatuck lodge, No. 90, A. F. and A. M., of Pawcatuck, the members attending the church in a body with Worshipful Raymond E. Pendleton, Master and P. M. Samuel E. Girven, chaplain with P. M. Harry Sutcliffe, marshal. Burial was in the family plot, the bearers being W. Henry A. Stahle, W. Robert D. Vennard, secretary, James D. Howard, Clarence A. Bagshaw, Stanton S. Greene and Walter F. Thorp.

Fined $100 And Costs

Judge Oliver H. Williams held a special session of Third District court Monday noon when August Tuovine, 38, of Fitchburg, Mass., was brought before the court by Chief of Police Frank H. Brown of Hopkinton, charged on Sunday with the operation of an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His plea was changed to guilty and the defendant informed the court that his companions had jumped from the automobile and ran away leaving him asleep in the car. His arrest followed complaint of John Cole that the auto had been driven upon his property and the occupants were creating a disturbance. The accused said that he had also lost his license in Massachusetts when he had been deserted by companions. He was fined $100 and costs.

Thomas Spaulding, 45, of Hopkinton, was brought before the court by Chief Frank Brown, charged with being drunk and disorderly on Maxson street, Potter Hill, Sunday, and with possession of intoxicating liquors. He pleaded guilty to both counts. He was fined $10 and costs, totalling $13.60 on possession, but no fine was imposed on the intoxication charge.

The April term of Washington county superior court, Justice Leonidas Poullot, Jr., of Central Falls, R. I., on the bench, opened Monday morning at West Kingston. The attorney general's department was represented by Attorney J. Clifford O'Riley. The grand jurors were examined and the oath was administered by Mrs. Edna Treat, assistant clerk, in the absence of Clerk W. Herbert Caswell, who is ill at his home. Charles Fletcher, of South Kingstown, was appointed foreman of the grand jury. The other members accepted for service were: Benjamin F. Hull, William M. Longstreet, Alfred C. Schmit, South Kingstown; William A. Bicknell, Earl G. Franklin, George C Gardiner and Angus D. MacLeon, North Kingstown; Timothy C. Gordon, Thomas H. Morrison, John R. Oppy and Arthur G. Stillman, Westerly; John H. Buteau, Governor T. Church, Hopkinton; Clarence E. Gardner, Jr., Clark A. Whitford, Jr., Exeter; Alfred S. Pendleton, Charlestown; Amasa St. Onge, Narragansett. The grand jury retired for the consideration of two cases and took a recess at 1 o'clock until 2.

The civil docket was called and eleven cases were found for Westerly and six for Kingston.

OVER 300 DEATHS CAUSED BY FIRE

from K block. He continued working at top speed until he was overcome by smoke. He was unconscious for a time, but was revived and suffered little ill effects.

Among the convicts who were suffocated was Oren Hill, a former prison guard. Hill was sentenced to serve three years to life for aiding John Whitfield to escape. Whitfield was a notorious convict, and later was shot to death.

The Salvation Army set up a canteen in front of the prison after nightfall, and passed out coffee and eats to soldiers, firemen and others on duty there.

Death claimed Garland Runyan, of Lawrence county, a few hours after he entered the prison. Runyan was admitted to the penitentiary today to serve a term for abandoning his children in Ironton. He was assigned to the ill-fated K cell block, and was numbered among the dead.

The cell tier in which tonight's fire started was the scene of an attempted escape by three prisoners last Saturday night. The men had sawed their way out of their cells and were making for the door when guards apprehended them.

Ohio penitentiary has "entertained" many "prominent" convicts including O. Henry, the author, who started his career of writing while confined here. He was sentenced for embezzlement. Among the other "notables" was Professor James H. Snook, of Ohio State university, who was electrocuted recently.

BUILT TO HOUSE 1,500 MEN; 4,300 WERE IN THE PRISON

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21—(AP)—Ohio penitentiary, scene of a disastrous fire claiming more than 300 lives, was built in 1830, and was designed to house only 1,500 men. A roll call this morning showed the total enrollment today was 4,300.

The prison covers about five acres square, within a stone's throw of downtown Columbus. Within the prison walls are a score of buildings, including eight cell blocks, hospital, mills, chapel, dining halls and other structures.

Preston E. Thomas has been warden of the prison for about 15 years. He is noted as an expert on prisons. Under his rule there have been no major riots, but there have been many deliveries and escapes including one when 13 convicts of Company K the "bad gang" got loose.

MONTVILLE

Twenty-five players of the Corragated department of the Robert Gair plant reported to Coach John McInnis Monday afternoon at their diamond at Uncasville. They were put through a light workout both at bats and fielding. The pitchers of the team also had light workouts, but have been acquiring condition according to their own plans. Coach McInnis expects to have a strong lineup in the coming season of the Industrial league.

New London Driver Fined

Mike Dembinski, of Salem and Tony Worokey, of No. 11 Richards street, New London, figured in a serious accident Sunday afternoon at 3:15 on the Norwich-New London highway, at Uncasville. The new Hupmobile sedan driven by Worokey hit a telegraph pole causing serious injuries to the driver. Perry J. Hollandersky represented Mr. Worokey. Waterman F. Brown who was star witness in the case testified that he was sitting on his porch situated across from the residence of Dr. Rasmussin, about a hundred feet away from the state road, when he saw the Chevrolet sedan driven by Mike Dembinski pulled up by Dr. Rasmussin's house to make a turn with his hand out of the window and proceeded to turn around by his roadway when the car driven by Worokey coming at a high rate of speed, adjudged to be 50 miles an hour, just barely missing the rear of the Chevrolet sedan when he applied his brakes and lost control of his machine and crashed into the pole after skidding his car 75 feet. Officer Howard Lamphere arrested both for reckless driving. The accused appeared before Justice of the Peace Oscar E. Church Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The charge of reckless driving against Mr. Worokey was changed to speeding and he was fined $25 and costs. The reckless driving charge against Mr. Dembinski was entirely nolled. Other witnesses in the case were Arthur Day of Salem, Alec Worokey of New London and Durman Kasischuck, of Montville.

The Connecticut Light & Power Co. last year winner of the Montville Twilight Industrial league will hold workouts tomorrow at the Robert Gair diamond at Uncasville at 4:30 p. m.

Salem Team Wins, 18-4

About 300 turned out Easter Sunday and watched the fast Salem nine defeat the Robertson's Paper Box Co. team, 18 to 4 on the Uncasville-Shelton Corp. diamond, Uncasville, in a loosely played game. The Robertson boys used three pitchers, Rice, Allen and Sisson. Salem using two pitchers, Janus and Mitchell. This makes the second time that these two teams have met this season. The Robertson's nine defeated the Salem team Saturday last on the Salem diamond, 5 to 2.

Justice of the Peace Oscar E. Church, of Montville, was a business caller at Bozrahville Saturday.

The Lester & Wasley Company, Inc., Norwich

How many sealing their mail ever realize the part contributed to the manufacturer of the gummed flap on envelopes by a Connecticut industry? First the letter was folded and sealed, then the separate envelope followed to enclose the letter. For a long time only the sealed portion was machine gummed, for the problem of drying the gum on the open flap held up that feature for a long time. Eventually the idea of machine made envelopes similar to the envelope of today was conceived. Connecticut ingenuity was called upon to build this machine. About 1874 Lester & Wasley, of Norwich, placed on the market their first "Leader" self-gumming envelope machine which was far superior to anything then on the market.

Since that time, this concern, which continued as a partnership until 1910 when The Lester & Wasley company, Inc., was organized to carry on the business, has supplied many envelope making machines for business, social and post office stamped envelopes.

Several years ago, they produced the "Leader" deckling machine which is a new type of machine for placing a deckle edge on sheets and cards which on many stocks is superior to the so-called mill deckle.

The company has had a substantial export business in most of the foreign countries for both their envelope and deckle edging machines.

The present officers are William A. Cruickshank, president; Harvey M. Briggs, vice president; and Percival W. Chapman, secretary and treasurer.

Vegetable crops in California during 1929 brought returns of $95,499,000.

FOR COLDS— ALKALINIZE YOUR SYSTEM

Doctors everywhere are prescribing this new treatment for colds; and it is delighting thousands by the quick relief it brings when used consistently

Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon and night, the first day. Do the same thing the second day. Then take only at night.

Colds reduce the alkalinity of your system. That's what makes you feel achy, feverish, weak, half-sick from them. Phillips Milk of Magnesia is alkali in harmless, palatable form. It relieves the symptoms of colds by restoring the alkalinity of your system.

For fifty years, this pleasant alkaline has been famous as an anti-acid. Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it; millions know how it relieves sour-stomach, gas, indigestion and other symptoms of over-acidity. All drug stores recommend it. 25c and 50c bottles, with full directions for its many uses.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

SHARP SET-BACK IN STOCK MARKET LARGELY DUE TO TECHNICAL REACTION

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—The stock market experienced the sharpest setback since December today, as measured by the price index of 90 leading stocks, which recorded a loss of 3.7 points. The majority of the more active issues lost 2 to 11 points. Trading was fairly active, the day's turnover running close to 4,500,000 shares.

Bullish operations, concentrated in a few amusement, food and specialty shares, lifted about a dozen issues 1 to 7 points to new highs for the year, but these gains were mostly curtailed or lost before the close.

The movement appeared to be largely in the nature of a technical reaction such as has been forecast in conservative quarters for some time on the theory that the rapid upturn during March and the first half of April had been more rapid than justified by the recovery in business and trade. The market was weak at the close, shorts finding no cause to cover.

A disturbing development in the afternoon trading was a drop of about 4 points in U. S. Steel, despite the statement of Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, at the annual meeting, that the future may now be faced "with a feeling of assurance, confidence and safety." Mr. Taylor's statement that the corporation's capitalization has now been "firmly fixed" was interpreted in some circles as dashing cold water on the split-up rumors that have been circulated for some time.

Coppers displayed pronounced weakness, several issues sagging 3 to 7 points to new lows for the year, in reflection of talk of a further reduction in copper prices to 12 cents a pound, after the slash from 18 to 14 last week. Other unsettling factors were a substantial gain in California Crude Oil production last week and unfavorable first quarter earnings statements from such companies as Atlantic Refining, Hudson Motor, Youngstown Sheet, and DuPont. A few first quarter statements, however, showed moderate gains over the like period of 1929, including those of Colorado Fuel, General American Tank, and General Foods.

Fox Film A was a strong spot, moving up 7 points to a new high for the year at 65 3-8, and closing at 63 3-8, reflecting announcement of the new financing plan. Loew's and General Theatres were strong for a time, but reacted late in the day. Radio Corp. sold up about 2 points to 64 3-4, a new high for the year, then slipped back to 63 1-8. In the generally sagging rails, Norfolk & Western shot up 6 1-2 points. Among the normally fast movers, Vanadium was bid up 10 and J. I. Case 7, to new highs, and these gains were later reduced.

Allied Chemical fell about 11 points, and shares losing 4 to 7 included American & Foreign Power, American Telephone, American Tobacco B, Anaconda, Columbia Carbon, Electric Power & Light, General Electric, Goodyear, Granby, Houston Oil, International Harvester, Union Carbide, and Underwood Elliott.

Credit conditions were easy, call money renewing at 4 per cent, and again sagging to 3 1-2.

Commodity markets were also under pressure. Wheat futures lost from 3-8 to 7-8 of a cent, reflecting weak Winnipeg and Buenos Aires markets, and bearish weather. Corn lost more than 2 cents, reflecting an increase in the visible supply. Cotton futures lost 75 cents to $1.15 a bale.

BOND MARKET

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—The bond market was both dull and easy today. Although the largest declines appeared in issues carrying stock conversion or warrant features, many of the investment rails failed to resist moderate pressure and losses of a point in this group were rather numerous. United States governments, after an irregular forenoon, stiffened in the later trading and closed slightly higher, reflecting a relaxation in demand loan rates. Time money was firm.

Canadian Pacific 4s, Santa Fe 4 1-2s of 1948, Chicago & Northwestern 4 3-4s, Morris & Essex 4 1-2s, Nickel Plate 4 1-2s, Southern Pacific collateral 4s, New York Central 4 1-2s and Union Pacific first 4s were among high grade carrier liens showing losses ranging from 1 to 2 points. Declines in this group were fairly general, although the secondary rails were somewhat firmer.

With the exception of a few amusement company bonds, the share feature group was heavy. American Telephone 4 1-2s led the decline with a 7-point net loss.

General Theatres 6s were the strongest of the amusement bonds, rising a maximum of 6 points.

Utilities and industrials were quiet and irregularly lower, with small fluctuations either way.

COTTON

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed easy; 15 to 23 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 16.00.

Treasury Balance.

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 15 were $5,933,812.57; expenditures $17,619,253.30; balance $240,352,790.57.

Today's gold movement report of the New York Federal Reserve bank shows imports of $2,400,000 from Peru, no exports, and no net change in the amount of gold earmarked for foreign account.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21—(AP)—The curb market bounded upward at the opening today as large blocks of some of the leading public utilities changed hands at higher prices, but the rally was checked in the last hour by heavy selling in sympathy with the weakness shown on the "big board." Final quotations were irregular, with a number of rather sizeable gains and a few rather sharp declines. Trading was moderately heavy in volume, the day's sales running close to 1,100,000 shares.

Electric Bond and Share opened at 117 7-8, a new 1930 top, but slipped back to 113 7-8 for a net loss of 2 5-8. Niagara Hudson, which was turned over in large volume in anticipation of its early transfer to the stock exchange, closed slightly high at 22 after setting a new high at 23 [illegible]-8. Brazilian Light and Traction attained a new peak at 54 3-8 and then dipped to 53 for a small fractional loss. American and Foreign Power warrants broke six points and the American Light and Traction issues, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Cleveland Traction and the United Light and Power issues showed net declines of 2 to nearly 4 points. North American Light and Power touched a new high at 74, up 2 3-4, closing at the top.

Oils turned heavy on the announcement of a large increase in California production last week, and the publication of a relatively poor first quarter report by the Atlantic Refining company. Conden sold down more than 4 points and Humble, Vacuum, Texon and a few others sagged a point or two. Cities Service rallied on the publication of a record-breaking 1929 report, but lost its gain in realizing.

Investment trust shares were mixed, Goldman Sachs ran up more than 2 points but lost about half its gain. Mayflower Associates closed nearly 3 points higher and moderate gains were made by New York Investors and American Cities A. United Founders, was heavy.

Lane Bryant preferred jumped 13 1-2 points in odd lot transactions. American Hard Rubber, Blaw Knox, Cooper Bessemer, Laclede Steel, Pacific Coast Biscuit issues, and a few other specialties sold at new highs for the year. Newmont Mining broke 5 points in sympathy with the weakness of the coppers. Deere and Company (new) also fell 5 points on realizing.

EIGHT BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED INCLUDING ONE FOR NEW COTTAGE HOUSE

During the past week there were eight building permits issued at the office of Fire Marshal Henry R. Taft for new construction work in the city. This brings the permits issued up to 38 for the month of April with another week to go. Included in last week's permits was one for a frame cottage house to be built by John Senetski on Tyler avenue. The other permits are for garages and alterations to present buildings.

The building permits follow:

To Abraham Meyer, to alter the present building at the corner of West Main and North Thames streets. The present two stores in the building will be made into one large store by the removal of the partition that now separates them. New plate glass windows will be put in and a new entrance built. The estimated cost is $335.

To Abraham N. Meyer, to alter the present frame building at 20 North Thames street. The alterations will include the removing of the second floor of the building to give more air space in the bakery. The baking room will be 16 feet in height instead of eight feet as at present. The walls of the bake shop will also be refinished in sheet rock and a window cut in. The estimated cost is $135.

To Josephine Izbicki, to erect a frame one-car garage at 28 Golden street. The garage will be 9x17 feet and the estimated expense will be $100.

To Fred D. Wood, to extend and enclose the present frame veranda at his home on Tyler avenue. The veranda when completed will be 15x25 feet. The estimated cost is $200.

To Mabel E. Mott, to erect a frame garage, 12x20 feet, at her home on Stonington road. The estimated cost is $300.

To John Senetski, to build a six-room frame cottage house on Tyler avenue for himself. The house will be 26x28 feet with concrete and stone foundation. The interior will be finished in hard plaster and oak and the exterior will be in clapboards and shingles. There will be a space in the cellar for a garage. The estimated cost is $3,000.

To Mary and Bridget Donohue, to build a frame shed in the rear of their home on Boswell avenue. The estimated cost is $10.

To Arthur Durr, to erect a frame henhouse at his place on Roosevelt avenue. The henhouse will be 10x12 feet. The estimated cost is $25.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

There were five sales of real estate in Norwich during the past week as compared to eight sales for the corresponding week in 1929. The mortgage loans for the respective week are $9,600 and $32,000.

In New London during the past week there were nine sales of real estate, an increase of two sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $21,600 and $83,637.

New London.

Despite the comparatively poor weather building activities went along at a favorable pace during the past week and much progress was reported on many jobs particularly the larger ones now under way. The steel work for the roof of the new administration building of the Connecticut college was nearly all erected and the inside work at the children's annex of the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals went along at full speed. Due to the rain some little concrete work was delayed slightly but in general work went along in good fashion.

The plastering work has been completed on the residence being built for Robert Congdon in Shirley lane. The house is of colonial design, finished outside with white stained shingles with wide weather exposure and with two big stone chimneys, one on each end. An attached garage is located in the rear. The interior is to be finished in colonial style with all modern improvements, including steam heat, hardwood floors, brass plumbing, built in fixtures, etc.

Work has been started on the construction of a new house to be built for Edward I. Raymond at Morton and Dart streets. The proposed house will be of frame construction 26 by 26 feet, arranged with seven rooms and a sun porch. The arrangement calls for a living-room, dining room, kitchen and kitchenette and sun porch downstairs and four bedrooms on the second floor. Tiled baths and other conveniences will be provided. A two-car garage is to be erected in the rear of the building. The work is to be done by the day under the supervision of the owner. The various sub-contracts have already been awarded.

Building Permits.

The total number of permits issued for the week, 10; estimated cost of buildings, $17,425.

Putnam.

PUTNAM, April 22 — Building developments in this city during the past few days have been few and unimportant. Finishers are playing important roles in Putnam construction these early spring weeks, as new buildings which were begun a few months ago, take on completed appearances. Time has been a minor part of the contract for the stately banking home of the Cargill Trust company on Main street, which is now entering the first month of its second year of construction. Quality workmanship and thoroughness in every detail comprise the chief essentials of the building project and when these two factors are considered it appears that the block will not be dedicated until later in the summer.

Ideal weather conditions this month have been a stimulation of building and construction at the "Gwen Careg farm" of Mrs. T. Morris Murray of Abington, who because of her philanthropic attitude toward the residents of the village, has received the name "Abington's Lady Bountiful" from the nation. Laborers and craftsmen of all description are back at work on the beautiful country estate beginning where they left off last fall when cold weather forced them to lay down their tools. Work on the artificial lake, which Mrs. Murray is having built is underway again and carpenters are erecting various types of structures about the estate.

SUMMER IS TIME TO INSTALL HEATER

Spring is practically here now and the heating equipment will soon be shut off and left unattended until some time in the fall. There are bound to be a number of persons who have a sigh of relief now that furnace tending time is to end. Inadequate or antiquated heating equipment is the reason. Should there be any thought of installing a new heating plant the summer is the time to do it. Of course there will be considerable thought given to different models and styles of boilers, and there are many to choose from.

Should you decide upon a square boiler made by one well-known manufacturer, improvement would be marked. Instead of a boiler with perhaps an external header, which takes a lot of head room and makes an ungainly looking job, you would have a neat, smooth clean boiler. This boiler is heavily insulated with rock wool and is covered with a metal jacket finished with highly lustrous blue and red enamel. Fire doors of red vitreous porcelain enamel, and the appearance is startingly beautiful.

However, not only would you find improvement in appearance. You would find improvement in such small details as the way linings are fastened to the inside of the doors. Should a lining ever have to be removed, it can be done in a simple manner by the driving out of a pin rather than by attempting to take out rust tightened screws. By an ingenious device, your grates would be locked into place as long as they were in an operating position No more would you be troubled by clinkers getting between two grate bars and causing one of them to jump out of place, necessitating the withdrawing of the fire and cooling the boiler before the grate bar could be replaced.

KITCHEN NO LONGER DRAB WORK ROOM

The kitchen is no longer the drab workshop it was ten or twenty years ago. Instead it is a cheerful, inviting, and above all, a labor-saving room where breakfasts, lunches and even informal suppers are both prepared and served. All this change is due to modern manufacturing methods, improved materials and labor-saving equipment. It is no longer necessary to scour and scrub sinks, table tops, pots and pans. Porcelain, in white or colors, makes it a simple matter, by merely wiping with a damp rag, to insure clean and shining surfaces.

With the modern kitchen and pantry sinks the lady of the house no longer has to stand on tip-toe or bend at a back-breaking angle. The high, eight-inch back prevents the wall being splashed. The depth of the sink provides ample sace for washing dishes or vegetables. Fittings are usually of rustproof brass, finished with chromium, a material that will not tarnish and always presents a gleaming surface.

Adequate lighting in the kitchen is as important as elsewhere in the home. Here the housewife spends much of her time. The need for sufficient lighting is obvious. There should be one ceiling fixture for general lighting, and lights should flank the sink. If there is a breakfast alcove, it, too, should have its own light.

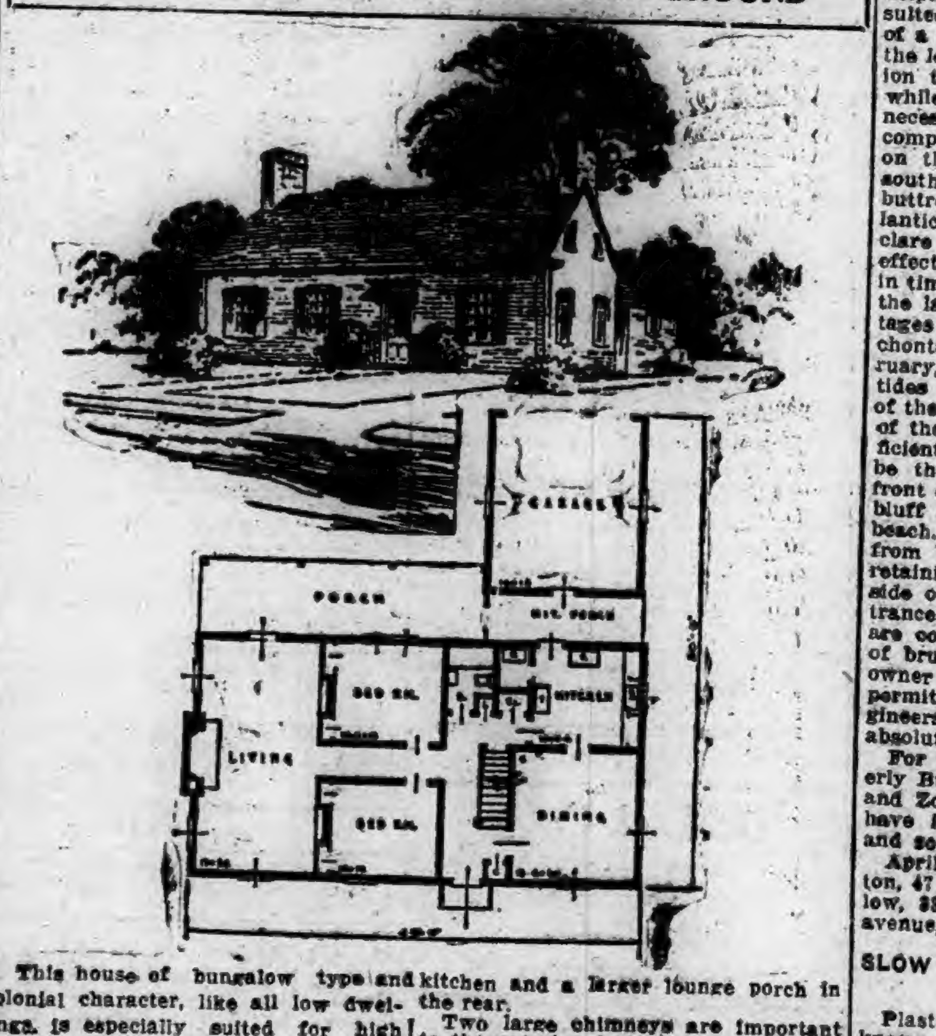
CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP)—Acute weakness in corn values today caused the market to break 3c a bushel in some cases. Flurried selling to stop losses developed, the trade being taken by surprise as a result of the corn visible supply showing an increase notwithstanding liberal shipments from Chicago accompanying opening of lake navigation. Rapid progress of spring wheat sending, together with talk of discontinuance of federal farm board loans to wheat growers, had a bearish effect on wheat.

Closing quotations on corn were nervous, 2 1-8a2 1-2c lower than Saturday's finish. Wheat closed unsettled at 1-4ca1c net decline, oats 1-8a1-2c down, and provisions unchanged to 7c off.

Provisions reflected downturns, both in hog values and in corn.

LOW HOUSES FOR COLD OR HIGH GROUND



This house of bungalow type and colonial character, like all low dwellings, is especially suited for high ground or cold climate.

Three-side exposure is available for the living room, while the house itself it oriented with the front facing east where it would receive the full benefit of the early sun sunlight.

Shrubbery at the front of the property, at the entrance and along the driveway, of course, makes the entire scheme additionally attractive, although the house of itself is replete with desirable features.

The living room is large, and there is plenty of space about the kitchen, particularly because of a kitchen porch. Through this porch the garage becomes conveniently accessible — the kitchen and a larger lounge porch in the rear.

Two large chimneys are important to the exterior design. The chimneys are white with block tips and rest on a roof which should look attractive in dark brown. The house is white with blue green blinds or shutters.

The house and the garage would not run back more than 50 feet and would be of 49 feet frontage, but a lot 75x100 feet is desirable for this type of home since much of its effect hinges upon the outside surroundings and the manner in which these surroundings are treated.

It may be built between $8,000 and $10,000, although price will vary as to the quality of materials employed in the construction and labor costs in the various communities.

NEW NORWICH INN ON NORWICH-NEW LONDON HIGHWAY

Within the next ten days the general contractors, Peck-McWilliams Co. will have completed their work on the new Norwich Inn and all that will remain to be done is the decorating, installing of the furnishings and the grading of the grounds about the inn.

The above picture gives a general idea of how the inn appears from the Norwich-New London road. When this picture was taken the contractors were only about two thirds done with the work. The outside balconies and the porches and stairs had not been erected.

The rooms on the third floor have been completed and those on the second will be finished this week. The contractors are now at work on finishing the ground floor. The floor in the main dining room is now being sanded and the paneling about the fireplace is being done. The main part of the work is completed and there remains only some of the smaller work in finishing the interior to be done. This work is expected to take about a week or ten days and then the building will be turned over to the painters and decorators for the completion of the work.

The electrical work is all completed with the exception of the hanging of the fixtures which will start as soon as the general contractors have completed their work.

Grading of the grounds about the building has been started and will be completed by the first of June if there is no delay. It is expected that the inn will be in operation by Memorial Day unless something unforeseen occurrs

WORK ON WATCH HILL MANSION BEING RUSHED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 21—The massive summer mansion, in process of construction at Watch Hill on the East Beach eminence, overlooking the Coast Guard station and lighthouse point, known as Watch Hill from which the shore resort derives its name, is one of the chief attractions for early motor visitors to the shore this season. Already the 35-room house has its wooden frame completed and much of the roof beginning with the service end of the two and a half story house has been shingled. Three-stories-high brick chimneys as large as many rooms in the average seashore cottages furnish the outlets for the ten fireplaces with which the house is equipped. Since plans were first drawn changes have been made and a boiler and heating plant added by means of which it will be possible for a caretaker to occupy the mansion the year around. At the southerly side of the house a large rustic stone retaining wall has been completed above which one large sun room occupies that entire side of the house. The house framework, erected on stone and cement foundations, with steel beams and interior trim of rock lath and plaster, is to be covered on the outside with red cedar shingles and the house-siding is already stored inside the house in readiness to be placed in position with the least amount of delay. Scattered about the interior are to be located fifteen baths and toilets.

The past week end signs posted outside the building read "No Carpenters Wanted 'Today,'" but beginning this week it is understood that the last and first words of the sign will be omitted, for it has been reported that every available carpenter will be put to work in an extra effort to have the mansion ready for occupancy by August first next. The first impression of this most recent addition to Watch Hill "cottages" is one of vastness for the top of the hill has been cut down some and the idea is now gained that the house has been built around the hill, which was for many years a semi-public picnic ground and the property of several generations of the Atwood family, manufacturers of silk machinery in Stonington. Some time has been lost in the construction of this house for on many days during the winter the wind blew so hard in this most exposed site that the workmen were not able to carry on.

There has been a difference of opinion between Westerly and Philadelphia engineers who have been consulted by the owner as to the necessity of a sea wall in front of the property, the local authorities being of the opinion that such protection is necessary while the city engineer claims it unnecessary. At all events the Scott company of New London years ago on the neighboring property to the south build a heavy sea wall with buttresses running out into the Atlantic ocean which local engineers declare are not of sufficient length to effectually stop cross currents which in time of severe storm may tear away the land even as many summer cottages at Pleasant View and Quonochontaug Beach at the last of February, 1914, following high winds and tides after a blizzard in the middle of the month. On the East Beach side of the cottaage" the piazza is of sufficient height so that beneath it will be the garage accommodations, the front of which is so far back from the bluff as to be out of sight of the beach. A winding roadway leading from Westerly road with rustic stone retaining walls leads around the north side of the house to the garage entrances. The side slopes of the hill are covered with many years growth of brush and by special order of the owner not even the bull briers were permitted to be cut, to assist the engineers and builders where it was not absolutely necessary.

For the third week in April, Westerly Building Inspector Thomas Wills, and Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossi, have issued the following building and zoning permit:

April 18. Mrs. Ernest E. Boyington, 47 Highland avenue. Erect bungalow, 33 feet by 24 feet on Atlantic avenue, Misquamicut.

SLOW DRYING NEED IN PLASTER WORK

Plastering with lime has been well known to man for centuries. Earliest reports of plastering, and present examples of ancient work show the presence of lime, and to its presence much of the claim is laid for long life and satisfactory service. Lime works smoothly and hardens, slowly but definitely, into a rigid slab, clinging tenaciously to its support or base. It is necessary that lime be slaked before its use for plastering, the slacking consists of adding the necessary amount of water to satisfy lime's affinity for it. With good lime this ordinarily takes about seven days, and on old work with lime plaster it was not unusual to see the plaster box standing outside the building with the plaster smoking for this length of time before it was used inside.

Today's demand for speed in construction does not allow length of time. Hydrated lime was introduced to meet the needs of the builder, who was interested in a serviceable job but could not allow the time for the thorough slaking of lump lime. This hydrated lime is ready for use within forty-eight hours after the addition of water. It works easily, levels up readily and is smooth in finish.

Lime plaster is composed of many minute air cells, formed by the gases released by the presence of water. These cells make of the wall a very satisfactory heat insulator, since it is the presence of many dead air cells which most effectually bars the passage of heat and cold. It is customary to lay up this plaster in three coats, each individually thick enough to minimize danger of material crazing and cracks, since each coat is thoroughly dried out before the succeeding coat is applied. Therefore, little opportunity is present for under coats to shrink or draw after the application of others over them.

Two precautions are generally advisable at the small house when it comes time to do the plastering. First, the hydrated lime used, because its strong affinity for moisture will cause it to slake sufficiently in damp locations to prevent its being of value as finishing plaster. Then after its application on the wall the plaster should not be allowed to dry out too fast, as it would if strong winds or hot summer breezes blew through the building unobstructed. Slow drying is one of the factors which makes lime plaster so impervious to outside conditions after it has finally taken its set. To this end the door and window openings should be closed if possible, particularly at night, allowing moderate ventilation during the day.

FUTURE HOME TO HAVE NEW FEATURES

Home owners may anticipate with assurance that the homes of the future will even excell those of the present in the matter of conveniences available, if we may judge the number of patents said to be pending in the United States patent office of the department of commerce. These inventions insofar as they apply to housing and house construction are aimed toward greater comfort in living.

Refrigeration, heating and air-conditioning inventions have been numerous during recent months, according to a recent report. One of the latest patent awards for an air-conditioning system is the invention of two Buffalo men for use in homes and apartments. Enclosed in a housing with refrigerating apparatus, the device has an inlet and outlet and means for forcing air into the room to be conditioned, and would be automatically responsive to the temperature in the room.

Many new patents have been granted on electrical, gas and other types of refrigeration and the patent office division which has charge of such devices still has 2,539 applications before it. The division on heating devices has 2,426 applications awaiting investigation. Among the numerous safety devices recently patented was an invention to automatically start and stop an electrically operated oil burner by means of an electro magnet.

Inventions designed to replace men with machines are well represented. A patent has been granted for a brick laying machine, a device composed of a carrier with a releasable brick holder fitted with attachments to line up the bricks before they are released.

NEW YORK, April 21—(AP)—Stockholders of the Continental Diamond Fibre company of Bridgeport, Conn., Newark, Del., Chicago and Toronto, at the annual meeting May 12, will vote on a proposal to increase the authorized common stock from 480,000 to 700,000 shares. The additional stock is to be used in acquiring new properties.

Automobile headlights that comply with the law are to be stamped by the government of France. For years there have been complaints and law suits because no one could be certain when his lights were right.

THREE MURDER INDICTMENTS AT RHODE ISLAND PRISON

PROVIDENCE, April 21—(AP)—With three men arraigned on charges of murder, investigators into the outbreak at state prison, Howard, on Saturday afternoon, were centering their efforts tonight on apprehension of two gunmen who escaped by automobile after the murder of Peleg Champlin, trusty, and critically wounding of a guard.

Three youths, Ernest and John Candelmo, of Providence and Ralph Colarusso, of North Bergen, N. J., who admit being in the visitors' room during the shooting, were arraigned in district court at Cranston, this afternoon charged with the murder of Champlin, who was shot as he sounded the prison alarm.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

That Norwich people appreciate good music plus marvelous acting is evidenced by the crowds that have thrilled to the magic of "The Vagabond King," which is in its last showings today. Based on Justin Huntly McCarthy's famous novel, "If I Were King," which was staged first as a legitimate play, a sensation, and later as a musical production, with Dennis King as star, the story concerns itself with a literal "king of the vagabonds," who defies the erratic King Louis XI of France, and finds himself for a brief week, Grand Marshal of France, with unlimited powers but with the gallows awaiting him at the end. King, in his original stage role is magnificent, and with Jeannette Macdonald, Lillian Roth, O. P. Heggie and Warner Oland, and a cast of 3,000, offers a wonderful performance, all in brilliant natural colors.

Tomorrow, by sharp contrast, the scene shifts to our own west, where Richard Arlen, Fred Kohler, Harry Green, Mary Brian and a host of favorites, offer the exciting screen version of Zane Grey's immortal classic of the frontier, "The Light of Western Stars." The bellowing of trail herds mingles with the soothing cowboy songs, and the staccato bark of six-guns, the clink of glasses, and the metallic blare of the dance hall "bands" in this authentic and blood-stirring epic of the old west, "where men were men, and Judge Colt dispensed swift and ruthless justice." Rivalling "The Virginian" in human appeal, "The Light of Western Stars" bids fair to attract record crowds to the Broadway.

POETRY

An April Day

Beloved friend, I dreamed of you last night,
So exquisite a dream, I did awake
As in an ecstasy, from sheer delight.
So real it seemed, to hear a robin break
The silence of the dappled dawn with song;
For one brief space your presence lingered there—
As does an echo some sweet song prolong—
Then passed. Could I have crystallized that rare
Blest moment when, not quite awake, half sleeping,
I saw you limned against an April dawn!
And yet, preserved for aye in memory's keeping,
Your joyous face illumining the wan
Gray twilight dim—a spring-tide ecstasy
Framed in a flood of April melody!

This day has been most fair, though falling showers
Have hid the sun behind a silvery veil,
For filled with joy have been the golden hours
Since I was waked, in the chill twilight pale,
By that sweet dream that has a glamour cast
Over the dull, gray commonplace of things,
And all too swiftly have the hours passed,
And to my sandals have been added wings.
O that a dream should work such witcheries!
And now 'tis dusk, and through the wimpling rain,
Fragrant of hyacinths and budding trees
Again there comes the robin's glad refrain,
To summon up once more, for a brief space,
The rapture of the dawn—your April face!

—Louella C. Poole, in Boston Transcript.

April Weather

Oh, hush, my heart, and take thine ease
For here is April weather!
The daffodils beneath the trees
Are all a-row together.

The thrush is back with his old note;
The scarlet tulip blowing;
And white — ay, white as my love's throat—
The dogwood boughs are growing.

The lilac bush is sweet again;
Down every wind that passes
Fly flakes from hedgerow and from lane.
The bees are in the grasses.

And Grief goes out, and Joy comes in,
And care is but a feather;
And every lad his love can win,
For here is April weather.

—Lizette Woodworth Reese.

NEW LONDON COUNCIL HOLDS OVER GRANTING PERMIT TO DUMONT GAS CO.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 21.—The city council held a two-hour session this evening with all members present except Councilor Minor, chairman of the finance committee. On the petition of resident taxpayers on Maple avenue for the provision of an overhead bridge across the New Haven railroad tracks, or an underpass beneath them, Councilor Chappell reported adversely on any of the plans submitted. The plans contemplated the expenditure of $13,000 for one proposition, $8,000 for a second and $9,000 for a third. He said that a plan proposed that met with favor was the placing of Wightman street in condition that that might be used as an outlet to Pequot avenue.

There were 16 applications for permits to build and alter property.

Extension of the sewer on Ocean avenue was prolonged to accommodate the John Gross property.

Dow court, running from Broad street to Cedar Grove avenue, was accepted as a public highway. It has been opened and used and is built upon, but it has never been accepted as a street.

A report was made by the public safety committee on the proposition of the Dumont Marine Service Corp., which seeks permission to establish business on the wharf at the foot of State street and in that business establish a pump to supply gasoline. The parties interested in the Dumont service are residents of Gales Ferry and have been for a number of years. The pump for supplying boats is to be placed under water and it is represented that it will not raise the insurance rates on adjoining property. Councilor Fox pointed out that this had not been positively decided upon yet and until it was, he objected to giving them permission to place a gas tank at the wharf.

City Manager Holt said he had been expecting to hear from the New England Writers' representative for several days, but that he had not as yet received the information he was looking for. Councilor Fox represented that the city should be paid for the use of that wharf by the Dumont Co., as it was in competition with other dealers who were paying taxes in the city. Mayor Twomey was of the same opinion. The city manager said that the sale of gas was only incidental to the business and was for the accommodation of boats of the Dumont Co. principally. The Dumont Co. is to rent and sell boats and is to be an accommodation to yachts coming into the harbor.

The council was notified by the public utilities commission that application had been made for permits to operate taxicabs in this city, by Samuel Disconti, Mary Curtin and Meyer Rubin, the last named for six permits for Yellow Cabs.

A law passed by the last legislature provides that permits shall only be granted in cases of necessity and convenience. Unless the city makes some objection, it is probable that these permits will be granted. Referred to the public safety committee.

The board of education, trustees of endowed schools and the city council are to meet at a date tentatively fixed for Monday, to go over the whole question of education. There has been a controversy going on for some time as to the cost of schools in New London, particularly the School of Commerce. The council claimed that this was not necessary here and that the pupils could be given their education in the high schools. The proposition has been bandied back and forth in the council for two or three meetings. Councilor Fox pointed out that there should be some set question to talk about when these committees met. The school board has a cut and dried plan as to what they claim they can do and what the council cannot do. The matter was tentatively left for next Monday, if Councilor Miner, who is the chairman of the finance committee, can be present. He is now out of town.

A claim against Sheehan and Crandall, who operated the ferryboat under lease, has been brought, in relation to an accident in which the ferryboat collided with a barge when leaving the slip at New London. The matter is in the process of settlement and an executive session was held this evening to consider it.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 21.—A lovenest of sailors and their female companions was probably broken up by action in the police court here today. Kenneth R. Walsh, Allen J. Spencer and Oscar C. Childers, sailors, stationed at the Submarine base, and Mary Ann Lynch, 35, and Esther Mattison, 25, of Pittsburgh, but temporarily residing at the Wauregan House, Norwich, were disciplined, all on charges of lascivious carriage, excepting Walsh, who was penalized for conducting a disorderly house. Another young woman, Mrs. Ermina Cormier Thibeault, 16, of Norwich, the mother of two children, was charged with being in danger of falling into ways of vice, although she fell long ago. She was committed to the State Farm for Women, East Lyme. The Lynch and Mattison women were fined $10 and costs each and the sailors were fined $25 and costs. All paid. As a result of numerous complaints having been received at police headquarters, because of the many women frequenting the house at 74 Blackhall street almost nightly, it was decided to raid the residence Saturday and at midnight Sergeant Samuel Hick, Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey and Patrolman Frank Linehan went to the house. The officers had no trouble entering the house for the front entrance was unlocked. Ascending the stairs, the officers gave warning on a door, which was not responded to, but after several warnings either Spencer or Childers inquired as to what was wanted. The information was then given that police officers demanded admission. After a long wait and during which time much scuffling of feet could be heard, the door was opened and the officers entered a sleeping room. Spencer and Childers were standing there, attired only in trousers. In an adjoining room were found the Lynch and Mattison women, in night dresses. The Thibeault girl nor Walsh were not present; but it was known that they had been there. Spencer and Childers, with the two women, were arrested and escorted to police headquarters. Walsh returned to the house about 1 o'clock Sunday morning and he was arrested and last night when the Thibeault girl was located, she, too, was apprehended.

When the quintet was presented in court today all testified in their own defense after having pleaded not guilty. Their testimony was of such a silly nature that all really convicted themselves. Spectators and court officials, alike, were smiling because of the senseless defense of the accused.

The Lynch and Mattison women are baking soda demonstrators and the latter was the only one of the accused that did not take the witness stand. The former declared that they went to the Blackhall street house Saturday night for the purpose of spending the week end and to prepare an Easter dinner for Spencer and Childers. The woman said that no act of impropriety had been committed and that all retired early so as to rise early in preparation for the feast.

Walsh, Childers and Spencer all told of the house being rented from Jacob Lazerow, Blackhall street resident, and declared that it was rented for the sole purpose of providing a sleeping place for the trio when they were not at the Submarine base. Walsh was given much questioning for it developed that he paid the rent to Lazerow and it was he who brought the Thibeault girl to the house on more than one occasion; testimony showed that the girl had remained two days and two nights in succession at the house last week. The Thibeault girl, whose parents were in court, testified to having been taken to the house by Walsh and to having remained there overnight on each occasion. She was in New London, she said, seeking employment. The father of the girl, in testifying, said that his daughter was frequently absent from home at night and that he did not know whether she was married, for the girl had never fully convinced him of her having been married, in spite of the fact that she has two children which are cared for by their grandparents.

Judge Daniel M. Cronin stated that he was satisfied that the house, which quartered many beds and couches, was being used by the sailors for their entertainment and diversion with females and that while there had been no evidence introduced to show that sexual relationship had taken place there, the house was more a resort for assignation and it was a disorderly house. He then imposed the fines, after which he committed the girl to the state farm.

Joseph Francis, 169 North Bank street, charged with breach of the peace, was found not guilty. Francis was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Dennis Murphy upon complaint of Dennis Spinnard, a lodger at Francis' home, who declared that the rooming house proprietor had attacked him with a jack-knife. There was no corroborative testimony and Francis denied having wielded a knife. He did admit that he took Spinnard to task for failing to pay his room rent.

Louis Ramistella, 706 Bank street, was charged with speeding and the case was nolled upon the payment of the costs of the court, $10.23.

John McPherson, a sailor aboard the yacht Reba, was charged with breach of the peace and was fined $10 and costs.

Convicted Himself

Ernest Bedini, 63 Bayonet street, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 and costs. Conviction of the driver was made possible by the evidence of the arresting officer, Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey and officers who were at headquarters when Bedini was locked up. All of the officers testified that Bedini was so drunk he staggered. The arrest of Bedini resulted when his automobile collided with a car driven by Robert Y. Chapman, 27 Church street, Mystic, on Ashcraft road.

Thomas Russell, 20 Shaw street, was charged with intoxication and breach of the peace and Frank Garrison was charged with breach of the peace. Russell was fined $10 and costs and the charge against Garrison was nolled. Both men were arrested at Russell's home, Sunday afternoon.

Edward Wassell, Bay street, Mystic, was charged with tampering with an automobile, but the charge was nolled as there was not sufficient evidence at hand to warrant a conviction.

Former Lisbon Man

George Russell, formerly of Lisbon, now residing on Golden street, was charged with intoxication and the count was nolled. Russell was at the rear of the Cronin building, State street, Sunday night and unquestionably fell through the glass in the rear entrance. The crash of breaking glass aroused nearby residents, who communicated with the police, stating that an attempt was being made to rob the store of the John Irving Co. When three patrolmen who were hastened to the building found Russell, he was arrested.

Samuel Shifreen of Linden street; Alvin A. Eccleston, R. F. D., Mystic; Mrs. Frances Keenan, 23 Sherman street, were charged with various violations of the city's parking ordinances. None of the drivers was in court so their respective bonds of $2 were forfeited.

Dies at Fairview

Neils V. Hartvig, 73, died this afternoon at Odd Fellows' home, Groton, where he had been for several years. He was born in Denmark, but resided in Groton the greater part of his life.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Timothy Evers

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Evers, widow of Timothy Evers, of 56 Washington street, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Michael Reagan. The bearers were Samuel Cunningham, of Elizabeth, N. J., George Malan, Hartford and Edward Dondero, sons-in-law of Mrs. Evers and Frederick R. Swanson. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

OBITUARY

Mrs. John D. Burns

Mrs. Mary E. Burns, widow of John D. Burns, died this afternoon at her residence, 20 Lincoln avenue. She had been an invalid about 25 years. Mrs. Burns is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Pincus, Mrs. Annie McMahon and Miss Gertrude McElroy, all of New London and by a brother, George McElroy, also of this city. Mrs. Burns was born in Cambridge, Mass., the daughter of Edward and Annie McElroy, but had resided in New London the greater part of her life.

Mrs. Charles S. Bailey

Mrs. Estella E. Bailey, widow of Charles S. Bailey, died Sunday at her home in Flanders, East Lyme, where she had resided for many years.

WEDDING

Martin-Dalton

Thomas L. Martin and Miss Mary C. Dalton, both of this city, were married this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the nuptial mass being sung by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hawkins were the witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Martin left on a wedding trip to Montreal and upon their return to New London will reside at 237 Squire street. Mr. Martin is a mason by trade.

MARQUARDT MAKES PARTIAL RESTITUTION OF SHORTAGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 21—Henry E. Marquardt, 40 Spicer avenue, Groton, prominent merchant and for many years tax collector of the borough, was in Groton town court today charged with the embezzlement of $15,000 of the funds of the borough, during his term of office. The former tax collector, however, will not be penalized, it is believed, for he has made partial restitution, having returned $13,046.95, which sum the former collector admitted having embezzled, to borough officials and the balance, it is understood, will be returned to the borough within another week. Today in court when this information was made known by Prosecuting Attorney Harry C. Brogan, the case was continued to Monday next and Marquardt's bond was reduced from $15,000 to $5,000.

Marquardt was arrested several days ago when an audit of his books which was authorized by the selectmen and was performed by G. Lawrence Nye, revealed the shortage.

Marquardt was collector of the property tax in Groton about 15 years and was only relieved of his duties as a result of his having been defeated at the polls by Carlos W. Allyn, present holder of the office. When Allyn took over the duties of the office a new and complete set of books was put into use by that official and recently the selectmen ordered an audit of the former collector's books. This showed the shortage. Marquardt has always enjoyed the highest respect of Groton residents and it is the general belief that the shortage resulted from the former collector's lax methods, not from dishonesty.

Fred Marooney, Oakdale, was arrested in Waterford Sunday by State Police Officer Arthur Whitmarsh, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

Alex Lopato was arrested in Salem Sunday by State Police Officer William E. MacKenzie, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. He was brought to New London headquarters and locked up, but today, instead of being presented in the police court, Lopato was ordered discharged by State Police Officer Donald Brown.

William Manning, 16, apparently without home or kin, who was arrested Sunday night as a suspicious character by Patrolman Frank Linehan, was delivered today into the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield. The youth last night said that he had held up a man in Bridgeport recently and robbed his victim of $6. When the Bridgeport police informed headquarters here that no hold-up had occurred there, Manning said that he had falsified his statement and had done so in the hope that he would be committed to a reformatory where he could get food and shelter, which was something he had not enjoyed while roaming about the country.

WILLIMANTIC VOTES $5,000 FOR FOOTBRIDGE REPAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 21.—An appropriation of $5,000 for immediate repairs to the footbridge, which has been closed for a week, was voted at the rate of $1,000 a minute at a five-minute special city meeting held for that purpose tonight. With attendance of about 150 people, Mayor Walter R. King called the meeting to order and the warning was read by City Clerk Arthur L. Clark. A resolution on the appropriation was presented by Corporation Counsel William A. King and adopted at once by a yea and nay vote. The meeting then adjourned.

Immediately following the special city meeting the common council held a special meeting to vote upon the appropriation after waiving the 24-hour law. Mayor King stated that a further inspection of the footbridge disclosed that the damage was more than at first brought to light and that the condition was such that it would be unsafe to open it for traffic until at least emergency repairs had been made. These are expected to be completed within a few days, probably by Friday, when repairs will be continued, but the span will be available to pedestrians. It was found that the metal cap stones on the pivot pier had completely rusted off and the supports had dropped down. The giving away of one single bolt, according to the experts, was likely to bring about an immediate collapse of the bridge. The council appropriated $5,000 with the understanding that the footbridge committee and the mayor would cause repairs to start at once. These, it is expected, will be made by the Berlin Bridge Co., upon recommendation of the state highway department. The recommendation of the Memorial park committee that Gold Star post, No. 1724, Veterans of Foreign Wars, be allowed the use of the park for a benefit baseball game Sunday, was granted. The proceeds of this game are to be used toward the expenses of the G. A. R. convention to be held here May 8 and 9.

Prior to the special city meeting, the Memorial park committee with Alderman William E. Webber as chairman and Major Joseph R. Morrison as clerk, held a meeting to consider the applications of the All Stars and the Chapman Aces baseball teams for use of the field. The All Stars were granted the use of the field on Sundays and holidays. The committee decided that the landscaping work at the park be postponed for at least one year, but recommended that improvements to the grounds being made from time to time under supervision of Street Superintendent Edwin O. Sumner be continued.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Starting tomorrow and continuing through Friday, the Palace theatre will present another of its popular double-feature bills. "Officer O'Brien, starring William Boyd, Dorothy Sebastian and an excellent supporting cast, and Constance Bennett in her latest vehicle, "Rich People."

"Officer O'Brien," is a swift-moving and gripping melodrama written especially for the screen. The story deals with a young police lieutenant who dares to arrest a powerful leader of the underworld for murder. The fact that the officer's father is a crook is a great handicap to him but he succeeds notwithstanding, and the result is a series of dramatic situations which culminate in one of the most amazing climaxes ever screened.

John Lodet and Constance Bennett in an appealing scene from the Pathe picture, "Rich People".

Ernest Torrence another popular star is cast as J. P. O'Brien, crook father of the policeman. Torrence scored a great hit in "Tol'able David," and has been exceedingly well received since.

"Under a Texas Moon" will be shown at the Palace for the last times today. This is Warner Brother's first all talking, singing and sound picture filmed in the open spaces in technicolor. It recounts the adventures of Don Carlos, ingratiating liar who makes amorous pilgrimages through the country incidentally capturing thieves and barely escaping capture.

Frank Fay, well-known Broadway wit, plays the part of Don Carlos to perfection and is supported by a superb cast including Armida, Myrna Loy, Raquel Torres and Noah Beery as well as a long list of characters who are the "bad men of the west." And Wednesday evening is award night for the ladies; this is the night they receive the Jade Green Boudoir Sets. This is the talk of the town. They are beautiful, so don't miss Wednesday at the Palace.

Dramatic Recitation

On Wednesday evening, April twenty-third, in the Catholic Ladies of Columbus hall, T. A. B. building, John P. Murphy of the faculty of Norwich Free Academy, of Norwich, will make his first appearance before the Norwich public as a whole. However, he is not new to Norwich people. He has previously appeared before the Knights of Columbus, Lions' club, Contact club, American Legion and the Norwich College club.

Before coming here Mr. Murphy has appeared regularly on every broadcasting station in New Jersey as well as on five prominent New York stations. He appeared as private entertainer for Columbus council, Knights of Columbus, of New York city at regular intervals.

Mr. Murphy comes to us highly recommended by the various radio stations as a recitationist of keen dramatic talent. His programs are varied and colorful and range from the delightfully funny to the tragic. He has collected various accessories and lighting effects which render his actions more visible and enjoyable.

At present he is booked to appear over WTIC, Hartford, in the near future.

Mercier assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, is especially pleased to present local talent. It is sure that the public of Norwich will show its appreciation of a home boy and a large and appreciative audience is anticipated.

On the same program will appear John Kelly and William Shannon in a group of musical numbers accompanied by Miss Marguerite Delaney at the piano.

We feel this program is especially appropriate now during the ten weeks of Norwich's progress feature over the air. While Norwich is giving our local talent its opportunity to come to the front. This evening's entertainment will be to show all Norwich people thereby living up to our adopted slogan, "Norwich Produces what the World Uses."

To one former resident of the Taftville section, the Norwich broadcast last Friday night came like a message from home and he has written to the merchants bureau of the chamber of commerce to tell them how glad he was to listen in.

The following is the letter from William McGarrigle of Blackstone, Mass.:

April 18, 1930.

Dear Sirs:

While tuning in on the radio tonight, I happened to hear the words, "Norwich,, the Rose of New England."

Having been born and brought up in Taftville, you can bet I sat up and took notice, and woe be to the one in the house that made any noise while your program was on the air. Send one of your booklets along, on the first mail out. I'll be waiting for the Doctor and the Professor next Friday night.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM. McGARRIGLE,
Box 336,
Blackstone, Mass.

P. S.—Your program from station WTIC of Hartford came in very clear.

JUDGMENT ON NOTE FOR NEW LONDON BANK

The New London City National bank was awarded judgment for $4,080 against A. W. Conklin of Plainville and Edna W. Spencer of Lebanon in a decision handed down by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court late Saturday. The suit arose from a note given by Mrs. Spencer to Conklin and discounted at the bank by the latter.

Observed His 78th Birthday

Easter Sunday this year was the 78th birthday anniversary for Joseph P. Monaher of 41 Park street, who observed the day in a quiet way, many of his friends calling on him and others sending birthday greetings.

Mr. Monaher is one of the few surviving men of the group of Norwich firemen who went from here to help fight the Boston fire in 1872. Although he retired from the plumbing business some time ago he is still active and about every day.

NORWICH TOWN

The Junior and Intermediate C. E. societies of the Congregational church, will meet this (Tuesday) afternoon after school, in the chapel. "Religious Revolution" is to be the theme of the Congregational mid-week service Thursday evening. The work committee of the woman's department will meet in the chapel Friday afternoon. This will be the last meeting until autumn. Beginning Sunday next, services at this church will be on daylight saving time.

Mrs. Genie Evans of Bridgeport and Worcester, arrived in Norwich Town Sunday afternoon to visit her cousins Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb. Mrs. Evans was accompanied by her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vander Pyl and their son Master Ellis Vander Pyl, of Worcester, also by Mrs. Vander Pyl's mother, Mrs. Hall of Southbridge, Mass., who was their guest over the week end. Mrs. Evans came to Connecticut especially to attend the department convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, in Willimantic, today (Tuesday) and Wednesday. Mrs. Evans will be one of several automobile guests of Mrs. Walter Brinkman of Norwich, until Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buckley with their daughter Miss Marion Buckley were guests over Easter of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert I. Sanderson of Willimantic.

Reginald Avery from Wesleyan university, Middletown, has been spending the Easter recess with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Avery.

Methodist Easter Concert

Sunday night in the Methodist Episcopal church the Easter concert of the church school was given before a congregation numbering over a hundred. In the absence of the superintendent of the school, Stanton W. Brown, the program was announced by the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter. The service began with the singing of the hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today." Prayer was offered by the pastor. Then followed, recitation, "Welcome," Marion Miller; exercise, "Easter Flowers," Norman Sullivan, Dorothy Brailsford, Ernestine Rose, William Waters, Beatrice Ward and Ruth Scovill; anthem, vested choir, under direction of Mrs. Lewis E. Aldrich, "Ring Glad Bells"; exercise, "A Basket of Resolutions", Marjorie Brailsford, Jeanette Fargo, Jane Waters, Mary Scoville, Arlene Wilkinson, Charles Sullivan; recitation, Ten Commandments, Walter Kelly; anthem by choir, "Risen Indeed"; exercise, "Easter Joy", John Yetke, Leslie Morse, Frederick Miller and John Gallagher; recitation, "Do Your Best", Ruth Miller; anthem, choir, "Lo In the Grave He Lay". The offering was taken by two Boy Scouts in uniform, Edward Eccleston and Albert Eyberse. The pastor delivered a stereopticon lecture on the subject, "Family Religion." During the course of the lecture about 60 hand-colored slides were shown. Ralph Smith operated the machine. The service closed with the singing of the hymn, "Now the Day is Over" and benediction was pronounced by the pastor. The concert was in charge of a committee of teachers in the church school, Mrs. Richard Carter, Effie Ladd, Florence M. Bennett, Izetta Dilette and Inez Edmiston.

Patrols to Compete For Trophy.

Troop 2, Boy Scouts, connected with the Methodist Episcopal church, held a meeting Friday evening with an attendance of 16. Assistant Scoutmaster Lewis E. Aldrich took charge of the troop inspection and the song period. The scoutmaster, Rev. George Warren Potter, suggested plans for an interpatrol contest, to begin May 1, an engraved shield to be awarded the patrol scoring the highest number of points. The points to be scored by the patrols are to be given for opening ceremony 10, inspection 10, drill 10, songs 10, interpatrol quiz 10, scout tests 10, patrol meetings 10, patrol hikes when all in patrol attend 10. In view of the coming council jamboree the game period was given over to dressing races. Patrol Leader Arthur Bennett scored most by winning several races.

Methodist Easter Decorations.

The Methodist Episcopal church was beautitfully decorated Sunday with Easter lilies, hyacinths, tulips, geraniums, palms and other plants and flowers. The decorating was done by Muriel Rose, Virginia Ward and Florence Gembel. The junior vested choir under direction of Mrs. Lewis E. Aldrich sang the anthems, "Hark the Bells," "Risen Indeed" and "He Arose." Remus Stanton was baptized at the service and received into membership of the church. There was a congregation of at least a hundred at the service.

SCORES DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION FOR NOT BACKING PRESIDENT HOOVER

Although she herself is a daughter, Mrs. Marion Gaylord Atwell of New York city, who spoke before the Woman's City club Monday evening at the Wauregan hotel on current events, had not one good thing to say about the Daughters of the American Revolution, who were in Washington, D. C., attending the national convention. As one writer put it, she said, "there was a gathering of prettily dressed women, but they were 150 years behind the times." She enlarged upon this quotation by saying that "they are not patriots; they are not working for justice and peace and are not standing behind the president." As a final barb she said "she hoped that the real daughters, the best element, will be in power at the next election." The wrong element had been sent to Washington, she declared.

This barrage of uncomplimentary remarks upon the daughters followed her reference to the splendid address of President Herbert Hoover at a session of the convention, in which he paid a tribute to the Kellogg pact and made a plea for America's entrance into the world court; and the subsequent action of the daughters in drawing up a resolution disapproving of the United States entering the court and another opposing reduction of our navy.

Touching upon the quartet of Japanese girls who have come to Washington to say "thank you" for what the United States had done at the time of the earthquake in Tokio she made mention of the 13,000 good-will dolls that had been sent to Japan by children here and the return of 58 "doll ambassadors". That spirit of friendship carried by the dolls between the two countries makes for international friendship and elimination of war, she said. Can you imagine these countries coming to war after this? she asked.

She also referred to the victory of Mrs. McCormick over Senator Dineen for nomination for senator from Illinois and her chief slogan, "opposition to world court." She said that she hoped that the women who aspired to political position, and were victorious, would serve the country, not merely going there to gain notoriety or for prestige.

President Hoover's appointment of Judge Parker to the supreme court put him in a difficult position, she declared, as even the regular republicans of Hoover are asking him to withdraw Parker's name, as they feel it will hurt the republican party in the eyes of the American Federation of Labor and in the eyes of the colored people, who are not in sympathy with the appointment. As yet the president has not changed his stand upon the matter, she said.

Mrs. Atwell also mentioned the Muscle Shoals question now before the house, a thing that is always with us like the poor, she said, since it cropped up in 1917. She said it is the talk that the southern power companies were spending large sums of money in order to prevent the government from handling the proposition and there is considerable conflict between the senate, the house, lobbyists, farmers in south and business interests.

"It's not the best, but fairly good," the speaker said, in connection with her remarks on the three-power treaty devised at the London conference. In spite of the disagreements between the nations conferring, she said, it was certain that all were working toward one end in respect to permanent peace. The next question is, Will the senate ratify the treaty? By a show of hands the gathering were almost unanimous that the treaty was a success and a good thing for world peace. That it was a failure was the opinion of one person.

In conclusion Mrs. Atwell made mention of the unemployment situation in England, the trouble between Great Britain and India and Gandhi and his followers, the celebration of five years of presidency of Von Hindenburg and the International bank, which is to get in motion in May.

This was the closing talk in the series given this season by Mrs. Atwell for the Woman's City club.

TWO BOUND OVER FROM BOZRAH JUSTICE'S COURT

Charged with seduction, George Pillar, 31, of Thames street, this city, was bound over to the superior court when presented in justice court at Bozrah Saturday night. Mrs. Maru Kosopod of Fitchville, presented in the court with Pillar, was bound over on a charge of allowing her 16-year-old daughter, Anna, to fall into habits of vice. The girl was placed on probation for one year, in the custody of her father. Pillar and Mrs. Kosopod are at liberty under bonds of $500 each.

The trio were arrested by State Police Officer John Smith and Constable Marra of Fitchville. Pillar, Monday night, denied a published report that he had been living at the Kosopod house since April 15th.

CLASH AT INVESTIGATION OF OHIO PRISON DISASTER

Governor Cooper Overruled the Demand For the Suspension of Warden Thomas—Contradictory Statements Made About Failure to Release Trapped Prisoners From Their Cells—Surviving Convicts Took Their Usual Exercise In the Prison Yard Yesterday, In the Presence of Several Companies of Soldiers.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 22—(AP)—With the death list swelled to 317, investigation of the disastrous Ohio penitentiary fire last night was marked today by a clash between county and state authorities over a proposal to suspend Warden P. E. Thomas until all the facts are known.

Demand for the warden's suspension was made by County Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr., but the issue was shelved when Gov. Cooper took the case out of his hands by assigning the attorney general to make the official inquiry.

The investigation opened with the warden on the witness stand. The board of inquiry was composed of Gov. Cooper, Assistant Attorneys General Earl Shivley, Joseph Godown and Harry Lacy, Welfare Director Hal Griswold and two members of the state clemency board.

The warden's testimony revealed that Thomas Watkinson, guard in the cell blocks housing Companies G and H, where all of the victims perished, refused to turn over his key to the cell ranges to other guards. Watkinson was suspended, pending investigation. Later in the investigation, Watkinson denied he was responsible for not opening the doors.

The inquiry also disclosed:

That Thomas assigned his chief deputy, J. C. Woodward, to take charge within the prison walls when the fire broke out at 5:30 p. m., yesterday.

That the warden stationed himself outside the prison to prevent any escapes.

That night guards Thomas Little and W. C. Baldwin, just coming on duty had to take the range key away from Guard Watkinson to get to the cells where some 800 prisoners were locked behind bars, suffocating in dense smoke that rose from the fast spreading fire.

That Little and Baldwin could get no higher than the fifth tier before they became exhausted, leaving most of the convicts in the fifth and sixth tiers to die.

That Ohio penitentiary guards, numbering 237 on both day and night shifts are required to watch 4,300 prisoners, at salaries ranging from $120 to $150 a month.

While the investigation was under way a corps of undertakers spent a busy day embalming the bodies of the fire victims at an improvised morgue into which the horticultural building at the state fairground had been converted.

The number of known dead rose today from an estimate of about 300 this morning and in the prison hospital were 231 injured, five of whom were reported in critical condition.

Except for the presence of several companies of soldiers, the last of the troops called out last night to maintain order, the interior of the prison resumed a normal appearance today.

Routine was on schedule, the woolen and cotton mills which had been ignited by flames from the G. and H. cell blocks could not be operated but the 4,000 inmates were kept in their cells until regular feeding time. Later in the day the convicts took their usual exercise in the prison yard.

The section of the penitentiary visited by fire last night was the oldest section of the prison, having been constructed in 1830. The walls are of double brick and the roof was non-fire-proof. Open wood rafters supported the roof, with a few steel girders to add strength.

The fire started on the roof of this section near the extreme northwest wall. It swept across the roof toward the southeast. The roof and the upper rafters burned like tinder. The roof fire threw giant flames, while the rafters threw off dense clouds of smoke. As the roof and rafters burned through, the men in the upper cot tiers inside the structure were in the direct path of the heat and smoke. In addition to the death dealing smoke from the burning wood, other dense clouds of smoke were thrown off by cell bunk mattresses, pillows and blankets. Asphyxiation accounted for many lives.

SURVIVING CONVICTS RAPIDLY RECOVERING

COLUMBUS, O., April 22—(AP)—On trim white hospital cots, surviving victims of the Ohio penitentiary disaster tonight talked quietly among themselves, stared blankly at ceilings and slept.

The effects of smoke will soon be gone for the most of them, hospital physicians say. A late check on the institution led doctors to state that only five men were in critical condition—and all of these had suffered from smoke inhalation. Most of the 231 injured will leave the hospital within a week, physicians said.

The men are attended by prison nurses, trained from among the inmates. These men function almost as internes. Their cool headedness, authorities said tonight, saved many lives and avoided a near panic during the early hours of the catastrophe. Working systematically, they shunted case after case into the proper ward, and administered oxygen under the direction of physicians.

Today numerous additional cases of suffocation were reported—and subsequently brought to the hospital. Occasionally, as day waned, small groups of convicts brought victims, just now feeling the effects of the smoke, into the receiving ward.

Sometimes these men were pale and motionless—and at other times they smiled faintly.

Oxygen tanks immediately were brought to aid in reviving them.

Prison physicians met varied attitudes and conditions as they passed between the rows of beds. One patient smoked stoically and inquired about his "pals." Another asked permission to go out of doors into the fresh air. A third requested that newspapers be brought him.

The more serious afflicted patients were fed water through eye droppers.

A deaf attendant, in an intern's uniform, tried to understand what his fellow convicts were telling him.

Life in the prison hospital, except for the large of cases, rapidly is returning to normal.

AMERICANS HEAD BANK FOR INTERNAT'L. SETTLEMENTS

BASEL, Switzerland, April 22.—(AP)—An American president, Gates W. McGarrah, and an American vice-president, Leon Fraser, today were placed at the head of the Bank for International Settlements by delegates of six countries which were belligerents 12 years ago. Their elections were unanimous.

A useful French financial expert, Pierre Quesnay, was elected general manager with only one dissenting vote. That was cast by Doctor Hans Luther of the German Reichsbank, who said that the German delegation opposed the election of a Frenchman as general manager in principle but emphasized that such opposition was not personal.

The setting up of the international bank is called the final and most decisive step to liquidate the financial problems growing out of the World war by application of the Young plan, worked out by another American—Owen D. Young.

ESTIMATES SHOW TREASURY DEFICIT $20,000,000 TO $30,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—President Hoover reported to congress today that revised estimates for next year by the budget bureau show a treasury deficit of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000.

His letter to Chairman Jones of the senate appropriations committee, warning that additional expenditures of about $100,000,000 are pending now in congress, said this situation "is cause for real alarm."

The letter was read to the senate and brought an immediate demand from Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, for specifications.

Senator Jones, in response to Senator Borah, said that up to date congress has kept its regular appropriations for next year beneath budget recommendations.

The letter was interpreted by senate leaders as a warning against enactment of any of the 125 bills which the president said would increase the prospective deficit for next year. However, Senator Borah demanded in the brief discussion that the bills be specified. Senator Jones said he did not know which bills were "alarming."

CHARGES INVOLVE PENN. REP. SENATORIAL CONTEST

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Charges involving the Pennsylvania republican senatorial contest were laid before Chairman Nye of the senate campaign fund investigating committee today by Secretary Davis, who is opposing Senator Grundy, and the chairman announced both candidates probably would be called before the committee late in the week.

APPEALS OF TEXTILE WORKERS WERE ARGUED

RALEIGH, N. C., April 22.—(AP)—Appeals of seven members of the National Textile Workers union from conviction in Mecklenburg superior court, Charlotte, of second degree murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia police chief, were argued before the state supreme court today.

The appeals were based on 112 exceptions made by the defense during the trial at Charlotte. One of the exceptions was on admission in the trial of evidence that the defendants had taught communistic doctrines while conducting a textile strike at Gastonia.

Aderholt was killed during disorders attending upon the strike. Among those convicted of second degree murder and given long prison terms was Fred E. Beal of Lawrence, Mass., the strike leader. The supreme court may hand down an opinion at any time, but a period of at least six weeks customarily elapses between argument of a case and the courts decision.

COMMITTED SUICIDE IN FEAR OF LOSING HIS JOB

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Fearing he would lose his job as bank messenger because he lost three cancelled checks, a 65-year-old man shot and killed himself in a Brooklyn bank tonight. His name was Sigmund Schuldbaum of Brooklyn.

After he lost the checks today he told Manager Abraham Frumkin of the Public National bank about it. Frumkin said he advised him to inform the vice president the next day, but that he need not worry.

Later this evening a stenographer saw him pick up a sheet of paper from a desk and go into a back room. A few minutes later she heard a shot. Police were called. Schuldbaum was found sitting in a chair, a gun in his hand and a bullet wound in his temple.

They found a note which said: "My ambition was to work until I died. By losing this position, I lose everything. What's the use?"

MAN KILLED DURING AN ARGUMENT IN SPEAKEASY

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—One man was killed and another seriously wounded tonight during an argument in an alleged speakeasy on West 25th street.

George Hudson, 40, a leather goods worker, was shot three times and died immediately. Charles Meyers, 43, alleged proprietor of the place, was shot through the neck.

Police seized 20 cases of alleged home-brew and a charge of violating the Volstead act was preferred against Meyers.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

ATHENS, Greece, April 22.—(AP)—The International Congress of Psychical Research opened in Athens yesterday, with Mrs. Johnson Lowe representing America.

CALCUTTA, April 22.—(AP)—British authorities here believed tonight that the Indian insurgents who raided the Chittagong arsenal Saturday were surrounded and that capture would soon follow.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 22.—(AP)—The bodies of 122 victims of the fire which destroyed an ancient church at Cotesci Friday night rested yesterday in one large grave dug around the ruins of the church.

KARACHI, India, April 22.—(AP)—Several hundred women made their way through the streets of Karachi yesterday, carrying pots of contraband salt on their heads. Odd quantities of the salt were manufactured over Saturday and Sunday.

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—An open-air swimming pool in the garden is one of the many features of the Prince of Wales' new country residence, Fort Belvedere, at Sunningdale, Berkshire, which is now being put in readiness for his return from Africa.

MONUMENT DEDICATED TO UNKNOWN PIONEER WOMAN

LINGLE, Wyo., April 22.—(AP)—The tragedy of an unknown pioneer woman, a martyr to the winning of the west, was unfolded here today as a monument was dedicated at Ponca City, Okla., to the unsung heroines who braved danger with their men folk in extending the frontiers.

"She has fought by her man's side; bore and protected his children, clear across this continent to its last frontier," Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley said in eulogy of the pioneer woman as he delivered a radio address in connection with the Ponca City ceremonies. "The nameless grave of the pioneer woman is by every stream, on every plain and mountain from north to south, from east to west, of this great land."

Force was given to the secretary's remarks in the unearthing near here on the Oregon Trail of the skeleton of a woman who years ago had set out for the west in an emigrant wagon with a child and two of her men folk. All met death apparently at the hands of hostile Indians.

The skeletons were uncovered by county road workers beneath a foot of drift soil. Beside the child were two dolls and a small bag of nickels dated 1866 and 1867.

Remnants of the wagon and household articles also were dug up. Pioneers here in seeking to reconstruct the story, expressed the belief that the party was massacred by Indians. The wagon apparently had been fired by the attackers but was not entirely consumed by the flames.

TOKYO BUS WORKERS HAVE RESUMED WORK

TOKYO, April 22.—(AP)—The strike of tramway and bus workers of Tokyo, which started Sunday, apparently failed today as 4,000 strikers resumed operations at reduced wages which caused the walkout. Municipal authorities who operated the transportation system predicted conditions would be normal tomorrow in this city of more than two million.

Although 12,000 of the 13,000 transportation workers quit work, the authorities maintained a reduced service with the aid of volunteers. In Kobe 1,300 tramway workers struck in sympathy with the Tokyo strikers, and the strike threatened to spread to Osaka. The Kobe tramways continued to operate but with a small force.

SEARCHING FOR FORMER HEAD OF BROKERAGE FIRM

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn, head of the state bureau of securities, announced today that state troopers are searching for Benjamin Marcus, former head of the investment brokerage firm of Allston Charles & Co., Inc., and H. H. Benjamin, former sales manager. He said both disappeared while their activities were under investigation.

The investigation, Mr. Washburn said, was undertaken at the behest of Governor Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, who wrote Mr. Washburn that Mrs. Gladys I. Ward, a friend, of 290 McGregor street, Manchester, N. H., had been defrauded of $10,000.

BYRD TO BROADCAST STORY OF EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is to tell the story of his Antarctic expedition in three nation-wide broadcasts.

Designed as a recognition of the sustained interest of school children in his explorations, the talks are expected to start June 19, depending upon the date of the admiral's return to New York, and be continued June 25 and July 2, according to an announcement made tonight by Capt. H. H. Railey, Admiral Byrd's personal representative.

ONE OF THREE FISHERMEN DROWNED WHEN BOAT SANK

NEW HAVEN, April 22.—(AP)—Their boat sinking suddenly, three fishermen were thrown into Long Island sound off Prospect beach today and one of them drowned. The others were rescued by four men who put out from shore.

Peter M. Peterson, 64, of Orange, was the victim. His body has not been recovered. His companions, Joseph McMani, 20, and Adolph Beter, 33, were sent to a hospital.

OBITUARY

Elmer T. McCleary

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, April 22.—(AP)—Elmer T. McCleary, 51-year-old president of the newly formed $350,000,000 Republic Steel Corp., died unexpectedly at a hospital here today of peritonitis, following what was described as a minor operation performed Sunday.

Mr. McCleary had been ill at his home for a few days before the operation but his condition was not regarded as serious.

Last night a second operation was performed but his condition grew steadily worse until death ensued this morning. Nine members of his family, including his wife, son and daughter, were at the bedside.

Mr. McCleary became president of Republic Iron & Steel Co. in April, 1928, and with the organization of the Republic Steel Corp. last week he became its head.

Funeral services will be held Thursday.

House Votes Against CommemorativeCoins

At Behest of Floor Leader Tilson President Hoover's First Veto Was Sustained 2[illegible] to 96.

(Special to The B[illegible])

WASHINGTON, A[illegible]—It was Floor Leader Tilson [illegible] the pace today to sustain P[illegible] Hoover in the first veto he [illegible] back to congress since he [illegible] to office, more than a year [illegible]en the vote was taken in an [illegible] to override the veto on the co[illegible]memorative coin bill, Tilson made a forceful plea that the president be sustained in his veto, adding that in his opinion coinage of commemorative coins is "an abuse of the coinage system." Tilson urged that coins hereafter be merely for monetary purposes alone," and that the custom and "abuse" of authorizing issuance of memorial coins should stop. In this Tilson won the support of practically every representative from New England.

He proved in this first test that his leadership is a fact and not merely a title, the vote being 243 to sustain the president with only 96 against it. The latter were mostly from democrats.

BILL FOR COINAGE OF 10,000 50 CENT PIECES REJECTED

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—President Hoover's first veto was sustained today in the house which voted 243 to 96 to reject the Hudspeth bill to provide for coinage of ten thousand fifty-cent pieces, commemorating the Gadsden purchase of territory in the southwest.

This action definitely kills the measure. Mr. Hoover returned the bill to the capitol yesterday with the recommendation that it be shelved. He said the monetary system of the country existed for certain "well-defined and essential purposes" and that the "growing practice of issuing commemorative coins" appeared to run counter to the fundamental principle.

Friends of the measure, to obtain its enactment into law over the objections of the chief executive needed a two-thirds vote in both the house and senate. Instead, they obtained considerably less than a majority vote in the house. Thus, a senate vote is unnecessary.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican leader found little difficulty in persuading house members to line up in support of the president's position. Several members from southwestern states, including Representative Simms, republican, New Mexico, spoke in favor of the bill.

The measure would have had the coins issued in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden purchase, under which the United States obtained from Mexico the large tract of land bounded generally on the north by the Gila river, on the east by the Rio Grande, on the south by Mexico and on the west by the Colorado river.

CONFEREES ARE FORGING AHEAD ON TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—The congressional conferees on the tariff bill forged ahead rapidly today and virtually completed the task of composing the manifold differences between the senate and house.

A partial report will be made this week and a decision is expected tomorrow on which the house will be asked to act first on the agreements thus far reached.

The varying views of the two branches on sugar, cement, lumber, shingles and silver rates will be reported in disagreement, necessitating a vote of instructions in the house on these items.

The conferees also will report a failure to agree on the differences over the export debenture, legislative flexible tariff and tariff commission reorganization proposals and both houses probably will vote on these propositions before a final vote on the conference report will be in order.

The disagreements over the eight subjects arose out of informal understandings that they would not be settled in conference until the senate or house had an opportunity to vote on them.

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH THE SLAYING OF MARY BAKER

RICHMOND, Va., April 22.—(AP)—Captain A. S. Wright, chief of detectives, tonight said a Washington newspaper clipping containing an account of the death of Mary Baker and a picture of the slain girl, was found among the effects of a man giving the name of Earl W. Frank, held here for Washington officers in connection with the girl's death.

The newspaper clipping, he said, was dated April 13, the day after the body of the young government clerk was found stuffed into a culvert in Arlington county, Virginia.

Frank, described as an ex-convict, was taken into custody here April 14 while trespassing on railroad property, and Washington officers were notified when Richmond police decided that he answered in part the description of a man wanted in connection with the case, whose description was broadcast from Washington.

FIREMEN OVERCOME BY SMOKE IN NEW BRITAIN

NEW BRITAIN, April 22.—(AP)—Three firemen today were overcome by smoke in a fire which did $8,000 damage to a two-story dwelling house owned by I. Milkowitz on Bassett street. Four families occupied the building.

The firemen, Captain Edward Woods, Peter Pac and Harry Squier, were given medical treatment and revived. Fire Chief William J. Noble narrowly escaped injury when he was knocked down a flight of stairs.

The upper part of the structure was badly damaged.

QUESTION LEGALITY OF DRUG STORE SEARCH WARRANT

NEW HAVEN, April 22.—(AP)—The legality of a search warrant used in raiding a drug store owned by Leon Switzer, in Southport, has been attacked in federal court here by the man's attorney, George Finklestone, of Bridgeport. A quantity of liquor was seized by federal officers.

Briefs were filed yesterday, and Judge Warren B. Burrows gave the government several days in which to prepare an answer.

Lindbergh To Open New Air Mail Trail

Will Make a Dawn-to-Dusk Flight From Havana to Cristobal, Canal Zone, On Sunday.

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—Still blazing new air trails, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh Sunday will inaugurate the new cross-Caribbean air service of Pan-American Airways by making a dawn-to-dusk flight from Havana to Cristobal, Canal Zone.

He will be carrying regular air mail from this country to South America, mail which will leave New York city Friday night for delivery in Buenos Aires a week later.

The mail will be delivered to him Saturday afternoon in Miami, where he will be waiting with a Pan-American plane, for which company he is technical adviser, and he will make the hop to Havana that night.

Taking off from Havana the next morning, he will head straight across the Caribbean for Cape Gracias a Dios, Honduras, 600 miles southwest, picking up the headlands there he will continue along the coast to Byrd field at Puerto Cabezas, where he will refuel. Then he will hop across water 600 miles further to Cristobal, Canal Zone.

There the mail will be put aboard a Pan-American Grace Airways plane and sped on its way down the west coast of South America and across the Andes to Buenos Aires. Colonel Lindbergh will fly the mail only as far as Cristobal.

Just when Colonel Lindbergh, who is in New York, will leave for Miami has not been announced but it was thought he would fly down Friday in his own low-winged monoplane in which last Sunday with Mrs. Lindbergh he set a new cross-continent record of 14 hours, 23 minutes and 27 seconds. The plane is at Roosevelt field serviced and ready for flight. Wether Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany him on this flight, as she has on all his long flights since their marriage, was not known today.

RASKOB ATTACKED BY HEFLIN IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—A heated attack upon Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee and Henry H. Curran, president of the association against the prohibition amendment, was made in the senate today by Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabam, as the lobby committee resumed its examination of Curran concerning his organization's activities for repeal of the prohibition law.

Referring to testimony before the committee by Raskob and Curran, the Alabaman shouted that he was sorry Curran had not been "locked up" and said the democratic chairman "stands disgraced before the American people."

Heflin recalled that Curran, when asked by a committee member whether he would favor armed revolution against prohibition replied that he would "cross that bridge when he got to it." The Alabaman added:

"I am sorry the committee did not lock him up. If he had been an ordinary man, no doubt, he would have have been locked up. But Mr. Curran has millions back of him. Mr. Curran comes here representing the European program to lay down our law and to set up the bar-room business again and Alfred Smith is to be the candidate. God pity the democratic party!"

Heflin made his speech preparatory to leaving for Alabama to campaign for re-election. He has been barred from the democratic primary because of his refusal to support former Governor Smith for president in 1928.

EXPLAINS DISMISSAL OF SCHOOL FOR BOYS EMPLOYES

CHESHIRE, April 22—(AP)—A desire for efficiency and not through complaint of detrimental treatment of a specific inmate, actuated the board of directors of the Connecticut reformatory in dismissal of three employes, Frederick M. Adler, chairman of the board, said this afternoon after a meeting at which publicity given their action had been discussed.

Mr. Adler had previously explained that publicity of the dismissal of Deputy Supt. Thomas E. Kane and Harry Hawley and Earl Butterfield employed in other capacities had given a slightly misleading idea of the reason. Kane was relieved of his duties on April 9 and will leave the institution early next month.

Mr. Adler said that it was "unfortunate that particular significance had been attached to a matter of routine business" and which really was only an overturn of labor.

LORENZ WILL GO ON TRIAL FOR MURDER TODAY

HARTFORD, April 22.—(AP)—Faced with a seemingly hopeless fight for his life, Henry O. Lorenz, 25 years old immigrant, will go on trial before three judges of the superior court tomorrow morning on a charge of murder in the first degree, for the death of his friend, Nils E. Anderson.

Against the mass of evidence compiled by the state, largely with the aid of Lorenz's purported confession and detailed description of the crime, Walfrid G. Lundborg, young West Hartford attorney, who was named by the court to act in the defense of the youth, will fight practically single headed. Except for him Lorenz is friendless and alone.

NEW HAVEN GIRL DEAD IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NEW HAVEN, April 22.—(AP)—Coroner James J. Corrigan tonight had partly completed his investigation into the automobile accident, which early today resulted in the death of Miss Dorothy Costigan, 19, and in critical injuries to Walter V. Anderson, 22, both of this city.

The coroner had planned to question Anderson at Grace hospital, but the latter's condition forced a postponement of the examination.

Anderson was escorting Miss Costigan to her home following a Knights of Columbus ball when his machine crashed into a milk wagon. Police said the wagon was unlighted and standing about 12 inches from the curb at the time, while its driver, Euroy C. Vincent, was delivering milk.

SENATE TO ACT UPON NAVAL TREATY AT THIS SESSION

President Hoover Has Decided to Send the Pact to the Senate As Soon As He Receives the Certified Copy—Leaders Have Agreed That the Matter Will Receive Immediate Attention—Treaty Was Signed By Representatives of the Five Great Naval Powers In London Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Cautiously scanning the first published text of the London naval limitation treaty, the senate prepared itself today to act upon the agreement this session.

President Hoover decided to send the pact to the senate as soon as he received the certified copy from London. Senate leaders replied that it would be given immediate attention.

Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, and Chairman Hale, of the naval committee, announced hearings would be held by their committees and the senate which has kept silence throughout the long London parley continued to withhold formal judgment.

Senator Borah has given conditional approval to the treaty and Senator Hale has given strong indication of dissatisfaction. The Idahoan, however, made it clear today he was "not enthusiastic" over the agreement and the administration is watching closely for developments in the senate.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, maintained his silence on the treaty today pending more detailed study of the complicated text. However, he assented to disposition of it at this session.

The majority leader estimated the treaty discussion would keep the senate in session at least until July, killing previous hopes for an adjournment by June 1.

Senator Borah said he would hear those who were virtually interested in the pact, including naval leaders, but he said every effort to expediate action would be made. He did not think much debate was in prospect and seemed to regard the pact as one which would do no harm and would help disarmament somewhat.

There were no assurances from Senator Hale of early disposition of the agreement by the senate as he spent the afternoon studying the lengthy text of the treaty made public today.

"I will have a speech to make shortly," he announced as he looked up from the newly announced agreement. "There will be considerable discussion no doubt, and some extensive hearings."

There is evidence that the senate is waiting to hear from both sides. Considerable interest attaches to the return of Senators Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, and Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who served on the American delegation.

Their support, coupled with the prospective endorsement of the pact by Senator Borah, is counted upon by the treaty advocates to go a long way in the senate discussion over ratification.

Both Robinson and Reed are members of the foreign relations committee and Senator Borah said he did not think any hearing by the committee of other delegates would be required.

Worn out by the long grind on the tariff and by 17 months of almost continuous session, the senate received none too eagerly the news from the white house that the president would send the pact forward at this session.

"I will seek an early report on the treaty by the committee," was the reply of Senator Borah to the announcement.

"We will go ahead and thrash it out then," added Senator Watson.

CEREMONY AT SIGNING OF THE NAVAL TREATY

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—Signed and sealed today by 27 envoys of the five great sea powers, the London naval treaty of 1930 rests in the archives of the British foreign office.

The signing of the treaty was enacted under mellow sunshine which streamed through the four tall windows of Queen Anne's drawing room of old St. James' palace. English springtime had replaced the fogs of January, when the conference opened, and outside the palace flowers bloomed and the birds sang.

Beginning at 10:30 a. m., the closing plenary session required nearly three hours for addresses from the chief delegates. The actual signing lasted less than fifteen minutes.

The moment of historic significance in the disarmament movement was quietly announced by Prime Minister MacDonald, the chairman, who stood in front of the great red chair at the center of the conference table and said:

"We have now reached the moment for signing the treaty."

Then Col. Stimson, head of the American delegation, first for signing in alphabetical order, walked to the table within the half circle of delegates, seated himself across from Mr. MacDonald and dipped his slender golden pen into a silver inkpot of Queen Anne's time. Boldly he wrote "Henry L. Stimson," opposite the first seal from which a blue ribbon ran through a long row of similar spots of wax. Each signature was filled in opposite the individual seal of the delegate signing. The other Americans followed, making no flourishes but signing in simple, legible autographs: Charles G. Dawes, Charles F. Adams, Joseph T. Robinson, David A. Reed, Hugh Gibson and Dwight W. Morrow.

The Americans carried their own gold pens—gifts from Col. Stimson—to the ceremony and carried them away again as souvenirs. Only Senator Robinson used the official pen instead of one of the Stimson pens.

Aristide Briand, of France, followed the Americans, and as treaty signing is no new adventure to him, he grasped the stout barrel of the official fountain pen and signed quickly. The other envoys followed, and the completed signatures filled three and one half pages.

When the last Japanese delegate had inscribed his name with painstaking care, there came a human touch which relieved the proceedings of the stiff formality of prepared addresses, M. Briand, handling the official pen with the eloquence of an orchestra conductor wielding a baton, made a pleasant speech bestowing the official pen upon Mr. MacDonald.

He paid tribute to "my dear chairman," who had mothered the London parley through any sinister forecasts, expressing his sorrow that complete five power success had not been attained at London but adding:

"I am perfectly certain my Italian colleagues share my views when I say our two countries will do all they can in order to overcome the temporary difficulties which have met them in the past."

AMERICAN DELEGATES TO SAIL FOR HOME TODAY

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 22.—(AP)—Completely fatigued after their strenuous activities at the closing session of the London naval conference, Col. Henry L. Stimson and the nucleus of the American delegation that sailed for London last January tonight went on board the United States liner Leviathan, ready to sail home at daybreak tomorrow.

The group was small compared with that which set out from New York, being depleted by vacations on the continent and early returns. Every one was weary from the strain of the formalities in connection with the signing of the naval treaty and from the frenzy of last minute packing.

A certified copy of the naval treaty, delivered to Secretary Stimson by Mr. Atherton on behalf of Ambassador Dawes, was immediately deposited in the ship's safe. It will not be touched until the Leviathan is nearing New York, about six days hence.

$33,500 ADDITIONAL FOR POSTOFFICE AT PUTNAM

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—President Hoover today submitted to the house a supplemental estimate calling for $28,603,450 for the public buildings program of the government.

The sum of $25,000,000 is set aside in the estimate for construction of public buildings in various parts of the country under sections three and five of the public buildings act of 1926.

The purpose of the estimate is to permit the secretary of the treasury to enter contracts under the $215,000,000 authorization for public buildings and to begin the initial work.

The estimate called for an increase to $33,500 in the cost of a postoffice at Putnam, Conn.

CONVENTION OF STATE DENTAL ASSOCIATION

STAMFORD, April 22.—(AP)—The 66th annual convention of the Connecticut State Dental association opened here today. It will continue for three days.

Several hundred delegates from this state as well as others in New England, were welcomed by Mayor W. W. Graves. The president, Dr. W. L. Weed of South Norwalk, presided.

Papers treating of the dental profession were read by Dr. Howard M. Haggard, assistant professor of applied physiology at Sheffield Scientific school; Dr. Hugh W. MacMillan, Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. W. D. Tracey, New York; Dr. William S. Spies, New York, and Dr. Edward C. Kirk of Philadelphia.

FRENCH VISCOUNT DENIED ADMISSION TO THE U. S.

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—A French viscount was refused admittance to the United States today on the ground that he might go to work.

Arriving on the liner Westernland, Viscount Louis De La Bassetiere presented a one year visitor's visa. A special board of inquiry at Ellis Island decided he might be tempted to accept a job and ordered him excluded. What prompted this conclusion was not revealed.

The viscount was said to be the son of a former Boston woman who married into the French nobility. He said he would take an appeal to Washington and his deportation was deferred.

KIPLING MENTIONED FOR POET LAUREATE OF ENGLAND

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—Rudyard Kipling was widely mentioned tonight for the post of poet laureate of England, vacant since the death of Robert Bridges yesterday.

Poets laureate are chosen by prime ministers, and so far Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has made no announcement. He will probably make none until after the funeral of Mr. Bridges, who had been poet laureate since before the Great war.

The London press indulged in much speculation about Mr. Bridges' successor. In addition to Mr. Kipling, Alfred Noyes, Walter De La Mare, Sir William Watson and Sir Henry Newbolt were considered possibilities.

FIVE MONTHS SENTENCE FOR TRANSPORTING WHISKEY

NEW HAVEN, April 22.—(AP)—George Moser of New York today pleaded guilty to transporting 7,680 bottles of whiskey in a truck, and was sentenced to five months in the county jail.

Charges of violating the liquor law were nolled in the federal court at Hartford on the technicality that he was not arrested on a warrant. He was immediately re-arrested by state authorities.

NEARLY 150 DELEGATES ATTENDING D. OF V. CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April [illegible]—The 21st annual convention of [illegible] Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War got into full swing this forenoon with a registration of nearly 150 delegates. Mrs. Minnie E. Mathieu of this city, department president, called the convention to order at the opening session in the lodge hall of the Elks' home on Pleasant street at 10:[illegible] o'clock. All of the 22 tents in the state were represented and everything for the comfort of the delegates was done by a committee from Mary Todd Lincoln tent No. 15, in charge of General Chairman Mrs. Mary E. Lovett. Several members of the Elks were also on hand to assist in welcoming the visitors.

The credential committee as named by Mrs. Mathieu consisted of the following: Miss Sadie E. Curley, Willimantic; Mrs. Nellie May, New London, and Mrs. Helen Bromley of New Britain.

Following the registration, Mayor Walter R. King and Exalted Ruler George W. Hickey of the Elks welcomed the visitors. Mayor King was escorted by Mrs. Florence V. Williams. The response to his address was made by Miss Alice A. Slater of Hartford, senior vice-president. Exalted Ruler Hickey, also under escort of delegates wearing white gowns and carrying the colors, extended the welcome on behalf of the lodge, offering all the privileges of the place. Mrs. Mary Yale of Bridgeport, past state president, made the response.

The opening exercises consisted of the singing of America and a prayer by Department Chaplain Mrs. Ella Tew of New London. Past department presidents were then introduced and badges were presented by Miss Alice Slater, department senior vice-commander.

Committees appointed today were: By-laws, Mrs. Nellie Orchard of New London, Miss M. Alice Pulver of Bridgeport and Mrs. Cora Judd of New Haven; resolutions, Mrs. Lura Dutton of Waterbury, Mrs. Emma Peck of Meriden and Miss Flora Hoffman of Norwich; officers' reports, Miss Myrtle Case of Glastonbury and Mrs. Lillian Brewster of Norwich; recommendations, Mrs. May Hill of Middletown, Mrs. Effie Topping of New London and Mrs. Mary C. Hallock of Willimantic.

The report of Mrs. Minnie E. Mathieu, department president, indicated a good gain in membership during the year, this including the organization of another tent at Rockville last week. Other reports were by Senior Vice-President Miss Alice Slater of Hartford; chaplain, Mrs. Ella Tew of New London; secretary, Miss Sadie E. Curley of Willimantic, and treasurer, Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury of Norwich. Several letters of good will were read from other organizations. The forenoon session adjourned at 12:[illegible] p. m., for luncheon.

The afternoon session was convened at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Mathieu, with the customary prayer by the chaplain and singing of America. The nomination of officers was then made from the floor, these officers to be elected and installed Wednesday afternoon.

A memorial service for deceased members of the organization was held at 4 o'clock in charge of State Chaplain Mrs. Tew and chaplains of the various tents, who carried out an impressive and solemn ceremony. There are 15 names on the necrology list. The memorial address was by Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones of Mansfield Center and vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Helena M. T. Church of Norwich, department patriotic instructor.

Evening Banquet and Reception

With the closing of the memorial service, the session was adjourned for the banquet in the Nathan Hale hotel at 6 o'clock. An excellent menu was served under personal supervision of Manager Charles E. Mayo. Leaving the banquet hall, the delegates again returned to the Elks' home, where, at 8:15 a formal reception was tendered Department President Minnie E. Mathieu, staff, and visitors. The reception was a colorful affair with Miss Grace Hurd of Stanwood, [illegible] national president of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, as one of the distinguished guests.

Selections by Van's orchestra were followed by announcements [illegible] ings by Judge Advocate [illegible] Barnes. Vocal selections during the evening were by Mrs. [illegible] Church of Norwich, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Mildren. The [illegible] violin solos by Everett S[illegible] accompanied by Raymond O'Brien [illegible] the entertainment program were two readings by Mrs. Grace [illegible] Manning. The speakers of the evening were: James Haggerty of Willimantic, department commander of the [illegible]; National President Hurd of Washington; Mrs. Mary W. Gregory, department president of Woman's Relief corps; Mrs. Bertha Goodspeed, department president; Morgan B. Haven, department commander, Sons of Veterans; Mrs. Ada Rice, department president of the auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans of the Civil War; Fred Oatley, past department commander of Rhode Island, with the final address by Mrs. Minnie E. Mathieu, department president of the D. of V. During the evening the presentation of the flag was made by Mrs. Ruth Blackburn, patriotic instructor of Mary Todd Lincoln tent No. 15, Willimantic. A brief concert by the orchestra brought the evening to a close.

Wednesday Program

The program for Wednesday: 10 a. m. Reading of records. Reports of committees. Reports of officers. Reports of tent presidents. Adjournment for luncheon. 2 p. m. Convening of afternoon and final session. New business. Election of officers. Unfinished business. Installation of officers. Closing business.

WEDDING

Fregeau—Riquier

Miss Olida Riquier, daughter of Joseph Riquier of 86 Pleasant street, became the bride of Telesphore Fregeau of Bristol, at a wedding solemnized in St. Mary's church during a nuptial mass at 8 o'clock this morning. Rev. H. C. Belec officiated. The attendants were Miss Rose Riquier of this city, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Charles Fregeau of Manchester, N. H., brother of the groom, as best man. The wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's father with about 80 guests in attendance. A reception was held this evening at the American Thread Co. hall, following which the couple left on a wedding trip to Manchester, N. H., Boston, Mass., and other places. They are to reside at 55 North Pond street, Bristol. The bride has been employed at the Holland Manufacturing Co. and is well known here.

ANDOVER SHOWS GAIN OF 41 PERSONS SINCE 1920

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 22.—Andover has gained 41 persons in population since the 1920 census, according to the returns of Town Clerk Ellsworth L. Covell, enumerator of the town, who filed his report at the census offices here today. The total filed by Mr. Covell was 430 as against 389 in 1920. A total of 45 farms were listed in the town.

The sixth enumerator of the 19 working in Norwich filed his returns today with Chief Clerk Edward L. Dennis. He was Wendell S. Jackson of that city, a former resident of this city. Final returns from four more enumerators were received in the afternoon mails. They were: Winfield Noyes of this city, Ethel M. Duff of Norwich, Ethel D. Barrows of New London and Leonard Eckerman of Stafford Springs. Mr. Noyes is the fifth of the eight local enumerators to complete his work.

The Quality Marketing of New England Products was the subject of an informing and instructive talk delivered by Sidney Edwards, director of marketing for the state board of agriculture, before the Rotary club at the weekly meeting held in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon. Albert E. Moss of C. A. C., chariman of the agricultural relations committee, introduced the speaker. Mr. Edwards told of the tremendous strides being made in standardizing labels and other merchandising equipment, illustrating what was being done with Connecticut products, especially eggs. Director Edwards estimated that there are 2,000,000 laying hens in the state of Connecticut. President Louis H. Arnold introduced as guests, Rotarian Roy D. Webster of Southbridge, Mass., and Horace I. Whittier of Bristol and Charles H. Caswell of Westport, formerly of this city. Announcement was made by James B. Fullerton of a meeting to be held in Lebanon the evening of May 20. The meeting is expected to be a big affair and will be in charge of Charles B. Pomeroy. President Arnold appointed the following delegates to the Rotary spring conference to be held at Holyoke, Mass., May 1 and 2: James P. Mustard and Secretary Gerard E. Loiselle, delegates; Louis A. Kingsbury and J. E. Sullivan, alternates.

At a session of the Mansfield town court, held this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Byron Houston, James Meade, 17, and Earl Miller, 16, both of this city, were charged with the theft of six pigeons owned by Joseph Horn of Scotland. They pleaded guilty and received ten-day suspended jail sentences. The costs of the case, amounting to $11.15, were assessed against the boys. Grand Juror Walter Storrs prosecuted. One of the boys was taken into custody by Officer John Killourey of the police department, but as the offense was committed in Mansfield on property owned by Horn there, the case was turned over to State Policemen Henry Heinold and Charles Dailey, who completed the investigation. Another boy, under 16 years of age, was implicated, but was released with a reprimand. The theft took place March 29 and the pigeons were recovered during the investigation.

Civil war curios, including a letter written by Abraham Lincoln, a drum carried by Thomas Wormsley, colored, in 1864 and 1865, make up an interesting display in a show window at the H. C. Murray Co. Boston store. A stump, on a stand, is riddled with bullets from the battlefield at Chickamauga. There are several swords, rifles with bayonets, pictures, coffee pot, and hats worn by soldiers. There is also a complete roster of Co. H, Civil war unit from this city. A card, placed near the relics, which are the property of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., of Norwich, announces a welcome to delegates to the convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, now being held here.

FUNERAL

JOSEPH BATTASTILLO KILLED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 22.—Joseph Battastillo, of 104 Courtland street, Tarrytown, N. Y., was instantly killed when the automobile in which he was driving on the state highway south of the residence of Holcomb R. Howard in the town of Union overturned, about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Battastillo had just passed Sergeant Hulburt of the state police and the sergeant being amazed at the rate of speed at which the man's car was traveling turned quickly around only to see the car of Battistillo tumbling over on its side. The sergeant hurried back and found Battastillo's body crushed beneath the car. It is thought that he was on his way to Worcester and as he had mason's tools in the car he was probably a mason. The state police at a late hour Tuesday night were attempting to get in touch with the dead man's parents. Medical Examiner G. P. Bard was notified and the body was removed to a local undertaker's. Coroner John H. Yeomans will conduct an inquest later. The car in which Battistillo was riding was a Chevrolet touring car. The driver's operators license gave his age as 20.

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. Guiditta Netto on High street Monday evening for her daughter, Miss Mary Netto, who will be married to Joseph O'Coin of Manchester at St. Edward's church this (Wednesday) evening at seven o'clock. About 25 guests were present and the party was kept in good humor by entertainment consisting principally of songs and dances by Miss Celia Allard and Miss Olga Chinatti. Lunch was served by Mrs. Joseph Fontanella and Miss Lena Netto. Miss Netto received many useful and beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Gertrude Chase and Harry Linder have returned to their homes after spending several weeks in Florida.

Man And Woman In Jail

Edward Casavant, who formerly operated the Gary express between Stafford Springs and Springfield and Mrs. Ellen Grassan, of Tolland, were given a hearing by Justice of the Peace Theodore A. Palmer of Ellington in the Tolland town court Monday afternoon on charges of misconduct. Probable cause was found and Casavant and Mrs. Grassan were bound over to the next term of the Tolland county superior court under bond of $1,000 each. In default of bond they were committed to jail.

Charles Woodhamel, of Staffordville, pleaded guilty to the charge of failure to grant the right of way when presented before Judge Heald in the borough court Monday morning, and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $11.35. Woodhamel's car ran into Charles Snow on the Hydeville road, several days ago. Snow received a slight scalp wound which was not as serious as was at first thought. In addition to paying the fine and costs Mr. Woodhamel settled with Mr. Snow for his injuries.

The case against Merle E. Phelps, charged with operating a truck without a rear reflector, was nolled upon payment of costs. Mr. Phelps was trying out a truck with a view to purchasing the same from T. R. Sadd when he was apprehended by State Policeman Hill.

Beauty of line and mechanical excellence

BEAUTY has been built into the graceful flowing lines of the new Ford and there is an appealing charm in its fresh and varied harmony of color. Yet more distinctive even than this beauty of line and color is its alert and sprightly performance.

As days go by you will find that it becomes more and more your favorite car to drive—so responsive, so easy to handle, so safe and comfortable that it puts a new joy in motoring.

The city dweller—the farmer—the industrial worker—the owner of the spacious two-car garage in the suburbs—to all of these it brings a new measure of reliable, economical service.

Craftsmanship has been put into mass production. Today, more than ever, the new Ford is "a value far above the price."

DANIELSON

MRS. ALBERT H. SHIPPEE DIES FOLLOWING LONG ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 22—Mrs. Emeline E. Shippee, mother of State Bank Commissioner Lester E. Shippee of Hartford, died today at the home in East Killingly after a serious illness of several weeks. Mrs. Shippee, who was 72 years of age, was ill during the past winter and never fully recovered.

Mrs. Shippee, a resident of East Killingly for many years, was born in Glocester, R. I., July 6, 1857, a daughter of Harley and Amanda Bowen Place. Her husband has been dead for years. He was Albert H. Shippee, long identified with the affairs of East Killingly.

In addition to her son, Lester, Mrs. Shippee leaves two other sons, Arthur, of Hartford, and Dana of East Killingly. There are also four daughters—Mrs. Mary Wood of Danielson, Mrs. Edith Card of Athol, Mass., Mrs Bernard Brown of Providence and Miss Ada Shippee of East Killingly. She also leaves two brothers, Harley Place of East Killingly and Arthur of Chepachet and a sister, Mrs. Wade of Chepachet.

Miss Josephine Bailey, 7 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. G. Bailey of North Main street, remains a patient at the Hartford hospital, where she was entered on March 7, after having had both legs broken when she was struck by an automobile after leaving a bus on North Main street a little distance from her home. While a cast has been removed from about her waist, her legs remain in casts. However, she is resting comfortably and contented. Her father said this afternoon that it is uncertain as yet as to when it will be possible to bring her to the home here.

There is no denying the fact that a considerable number of people in local areas will not welcome the change from standard time to daylight saving time that is to take place generally in Danielson next Sunday. They have never liked the fast time arrangement and have not changed their minds. The change here by bank, mills and stores is largely forced in order that they may do business on the same schedules as other institutions in the larger cities with which they do business every day, and cannot do it satisfactorily if the business day here begins an hour later than does the business day in Boston, New York, Providence and other cities and lasts an hour after business with banks, mill offices and wholesale places has ceased for the day in the cities mentioned. The same situation applies as to the arrival and departure of mails in Danielson.

Mrs. Lena Chase, president, and Mrs. Mary Bedard, past president of Mary A. Livermore Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, were in Willimantic today attending the state department convention of the organization. Miss Lillian E. Bailey is expected to attend on Wednesday.

There was an unverified rumor in circulation here today that the New England Transportation company may discontinue keeping coaches here in Danielson, as it has been doing for several years, and start early morning runs out of Providence and Hartford.

Only a little more than a week re-mains for the several hundred persons who own dogs in the town of Killingly to register the animals with Town Clerk Frank T. Preston. Up to today many of the dogs remained unregistered. After May 1, there will be an additional charge for registering the animals, and after June 1, such dogs will be objects of interest for the dog warden.

While the edict of Chief John Mc-Farland against parking cars on sidewalks in School street, principally between Academy and Cottage streets is being observed by the majority of car owners making a practice of parking in that area, not all have heeded the warning and are inviting appearances in court. It so happens, on the other hand, that the space left for travel is now so narrowed down that a suggestion has been heard that parking be allowed on only one side of School street, that possible accidents may be avoided.

Clayton Wright, a former represen-tative of the town of Killingly in the legislature, is another citizen who agrees with Judge James N. Tucker of East Killingly that the black snakes now so common through this territory are responsible for the disappearance of the rattlers to be found hereabouts in numbers something more than a generation ago. Mr. Wright contends that in combat the rattler is no match for the black snake.

It was regarded as very probable to-day that Killingly's schools will go on a daylight saving schedule of session hours. Unless this is done local schedules will be disrupted in scores of homes, especially at mid-day, for workers will arrive for lunch at one time and pupils at another.

Members of the Sewing society of St. Alban's church are to meet Friday afternoon at 3 p. m., at the parish house.

Donat Laroche, 19, of this town came in second in the Oxford-Webster marathon Saturday. He was awarded a pair of shoes. John Tyrell, 17, of Dudley was first; his time for the five and a half mile course was 31 minutes, 45 seconds. Laroche's time was 32 minutes, 14 seconds. Wallace MacPherson of Webster, came in third, his time being 32 minutes, 56 seconds. He has won third place in the Oxford-Webster race for three consecutive years. The fourth man was Clarence Raymond, 21, of Oxford, finishing in 33 minutes, 26 seconds. The runners fell in position soon after the race started and kept in that same position to the end of the course. Thirty-one were scheduled to start but only 16 reported and only 11 finished the race. Laroche is well known around here, having run in all the races in the vicinity. He has placed in the Y. M. C. A. meet in Brooklyn for three consecutive years. Arthur Scheins, of Dudley, came in eighth. Scheins has won over this course for three consecutive seasons. The order in which they completed the distance was: Luke Russe, Webster, fifth; Charles Sibley, Jr., Webster, sixth; Bernard G. Houghton, Webster, seventh; Scheins, Dudley, eighth; Chester Kuszewski, Webster, ninth; Arthur Gendron, Webster, tenth; and Harold Smith, Oxford, eleventh. The starter was Selectman Irving H. Johnson of Oxford and the timers were Frank E. Wylde and Harry J. Daur of Webster.

PUTNAM

EASTER MONDAY BALL OF KNIGHTS LARGELY ATTENDED

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 22—Strings of colored lights suspended from the ceiling in the shape of a star, and settings of palms about the hall, converted the large drill shed of the state armory into a beautiful ball room for the 37th annual Easter Monday ball of the Cargill Council, Knights of Columbus, which was held last evening. The outstanding feature of the annual event which inaugurated the post-Lenten season, was the array of beautifully colored gowns. Pastel shades were popular among a large number of ladies attending, but brilliant shades of red and cerice were noticed as the colorful group of dancers swung around the armory to the syncopating rhythms of the "Strollers", a Providence dance band.

From eight until nine o'clock, the orchestra played for a concert. The selections rendered were a well chosen list of the popular dance numbers and several of the old time favorite melodies. More than three hundred were in attendance, and at nine o'clock the ball opened with the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. George Harper Jr., in which fifty couples took part.

A noteworthy incident was the adherence by the ladies to fashion's decree of long sweeping gowns for evening wear. Many of the men in attendance were dresesd in evening clothes, since the ball was a semi-formal affair.

Joseph Bove, headed the committee in charge of arrangements and was ably assisted by Camille Brodeur, George H. Harper Jr., Louis Johnson, Thomas H. Hanley, Bernard J. McGarry, Michael L. White and Lionel H. Charron.

"CLEAN-UP WEEK" SET FOR THE WEEK OF MAY 5

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 22—A city-wide movement to clean Putnam up, inside and out, which has received the endorsement of the local chamber of commerce, will be underway during the week of May 5. The city government will be asked to cooperate with other civic bodies that will foster the week set aside for the annual dirt-chasing period.

While the common council has not as yet been given an opportunity to act on this matter, it is expected that the aldermanic body will heartily approve of the plan and will dispatch city teams on different days during the week, to collect and carry away the fruits of the dirt round-up. Property owners and tenants will be asked to corral debris about the yards of their homes and deposit it on sidewalks in order that the city teamsters may easily gather it up while on their tour of the various streets.

Clean-up Week will afford opportunity to many to take steps to eliminate many unsightly spots in the community without incurring upon themselves, the expense that would be involved in removing "eye sores" to dumping grounds, should the work be attempted at any other time.

MRS. JOHN QUINN, LONG A RESIDENT OF PUTNAM, DIES

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 22—Mrs. Katherine L. Quinn, for many years a resident of this city, died this morning at her home on 189 Main street, after a long illness. She was in her 85th year.

Mrs. Quinn was born in Ireland on November 28, 1844, the daughter of Patrick and Mary (McDonald) Conway, and came to this country as a young woman. She was the widow of John Quinn, whose death occurred a number of years ago. Mrs. Quinn was well known in this city and had scores of friends who regretted to learn of her death today. She was a communicant of St. Mary's church and previous to her illness was a devout member of the faith.

Mrs. Quinn is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ralph X. Sugbee of King street, and Mrs. Bertha Nibbs, who made her home with her mother and two sisters, Misses Sarah and Agnes Conway of Church street.

Deputy Game Warden George H. Liard is assigned to patrol duty on brooks and streams in the northeastern part of the county during the trout fishing season. Since the opening last week, Warden Liard has made a careful check of all reports of large size catches taken by sportsmen from the local waters and finds that the Windham county streams are giving up many prize specimens. The warden said this morning that he has found the fishermen to be law-abiding and making noble efforts to comply in every respect with the regulations of the state fish and game commission. One of the best catches reported, Warden Liard said, was made Sunday by Frederick Bechard of Church street. Eight trout, all weighing more than a half pound each and the largest of the group, tipped the scales at a mark close to two pounds. Heavy rains Monday evening resulted in a large volume of surface water pouring into the brooks and discoloring the waters and raised the water level, lessening the chances of sportsmen enjoying many more successful days in the field this week.

Lists are now being prepared by Curtis Dean, clerk of courts for the opening of the May criminal and civil sessions of superior court which will convene in this city on May 9.

Only two cases both of minor im-portance were presented to Judge M. H. Geissler this morning for hearing in city court.

Miss Marjorie C. Bradford, assistant clerk of court is in receipt of a supply of printed circulars sent out from Washington by the commissioner of naturalization, containing valuable information to aliens which pertains to the taking of the United States census. All foreign-born residing in the country will be included in the 15th census and to eliminate a large portion of the difficulties the enumerators encounter, the naturalization department has made an effort to provide every applicant for citizenship papers, with one of the informative slips.

A suit for divorce on grounds of cruelty, has been instituted by Mrs. Natalie H. Collins of Pomfret, against her husband Pierre H. Collins of New York city. The papers filed today and served by Deputy Sheriff Lester H. Blish of Willimantic, are returnable in the superior court in this city on the first Tuesday in May.

While considerable alarm is being caused throughout the state since hospital officials at various institutions have reported a number of patients to be suffering partial paralysis of the legs, believed to have been caused from the effects of drinking Jamaica Ginger, an inquiry today brought the statement from Day Kimball hospital authorities that no cases of this nature have come to the local hospital for treatment.

Michael L. White of Eden street, has returned from a week's vacation spent in northern New England. Mr. White made the trip into the northern part of Maine by motor.

The annual banquet and meeting of the members of the Putnam chamber of commerce is to be held at the Putnam Inn, on Monday evening, May 12, it was announced following a meeting of the directors held Monday night. Officers of the organization will be elected at this meeting.

Representatives of the city's munici-pal, fraternal, civic and patriotic organizations met last evening at the chamber of commerce rooms on Main street and formed a general committee to make arrangemnets for the observance of Memorial day on May 30.

Members of the Woman's Relief corps, held their regular meeting this afternoon in Odd Fellows hall on Pomfret street. Mrs. Sally Lovett, Mrs. Marion E. Dow and Mrs. Rhoda Entwisth were admitted into the membership of the organization today.

"The Balance Sheet of Life,' was the subject of an interesting talk given by Floyd B. Risley of Burdet Business college, Boston, at a meeting of the student body of Putnam high school yesterday.

Invitations have been received for the annual promenade and dance of the junior class of Putnam high school, to be given in the State armory on Harris street on Friday evening, May 9.

Superintendent of Streets Frederick Dumas said this morning that work on the repair of Farrows street from the corner of Florence street is completed and the road is now ready to receive oil treatment as soon as the street department begins its spring oiling campaign. A new fence has been constructed along the side of the street to prevent autoists from the dangers of driving over the embankment.

Mother Lewis, assistant sister-super-ior at the Noviate, provincial house of the Sisters of the Holy Ghost on Church street, has announced that dedication ceremonies of the newly constructed chapel and education buildings at the convent will be held June 1. The Noviate, is now a high school for girls. Since the instituting of the board school last year, the registering of a large student body made it necessary to enlarge the housing facilities. Two new wings have been constructed and are attached to the main buildings. The attractive appearance of the new structure greatly enhances the beauty of the sister house and lends a finished touch to that section of Church street, overlooking the Quinebaug river, which is one of the most picturesque spots in the city.

DAYVILLE

The services at the Congregational church were well attended Sunday. The church was beautifully decorated with flowering plants and Easter lilies. The afternoon concert consisted of songs and recitations by the primary department of the Sunday school, followed by a pageant "The Way of the Cross," by the Intermediate and Senior classes.

Friends visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Bruton, Sunday, included: Mrs. Jennie Perham, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paine, Miss Marion Davies, Joseph Robertshaw, all of Providence and Robert Bourne of Woonsocket. All attended the Easter concert at the Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmonston spent the week end at East Glastonbury.

Visitors at the Day Kimball hospital report that Jack Franklin is much improved.

James Nicholson of Lincoln, Maine, was a recent visitor at the home of his brother, Alexander Nicholson.

Miss Anna Henault, R. N., has returned to her duties at the Hartford hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred James spent Sunday in Providence visiting Mrs. James' sister.

Miss Martha Naylor of Potter Hill is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Harry Brearley.

Visitors at the home of Alexander Nicholson for the week end included: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nicholson and Harold Brown of East Glastonbury; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nicholson and two children, Raymond Nicholson and William Robinson, all of Stottville, N. Y. William Robinson will continue his visit for a week.

John McKeon of Utica, N. Y., is here for a brief visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brearley, Miss Martha Naylor and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brearley attended a Baptismal service at Rochdale, Mass., Sunday afternoon. Among those baptised were the three children of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Brearley.

AT THE OHIO PRISON

Plenty of horrible things have been arranged and, to a certain degree, carried out in efforts to accomplish prison deliveries, but the one with the greatest death list to its credit was that at the Ohio penitentiary where, not only was there much prison property destroyed, but over 300 of the convicts lost their lives.

The hope is that investigation will disclose just where the responsibility rests. The indications are that it will show that prisoners who had been at work in the part of the prison where the fire started were to blame. Evidence of the attitude of the prisoners was furnished by the setting of other fires while firemen were endeavoring to subdue the cell block fire, and also by the attacks which were made upon the firemen and the cutting of the hose. All of those acts were indicative of the attitude of the convicts.

It is not to be supposed that it was the intention of those who started the fire to take the lives of their fellow inmates. Apparently they expected there would be such confusion and such inability to meet the situation that they could make their get-away during the excitement. That part of the affair failed completely, the situation was kept well in hand except that it was impossible to release from the cell block those prisoners who were powerless to help themselves, while smoke and flames kept others from giving them the needed help in time.

Such a situation was in keeping with the desperate plans which have been employed within the past year in penal institutions. Breaks and deliveries that have been undertaken in certain ones have been carefully studied in others and new schemes devised to meet the conditions that prevailed. Success and failure alike have served to spur on others. Evidently it was believed that fire offered the best opportunity at Columbus. It was well conceived and executed but, as is so often the case, it was one of those instances when the best laid plans go askew. It serves to focus attention on conditions in that prison and it unmistakably places emphasis upon the need of building fireproof penitentiary buildings.

GETTING THE CENSUS

Although the quickest way to get rid of the census taker is to give him the information he wants without evasion or trying to be funny, there have been those who have undertaken to make a personal matter of it, give the enumerator the cold shoulder the agent gets, dodge the correct answers and defy the man with the questions to make them answer.

Invariably those who set out to obstruct the taking of the census do not realize the seriousness of their act. They fail to realize that they are defying the law and when they are brought face to face with the penalty that is involved they usually wilt and comply, all of which, if done in the first place, would have saved a lot of trouble for everybody concerned.

Some are disposed to make a joke of their answers because of the form in which the questions are put. They seem to think that the questions were devised for them and no one else and are disposed to see a lot of amusing situations because anyone ought to know they are white by [illegible] them, or could tell they [illegible] by just looking across the [illegible] who receive blanks to fill out [illegible] attach answers which they [illegible] get them a national reputation as practical jokers are finding out to their discomfort that it is an expensive practice and that the biggest laugh of all is eventually on them.

In making the count of the people of this country every ten days and doing it with accuracy there is much work involved. Too much, in fact, to justify a lot of horse play. It is one of those governmental efforts which calls for thorough cooperation. For the most part, it is believed that it will be found that there is the right attitude displayed by the people. They realize that there is nothing to worry about, nothing that is going to be made public, nothing that is going to bring discomfort or increased obligations to them in the future. The thoughtful have studied the questions and have their answers ready. They may be busy persons and have full use for their time. They understand that by helping themselves they also aid the enumerator and the census. It is the correct attitude to take and if it had been adopted by those who preferred to obstruct and oppose much of the needless delay would have been avoided.

ONE-EYED AUTOS

In an effort to get the public to respect the various requirements that have been found necessary, campaigns have followed campaigns as educational movements. Inspections of various devices have been made at frequent intervals in order to insure greater safety, still there are many among the motorists who have not grasped the importance of complying with the regulations and who need to be prodded continually.

At the suggestion of the governor's committee on street and highway safety in Massachusetts, a drive is underway in that state against the one-eyed autos. It isn't a move to arrest those who are found having but one light on their autos or who have no tail light. Rather is the object to call the driver's attention to the deficiency, give him a card indicating the defect that needs to be remedied and requiring him to correct the trouble and so report to the police within three days. Only those who fail to comply with such a requirement need fear any trouble.

In giving such a warning to drivers in many instances is only what is justified. Plenty of drivers have had their tail light burn out without being able to detect it. Not many are able to discover such a missing requirement while their machine is in motion, and it is quite as easy a matter for the driver of a one-eyed machine to overlook the fact that he is not getting full illumination. All that is needed under such circumstances is a word of warning, a tip concerning the real situation, for most of the auto owners are only too anxious to correct any such trouble.

The unfortunate part of these occasional campaigns is that they are occasional instead of permanent. If it is worth while to notify an auto owner that he lacks proper lights tonight, it is equally important that attention should be directed to any similar condition a week, a month or two months from that time. The fact is that such defects should be called to attention whenever they are discovered by the police or other authorities. If that were done there would be a prompt check placed upon conditions which can be quickly remedied and most drivers would be thankful for having their attention directed to such deficiencies.

THE LONDON PACT

April has long since been recognized as the month of war declarations. By the signing of the naval treaty at London an important move is made to turn it in the other direction. It may not insure international peace, but its tendency is that way.

The signing of the pact does not necessarily mean that it will be ratified. The hope is that it will be and that this added instrument for keeping down the naval construction race will be put into operation.

The only disappointment in connection with the agreement is that it did not include the five nations. Signers may claim that it has not come up to the expectations that prevailed before the conference opened. Then it will be remembered it was hoped that all five nations could be gotten to join hands in a naval holiday, the establishment of parity and the extension of those features of the Washington treaty which have worked out so well. There was no certainty that the five countries could be brought to an agreement. The uncertainty increased as the conference got underway, but, in view of what developed at London and what had happened previously at Geneva, there are reasons for feeling that even though the goal aimed for was not reached there is cause for much satisfaction that the treaty is as far-reaching as it is.

The conference has proceeded to get the most possible out of the situation. It is an acknowledgment that a half loaf is better than no loaf at all, but sight cannot be lost of the fact that a step is taken in the right direction, nations have come to a better understanding and the move is in behalf of peace rather than war, in behalf of limited naval armament instead of a wide open race to keep up with or ahead of the other fellow. Even though there is a limitation, it means that the defensive strength of the nations will remain relatively the same.

WARNING TO CONGRESS

When President Hoover finds it necessary to call the attention of congressional leaders to the fact that through a reexamination of the fiscal situation he sees the country facing a deficit for the next year of between 20 and 30 million dollars, he is directing attention for the second or third time to a situation which ought not to exist.

It is apparently the purpose of the president to so keep congress in touch with the situation that it cannot say at some later date that it wasn't aware that it was authorizing such expenditures as to cause embarrassment to the treasury. It is not his purpose to have any deficit, and in taking such a stand he is correct. It is recognized that there are those in the senate who take delight in finding out what the president wants and then doing directly opposite. The idea of keeping away from a deficit is as strongly demanded by most people as by the president. However much there are those who would like to put the president and his administration in a hole and charge him with the responsibility for it, it is apparent that any such intentions are certain to encounter plenty of opposition.

With the situation pointed out, the president is placing the responsibility for keeping away from a deficit right where it belongs. He is giving warnings of the dangers. He is calling attention to the possibilities. He is asking for a halt on those expenditures which are not necessary but which, if all that are looked upon favorably should be voted, would add a tremendous amount to the outlays which have already been authorized.

With the president expressing his belief that the situation is alarming, it is time for congress to take a careful measure of the situation and govern itself accordingly. For wise men enough has been said.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The man on the corner says: Money may not be everything, but it comes in handy occasionally.

To Senator Borah, a supreme court decision doesn't mean anything if he happens to think the other way.

There must be merit in mergers. The idea has now been adopted by the gangs of Chicago, apparently for more effective results and less expense.

One question that cannot fail to be of interest in Washington is whether the members of congress who vote as they do on prohibition would continue to do so if they possessed a referendum vote of their constituents.

YOUTH'S DAY

In spite of the fact that no candidate of his party ever had been elected to the legislature from his district, Robert Norris was out to win. A smart young attorney, Bob had done many favors for the big boss at headquarters and Tim Andrews, looking around for some way to reward him, had decided to let him run on the party's ticket.

"What!" exclaimed lovely young Mrs. Norris when Bob bounced in for dinner with the news of his candidacy. "Don't be absurd. You know there are fifty-three defeated ex-candidates from our party already living in this district. And they're grown men. Don't make yourself look silly—you, at 27!" But Bob was in no state to let a mere woman dissuade him, let alone his own wife.

"What this district needs," he recited, "is young blood in the legislature. This is youth's day. Yes, the others are old men—graybeards. I'm going to show up these fellows." She sighed. It was his usual line, that the boys at headquarters often had laughed at, knowing his ambition to break into politics.

"Graybeards, are they?" she demanded. "Well, you'll be lame and bald and decrepit before you ever break into congress with that sort of talk. Youth's day!" But her scorn was lost on Bob. "Just like a wife, he thought. Doesn't appreciate her husband. I'll show her, too."

From that moment Florence was alertness itself. Bob must be saved from the disgrace of defeat. He must win, in spite of the fifty-three defeated ex-candidates. Without his knowledge she started a house to house canvass. "Vote for Bob," she urged. She talked to the women and showed them Bob's baby pictures, and they loved her for it.

"Above all," she told herself, "I must keep him from making speeches. Once he gets going on that 'Youth's Day' speech he's lost." Whenever he announced an impending speech she deftly sidetracked him.

"Yes, yes, honey," she'd say; "I know they ought to be told about it. But save your fire for the climax. Give them a big surprise." She had her way. He waited for the spectacular debate that would close the campaign and while he waited he worked.

Night after night he labored over that speech. Lincoln at Gettysburg would have nothing on him as a spellbinder. The speech was interspersed with generous references to "youth's day" and the need for young blood. Florence watched furtively, awaiting her opportunity. He must never make that speech! Bob labored so hard he worked up a fever and the night of the big debate he was feeling utterly wretched. Florence called the doctor. "On pain of death, he must not leave this house tonight," she told the M. D. The doctor understood and went in to the bedside.

"Florence," Bob called whimperingly, "my campaign is ruined. The doctor won't let me out of the house." He was beside himself.

"Don't worry a minute," soothed Florence. She glanced at the typewritten copy of the speech and her eyes caught the words "Youth's Day." "Give me that speech," she said. "I'll go to the meeting and read it for you." He was solaced.

So Florence dressed in her best (and she was lovely) and, armed with the speech, she went forth to battle. As she ascended the platform all eyes were focused upon her, never to leave. Other candidates rose, made their speeches and sat down. They called for Robert Norris. An appealing figure, Florence crossed to the rostrum. In her hand she clasped a few notes, hastily jotted down.

"I'm sorry Bob is unable to be here. He's worked too hard and is sick in bed tonight. But you all know Bob"—she was a plaintive speaker—beauty in distress. She went on, reading from her own notes. She talked to the women. She told them what they wanted to hear. After she sat down the crowd went wild. They cheered for ten minutes. And while they cheered Florence tore into little pieces Bob's speech that she had carefully avoided to read.

Next day the election. And the returns Bob had captured the vote by a large margin. His joy was complete.

"Youth has won," he exulted to Florence as congratulations poured in. "It was young blood they wanted. I knew that was the speech of the ages." Florence smiled up proudly at her young husband.

"Yes, dear," she said happily, "that certainly was a remarkable speech.—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 22—Usually senators and house members do not get their life stories into the Congressional Record unless they happen to die in office.

When that happens, "eulogy day" is set apart to do them such honor in a sort of verbal memorial to the departed. It's an old congressional custom.

Tom Heflin, of Alabama, is an exception. So far as the Bystander knows, he is the only member of the 71st or any preceding congress to have achieved the distinction of publishing an autobiographical account of his boyhood as a part of the proceedings of the senate.

Boyhood Days

The story, headed "Boyhood Days of J. Thomas Heflin, United States Senator from Alabama, (In His Own Words)," was prepared in pamphlet form by an admirer of the senator from an old diary, Senator Tom said in asking that it be printed in the Record.

"The supply has been exhausted and I have had quite a number of requests for it," he added. "I have a letter from a former school teacher in Alabama suggesting that the story be printed in the Record."

Of course nobody objected. How could they? So there it is in the appendix to the Record, a personal narrative of Tom Heflin by Tom Heflin covering the first 18 years of his life.

Sixth Son

You learn several interesting things about the senator from his account. You discover, for instance, that he is a sixth son in a family of nine children all living. You learn that he is of English, Scotch and Welsh stock on his mother's side and English, Irish, Scotch and French Huguenot on his father's.

You find also that Tom has been declaiming patriotic addresses of American statesmen ever since he was 10 years old, Patrick Henry's "Give-me-liberty-or-give-me-death" outburst being his favorite.

"My father was a good story teller and a splendid mimic, and I inherited some of his talents," the senator said of himself.

And nobody who has ever heard Senator Tom point a moral or adorn a tale in the senate with a bit of "darky" humor will challenge that statement.

A nearby camp meetin' afforded young Tom great opportunity to study of Negro dialect as a boy. He tells of repeating verbatim what the preacher had said.

"In a minute, as easy as falling off a log, I was going in the tones and accents of the preacher and my father laughed and clapped his hands," the senator said. "That was the first I knew I could mimic people. My father encouraged me."

The senate owes Tom's father a vote of thanks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Challenge Of Youth

Mr. Editor: The answer of youth to the charge of hip flask toting and college drinking comes from Mankato, Minn., where high school students have founded a sobriety society with a national membership and are publishing the Student American—a temperance organ. The Student Sobriety society, according to the Christian Science Monitor, is a temperance club for high school boys that last year grew from a local organization of one chapter and 49 members to a national club of 18 chapters and 353 members, with members at large in five states and the District of Columbia.

A statement in the first edition of the Student American defines its purpose as three-fold: "To provide publicity for the Student Sobriety society; to develop a new fact service in defense of the 18th amendment and to provide a small revenue to carry on the purposes of the Student Sobriety social."

The first editorial entitled "The Whispering Campaign" states the purpose of the club: "Under the shadows of a slanderous whispering campaign, many of the opponents of the 18th amendment are endeavoring to poison the minds of the people against the prohibition law by unfair and untrue statements that prohibition has degraded and debauched the youth of this country," the editorial states. "The young men have already risen against the practice by forming the Student Sobriety society which needs your support."

A survey recently taken in Philadelphia based on 1,000 investigations at 70 high schools in 42 states showed 78.7 per cent of students did not drink. Of the remaining 21.3 per cent it was announced, all confessed to occasional indulgence but none admitted serious drinking. It reported that 96.2 per cent of the students did not believe it necessary to drink in order to be popular; 92.3 believed even moderate drinking would affect athletic ability; 73.9 believed it would affect business ability and 70 per cent believed prohibition had benefitted the country. Hear what the Spotlight says: "Get 'em young. In pre-Volstead days the liquor dealers put on 'sales campaigns' to encourage drinking habits among the young. They didn't make any uproar then when they were caught selling to minors. Today, liquorites fill the press with clamor if a hip-pocket flask is found on a college campus. Deploring the depravity of youth is an indoor sport with them. It isn't that they care a rap for the young—it's just that they want to get back to the 'good old days' when booze flowed so freely, abundantly and conveniently that flasks were useless. The most dangerous poison flooding the country today is the poison propaganda against the 18th amendment. It comes from liquor controlled sources. Beware of it."

President Bonner, of the National Retail Liquor Dealers association has said: "The brewers flagrantly defied law and order, encouraged violation of the law, furnished their products to persons who have no regard for decency and are greedy to increase their output. Next time you hear a sermon, a "temperance sermon" that ends with a plea for beer, just remember that 90 per cent of all the stuff sold in the old saloons was beer. Then just put two and two together and you'll understand why the brewers want to "Save America" from wasting so much money on radios and cars, bungalows and two family houses and schools."

A NATURALIZED CITIZEN.
Norwich, April 22, 1930.

Suggests Resignation

Mr. Editor: As regent of Faith Trumbull chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, I feel that I must take exception to the remarks of one of the lay members of this national society, Daughters of the American Revolution, made before another organization in this city recently. Let me say that personally, if I were not in sympathy with the actions and policies of any organization to which I belonged and found myself in the minority I should withdraw from that organization.

To denounce the organization to which you belong before another organization, many members of which are loyal and several of whom have been officers in the organization you are denouncing, seems to me to be an act "far behind the times."

Such remarks would be taken more graciously and probably ignored entirely if they came from one not a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, but to come from one of its members leads one to believe more firmly that the "best element" is in power.

If one feels so strongly against an organization, they would do better to resign from it, for with its large membership of nearly 200,000, and with 7,000 new members this past year, they would not miss the dues of the half-dozen or less who seek publicity by denouncing their own organization.

MRS. ALBERT M. VAN WAGENEN,
Regent, Faith Trumbull chapter.
Norwich, April 22, 1930.

Protests Mrs. Atwell's Remarks

Mr. Editor: As a member and officer of the Faith Trumbull chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Inc., I am writing this in protest to the remarks of Mrs. Marian Gaylord Atwell in her talk before the Women's City club last evening, when she stigmatized the Daughters of the American Revolution as altogether obsolete. If, to be patriotic stamps one as behind the time I, for one, glory in the stamp. I wonder how Mrs. Atwell came to join our organization, for as a society we, the Daughters of the American Revolution, have always been, and are yet, thank God, patriotic. Did not Mrs. Atwell know this when she joined, and if she did not, why does she not resign, after having discovered this fact?

Does it not seem as if she were using her very membership in the organization as a peg upon which to hang her offensive remarks? How much more honest it would be if she had resigned before beginning her mud-slinging campaign. It almost seems as if she deliberately used her membership as a means of spreading her pacifistic propaganda. Or, perhaps, she misguidedly believes preparedness to be synonymous with militarism. We, as an organization, are not militaristic, but we intend that our sons shall not be sacrificed by the thousands as in our last war, because of unpreparedness. Surely no mother would knowingly send her son to war without a gun? But, perhaps, Mrs. Atwell has no son. But, if she hasn't, she must depend upon some other woman's son for her safety, and what would happen to her if he were unprepared? But, perhaps, she has not thought as far as that, for if she had, she would surely realize, that preparedness does not cause war, but prevents it.

YOUR HEALTH

Halitosis

By Sam A. Overstreet, M. D., Louisville.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Foul breath is as insidious as it is unpleasant. He who has it is often unaware until told by a good friend. He wonders then how many people have been annoyed during their conversation with him, and at once tries to cover it up.

"Breath Sweeteners" are numerous and well advertised. But one is not justified in relying upon the relief they may afford while he neglects to correct the fundamental cause. These remedies should be used, as temporary expedients, but it is far more important to cure or remove the source of trouble. There are also times during menstruation, following the extraction of teeth, before the mouth is cleansed after rising in the morning, and following the taking of certain food or drinks, that the breath is foul and a simple deorderant mouthwash is advisable.

Frequently however a foul breath is only an index to some disorder of the system which needs adjustment. Many such disorders affect the mouth, teeth, and throat and if the cause it not readily apparent to the layman, professional help should be sought from his dentist or physician. Infection of the gums, pyorrhea, trench mouth, and decayed teeth are all dental conditions which demand care. Infection of the tonsils or throat, ulceration of the mouth or pharynx, and the collection of pus high up in the nose or in the accessory nasal sinuses will require the attention of the physician. Odors ranging from a faintly unpleasant taint to a putrid smell may arise from any disorder of the stomach. This is especially true whenever cancer invades the esophagus or stomach.

Aside from definite causes which can be found and removed there are occasionally persons who have foul breath from no very definite reason. Like the first group palliative measures for immediate relief are advisable. But in the large majority of persons with halitosis there is a definite reason for examination by the dentist or physician and the treatment of some specific cause. The health examination on one's birthday or once a year affords a good checkup. To prevent is better than to cure.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Chatterer Changes His Mind

Sometimes there are, as you will find,
When it is wise to change your mind.
—Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel had taken it into his head to visit the little swamp at the head of the Smiling Pool. Peter had what is called "the spring fever." It made him want to wander about. He wasn't looking for anything in particular, but he just couldn't keep still in one place. So he had taken it into his head to wander down to the little swamp where the Laughing Brook flows into the Smiling Pool. He just wanted to know what was going on down there. He wanted to know if there were any new spring arrivals.

Part of the time Chatterer traveled on the ground in little short rushes, always ending close to a tree. Part of the time he traveled in the treetops. So it was that at last he came to a tree close by the nest of Mrs. Quack. A branch of that tree was directly over the nest. It happened just by chance that Chatterer stopped on that very branch to rest a while. He was tired and he stretched himself out along that branch.

Now, Chatterer's eyes are very bright and he doesn't miss much. As he lay stretched out on that branch, those bright eyes of his were watching down below. At first he saw nothing at all of interest. Then he caught a slight movement. It wasn't much, but it was a movement. And any movement that is not made by the wind, or by a drifting shadow—such as a cloud makes—is of immediate interest to the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. Chatterer leaned forward and watched. Again he saw that movement and then he saw what had made it. He saw Mrs. Quack half hidden by the big leaves of a skunk cabbage. She had turned her head to smooth some feathers on her back. Instantly, Chatterer understood what it meant. Mrs. Quack had a nest hidden there. A nest meant eggs, and Chatterer is another small person who is interested in eggs.

Chatterer's tail began to switch. He scrambled to his feet and ran down that tree. From the trunk of the tree Mrs. Quack was quite hidden. There was nothing for it but to do down on the ground. He just must find out if he was right about that nest. If he was, there might be a chance to steal one of those eggs. So Chatterer kept on down to the ground and then slipped underneath those big, broad leaves of the skunk cabbage plants. It didn't take him a minute to find out that he had been right. There, nicely hidden beneath the big leaves was Mrs. Quack's nest, and Mrs. Quack was on it. Chatterer couldn't see a single egg, because Mrs. Quack covered them completely.

Chatterer's mouth began to water. How he did wish that Mrs. Quack would get off that nest. He began to wonder how he might get her off. But, though he thought and thought, he couldn't think of any way that he could get Mrs. Quack off that nest. She hadn't seen him yet, for he had been very quiet. Then he was back of her now and he began to wonder if he might be able to tear away part of the nest and steal an egg right from under Mrs. Quack. Anyway, it would do no harm to try.

So Chatterer crept forward inch by inch. He made no sound. Inch by inch he crept until he was right back of the nest. There was a little clump of alders that the nest backed up against. Chatterer had crept up behind these alders. Now he reached out a paw and began pulling at the back of that nest. All the time his mouth watered more and more as he thought what a feast one of those eggs would provide. Perhaps, thinking of those eggs made him a little careless. Anyway, something happened and it happened with great suddenness, and right then and there Chatterer changed his mind. He didn't want any eggs. All he wanted was to get away from there. Mrs. Quack had turned suddenly and struck him a hard blow with that stout bill of hers.

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

Lockwood Manufacturing Company South Norwalk

On July 4, 1887, nearly every boy in town was shooting a cap pistol made by Lockwood & Lester, who operated a small foundry on property owned by General Nelson Taylor. Taylor had been an officer in Fremont's army, a 49'er, a brigadier general and a congressman.

Following the death of Lester the previous year, the Lockwood Manufacturing company was formed in 1888, with Taylor as president and Lockwood as treasurer and general manager. Builders' hardware offered an attractive market and the new firm entered that field with no more than a dozen locks in their line and a few door plates garnished with flower pots and daisies that were the rage of Queen Victoria's day.

In 1889, the corporation purchased the Nashua Lock company and entered the builders' hardware business in earnest. Taylor died five years later and Lockwood carried on active service until his death in 1926. During the first 28 years of operation the capital stock of the company was increased to 25 shares for each original share.

At the present time the corporation is engaged in the manufacture and sale of about ten thousand items of builders' hardware. It has furnished with locks and trim, the largest school building in America, Roxbury Memorial high, the New York state capitol, Mayfair house, Rockland County State institution, New York County courthouse, the Washington residence of Justice Harlan F. Stone and countless other structures. The corporation has six agencies in this country. Lockwood hardware is on the shelves of about 2,000 dealers, and representatives are retained in Canada, Central America and the Orient.

The company's present officers are: Charles W. Beaver, president and president; Nelson T. Hayes, secretary treasurer; Gen. Russell Frost, vice and assistant treasurer.

● ● Judging the value of a motor car is just a common sense matter of weighing what it gives you against what it costs—and the obvious starting point is the amount of money you have to spend. ¶ What will $1,000 buy in today's motor car market? A few months ago, such a sum would limit you to a six-cylinder car—now it will buy a straight eight—a Chrysler-built De Soto—the lowest-priced eight in the world. ¶ By every standard of value, the De Soto Eight is a true leader. You may think of it in terms of low price—but you will buy it because of its high quality. A few minutes behind the wheel will convince you, beyond all doubt, that an equal number of dollars cannot buy its equal from any other source.

STURTEVANT AVENUE MAN HURT IN MYSTERY ACCIDENT ON BOSWELL AVE.

Frank Awyeyc of No. 57 Sturetevant avenue was quite badly injured early Tuesday evening in an automobile accident on Boswell avenue, near St. Regis avenue. Details of the accident are lacking.

Shortly before 8:30 o'clock Sergt. John Casey, on duty at police headquarters, was notified by telephone that there was an automobile accident at Boswell avenue and St. Regis avenue. The sergeant immediately despatched the patrol wagon and two officers to the scene.

Arriving at the designated spot the police found broken glass in the roadway but there was no sign of a machine. Further investigation resulted in the discovery of a Chevrolet sedan, badly damaged, in a lot, 35 or more feet off the highway. The front of the machine was extensively damaged, one wheel smashed, the radiator pushed back on the engine, and a large hole in the right hand side of the windshield. The machine either ran across the highway and into the lot or was pushed there after the accident.

Just how the accident happened had not been learned by the police up to an early hour this (Wednesday) morning as no eye witnesses could be located. The registration number on the machine is L-8067 and the registration card found in the machine showed that it is owned by Frank Awyeyc, the injured man.

Awyeyc was found at his home shortly after the accident by the police and was being attended by a physician at the time. Fourteen stitches were taken in his chin and it was said that he had a slight concussion of the brain.

Little information could be obtained from the injured man, because of his condition. It was learned, however, that Awyeyc's son, Joseph Awyeyc, was driving the machine. The latter had not been located at an early hour this morning.

PINE TREE PATROL IS TO BE DISCUSSED

The sixth session of the patrol leaders' training course will be held at 7.30 this (Wednesday) evening at the Thayer building. The meeting will be in charge of William Collins, scout leader of Troop 12 of Park Congregational church. One of the special features of the meeting will be a discussion of "The Pine Tree Patrol" by Stewart Kelvey, a former scout leader. Mr. Collins will lead in a group discussion of the assignment and will be assisted by Scoutmaster Lloyd Rathbun in inspecting the group.

Following some interesting Jamboree practice a hike will be planned for next Saturday and Scoutmaster Carl Brend will show some interesting moving pictures. Roll call is expected to reveal the following leaders present; Wesley Sholes, William Galligan, Herbert Chapman, James Oliver Armstrong, Gordon Johnson, John Riley, Jerome McGee, Russel Yerrington, Joseph Maruzo, John Cox, of the Flying Eagle Patrol; Harry Turner, Walter J. Mahoney, Elvin Schelin, James Chester, Charles Romanowski, John Schwartan, James Dennis, Russel Higham of the Panther patrol; Woodrow Sholes, Ben Bendett, Henry Brinkman, William McDonald, Daniel Downing, Harold Budzek, Walter Goring White, of the Snake patrol; James Coughlin, Raymond Hotchkiss, Earl Johnson, William Hinchliffe, John Laudone, Howard Taber, Arthur Driscoll, George Lichenstein, James Pina, Ralph Sinay, of the Beaver patrol; Ned Packer, Donald Olson, Adela LePage, Francis Sullivan of the Silver Fox patrol.

Scouts will bring their usual contribution of fruit. Plans for the coming court of honor will be made for it is expected that the patrol leaders will have a large part in running the next court.

MOTOR VEHICLE DRIVERS IN SALEM JUSTICE'S COURT

A fine of $65 and costs was imposed in the Salem justice court Monday night in the case of Peter Lopato, Bridgeport, who was arrested Sunday by Trooper William McKenzie of the Groton barracks who charged him with driving past the Salem four corners on the Hartford turnpike in a reckless manner.

Alexander Lopato, brother of Peter, who started to abuse the trooper when he halted the car, and was arrested on charges of intoxication and breach of the peace, was fined $10 on the first count and was given a fine of $25 and a suspended jail sentence of ten days on the second.

A fine of $30 and costs was imposed in the case of Boris Prisco, Shelton, who was also arrested Sunday by Trooper McKenzie for reckless driving near the Salem four corners and Frank Sawicki, 29 Cape Ann court, New London, who was arrested for failing to carry his operator's license, was fined $3 and costs.

JAIL SENTENCE GIVEN FOR TAFTVILLE MAN

Pleading guilty to a charge of violation of the liquor laws, Paul LaBarre, 35, of Taftville, was given a sentence of 30 days in jail at a session of the city court Tuesday morning. The accused was arrested Monday evening by State Trooper Arthur Whitmarsh at the home of his sister, Mrs. Oliver Charron in Plainfield, where he had gone to visit three days ago. At the time the state police raided his place in Taftville early in February and seized five gallons of alleged liquor, LaBarre escaped and has since been sought by the police. It was revealed Tuesday that the accused had been in New York since the raid, returning to this section the past week. Following his arrest he was brought to this city and locked up at police headquarters.

BEFORE COURT ON WORTHLESS CHECK CHARGE

Charged with passing a bad check upon Colt Bros. poultry dealers of this city, Harry Zieky, alias Sigka, Hartford, was arrested in that city Monday by Trooper James Dygert of the Groton state police barracks and was before the city court here Tuesday morning. The case was put over until Saturday and Zieky was released under bonds of $1,000.

It is claimed that on Dec. 16 of the past year Zieky purchased a number of chickens from Colt Brothers and in payment issued a check. When an attempt was made to pass the check it was found to be worthless.

Central Vermont Train Changes

Trains are daily except Sunday.

Gave Bridge For Guests

A bridge was held at the home of Miss Ethel Levine, of 219 West Main street, Sunday evening in honor of her friends, Mrs. Samuel Gurfein of New York and Mrs. Louis Ariker of Boston. The prizes were awarded to H. Chasen of Willimantic, to A. Kaplan of New London and to Mrs. Samuel Gurfein. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bankruptcy Petition

Henry S. Kiecolt of 18 Carpenter street has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court at New Haven. He gives his liabilities as follows: Secured claims, $3,700; unsecured claims, $1,581.50; other debts, $710; total, $5,991.50. Kiecolt's assets are as follows: Real estate, $5,500; household goods, $400; policies on insurance, $1,750; total $7,650.

TELETYPE SYSTEM WILL CONNECT POLICE BARRACKS

The state police barracks at Groton and Westbrook are to be joined with other barracks throughout the state in one of the most comprehensive information disseminating systems in the United States through the installation of a teletype system, similar to that now in use by police departments throughout Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Arrangements have been completed with the Southern New England Telephone Co. and will permit messages to be transmitted not only between state police headquarters in Hartford and the eight barracks in various parts of the state, but also will provide a "cut-in" to the circuit now used by the municipal police departments.

In this way a crime occurring at any point in the state would be known and a description furnished in a very few minutes to all state police and several hundred city police at 24 different points in the state, so that the criminal seeking escape through the use of a motor car, for example, has small chance to evade arrest.

Connecticut is the second state to adopt this method of communication between the barracks of the state police, Pennsylvania having recently installed a state-wide network employing 110 machines.

It is expected that the state police system will be installed and working about August 1.

CORTICELLI MILL HERE OPERATING AT NORMAL

The silk mill of the Corticelli company on South Golden street in this city is one of the plants of the concern which continues to operate on a normal schedule, although announcement was made in New London Tuesday that the No. 2 mill of the company there will be closed, probably within six weeks, because other mills of the company can handle present business. That mill has been operating on a reduced schedule for the last two years.

The equipment in the mill will be left intact, with a view to resuming operations if better business conditions warrant.

Other plants of the company in this vicinity are operating normally. They are the mills in Trumbull street and Union street and the dye house in Bayonet street, New London and the mill in this city.

Several small mills at Florence and Leeds, Mass., have been shut down, but other mills of the company in those places are operating normally. The smaller mills were shut down so that others might operate full time.

SMITH COLLEGE PROFESSOR ADDRESSED TEACHERS' LEAGUE

At a special meeting of the Teachers league, held Monday afternoon at Broadway school, an instructive address was given by Professor Anna Hart of the English department at Smith college. She was introduced by Miss Mary E. Rogers, president of the league.

Professor Hart spoke of college life at Smith, confining her remarks more to the actual work done by the students than to their social and other activities, and describing the new courses of study which gave more opportunity for choice on the part of the student than was formerly the case. In this connection she mentioned the possibility of having the third year in college spent abroad, this to be in Spain for next year.

Professor Hart is the guest of Mrs. William H. Shields, Jr., of 52 Church street while in the city.

PRESENTED CLEVER COMEDY FOR GRANGE ENTERTAINMENT

Under the auspices of Norwich grange, No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry, the three-act comedy, Chintz Cottage, was presented Tuesday evening at grange hall by the 3-G Girls of the Central Baptist church. An audience of close to 300 which filled the hall bestowed enthusiastic applause for the excellent work of the cast which was as follows:

Fanny, Mrs. Louis Allen; Minty, Mrs. William M. Wyman; Grace, Mrs. John Kingston; Peter, George Phillips; Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Henry A. Jatkowski; Miss Tillingtop, Miss Bly Patridge; and Mr. Kent, Wm. Spencer.

Dancing, for which the musical Aces played, was enjoyed after the play from 10:30 to 11:30. Arrangements for the successful evening of entertainment were in the hands of Mrs. W. S. Murray and Mrs. Jennie H. Davis.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT OF WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS

The music department of the Women's City club held its meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the club room at the Wauregan hotel with Miss Margarete Suck, the chairman, in charge. Discussion of the chapter, "Three Hundred Years of Music in America," made an interesting part of the meeting, and Miss Rosalie Bennett had the current events talk. The musical part of the afternoon was given in three songs by Miss Frances Ksiazek, whose selections were A Rose Rhyme by Mary Turner Salter, The Wish by Ernest Felix Potter, and To Seville by Joseph Denauer. Mrs. Harry Stebbins was the accompanist.

Changes In Parish Customs

Two changes in what has been customary in St. Mary's parish were announced to the congregations on Easter Sunday by Rev. George J. Donahue, the pastor of St. Mary's Memorial church. He informed the parishioners that hereafter no priest would go to the cemetery to conduct committal services in funerals, but the committal would be in charge of the undertaker. He announced also that arrangements for memorial masses were to be made directly with him by members of the interested family instead of through the undertaker.

HEARING ON DISPOSITION OF SEIZED WET GOODS

Upon the application of Prosecuting Attorney C. B. Whittlesey in the common pleas court session here Tuesday afternoon, Judge C. B. Waller set a hearing for May 6 at 10 a. m. in Norwich upon the matter of destruction of liquor and sale of automobiles seized in liquor cases.

There are four hearings, as follows: Dominic Pasqualini, 128 High street, two quarts coloring matter and one pint of gin, seized Feb. 28.

Frank Gurdo, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., one Chevrolet coupe and ten gallons of alcohol, seized in Montville, Feb. 21.

John Vallas, 153 Hickory street, this city, one Ford sedan, five gallons of moonshine, four pints of whiskey and one kitchen kettle, seized in Montville.

Santo Tedeschi, 68 Lake street, this city, 681 bottles of beer, 52 wooden beer cases, one-half gallon of gin and one gallon of coloring matter, seized Feb. 22.

The prosecuting attorney said he thought none of the liquor would be suitable for hospital use.

RIGHT OF WAY SUIT IN EAST LYME ON TRIAL

Trial was continued in the superior court at New London Tuesday in the suits brought by Hazel F. Patterson of Hartford in which Harry A. Hart and Lucy I. Hart of New London are defendants. In one of the suits the plaintiff seeks damages of $1,000 and an injunction against further obstruction of a disputed right of way over property in East Lyme. The defendants are named jointly in this suit.

In the other suit the plaintiff names Hart individually as the defendant and asks $2,000 damages in connection with an alleged loan.

EX-SERVICE PATIENTS REMEMBERED AT EASTER

John P. Corcoran visited Norwich State hospital for Easter and gave 51 comfort packages containing cigarettes and candy to the ex-service men. The several men at Uncas-on-Thames were taken baskets of fruit, from Norwich lodge of Elks, Knights of Columbus and the American Legion.

For "Bon Voyage" Party

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gresser of No. 86 Geer avenue are to entertain at a "bon voyage" party at their home this (Wednesday) evening, and invite their friends to attend. They are to leave Saturday morning on the S. S. Europa for Germany, where they will visit for some time. Mr. Gresser is efficiency expert for the Sachem Provision company; also is connected with Mahoney Coal company and the Preston public market.

Dog Registration Slow

Dog owners will have to hurry and the staff at town clerk's office will have to work fast between now and the first of May if they are to get all the dogs registered within the legal time limit.

Up to Tuesday only 275 dogs had been registered at the Norwich town clerk's office. As the normal number of dogs is around 1,450 there are many more to get their tags for 1930 by the first of May.

Continuance in Motor Case

Leo Bellevance of Norwich was presented in the city court Tuesday morning on charges of violation of the motor vehicle laws. Trial of the case was continued until the latter part of the week. Bellevance is charged with driving a motor truck not equipped with a reflector, or tail light, and driving without having his registration certificate with him. He was arrested last Saturday by Officer Clifford Crary.

MONTVILLE

NORWICH CONTRACTOR TO ERECT NEW BUILDING

Work will start today (Wednesday) for the construction of a two-story brick building at Uncasville by P. F. Sweeney, contractor and builder of Norwich who was awarded the general contract for the work. The structure is to be built between piers with 12 inch Naco hollow tile and finished on outside surface with Kallastone. The building will be two stories with a basement and will be furnished with a Crane premier electric insulated automatic storage water heater, and will have all improvements including hardwood floor for the second story, which will be used for a dance hall and motion picture plays. All wiring will be completely concealed with built in fixtures. There will be two globe ventilators 12 inches in diameter, set in the roof. On the first floor there will be four sections, designed to be used as stores. When completed it will be the best building block in Montville and improve the appearance at Uncasville four corners. Constantine & James Pappas, owners of this new building have conducted a store at Uncasville for the past ten years and are being congratulated by many friends on their enterprise.

Norwich Driver Fined

Walter O. Treat, of Norwich, arrested by State Officer John H. Smith of Groton barracks on the state highway in Montville, Monday afternoon was tried before Justice of the Peace Oscar E. Church Tuesday night and had a charge of reckless driving changed to speeding. He was fined $10 and costs.

New London Man Paid Costs

Frank Sawicki of 29 Cape Ann court, New London, arrested by State Trooper W. Elmer MacKenzie Monday on a charge of evading responsibility, had his case nolled on payment of costs of court, when he agreed to pay for the damage done to the other car.

Mohegan Husband Negligent

Trooper Arthur Whitmarsh arrested Frederick Cook, of Mohegan Hill, Montville, on a charge of non-support Monday night. He will be given a hearing in Montville district court Wednesday afternoon. This is the third time that Mr. Cook has appeared before this justice court on the same charge. On his last appearance he agreed to pay his wife and four children $9 weekly, which he has failed to do.

The official board of the Methodist Episcopal church, Uncasville, held a meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Grace P. Melcer and it was voted to have a stereopticon lecture each Sunday evening of the month. The first Monday of each month was decided upon for the monthly meetings of the board to be held in the ladies' parlor of the church. Committees were appointed to care for the repairs and furnishings at the parsonage and study. Mrs. Richard Johnson, president of the Ladies' Aid society spoke of a supper to be given next week. Rev. Otis Lee Monson, the pastor, presided at the meeting.

About 15 players of the Textile Nine, of the Montville's Industrial league, composed of employes of the Uncasville-Shelton Corp., and the J. B. Martin Co. reported to Coach Murphy at the Uncasville diamond Monday night when be put them through light batting and fielding practice.

An entertainment with dancing following is planned by the Uncasville-Shelton Corp. for the purpose of defraying expenses for their annual picnic this summer.

William Gardner, of Palmertown, visited friends in Fitchville Tuesday.

The standing committee of the Union Baptist church at Palmertown met with their pastor, Rev. R. J. Bates at the parsonage to make plans for the coming annual meeting.

Maurice Cohen, who with his mother has been visiting relatives in New York, have returned to their home on Gay Hill.

Arthur LaValle has secured employment with the J. B. Martin Co.

Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. COLUMBIA

Miss Doris Pinckney with two friends from New Haven was a Sunday caller at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Howard Rice.

The body of Mrs. Mortimer Smith of Andover, who was buried in the West street cemetery about a month ago, is being moved and will be sent to New York for burial.

Clayton E. Hunt, master of the local grange, went to Hebron grange Tuesday and installed the master, lecturer and lady assistant steward for the remainder of the year, as the members installed in these offices at the first of the year have since moved from the state. Mr. Hunt was accompanied by Mrs. Hunt, his mother, Mrs. Jennie Hunt, and nephew, Frederick Hunt.

The meeting of Columbia grange was held Wednesday evening and the lecturer's hour was a "smile social." Stories and anecdotes about famous people were read, and a short sketch given by four sisters, "The pessimists' creed". Music was furnished by Frederick Hunt and Clayton Hunt, Jr., saxaphones. The next meeting, May 7th will be Neighbors' Night and Bolton and Andover granges have been invited to furnish the program. May 21st will be Children's Night, in charge of the Graces.

The April business meeting of the Columbia C. E. society was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Hutchins. Among other matters discussed was that of new hymn books and it was voted to purchase the same.

POETRY

Her Way

Eyes? Well, no, her eyes ain't much;
Guess you seen a lot o' such—
Sort o' skull an' bluey-gray,
'Tain't her eyes—it's jest her way.

Hair ain't black, nor even brown;
Got no gold upon her crown;
Sort o' ashy, I should say,
'Tain't her hair—it's jest her way.

'Tain't her mouth—her mouth is wide,
Sort o' runs from side to side;
See 'em better ev'ry day,
'T ain't her mouth—it's jest her way.

Nose I reckon 's nothin' great,
Couldn't even swear it's straight;
Fact, I feel I'm free to say
'T ain't her nose— it's jest her way.

Love her? Well, I guess I do!
Love her mighty fond and true;
Love her better ev'ry day;
Dunno why—it's jest her way.

—Elizabeth Sylvester, in The Century.

The Optimist

Don't sigh nor cry, or dim your eye
With tears of sorrow—
Though dark today, the skies of gray
Will clear tomorrow!

Just sing and bring your songs, to ring
Of joy and gladness—
A smile, a laugh, a bit of "chaff"
Will banish sadness.

Though life's dark plots and tangled knots
Are hard to ravel,
A smile, meanwhile, smooths many a mile
You have to travel.

Why sigh and cry for things gone by?
There's joy still waiting!
The morning's light for blackest night
Is compensating.

Though dark the way, one shining ray
The path discloses;
Though thorns are bad, be glad, be glad
The thorns have roses!

—Mrs. Nettie Ramsey, in The Pathfinder.

Angry Employer (to Irishman who insisted on leaving his service)—"Well good-bye Pat, and bad luck to you."

Pat—"Good luck to you, sir, and may neither of us be right."—Montreal Star.

Lord Dewar was in a stall at the old Tivoli once when an irate galleryite threw an orange at a tenor. The fruit fell short, struck Dewar on the shoulder and fell into his lap. An Englishman would have sent for the manager; a Welshman would have made a scene; an Irishman would have gone up to the gallery in search of the thrower of that orange. But Lord Dewar is a Scot. He put the orange in his pocket.—London Opinion.

Three missives that arrived at the dead letter division of the post office in Washington brought government coffers $4,000. The letters contained bills of like denomination and were received within a few hours of each other. The addresses indicated they were penned by the same person, probably a woman. All efforts failed to locate the sender or the persons to whom the letters were addressed.

Methods and machinery of the dairyman are being utilized to save money for the steel business. Molten steel is poured like milk into a giant "separator" in use at mills of the Central Alloy company, at Canton, O. The machine, it is estimated, saves as much as $4 a ton in casting steel. The rotating motion of the "separator," which looks like a huge milk bottle, separates steel from the blow holes just as cream is separated from milk. The cylinder is made of steel and contains cast iron molds for steel billets. It is rotated at a speed of 275 revolutions a minute for three minutes after molten steel is poured in from a 125-ton ladle.

PLENTY OF ACTION ANTICIPATED AT BOUTS AT PARISH HALL TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main bout—10 rounds
Al Beauregard of Taftville vs.
Willie Rose of New York
Semi-final—8 rounds
Ero Peterson of Worcester vs.
Joe Barre of New York
Preliminary—6 rounds
Johnny Kop of Norwich vs.
Tommy King of Fall River
Preliminary—6 rounds
Young Lavigne of New London vs.
Marty Cortez of Boston
Preliminary—4 rounds
Young Guoin of Taftville vs.
Jackie Maher of Fall River
Show starts at 8.15

Patrons of the leather pushing industry will find plenty in the above card to interest them tonight at Parish hall, Taftville, when the Shyma club puts on the last indoor show of the season. From the opener to the star bout of the evening there will be plenty of action to satisfy the appetites of even the most blood thirsty fans. Not one of the five bouts can be classed as being tame for every boy is one who swaps punches with abandon.

The card looks like another of those real good cards which the Shyma club has been putting on during the winter. The Beauregard-Rose bout billed as the feature attraction will be rivaled in interest by the semi-final in which Joe Barre of New York meets Ero Peterson of Worcester. And going right down the card each bout will rival the other in interest.

The Beauregard-Rose bout should be the last word in action as both Rose and Beauregard are of the same type of boxers. Rose comes to Taftville with a glowing record of 94 victories out of the last 95 bouts in which he has engaged. His only loss was due to a cut eye which bled so profusely that the referee stopped the bout. Beauregard since taking the New England bantamweight crown from Johnny Vacca several weeks ago has fought once at Mitchell Field, beating Mickey Durano of New York. Beauregard is not taking his bout with Rose lightly and will be in the best of shape as Rose is the equal of Vacca if not a trifle better.

Considerable interest centers about the Barre-Peterson bout due to the fact that both boys seem evenly matched and both hold decisions over Al Koziol. Peterson, the high school boy, is in nice shape for his bout and the same can be said of Barre who made a very favorable impression in his bout with Johnny Kop at the last show. The betting on this bout is about even with Barre having a slight shade due to his ability to box.

A strong supporting cast has been built up for the the main and semi-final bouts. Johnny Kop, popular local boy, is slated for six rounds with Tommy King of Fall River. Kop rules the favorite in this bout because of his brilliant showing against the clever Joe Barre at the last show. Those who saw Kop work out early in the week are certain that he can take King without much trouble.

A bout that should attract plenty of interest is the other six rounder between Young Lavigne of New London and Marty Cortez of Boston. Lavigne looks to be in the best shape in many moons and should give Cortez plenty worry. Cortez, it will be remembered, lost a close decision to Hughie Devlin at New London a few months ago and then he looked like a comer.

The opener will find Young Guoin, Taftville Adonis, returning to the wars after a layoff of nearly two months due to infection of a tooth. Guoin will clash with Jackie Maher a Fall River boy who has been going strong. Guoin has yet to lose a decision and in fact has won all his bouts on knockouts.

The sale of tickets is brisk and another capacity house is expected tonight.

PLAN FOR GOLF INVASION ANNOUNCED BY GLENNA

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—Definite plans for international competition annually between teams of women golfers were made known today as Glenna Collett and 16 other leading players prepared to sail on the Berengaria to oppose English and French combinations in informal contests.

"Miss Margaret Curtis, of Boston, former national champion, has presented a cup to be competed for by English, French, Canadian and American teams," said Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Detroit, team manager.

"Plans have been made and arrangements are now in the hands of the chairman of a sub-committee of the women's committee of the United States Golf association. Mrs. Charles J. S. Fraser of New Rochelle.

"Next year we hope the Curtis cup matches will become a realization and an American team similar to the Walker cup team will be sent by the United States Golf association to represent us in England."

"Only three players who will compete in England next month have ever played there before," said Mrs. Hanley. "Miss Collett, Mrs. Leo Federman of New York and myself."

"Only those who have labored through a tournament in the throes of an English spring can know what this team must face.

"We can prepare them for the bad weather, warn them of winds, describe the different conditions to be met, but only actual experience will teach them golf as it must be played in England."

SENATORS WIN BRILLIANT 12-INNING VICTORY

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—Playing errorless, heads-up ball the Senators won a 12-inning game today from the Red Sox by a score of 4-3. Boston piled up an early three run lead by timely hitting against Burke, Washington's starting pitcher. Johnson's men tied the count in the eighth, and won in the overtime when Buddy Myer singled to center scoring Rice who had doubled.

Washington used three pitchers—Liska relieving Burke in the fifth and Marberry was on the mound during the last two frames. It was a hard game for Charlie Ruffing to drop after going the route for the Sox. Score:

DAN CHUBBUCK TO ENTER DECATHLON AT PENN RELAYS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, April 22—Dan Chubbuck, of Mechanicsville, star trackman at the Connecticut Aggies who holds four college records and two eastern intercollegiate records, will leave here tomorrow to enter the Decathlon events at the Penn. relays which will be conducted at Franklyn Field, Pa., Friday and Saturday. The ten events in which Chubbuck will participate are 100 meters; 400 meters; 1500 meters; 110 meter high hurdles; shotput; discus; javelin; high jump; broad jump; and pole vault. This will be the first appearance of the Connecticut Aggie star at the Penn relays and he will be pitted against some of the strongest competition in the country. This is also the first time the Aggies will be represented at the relays.

Chubbuck is a junior at the state college and has been a versatile athlete as well as a consistant honor student and a prominent participant in extra-curricula activities. He was high scorer on last season's basketball team and is now captain-elect of the Connecticut Aggie quintet. He holds the college records in the shotput, the discus, the low hurdles, and the broad jump. He also holds the eastern intercollegiate records in the discus and shotput. He is vice president of the Athletic association, a member of the student senate, and has held numerous offices during his first two years at Storrs. He is a member of the Eta Lambda Sigma fraternity.

Roy Guyer, director of the physical education department at the State college, will accompany Chubbuck to the relays in place of Paul Bitgood, track coach, who is convalescing from a recent operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic. Coach Bitgood is reported as progressing rapidly, but it will be a number of weeks before he will be able to resume his duties at Storrs.

BATTALINO WORKING OUT WITH NOTED BOXERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, April 22—Willie O'Connell, New York featherweight and sparring partner several years for headliners in the fistic game, among them Joe Lynch, former bantamweight champion, Andy Chaney and Pancho Villa, has been imported to work with Bat Battalino as the present featherweight champion makes ready for his ten-rounder with Bushy Graham in the Hartford state armory Friday night of this week.

Willie had his first session with Battalino Sunday. Talking with newspapermen after the workout, he said Bat is the strongest and the hardest puncher he has trained with over a period of several years.

O'Connell never made any great name in ring circles, but he is fast and a good boxer and that is why he was brought in to give Battalino the final polish before the big test at the armory.

Bushy Graham checked in Monday after motoring down from his home in Utica. He spent Easter with his family as becomes a home-loving married man and then came right on to Hartford to wind up his training.

Bushy has been working out at Utica and tipped the scales at 127 pounds after he finished his last workout in the home town gym Saturday. He is confident he will best the featherweight champion and that he will thus force Battalino into giving him a title "shot."

Both Battalino and Graham are working out at the St. Nicholas gym, Bushy working in the early afternoon and Battalino two hours later.

WHITE SOX WIN IN EIGHTH OVER INDIANS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 22—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians in the opening game of Cleveland's at home season today by a score of 4 to 3.

The Sox scored the winning run in the eighth inning after Cleveland had tied the count with a three run rally in the seventh. Cleveland filled the bases after two had been put out in the ninth but Al Thomas, Sox pitcher, retired Joe Sewell on a hopper to the box for the final out.

The Indians used four pinch hitters during the game and they all came through with hits.

KLEIN AND FRIBERG STAR IN PHILLIES' VICTORY

PHILADELPHIA, April 22—(AP)—Chuck Klein and Barney Friberg made the Phillies' home opening a success today, leading them to a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Robins. A disappointing crowd of only 12,000 witnessed the proceedings.

Klein started the action with a first inning homer and continued with a double and two singles. Friberg hit a homer immediately after Klein's and drove in the winning run in the ninth with a sacrifice fly when the bases were loaded.

Lester Sweetland, Philadelphia pitcher, scored his second victory of the year over the Robins after pulling out of several tight places. Elliott and Morrison hurled for the Robins. The score:

Susie Says

(Wanted, by the Turkish republic: Suggestions on how to make republican use of five imperial palaces.—News Item.)

Mustapha Kemal: Gentlemen of the government of the Turkish republic, we have five perfectly good palaces on our hands that are not paying anything to our government. What shall we do with them?

Premier Ismet Pasha: How come, we got those palaces, and who wants them anyway?

Mustapha Kemal: We got those palaces when we ousted the sultans from them in 1922 and since that time they've been vacant, the palaces, I mean.

Premier Ismet Pasha: Have you tried to sell them to American tourists?

Mustapha Kemal: Yes, but they laugh at me. I even advertised in an American newspaper but the advertisement cost more than the palace is worth.

Premier Ismet Pasha: Did you get any replies to the advertisement?

Mustapha Kemal: Yes, one from a Hollywood motion picture director. He said he'd buy one palace for $10,000 if I'd move it over there and throw in a harem of dancing girls. I told him one good Turkish dancing girl was worth five palaces.

Premier Ismet Pasha: If you can't sell them why not make business places out of them. Couldn't they be turned into gasoline filling stations?

Mustapha Kemal: That's an idea. I saw some pictures of American gasoline filling stations in a chamber of commerce booster pamphlet and they looked like one of the palaces.

Premier Ismet Pasha: And how about making hod-dog stands out of the smaller ones? And we could sell advertising space on the buildings for tooth-paste and cigar advertisements.

Mustapha Kemal: I have a better idea. Let's make antique shops out of them. Have a little book printed giving the history of the palace and show rugs and chairs and things like that which the old sultans used thousands of years ago. The tourists would fall for that.

Premier Ismet Pasha: That's a good idea, but what about making them into night clubs. I see Texas Guinan is out of a job and we might get her as a hostess.

Mustapha Kemal: Say, Premier, that wouldn't do at all, the people might think that was going back to the days of the harem. Remember we are supposed to be civilized and a real night club would upset all the advancement we have made.

Premier Ismet Pasha: I just thought of an idea. How about getting a good American press agent and staging one of those love triangle affairs in each palace. Stage a couple of gruesome murders and get the photographers to take some pictures with caption X marks the spot. That ought to bring the trade.

Mustapha Kemal: Okay, premier, bring on the press boys and the photographers, those palaces are going to pay their way from now on.

BOSTON DIAMOND BELT TOURNEY STARTS TONIGHT

BOSTON, April 22.—(AP)—The Boston Garden's diamond belt tourney, staged to determine the professional boxing champions of New England, will open here tomorrow, when 30 contenders for flyweight, bantamweight and featherweight titles clash in four-round elimination bouts.

This action, expected to continue for four hours, will be featured by the first professional appearance of George Ostrow, of Boston, national amateur flyweight champion. Boxers from all of the New England states have places on the card.

ACADEMY CLASHES WITH STONINGTON TODAY IN FIRST LEAGUE ENCOUNTER

TODAY'S PROBABLE LINEUPS

Crowell, rf	3b, Newbury
Pepin, cf	lf, Hanley
Breen, 3b	cf, Williams
Weisgraber, lf	rf, Spellman
Berghinzo, lf
Greene, p

Game starts at 2.30 p. m.

The Academy will be pitted against one of the veteran pitchers of the circuit as it opens its Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island league season this afternoon at the campus against Stonington high. Capt. Godomsky, right-handed ace of the down-staters, is the lad, and the game will start at 2.30 o'clock.

Green To Pitch

Coach Brigham will shoot Boots Greene, who turned in such a brilliant exhibition of hurling against Deep River last Saturday, right back at Stonington, intending to get off on the right foot in the chase for another championship, which incidentally, would be the sixth straight for the Wildcats. The Red and White started winning in 1925 and have not been stopped since. Last year they took the ten straight league tilts.

The Academy will present a slightly changed front today. While Les Crowell, regular right fielder will return to action after a week's absence because of illness, Speed Reardon, second-sacker, will be on the sidelines, being temporarily off the squad. Harry Sherry, utility infielder, will also be hors combat today. Second base will be taken care of by either Walter Navick or Jerry Fitzgerald, the final decision to be made at game time. Coach Brigham is also undecided about left field, where it will be either Butsy Weisgraber or Chet Berghinzo. The rest of the lineup is the same as has started most all of the games.

Gave Only Defeat Since 1927

Stonington has only played one game, losing a close tilt to its Alumni, but can be depended upon to make the Wildcats travel all the way. It was this team it will be remembered that administered the only defeat to the 1928 state champions and the local boys are not desirious of having any such thing repeated today. In fact, Stonington has been the only Eastern Connecticut school to get a decision over N. F. A. in baseball since 1927 as last year's three losses were not the work of teams in this section.

Godomsky has been pitching for Stonington for three years now and should give the locals somewhat of a test. The Academy has not shown up again too well with the stick this year. That is, the team, as a whole, hasn't. Capt. Gibbs and Mickey Breen have been going along in mid-season fashion and Bud Fontaine has shown unmistakable signs of breaking out very soon. With the return of Crowell today, the Academy's offense will be strengthened as Les was leading the team up to his retirement.

GEORGE SUTTON, FORMER BILLIARD KING, FOUND DEAD

CHICAGO, April 22.— (AP) —They called at the home of George B. Sutton, billiard champion of the world 22 years ago, today to tell him that his devoted wife, Margaret, had died in a hospital.

There was no response. Sutton himself was dead.

This double tragedy in the life of the noted billiard star, whose playing a quarter of a century ago, brought him international fame, unfolded itself when neighbors forced the door, after hospital attaches vainly had attempted to reach him by telephone.

Just inside the door was the kneeling figure of the former billiard champion, slumped against a chair as if in prayer. Physicians said Sutton died suddenly of heart disease. Grief and worry over his wife's hopeless battle for recovery contributed to bring his death. Pneumonia and heart disease combined to take her life. She was 65.

Sutton was 66 years old and in the early years of the century was the 18.2 balkline billiard champion of the world.

Sutton qualified in his comeback by defeating Percy N. Collins of Chicago, national amateur 18.2 champion, and was about to meet George Slosson of Boston, another old-time billiard star, for the National Veterans' championship.

Sutton actually lived billiards, talked of it, dreamed of it, and played it virtually until the last day of his life.

He was born in Waverly, N. Y., in 1864. In the early 90's he won his first national fame by defeating Joseph Capron, famous in his day, for the Canadian billiard championship, Sutton having moved to Canada.

Sutton won the world's 18.2 championship by defeating George Slosson in a challenge match, in October, 1906, and successfully defended it against Willie Hoppe, Ora Morningstar and old Jake Schaefer, and Morningstar again. He lost the title to Hoppe in New York in March of 1908. In 1921, the last world championship tournament in which Sutton made a bid for premier honors, the title was won by young Jake Schaefer, the son of the old master.

That marked Sutton's farewell to championship billiards after a career from 1908 to 1921, until he made his comeback at the age of 66, just a few weeks ago.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

There are two E. Conn.-Western Rhode Island Interscholastic league games scheduled for today for in addition to the N. F. A.-Stonington game at the campus Westerly will meet Bulkeley at New London. These will be the first conferences clashes for all but Westerly, which lost the opening game of the circuit to Chapman Tech last week.

The Stonington-Bulkeley game, twice postponed, has been definitely scheduled now for Monday, April 28. It will be played at Stonington.

Gilbert high of Winsted, the Academy's opponent at the campus one week from today, sprung a big surprise last Saturday by trimming Naugatuck high, 9 to 4. Naugy beat N. F. A. last year so this may mean that the Wildcats had better watch out.

The Academy's relay forces, which will enter the Penn. relays at Philadelphia this week, will be the only representative of this section of the state in the event. Hartford high was originally scheduled to make the trip as is their custom every year, but they have decided not to enter.

Robert Fitch high is now in the midst of spring football practice in early preparation for its second year on the gridiron next fall. N. F. A. is listed as an opponent.

HALLAHAN HOLDS CUBS TO FIVE SCATTERED HITS

CHICAGO, April 22—(AP)—Bill Hallahan of the St. Louis Cardinals spoiled the opening exercise of the Cubs this afternoon by allowing them a scant five hits, while his mates pounded out an 8 to 3 victory. St. Louis now holds a 3 to 2 edge on the Cubs in games played.

For the second time this season Hallahan defeated the Bruins with ease. In the two games only seven hits have been made off him. But for Wilson's homer in the seventh after English and Cuyler had walked it would have been another shutout. About 40,000 fans saw the game.

BROWNS WIN IN 13TH AFTER TIGERS TIE IN 9TH

St. LOUIS, April 22—(AP)—Scoring two runs off Gray in the ninth inning to knot the score, the Detroit Tigers were unable to solve the twirling of Walter Stewart, who relieved him with none out, and the St. Louis Browns were triumphant in the 13th frame five to four. Wyatt, third hurler for Detroit, gave a walk in the final frame which was followed by a sacrifice and Gullic, Ozark mountaineer, singled to send across the winning tally. McManus got four hits out of five times at bat, including two doubles.

MAY RESTORE FIRST U. S. VALOR AWARD

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Restoration of the Order of the Purple Heart, first military decoration given by the United States, is being considered by the war department.

Also known as the Badges of Military Merit, the award was established shortly before the close of the revolution by General George Washington. It consists of a heart-shaped piece of purple silk, fringed with lace.

The award had been forgotten for more than a century. It was brought to the attention of the war department by John O. Fitzpatrick, who came across its history while delving in a mass of material in preparation for the 200th anniversary celebration of Washington's birth.

CHURCH OF CHRIST MAP BIG OBSERVANCE

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—The Churches of Christ (Christian Church) have outlined a program opening Easter and continuing for 50 days which will reach a climax June 8 in a world-wide observance of the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost.

The year 1930, in addition to marking the 1900th anniversary of the first Easter and the subsequent establishment of the church by the disciples of Jesus, is the centennial of the founding of the Churches of Christ, which separated from the Baptist denomination in 1830.

Easter Sunday will be observed in the traditional way as an inaugural for the seven weeks' program, which will end with all-day activities on Pentecost, which is accepted as being June 8 under the present calendar.

ATHLETICS NOSE OUT YANKS IN OPENING GAME AT THE STADIUM

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 22—(AP)—World's champion Athletics spoiled the home-coming party of the New York Yankees today to the delight of 66,000, largest turn out for any game anywhere so far this season.

The final score was 7 to 6. The margin of victory was furnished by a ninth inning home run by Bing Miller after the Athletics had come from behind to tie the score in the eighth inning and start the downfall of big Roy Sherid, Yankee right hander.

A portly gentleman named Ruth almost pulled the game off the fire in the latter half of the ninth to give the tremendous crowd a last minute thrill. In fact, the Babe came within a few feet of driving the ball into the bleachers in right center and winning.

With Earl Combs on second, Ruth smashed a terrific wallop that George Haas grabbed as he backed into the bleacher wall. Haas fell after the catch but arose to make a great throw to Bishop, whose relay to Cochrane caught Combs easily at the plate for a double play and the end of the game.

The Yankees attacked the great Robert Moses Grove, ace southpaw of the A's, and drove him from the box in the third inning with a barrage featured by Lou Gehrig's home run. This gave Bob Shawkey's boys a 6-5 advantage that looked good as Sherid steadied after a shaky start.

Haas opened the eighth inning attack with a single, raced to third on Cochrane's one base wallop and scored the tying run on Al Simmons' sacrifice hoist to Combs.

Miller first up in the ninth, lined the ball into the left field stands for the winning run. This blow knocked Sherid out of the box and George Pipgras came in to lock the barn door after the ball game had been stolen.

Connie Mack called on three pitchers to stop the Yankees after Grove had been unceremoniously bumped off to the tune of eight hits and six runs in less than three innings. Two youngsters, 19 year old Glenn Liebhardt Jr., whose father was a major league pitcher before him, and a southpaw, Al Mahon, divided the relief work until the eighth. Liebhardt held the Yankees to one single in 3 2-3 innings but Mahon was yanked after pitching four straight balls to Ben Chapman at the start of the eighth.

The veteran portsider, Rube Walberg, was rushed to the rescue, stopped the New Yorkers with the aid of Haas, and received credit for the victory, his second of the season.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the Yankees. They have yet to win a game and are firmly established in the cellar. Score:
